Nurses Will Hold Meeting In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, —(CP)— Delegates and individual members of the Canadian Nurses' Association will gather in Vancouver June 28 for their 25th biennial convention.

Problems confronting the nursing profession along with information gathered throughout the medical centres of Canada will be discussed by delegates from every province in the Dominion.

Throughout the week 1,200 nurses will tackle such problems as job analysis, meeting the total needs of long-term patients, methods of evaluating student progress, the nurse in industry and student work.

The Canadian Nurses Association is the representative of the nursing profession in national and international affairs. It has a membership of 2,592.

Since 1908, when the CNA was founded, nurses have been working from its ranks to provide the best possible nursing care for all people.

Protect Public

CNA officials say "the registration of nurses is designed to protect the public against fraudulent persons practising as nurses."

The association has set up machinery which puts individuals where their capabilities will do the most good and provides nursing service where it is most needed.

One of the important features of the new trend is a rural placement service on a national basis in which provincial and national branches are co-operating.

The report of the committee on health insurance will be presented by Miss Florence H. M. Emory. It will support certain recommendations already made by the national executive arising out of the declared policy of the Dominion government to use health grants to survey the need and then build up services and personnel through which a plan of health insurance could function effectively.

These recommendations include appointment by Ottawa of a nurse whose function would be to co-ordinate the findings of the provincial surveys related to nursing; and the appointment by the federal government of a consultant in nursing.

Blame Short Hose for Foot Trouble

MANCHESTER, England (CP). —Are your feet killing you and do you blame tight shoes? Maybe you should blame your stockings, Madame.

That's the theory of department store manageress Elsie Ashforth, who checked up on the hose her dissatisfied shoe customers were wearing.

It was found most women bought correct-sized shoes but many wore stockings half a size or more too short. Miss Ashforth now has instructed her sales girls to advise longer hosiery.

"Sometimes a woman who is told she should wear bigger stockings is indignant," Miss Ashforth reported. "But most accept the suggestion — and then come back to tell me the bigger stockings have made them 'foot-happy'."

Omemee News

Mrs. M. Magee of Toronto and grandson David Magee, were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. D. Deyell.

Mr. and Mrs. Holwell of Toronto attended the Horticultural service at Christ Church, Sunday, and were entertained over the weekend by Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Pooley.

Mrs. Latimer of Belleville was a Sunday guest of Mrs. W. Stephenson. Mrs. Latimer was formerly Bess Lock, daughter of the Rev. Mr. Lock, who was a Methodist minister on the Omemee appointment before 1907. She renewed old acquaintances in the village.

Miss Grace Veals of New York is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Veals.

School Pupils And Teachers Attend Field Day

Pupils and teachers of SS No. 5 and 10 attended the Percy Township field day at Warkworth on Thursday. Billy Honey of SS No. 5 won the cup for the intermediate boys. Several from these schools will participate at the county field day at Grafton.

Mrs. S. Brickman is ill at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson, Toronto, spent the past week with the latter's mother, Mrs. W. T. Runnels.

West Dartford Farm Forum was well represented at the Northumberland Farm Forum picnic at Cobourg Victoria Park on Saturday. Those from this district who won prizes for sports were Willis McCracken, Denton Ward, Alec Yule, Reta Yule and Anne Pollock.

The Mission Band will be held at S.S. No. 10 school on Saturday.

The Misses Ruth Haig and Pauline Revoy, Peterborough, spent the week-end with Miss Clarice Atkinson.

What's Right

You ask a parent to let you take his child somewhere that you have planned to take your own children, but the parent thinks the child had better not go.

WRONG: Urge him to let the child go.

RIGHT: Accept the decision without pushing the matter so as not to put the other parent in an embarrassing position.

Kodak

Most exciting Kodak cameras since snapshots were invented

Fun ahead when you give or get a Kodak camera

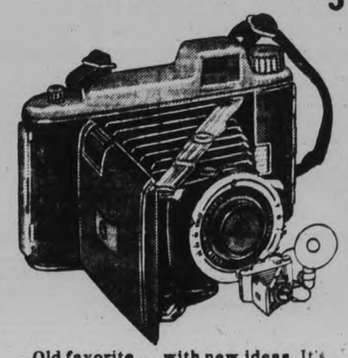
Easier to load, to sight, to shoot, to carry. So smartly styled, too. And best of all—equipped with famous Kodak lenses and shutters. That means crisp, clear, satisfying snapshots . . . black-and-white or full-color . . . made either indoors or out.

Canadian Kodak Co., Limited, Toronto 9, Ontario.

See your Kodak dealer.

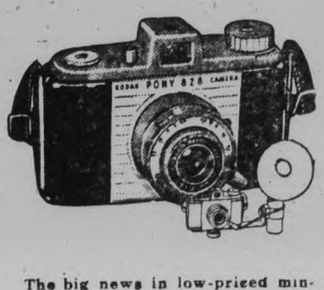
Whale of a lot of camera for only $3.00. Makes crisp negatives that give you bright, sharp oversize prints in beautiful full color as well as black-and-white. Operates with traditional Brownie simplicity and certainty.

BABY BROWNIE SPECIAL CAMERA $3.00



Factory-set... you just "shoot." Pre-focused at the factory. Just press new thumb-action shutter release; get wonderful black-and-white and full-color snapshots. Flash shots, too, with Kodak Photo Flasher. Camera, $6.00. Flasher, $1.90.

BROWNIE HAWKEYE CAMERA $6.00



Snapshot insurance—that preview feature. Big brilliant view finder shows you every detail of your subject. Your snapshots, black-and-white or full-color turn out beautifully. Double-exposure prevention. $21.00. (Also ask for lower-priced model.) Flasholder, $4.00.

KODAK DUAFLEX CAMERA Kodar f/8 Lens $21.00

Old favorite... with new ideas. It's factory-focused, so you don't have to adjust for distance. Just sight and press the new-type, built-in shutter release. Clear, sharp snapshots, both black-and-white and full-color, are that easy! Camera, $25.25. Flasholder, $13.25.

KODAK TOURIST CAMERA Kodet Lens $25.25

The big news in low-priced miniatures. Gives you sparkling full-color transparencies for projection or for gorgeous full-color prints. Crisp black-and-white negatives yield beautiful album-size pictures. Camera, $33.00. Flasholder, $13.25.

KODAK PONY 828 CAMERA (See also "Pony" 135—$39) $33.00

6—In Memoriams

KIDD — In loving memory of Flight Sergeant Earl David Kidd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Kidd, Indian River, who was reported missing after operational flight duty over Wesseling, Germany, June 21-22, 1944, posthumously awarded the gold operational wings for gallant action.

Somewhere in Germany, in an airman's grave
Lies our dear one among the brave.
He never shunned his country's call
But gladly gave life, his all.
He died the helpless to defend,
A faithful airman's noble end.
—Lovingly remembered by his family.

MILLER—In loving memory of Albert E. (Dusty) Miller, who passed away June 21st, 1944.
The years are swiftly passing,
But still we don't forget.
For in the hearts that loved you
Your memory lingers yet.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

District Meet In Oshawa On Recreation

Plans for closer co-operation in the field of recreation were discussed today at a district recreation conference held in Oshawa. The conference was held primarily for members of Recreation Commission, private agencies, professional workers and those interested in recreation.

His Worship Mayor Michael Starr of Oshawa and Alderman Hayward Mirdock, president of the Oshawa and District Community Recreation Association welcomed the recreation persons to the conference.

J. K. Tett, director of the community programs branch of the Department of Education, spoke briefly on the provincial zone services.

During the afternoon panel discussion on the topic "What Has Recreation to Offer?" the chairman was G. L. Roberts, past president of the Oshawa CRA. Members of the discussion group were: Mr. R. Marks, principal of Ajax public schools; Mr. M. Dale of the Bowmanville Recreation committee; Miss Grace Richer, program secretary at the Oshawa YWCA; Mr. G. McMahon, director of recreation in Whitby and E. E. Bathe, superintendent of parks in Oshawa.

Following a conference dinner at which Donald Gaine of the Whitby Recreation Commission was chairman a second panel discussion was held on "What Have You To Offer to Recreation?". J. Fulton Stewart of the Lindsay Recreation Commission acted as chairman. Members of the panel were: Al Clark, physical director at the Peterborough YMCA; Wilfred Langan of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club; Miss Ada Greaves, deputy reeve of Lindsay and a Mr. Hanson of Lindsay.

50th "Whodunit" In 30 Years Calls For Party

LONDON, June 21—(CP)—Agatha Christie, who has figuratively been getting away with murder for 30 years, celebrated an anniversary at a London cocktail party.

Fifty candles glowed on a birthday cake, each representing a murder mystery written by the English-born mistress of the Whodunit.

Her 50th book, released this month, is "A Murder is Announced."

The books she has written in 30 years are said to have sold 50,000,000 copies, including 30,000,000 in Canada and the United States.

She is the creator of Hercule Poirot, a plump, self-satisfied Belgian sleuth who relies on his "little grey cells," and Miss Marple, an innocent-seeming spinster with a sharp eye for larceny.

One of her most controversial novels was "The Murder of Roger Ackroyd." Admirers were miffed when the narrator of the story turned out to be the murderer, thereby defying detection by all but the most psychic readers.

Miss Christie is married to Max Mallowan, Professor of Western Asiatic Archaeology at the University of London.

Scots Organized Township Of Thorah 100 Years Ago

LINDSAY, June 21—The 100th anniversary of the organization of the township of Thorah will be celebrated in Beaverton on July 1. Charles Robinson, George Proctor, Donald Cameron, Kenneth Cameron and Alexander Braik, were the members of the first council that met in what is now Beaverton, on Jan. 21, 1850. The first reeve was Kenneth Cameron and the first township clerk, John Mckay. George Smith who was clerk until 1891, succeeded John Mckay. The next man to hold this office was John McArthur. F. R. McMillan is the present clerk. Beaverton was incorporated as a village on June 5, 1884.

The first settlers in this district were mainly Scottish. The Campbells, McRaes, MacDonalds and Camerons were brought over from Glengarry about 1824 by Donald Cameron.

In 1820, J. E. White surveyed parts of the township and settled on the lake shore north of Beaverton in 1822. His son James, was the first white boy born in the townships. In 1847, James married Elizabeth Turner, the daughter of Ensign Turner, a half pay British officer, Ensign Turner, who settled in the southeast corner of Thorah on lots 21 and 22 in 1822, built the oldest house in the township. This house which is still standing, was constructed of lumber brought from Holland Landing in a rowboat.

Other British officers followed Ensign Turner to this township. In 1831, Lieut. Col. Kenneth Cameron was the Justice of the Peace and represented Thorah on the Home District Council.

Donald Calder, the MacMillans and the McFadgens, originally from Islay, Scotland, came to this district in 1827 from North Carolina. John Bruce, John Gunn, James Gordon, Fraser McLellans and Neil Murray arrived in 1830 among another influx of Highlanders.

In 1830, the first store was operated by Kenenth Cameron and the first post office was opened in 1835 with James Ellis in charge. The second store was opened by George Proctor in 1833. Donald Carter built the first saw mill and grist mill.

The Postmaster General gave Donald Cameron his consent to employ a man to carry mail between what is now Beaverton and the Kingston Road Post Office in the township of Whitby. Kenneth Campbell who was appointed postman, walked to Whitby every two weeks.

Charles Robinson came to Thorah about 1833. He represented Thorah in the Counties of York, Ontario and Peel. He was Reeve for many years and on the Ontario County Council. He became warden in 1859 and served as magistrate and clerk of the Division Court for several years.

UK Emigrants May Get Quicker Fund Release

LONDON, June 21 (CP) —British emigrants to Canada may get a quicker release of the funds they are allowed to take out of Britain as the result of an announcement made yesterday by Sir Stafford Cripps.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer said he would ease in certain cases the time limit governing withdrawal of funds up to £1,000 ($3,100) which emigrants to Canada now are able to make.

The total remains unchanged but in certain cases which will be determined on their merits emigrants may be allowed to have the full £1,000 in one year, instead of having it spread in four yearly instalments of $250 each.

Fear Dollar Loss

LONDON, June 21 (Reuters)—John Freeman, parliamentary secretary to the British ministry of supply, told the House of Commons last night that the government could not abandon bulk purchase of copper and reopen the London copper market because it might mean a loss of dollars to Britain. He said copper is not yet plentiful and the price still remains high. "The salient advantage now is dollar saving," he said.

Police Chief Dies

KINGSTON, June 21 —(CP)— Thomas Moore, chief of police at Napanee for the last 10 years, died in hospital here today as the result of a heart attack suffered Tuesday. He came to Napanee from Brockville 10 years ago.

Steel Industry Future Good

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—Steel users in the United States are matching the smashing performance of the steel industry itself, the Iron Age says today.

The national metalworking weekly says that unprecedented steel production and huge order backlogs are the most obvious signs of the steel industry's thriving business, along with the flourishing activity in such consumer fields as auto-making, appliance and farm equipment manufacturing and the construction trades, the publication notes.

Mills succeeded in checking runaway scrap prices, at least temporarily, by staying out of the market whenever possible and buying substantial tonnages of foreign scrap, the magazine says. The magazine's steel scrap composite price fell 58 cents a ton this week to $39 a gross ton.

Steelmaking operations this week are scheduled at 101.5 per cent of rated capacity for the fifth consecutive week, the weekly reports.

Plan Cruises Along The Trent

Cruises down the Otonabee river, through the Trent canal and across Little Lake are once more in the offering for local residents and tourists. Through the efforts of W. A. Killoran, a Lakefield resort operator, two craft will make a round trip from Lock 22 to George St. wharf daily throughout the summer.

One of the boats is a tender, used by the King of Belgium, and lately has been docked at the Grove School in Lakefield. This craft will carry between 20 and 25 on each trip. The other craft is smaller, equipped to carry about 12. Several boys from the Grove School will help man the crafts.

Through the Chamber of Commerce several trips have been arranged. Friday, students of the Newcastle High School will experience a trip over the Lift Lock, while in two weeks another group from Toronto will take the cruise.

Many requests have been received by the chamber's office inquiring when the Lift Lock was working. Through the daily cruises the tourists will be able to see a boat going through the lock either at 3 p.m. or 7 p.m.

With bus connections the boats will leave the wharf, situated just above Lock 22 on the Otonabee river, each afternoon making the trip to the George St. wharf in 1¾ hours. They leave the wharf at Little Lake each evening at 6 p.m.

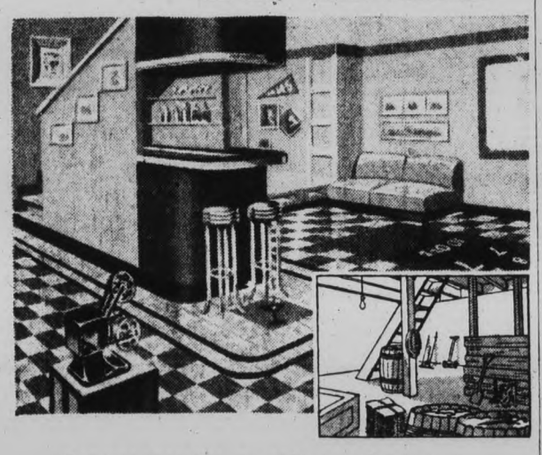
Clever At Atom But Ball Up Books

WESTCOTT, Buckinghamshire, England—(CP)—Scientists at the local government rocket-research station reel off complex atomic mathematics daily—but they can't keep the accounts straight at their social club.

Auditors found the club's books so muddled that an investigation was held.

It showed that "the inaccuracy was not in any way due to 'fiddling' (sharp practice) but to inexperience of the finance committee," the club chairman reported.

Now a non-scientist handles the club's books—which show a balance of £32 0s. 3d. ($99.25)—and the scientists spend all their time on formulae no accountant would ever understand.



Telephone Diagnosis

GLASGOW, Scotland—(CP)—The phone rang at the home of Bertram Jacobs here. He lifted the receiver and a moth flew out of the mouthpiece and lodged in his ear. On the line was his doctor, who told him what to do about it.

Fine Co-operation

DERBY, England —(CP)— A truch driver was find £1 (3.10) here for signalling to another driver to warn him his speed was being checked by a following police car.

Government Withdraws Indian Bill

Anxious To Give Indian Bands Time To Study It

OTTAWA, June 22—(CP)—Citizenship Minister Harris announced in the Commons today that the government is withdrawing a bill amending the Indian Act from further consideration at this session of parliament. He said the bill, put forward by the government as a "new deal" for Canada's 136,000 Indians, was being withdrawn to allow more time for study by various Indian bands. He assured the House it would be reintroduced early in the next session.

Mr. Harris said when he took over administration of Indians' Affairs three main problems stood out in regard to Indians—giving the Indian the vote, further financial assistance, and revision of the Indian Act.

Says Delay Best

He hoped those Indians who favored immediate passage would agree with him that in view of the fact some bands had not yet had time to consider the Bill, it would be best not to proceed with the measure now.

The decision to withdraw the measure was made overnight. Opposition parties Wednesday, attacking the measure, tried unsuccessfully to give it a six-month "hoist" — parliamentary device for killing unwanted legislation.

In a late hour division, a motion by E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) urging that the bill, up for second reading, be read "six months hence" was defeated 90 to 39.

Two Liberals—H. A. MacKenzie (Lambton-Kent) and William Mott (New Westminster) —joined the Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties in supporting Mr. Fulton's motion.

The bill, heralded by the government as a new deal for Canada's Indians, was the target of almost six hours of opposition criticism that it did not go far enough along the road to citizenship.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) said the bill would make the Indian a "second-class citizen" by denying him recourse to the courts without the permission of the Minister. It would perpetuate "bureaucracy" over their reservations.

Finance Estimates

The chamber also opened study of finance department estimates and heard J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Toronto Greenwood), Progressive Conservative financial critic, suggest that the strength of the Canadian dollar now should allow Finance Minister Abbott to take further steps to free it from exchange controls.

In the debate on the Indian Act Mr. Harris said provision is being made for the individual In-

FLOODTIME AGAIN — Sandbagging brigades are back in action again — this time in British Columbia as the Fraser River, which went on a $30,000,000 rampage two years ago, rises steadily. Reminiscent of 1948 is this scene at Agassiz, 65 miles east of Vancouver, as army engineers sandbag the dike holding waters back from the town and surrounding farmland.

Manitoba Board Set Up To Fight Floods

WINNIPEG, June 22—(CP)—The Manitoba Government Wednesday announced creation of a Dominion-provincial Red River Valley Fund Protection Board.

Minister of Mines and Natural Resources McDiarmid said the three-man board will co-ordinate emergency and permanent flood-prevention measures.

J. B. Carswell, of Vancouver, will be chairman. D. M. Stephens, Deputy Minister of Mines and Natural Resources, will represent the Manitoba Government. Victor Michie, of Vancouver, was named by the Federal Government.

The board is expected to hold its first meeting in Winnipeg next week and will have these functions:

1. To co-ordinate the work of providing emergency flood protection throughout the Greater Winnipeg area.

Maximum Protection

2. To make arrangements with municipalities to afford the maximum feasible degree of flood protection prior to the spring of 1951.

3. To recommend permanent flood protection measures in Manitoba portions of the Red River watershed.

The Canadian Government has announced it will pay 75 per cent of the cost of emergency projects. An initial outlay of $1,000,000 is anticipated when federal supplementary estimates are published next week.

Carswell and Michie both were on the Fraser Valley diking board which directed flood-protection in British Columbia.

Mr McDiarmid said the Manitoba Government hopes that personnel experienced in the Fraser Valley work will be brought in to help.

Red Police Chief Dies

BERLIN, June 22 (AP)—Kurt Fischer, 49, Communist chief of East Germany's police, died today. The West charges his force actually is an army of 40,000 men. The East German government's information ministry announced Fischer's death occurred in a sanatorium and said it was due to a heart ailment.

2 Farmers Narrowly Miss Being Shot By Robber

SIMCOE, June 22—(CP)—Two youthful farmers who saw a Sten gun-wielding bank robber kill two pursuers Wednesday were almost added to the list of victims. "We're lucky we ran," said Ray Tressey, 18, who saw the shooting from a nearby field with Robert Nobles, also 18. "I saw the car go into the ditch and started to run across the field towards it. Then I heard shots and saw the dust flying up in front of me.

"I ducked through the willows and ran towards the house. The last thing I saw was a man heading into the bush, Jumping over the fence as he went."

Nobles was slightly ahead of Tressey as they ran towards the car.

Drops Flat

"I almost ran past the dust spurts caused by the bullets before I saw them," he said. "I dropped flat on my face. I was plenty frightened. Then the shots stopped. I looked up and saw a man get out of the front car.

"He walked back to the other car and opened up with his tommygun through the side windows. He fired a long burst and then he jumped over the fence. I ran back to the house without going up to the car."

He Cut Back

Archie Van Hogren, a taxi driver in Langton, said he was sitting in his cab a few doors from the bank when Arthur Lierman and William Goddyn, the men killed, hopped into a car to follow the bandit.

"They were about half a mile ahead of me and I could see the bandit's car about a couple of hundred feet ahead of that. When they turned off at Frogmore I went up to the next concession and cut over, hoping to intercept the fleeing car at the Kinglake crossroad.

"Then I turned down the concession from Kinglake to Frogmore and saw the two cars on the road. I stopped and saw the bullet riddled windshield and the two men slumped on top of each other in the front seat. I also saw the money in the getaway car.

"I didn't waste much time in starting up and getting away from there. I kept cruising until the police arrived but I never saw any sign of the gunman."

Maj.-Gen. Burns Deputy-Minister

OTTAWA, June 22 (CP)—The government today announced appointment of Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. (Tommy) Burns as Deputy Minister of Veterans' Affairs, a role that makes him the key man in handling legislation for Canada's 1,000,000 war veterans.

The 53-year-old former commander of the 1st Canadian Corps in Italy was named to succeed Walter S. Woods, 66, retiring after piloting the Veterans Department through its biggest year. Mr. Woods was a non-commissioned officer in the artillery in the first world war.

Gen. Burns, a brilliant, quiet soldier who was decorated for gallantry in the first world war and commanded both a division and a corps in the second, joined the department several years ago as Assistant Deputy Minister.

General To Be Hanged

LOS NEGROS, Admiralty Islands, June 22 (Reuters)—Japanese Lt.-Gen. Takuma Nishimura, who ordered the massacre of 110 Australian and 35 Indian prisoners-of-war in Malaya, today was sentenced to be hanged.

The war crimes court found him guilty of murder.

Witnesses told the court that after Nishimura had ordered the prisoners to be "disposed of," they were roped together, machine-gunned and bayonetted, then soaked with gasoline and set alight.

Philip Gets Leave

LONDON, June 22—(AP) —Prince Philip is returning here on home leave from the Mediterranean fleet next month, the Admiralty announced today. Princess Elizabeth, his wife, is expecting the birth of their second child this summer.

Cabinet Forces Show-Down Demands Confidence Vote

LONDON, June 22 (Reuters)—The Cabinet decided today to force a show-down with the opposition on the Schuman plan by presenting what amounts to a demand for a confidence vote on the government's attitude to the French scheme.

Cabinet Ministers decided the government should move an amendment to the Conservative-Liberal motion calling for participation in the six-power talks on the Schuman plan now proceeding in Paris. The amendment will ask parliamentary approval of the way the government has handled the situation.

Sure of Victory

Defeat of the government on such an issue would almost certainly mean its downfall—and a new election—but the Cabinet, assured Wednesday of the almost complete backing of the parliamentary Labor party, is confident of victory.

Cabinet circles think a number of Conservatives, uneasy about merging British steel and coal resources with those of Europe, will refrain from voting for the combined Conservative-Liberal motion.

Windsor Youth Shot In Store Robbery

WINDSOR, June 22 (CP) — One Windsor youth was shot and seriously wounded and two others were captured early today when police surprised them during an attempt to rob a grocery store owned by Lawrence Tetley.

Shot in the arm and side as he attempted to escape was Clayton Rye, 21.

Hospital officials listed his condition as "serious" and an operation to remove the bullets was performed shortly after 5 a.m.

Captured were Gordon Kerr, 18 and Donald Brown, 18.

The store owner notified police when the burglar alarm sounded and a police cruiser with constables Sidney Stuart and Robert McGee sped to the scene.

Tell Posse Shoot To Kill If Necessary

Bloodhound Tracking Slayer Down, Use Walkie-Talkies

LANGTON, Ont., June 22—(CP) — Police armed with rifles and tear gas and aided by a bloodhound and walkie-talkies combed through a two-square-mile stretch of rocky, scrub bushland today hunting a bandit who killed two pursuers while fleeing after a bank holdup yesterday.

Farmers and residents of this district, prepared to shoot to kill if necessary, reinforced about 100 police in what has become one of Ontario's greatest manhunts.

Painstakingly they searched for a cold-blooded methodical killer who fired at least 27 bullets from a Sten gun into a car, killing Arthur Lierman and William Goddyn. The two men had chased the bandit after he held up the Imperial Bank Wednesday afternoon, making off with $23,000. The money was left in the getaway car as the bandit fled into the thick bush after the vehicle careened into a ditch.

Bad Territory

"It's bad territory in which to find a man," said one provincial police constable. "The Kinglake district is rocky, scrub bush country with plenty of cover."

The bush in which the murdered vanished is 27 miles east of St. Thomas a few miles north of Lake Erie. It is from two to three miles long in places and about a mile deep.

At 1:45 the search was still going on amid light rain. Police said they believed the killer still was hiding in the district, since there were no reports of cars stolen overnight and all district roads are being closely watched for hitch-hikers.

Use Bloodhound

Spearheading the search was a bloodhound brought from Mount Clemens, Mich., with his master, 16-year-old Cliff Fanning. The bloodhound sniffed through the bush throughout the night after getting a scent from the abandoned getaway car. Young Fanning was confident early today that the killer was still in the bush.

Aircraft circled overhead as the manhunt grew in intensity. Roadblocks were set up in a broad half-circle around the area and cruisers roamed rural roads. Motorists were warned by radio not to pick up hitch-hikers anywhere in the Lake Erie area.

The killer was believed to have the Sten gun with which he shot down Lierman and Goddyn and police believed he would not hesitate to kill again.

The bloodhound, Dr. Keene, is expected to beable to follow the scent despite a steady rain which has been muddying the ground in the area.

Have Trouble

Provincial Police Inspector Leonard Neil said his officers and civil volunteers are moving through the soaked, matted bushland. Several hundred officers and civilians are engaged in the search.

"The rocky land and heavy underground make excellent concealment," Inspector Neil said.

Sentenced To Die Pays Alimony

NEW YORK, June 22—(AP)—A man sentenced to die in Sing Sing's electric chair was ordered Wednesday to pay alimony.

Camillo Leyra, Jr., convicted of the hammer slaying of his aged parents last January, was ordered by the state supreme court to pay his former wife, Lillian Leyra, $30 a week. They were divorced in 1939.

The court noted that Leyra's assets include $15,000 worth of machinery and a $15,000 interest in his parents' estate, although his "probability of earning is practically nil."

Leyra was sentenced to die July 2, but a mandatory review by the court of appeals will delay the execution.

Presents Credentials

OTTAWA, June 22—(CP) —Stanley Woodward, new United States ambassador to Canada, today presented his credentials to Governor-General Alexander at Government House. Howard Measures, Chief of Protocol, presented the 51-year-old Mr. Woodward to Viscount Alexander in the presence of External Affairs Minister Pearson. The new Ambassador succeeds the late Laurence A. Steinhardt, killed in an aircraft crash near here in March.

Trains Collide Head-on 2 Firemen Killed

WINNIPEG, June 22—(CP)—Two Canadian National Railways firemen were believed killed today in a head-on collision of two trains near Abiwin, Ont., about 135 miles west of Port Arthur.

Rail officials said fireman J. C. Conrad and fireman R. J. Young of Port Arthur were fatally injured. A third man—Engineer H. M. Hunnycutt of Port Arthur, suffered a broken arm.

Hunnycutt was the engineer on an eastbound mixed train travelling from Atikokan to Port Arthur. Conrad was on the same train.

Young fired a westbound extra freight.

No further details were available.

Chas. Spofford Named Treaty Council Deputy

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP) —President Truman said today Charles Spofford, New York lawyer, will be the American deputy on the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Truman gave out this word at a press conference at which he also praised work in Europe on creation of a European payments union and reaffirmed his approval of the French plan to pool European coal and steel production.

Foreign ministers of the Atlantic treaty allies decided in London last month to set up the council as a permanent organization to co-ordinate military, economic and political policies of the countries.

Alleged Slayer On Way Back

MONTREAL, June 22.—(CP). —Montreal police announced today that Thomas Rossler, wanted for the murder of the R.C.M.P. Constable Alex Gamman, left Regina today with three Montreal detectives. They will reach Montreal Saturday.

Rossler will be in leg irons.

Chief of Detectives Wilfrid Boudon said Rossler has a record dating back to 1923. It includes sentence-convictions totalling 63 years and one month in Canada and the United States.

Rossler was captured last Saturday in Montana, just south of the Saskatchewan border. He is alleged to have shot Constable Gamman during an abortive bank holdup here May 25.

Drys Triumph At Lakefield Reject Liquor Sale, 90% Voters Go To Polls

Vote Taken On Three Separate Issues Two of Which Were Won With a Majority of More Than 300 Votes

LAKEFIELD, June 22—(ENS)—Lakefield residents Wednesday voted against the sale of beer or liquor in the village, when the largest number ever to turn out to the polls, kept two polling stations in the Town Hall busy all day. More than 90 per cent. of the residents eligible to vote cast their ballots in one of the most controversial issues ever to arise in the village of 1,400. A vote was taken on three separate questions: whether there was to be a liquor store in the village; whether there was to be a beer warehouse; and whether dining room licences were to be granted for the sale of alcoholic beverages with meals.

Not only would it have been necessary for those wanting beer and liquor in the village to poll a majority, but a 60 per cent vote in favor of its introduction would have been necessary before the sale would be authorized.

Voting Listed

On the question of a beer licence the vote was 443 for and 442 against. The liquor store vote was 401 for and 479 against and on the dining room licence vote, the result was 243 for and 620 against.

The petition asking for a vote to be taken, was sponsored by Lakefield Businessmen's Association.

The polls were open to 8 p.m. and at 10 p.m. the votes had been counted. The village had been divided into two sections to vote at No. 1 and No. 2 polling stations both situated in the Town Hall.

Vote By Polls

Residents in the area which mostly includes the section to the west of the bridges, voted in station No. 1. The results there were: Liquor store, 201 for and 256 against; beer warehouse, 232 for and 227 against; dining room license, 120 for and 329 against.

At No. 2 stations, comprising the north and business section, the results were: liquor store, 200 for and 223 against; beer warehouse, 211 for and 215 against; dining room licence, 123 for and 291 against.

Harry Hill, village clerk, was returning officer and deputy returning officers were J. Ridpath, F. Moon, F. Remnant and J. McKerchar.

To Place Film Board On Businesslike Basis

OTTAWA, June 22 (CP) — Resources Minister Winters told the Commons today the government is seeking legislation to put the functions of the National Film Board on "a businesslike basis" and to establish its responsibility to parliament more clearly.

He introduced a bill to work those and other changes "to clarify the functions of the board and authorize administrative machinery which will make possible its efficient operation."

He said the present method of operation, grown up piecemeal and by expedients, "has given rise to difficulties and certain weaknesses in its structure."

Britain's Slum Areas Worst For Last Hundred Years

LONDON, June 22 (CP) — Britain's housing shortage is so bad that authorities have been instructed not to destroy existing properties unless they are dangerous.

Dr. Cyril Garbett, Archbishop of York, considers that never in the last 100 years has the country had such great areas of slums and such overcrowding.

These points emerged Wednesday night from key speeches in a House of Lords debate on housing. Veteran reporters described the debate as among the most depressing they have ever covered.

From late afternoon until an hour before midnight, the Peers argued the problem in an atmosphere of defeatism which was typified in a statement by Lord Morrison, under-secretary for the works industry:

"There is not a single member of this House who could put his hand on his heart and say that he could solve this problem within the lifetime of the youngest member present."

The youngest Peer present was Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, who is 23.

Paymaster Lord Macdonald last Governor of Newfoundland, said that he could offer little encouragement about slum clearance. Action could not be taken if it would prejudice the building of new houses.

Lord Balfour of Burleigh said the size of London's problem was equal to its greatness in every respect.

After a generation in the streets children became "little townies and, I think, lost souls. London is a great octopus which has us in her grip, and she will not easily relax."

Plaster Falls In Theatre, 30 People Hurt

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., June 22—(AP)—Thirty persons were hurt in an accident which dumped some 10 tons of ornamental plaster on movie-goers in the balcony of the Sequoia theatre here Wednesday night.

Fifteen required hospital treatment, but only one was in serious condition early today. The others needed only first aid.

Mrs. Vangie Case, 34, of Redwood City, was unconscious in Palo Alto hospital several hours after the accident. She either jumped or fell from the upstairs logc seats in front of the balcony. She was not in the area where the plaster fell.

Her husband, Dr. Robert Case, said her injuries consisted of a possible concussion, possible internal injuries and a broken finger.

None of the injured, other than Mrs. Case, was considered serious.

The accident occurred about 11:45 p.m. when most patrons had left.

The crash of the ornamental plaster and wire lath reinforcing came suddenly with a "roar like thunder" and seemingly dropped in a single sheet, said police officer William Goldsmith, who was attending the show. A brief panic among patrons resulted.

Atomic Defence Studied Closely

OTTAWA, June 22 (CP)—The government has its Chalk River atomic scientists and the defence's department research board "working closely" to map plans and studies for atomic defence of Canada, it was disclosed today.

This team, said the annual report of the atomic energy control board, has arranged courses to carry forward efforts to prepare the country to cope with A-bomb attack.

The report, tabled in the Commons by George McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe(said:

1. Changing conditions, "including evidence of an atomic explosion in Russia," are the background for recommendations for release of more fundamental scientific atomic information which now are under consideration by officials of Canada, the United States and Britain.

2. The government's recently-announced new uranium price formula is designed to exploit the fact that "there is reason to believe that some new discoveries could produce substantial tonnages of uranium" with the proper encouragement.

Firemen Quell Blaze On British Vessel

LIVERPOOL, England, June 22 (Reuters)—Firemen today put out a fire which raged more than 12 hours through the 6,539-ton British cargo ship Fulani in dock here.

They also prevented the badly damaged vessel from turning over under the weight of water pumped into her and blocking an entrance to the dock.

For more than four hours, 100 firemen wearing breathing masks slithered across tilting decks through dense black smoke, pumping water through hatchways. They were ordered to withdraw early today when the ship lurched.

Request UN To Set Up Arms Check

US Would Like To See International Authority In Charge

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 22—(AP)—The United States asked the United Nations today to set up an international authority to check on the reduction and regulation of ordinary arms and armed forces.

The proposal has been circulated among delegates to the U.N. Commission for conventional armaments.

Conventional arms are rifles, almost all other weapons except artillery, naval and aircraft and the atom bomb and weapons of mass destruction.

The U.S. document proposes that a conventional arms administration should be made up of countries represented in the U.N. Security Council. It would receive information on arms from each country, check on the information, and report violations of the arms code as they are found.

Majority Rule

The administration would operate on simple majority rule, without any veto power, but its decisions would have to be passed on by the Security Council, in which five big powers and permanent members have a veto.

The Arms Commission is one of the 30 U.N. organizations hit by the Soviet walk-out over refusal to unseat Nationalist China and admit the Chinese Communists.

The Russians disagreed with the western powers, however, on how to cut armaments and armed forces even before they walked out. The cold war has stymied the Commission since its start in 1947.

Boys On Bikes Beat Decatur Fire Trucks

DECATUR, Ill., June 22—(AP)—One of Decatur's firemen thinks the city should get some new fire trucks.

He told the city council Monday night that two boys on a bicycle passed him one day when he was racing to a fire, his "foot on the floor boards".

"It was embarrassing," he said. "All the fire trucks are old."

Prices Some Higher On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, June 22 (CP) — Prices were carried slightly higher on the Toronto Stock Exchange today following a strong upsurge in the previous session. Profit-taking appeared in mid-session and there was some reducing of advances by market leaders.

Volume for the first three hours was 2,449,000 shares. Leading industrials jumped strongly ahead at the opening in what appeared to be a continuation of Wednesday's advances into new high price ground. Profit-taking increased on signs of the upturn and losses began to appear in mid-session. However, a handful of key stocks managed to hold their gains and the list climbed further ahead.

In base metals Ascot Corp., a feature of recent markets that has been sliding for two days as traders realized profits, resumed its advance today with a small gain. United Keno Hill also attracted considerable attention.

Golds highlighted Wednesday's market with a sudden upsurge following several weeks of decline. Junior producers opened higher but sagged as the session progressed.

Western oils continued a slow advance.

East Germans Drop Claims On Sudetenland Section

BERLIN, June 22.— (AP).— East German Communists went to another Munich Wednesday, a Munich in reverse.

This Munich was in Prague. Walter Ulbricht, deputy prime minister of the East German regime, announced in the Czech capital that his government will renounce all claims for 2,000,000 Germans to live in the Sudetenland for which Adolf Hitler once threatened war.

In the 1938 Munich agreement Hitler won the Sudetenland. After the war Czechoslovakia expelled more than 2,000,000 Germans from the territory within her borders. Today, the Soviet-licensed news agency ADN quoted Ulbricht as saying this resentment is recognized by the East German Government as a final solution.

Equal Membership

The East German Government is swallowing the pill, apparently for the same reason that it accepted the Oder-5Neisse eastern frontier dictated by Russia and Poland—it is working its way to full and equal membership in the Soviet bloc.

Ulbricht made it clear that a formal declaration relinquishing all claims for the return of the expelled Germans to Czechoslovakia will be signed this week in Prague.

"Between the (East) German Democratic Republic and the Republic of Czechoslovakia, there are no more open questions," ADN quoted him as saying.

A fortnight ago when Ulbricht in Warsaw signed away German claims to the thousands of square miles of territory held by Poland, a storm of protest was raised among the millions of refugees from those areas who now are living in Western Germany.

The forthcoming renunciation at Prague seems likely to provoke similar feelings among Sudentens in Western Germany, who have been campaigning for resettlement in Czechoslovakia.

Mrs. Wright Missing Link In Landlord Rental Case

A woman known only as "Mrs. Wright" could clear up a problem which faces Magistrate W. R. Philp.

"Mrs. Wright" is a tenant who rented three rooms at 217 Mark St. at the time rents were frozen —October 11, 1941.

Her name was given in evidence Wednesday in a case in which James Dunlop, landlord at 217 Mark St., is charged with charging excessive rent from William Lawson. Mr. Lawson paid rent of $25 monthly to Mr. Dunlop for a year.

Tenant closest to the date rents were frozen was Mrs. Alice Scriver, who told court she paid $12 a month for three rooms in the house. She said she took over from Mrs. Wright.

Defence counsel W. J. A. Fair suggested that Mrs. Wright paid the rent on which fixation should have been made, and that it was up to the crown, represented by P. D. Scollard, to prove what Mrs. Wright paid.

Wartime leasehold rulings state that the rent paid on or about October 11, 1941, would be the level at which rent would be frozen.

Ruction arose when Mr. Fair asked Mr. Lawson if he didn't thing $25 a month was "a dead bargain."

"No, no," said His Worship, "we won't have that. We go into that every time one of these cases comes up."

"Well, I'm going to sit down, then," said Mr. Fair. "I'll argue my point later."

"Don't you wish to go on with cross-examination?" asked His Worship.

"You've said I can't ask that question," defence counsel said. Mr. Fair sat down.

Later, while Mr. Fair argued for dismissal of the case on the grounds that the crown had not proved what rent had been on October 11, 1941, Magistrate Philp accused him of wasting time.

"I'm not in the habit of wasting time," said Mr. Fair.

"You've wasted the last 15 minutes," replied His Worship.

"I didn't intend to annoy the court," Mr. Fair said.

"Well," said Magistrate Philp, "if you haven't something constructive to say, you might go on to another point."

Earlier, Mr. Lawson told court he had asked Mr. Dunlop to go to the rental board and get a fixation for the apartment. "He refused," said Mr. Lawson. This was at the time the Lawsons were looking at the apartment.

Mrs. Dunlop also faces a charge of charging excessive rentals, as she was the person to whom the Lawsons paid the rent each month. Both cases were adjourned to June 28, Mr. Dunlop's for judgment.

Police are widening the search area today, questioning farmers and checking motorists.

The first scene of the bloody tragedy was played out here in the sleepy hamlet of Langton, about eight miles east of the scene of the double slaying.

At 2.45 p.m., an armed man walked into the Imperial Bank branch in this village in the heart of Ontario's tobacco-growing country. He escaped with $23,000.

Ten minutes later Art. Lierman, 31-year-old insurance agent and William Goddyn, 24-year-old operator of Lierman's tobacco farm, took up the pursuit. They were among five customers in the bank at the time of the holdup.

Goes In Ditch

The chase ended between 3:15 and 3:25 p.m. The pursuers punctured the bandit's car rear tire with a shot from an old service rifle. The car plunged into a ditch.

The bandit greeted the pursuit car with a withering blast of Sten gun fire which ripped out th rear window of his own auto Then he walked up close to pump several more rounds into the death car before fleeing on foot.

Two young farmhands, Ben Nobles and Ray Pressey, saw the killing. They were working in a nearby field when they heard the first shots. They dropped flat to the ground in the thought that the shots were aimed at them. Nobles said he saw the killer step up to the Lierman car and fire the second murderous blast.

Police counted 12 bullet holes in the windshief of Lierman's car which Goddyn had driven at breakneck speed over the twisting country roads to catch up to the bandit. There were 10 other bullet holes in the hood.

Leaves Loot

When the bandit fled into the bush, he left behind the $23,000 in loot, in a shopping bag in the car which had been stolen in Windsor. He also left behind a revolver, taking the Sten gun with him into the bushland.

Lierman, father of two children, and Goddyn, father of four, were transacting business in the bank when the bandit pushed open the door. He levelled a gun at the six members of the staff and the five customers and announced in a soft low-pitched voice: "this is a holdup."

He ordered H. W. Thompson, accountant, to open the vault.

"I'm not fooling," said the man. "Open it up if you don't want to get a sore head."

Scoops Up Money

Thompson obeyed. The bandit herded staff and customers into the vault. He scooped up money and put it in two shopping bags. He backed out of the vault and looked around. Lambert Van Hooren, a garageman, and Cecil Aspeden, a bus driver, were peering in. He ordered them into the bank and then into the vault. He slammed the vault door but did not lock it.

Outside, one of the shopping bags broke and money spilled on the street. The bandit paused and scooped it all into one bag before getting into his car and driving off.

Lierman and Goddyn took up the chase without telling anyone of their plans. There was shooting during the pursuit. Farmer Harry Manary said "They were shooting when they went past my place."

Others who saw the chase said the cars were travelling at a "terrific pace."

The Imperial Bank is the only one in Langton, a village of about 250 persons.

It was robbed of $34,000 on Sept. 12, 1945, by three armed and masked men who escaped in a waiting car, driven by an accomplice.

Four days later four men were arrested in connection with the robbery, three in Windsor and one in Ottawa.

100 Nfld. Miners Come To Ontario

OTTAWA, June 22 — (CP) — Labor Minister Mitchell today announced that 100 Newfoundland miners are moving westward to take jobs arranged for them in hard-rock mines in North-Western Ontario and Manitoba.

This was the first organized movement of miners between Newfoundland and the mainland, Mr. Mitchell said.

The men were selected by Harlow W. Wright, assistant to the executive director of the Canadian Metal Mining Association, in co-operation with the special services branch of the Labor Department, and with National Employment Service offices in Newfoundland.

Most of the men are experienced miners from Bell Island and the Conception Bay district. Ten of them are qualified as carpenters for underground work.

"All applicants for these jobs underwent a strict physical examination," Mr. Mitchell said, "and about 17 per cent of those examined were rejected on physical grounds."

CNR Reports Jump 5 Million In Revenue

MONTREAL, June 22—(CP)—Canadian National Railways today reported net revenue for May of $6,337,000, an increase of $5,740,000 over figures for the corresponding period last year.

Operating revenue for May totalled $47,534,000 compared with $40,184,000 in May, 1949. Operating expenses were $41,197,000 compared with $39,587,000.

Aggregate net revenue for the first five months of this year totalled $9,941,000 compared with $64,000 in the corresponding period of 1949.

Faces Theft Charge Of 512 Apple Barrels

TORONTO, June 22 — (CP) — John Argier, 34, of Toronto Wednesday was charged with the theft of 512 barrels of apples from Joseph Persofsky of Cobourg and with failing to pay a $90 bill at a Toronto hotel.

Police said they recognized Argier and followed him into a rooming house where he was found hiding under a bed. Three charges of false pretences have also been laid against him by police at Gananoque.

Weaves In U.S. Said No Match For U.S. Mills

LONDON, June 22 (Reuters) — Weavers in Britain's famous Lancashire cotton mills were told on Wednesday that their traditional skill is no match for the modern methods of United States mills.

A team of 13 representatives of the weaving industry, reporting on a tour of American mills sponsored by the Anglo-American council on productivity, reported unanimously Lancashire needs new machinery and fewer prejudices.

"The most striking difference between American and British mills in productivity in weaving is attributable to the wide use of automatic looms in America," the team's report added.

It pleaded for a re-examination of the relative merits of the American automatic and the traditional Lancashire looms.

"We feel it to be vital for the future of cotton weaving in Britain that old prejudices should be cast aside and the problem reconsidered on the basis of the facts we present," it said.

The team reported it had seen weaving being done in the United States with more than 90 per cent efficiency and 104 looms a weaver. New firms in Britain would weave the same cloths at more than eight non-automatic looms a weaver and 85 per cent efficiency, it stated.

PRINCE GEORGE of Denmark and Viscountess Anne Anson, niece of England's Queen Elizabeth, have that familiar look for each other in London's Cadogan Gardens after announcing their engagement. The Prince, 30, second cousin to King Frederik IX of Denmark, currently is acting military attache at the Danish Embassy in London. The Viscountess, 32, was divorced two years ago from Viscount Anson on desertion grounds. The couple plan a late summer or fall wedding.

Toronto Children Start Holidays At Cobourg

COBOURG, June 22 (ENS) — Illahee Lodge opened Wednesday for the summer with 50 children quartered there for a three weeks' stay. Two more groups of around 50 children will be brought during the summer and the Lodge will close at the end of August.

The children suffer from non-contagious chest ailments diabetes and heart disease and their stay is financed by the Toronto Kinsmen Clubs. The lodge is operated by the Neighborhood Workers' Association of Toronto.

Wednesday was the fifth official opening of the Lodge and it was formally declared open for the summer by Dr. J. H. Ebbs, senior staff physician, Hospital for Sick Children. C. H. Poole of Toronto was chairman of the brief opening ceremony.

Truck Catches Fire

CAMPBELLFORD, June 22 — (ENS)—The fire department was called to the Seward Machine Shop on north Front St. Wednesday afternoon when a truck at the shop caught fire. The origin of the fire is undetermined, but the blaze was under control when the firemen arrived. There was little damage to the truck, and apparently no damage to the building.

Ate Firecrackers

NEWARK, N.J., June 22. — (AP). — "Mommy, we just ate some candy and our throats are burning," said Sharon Pierce, 4, and her sister, Linda, 3. In hospital, they were reported in fair condition today. Their "candy" was pill-sized fireworks known variously as snakes, sooners' eggs and Pharaoh's serpents. When ignited they resemble, small, wriggling snakes.

Auction Last Trolleys

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 22. — (AP).—Buffalo's last street cars went on the auction block yesterday. A New York salvage firm, opened the bidding with an offer of $415,000 for 120 streetcars, 249 buses and other equipment. Buses now are used entirely.

Games Park Menace?

COBOURG, June 22 (ENS). —Complaints that hardball games and golf in Victoria Park are a menace to safety, are being investigated by the Parks Board.

The town has grown considerably during the past five years, and Victoria Park is visited by large crowds.

The Parks Board has been advised that some people have been using the park to practice up on their golf drives and that the flying golf balls endanger the public. It is felt that there is plenty of room in the Horse Show Park for the hardball players.

Boy Scouts Start Safety Program

COBOURG, June 22 (ENS) — Safety first procedure is an important phase in Boy Scout instruction in Cobourg and the cubs and scouts are getting information at each meeting on how to avoid danger in their daily activities. Provincial Constable Hugh Wooldridge of Cobourg, who is active in Scout work, is the safety instructor for Cobourg Scouts.

Constable Wooldridge distributed safety posters Wednesday covering highway travel, swimming and various sports. One poster deals with the different parts of a bicycle and how they should be kept in first class shape in order to avoid accidents.

The Scout masters were the first to be drilled in safety first methods so that they could instruct their boy scout charges informatively on the subject and each scout meeting has a period devoted to a lecture on safety. It is planned to make it a year 'round proposition but in view of the prevalence of traffic accidents at this time of year, the present time was considered most opportune to launch the safety program.

IOOF Decoration Day Ceremonies Sunday

CAMPBELLFORD, June 22 — (ENS)—Campbellford Lodge No. 248 I.O.O.F. and the Loch Lomond Rebekah Lodge will hold their annual decoration day ceremonies on Sunday, June 25. Graves of former members will be decorated during the ceremony.

Brethren of both lodges will meet in the lodge rooms at 2 p.m. and a number of visiting members are expected.

One Hundred Saved

A remarkable statement was made on Tuesday by the local medical officer in an address to the Board of Health; Dr. Kelly said that he estimated that the lives of one hundred mothers and infants in this district had been saved in the year 1949 by modern care in childbirth. The figure of one hundred was arrived at by comparing Peterborough's mortality rates in 1935 with those in 1949. This is a matter for pride. The education of the public in the care of children before and after birth, and the techniques of obstetrics have not reached perfection, of course, but a great improvement has been made in fourteen years.

• • •

People whose memories cover a span of forty or fifty years know that even more startling improvements have been made since the turn of the century. It is not so long ago that childbirth was attended with considerable risk for both mother and infant. Even after antisepsis and anaesthetics had come into general use little attention was paid to prenatal care; and when the child was born it was not uncommon for it to die during its first year. Nowadays every mother has access to information and advice which help her to look after herself and her child before it is born, and which will tell her how to care for it and feed it afterward. There is even a miraculous operation which can be performed upon infants whose bloodstream threatens their safety; they can, if need be, receive an entirely new quota of blood! Childbirth has been robbed of many of its terrors, particularly for older mothers, and an infant's chances of survival have been vastly improved.

• • •

As we have said, however, these advances are only a beginning. A recent investigation among schoolchildren in Toronto shows how little the job of feeding a family properly is understood by many mothers. It will take a long time to spread the word that candy and soft drinks are not in themselves a proper diet for a child. A physician can supervise a birth, if he is given the chance; supervision of the nation's feeding cannot be undertaken by any authority; only education can improve it.

• • •

In an editorial on Wednesday we mentioned that great advances in the care of the young had been made in the past half century, and suggested that medical science in the future would concern itself to an increasing degree with the problems and care of the old. We now give children a better start in life than their fathers and grandfathers had; at least they are given a better chance of survival into adult life. Proper nutrition and preventive medicine will give them a longer life span. And we shall have to take care that the lives which begin so promisingly do not peter out in a neglected, unoccupied and miserable old age. Every child born now has a fair chance of living to be 70; it will not be long before that figure rises to 80. We must see that the last fifteen years of life are not wasted.

Tour The County

On these lovely late June evenings, these lush verdant week-ends, it is a pity that wayfaring motorists waste so much time on paved highways. Now is the time—well, we admit autumn, too—to take to the by-ways, if one is not intent merely on getting between two points in the shortest time. Now is the time to saunter, and one cannot, and should not, saunter on highways. It is too dangerous to drive at a lesser speed than 45 miles an hour on a paved highway; dangerous to oneself, especially dangerous to other motorists who are using the highways for their proper purpose which is to get from one place to another quickly. (Incidentally, it is scandalous how many Sunday drivers out for an afternoon or evening stroll in their cars clutter the highways for ten or fifteen miles near cities. A driver on a highway travelling at only 30 or 35 miles an hour is a menace and should be collared. He is much more dangerous than the driver travelling at sixty. The time is long overdue when the law should force cars to move speedily on highways or get off them.)

From an aesthetic and moral point of view, week-end jaunters should take to county and township roads, morally because they have no right to be puttering about highways, aesthetically because the real beauty of the countryside in this month is best seen and felt from the narrower tree, fern and daisy-bordered roads.

Peterburians have a splendid assortment of roads to choose from, especially south of the city. What could be lovelier than a saunter a few miles out of the city down the Keene road, which runs off Highway 7. Up and down hill, over good gravelled surfaces, which are here and there even oiled. Through Birdsall's Station to Keene; to Westwood; through lovely, well-farmed and tranquil Otonabee and Asphodel. There is no need to fear the condition of the roads. They are good and well-marked. And what does it matter if one wanders off, missing a turn? Highways 28 or 7 are easily reached for a speedy return home, and any Concession road in that part of our country comes sometime, somewhere, out into the main thoroughfares.

How restful and revealing it is to tour the quiet country and township roads! On Sundays the highways are a warm with cars as with locusts. On the rural roads there is not a car to meet or overtake for miles. And one sees the real countryside: rail fences which have done duty for seventy years, woodlots which have served a family for four generations, ponds and small marshes which exist timelessly, and meadows and grain fields attesting patient labour which has wrested civilization from the primeval, fruitless from rank nature.

This June month is the time to stroll (even in cars) off the beaten highways.

End Of A Lakeshore Era

The Rochester-Cobourg car ferries are no more. Ontario No. 1 was towed last week to Port Welland, bound for the scrap heap. Her sister ship, Ontario No. 2 goes the same way this week. The discontinuance of this ferry service, authorized last winter by the Department of Transport on the petition of the owners, the Baltimore and Ohio railway and the C.N.R., marks the end of an era of Lake transport and trade. Passenger and freight business had dwindled to a point where economical operation was no longer possible, and despite the objections of fond district people, the ferries made their last commercial trip at the end of April.

For many generations the ferries have been part of Cobourg life. They gave it, and a wide district to Peterborough and beyond, a link with the commerce of the big world. Railway cars were puffed into the bowels of the ships, loaded with Ontario products destined for New York and overseas. They returned freighted with American and other foreign goods for the markets of central Ontario. But the opening up of new bridges, more reliance on long-distance railway hauls, and the development of highway transportation reduced the cross-lake trade to a trickle.

It was the social influence and opportunities of the ferries which held and still hold the popular mind. In full summer both ferries made the round trip daily; in winter the schedule was reduced but maintained. The Cobourg-Rochester route was the shortest way between New York State and east-central Ontario. Travellers and tourists came and went, enjoying in the process what amounted to a sea voyage in a large (300-foot) ship. Picnickers from Rochester and its environs, from Ontario towns along the lakeshore and as far inland as Peterborough and Lindsay, would take a day excursion. Church groups, service and military clubs, office and factory staffs held gay annual outings. For a couple of dollars one made the round trip from Peterborough to Cobourg to Rochester with a brief stopover in that city to eye the shops. There were always two things to talk over in the following winter: the bargains (or not) in the Rochester shops, and whether one had been sea-sick. It was a bit astonishing to be sea-sick so few miles from home!

Cobourg and Port Hope fabrics have been conditioned by the ferries. To these towns, so easily reached, came wealthy Americans from New York and other fabulous cities to build palatial summer homes. Their grand houses and estates still exist, but American income taxes, the passing of the older generation, and the motor car and new horizons, have emptied them. The great days of the 1900's and the gay picnic crowds of then and more recent years, faded even before the ferries disappeared.

Thus passes one of the oldest permanent trade and transportation links between Upper Canada and the American east. A romantic link it was, despite the square bulk and the flat open sterns of the ferries. They meant much to inland Ontario and will be remembered

The Lupin Man

By A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

IN the gardens of England lupins are standing like many-coloured sentinels. Their perennial arrival brings contentment to every gardener, but to an old man of ninety-three years, Mr. George Russell, it must bring a fuller sentiment.

For it was not Nature but Mr. Russell who created the lupin as we know it, making endless variations on its original theme of simple blues and whites and, in his single-minded lifetime, adding more colour to the English garden than any other man in horticultural history.

For many years of the Victorian era, Mr. Russell worked as a simple jobbing gardener in Yorkshire, tending the lawn and borders of various middle-class persons, in particular a certain Mrs. Micklethwaite, and, in the evenings, working on his own allotment. In the present century, his likeness smiles from packets containing lupin seeds throughout the world. He brought this fame upon himself simply by following his own bent for his own pleasure, absorbed in his allotment and his potting shed and asking help only of the bees.

ONCE he had given the Russell Lupin to the world, there was really no other Lupin worth its border-space. But it is evident that he never thought of himself as working for the world, or for a limitless posterity of gardeners. The lupin in its original form seemed to him an unsatisfactory flower; and so he set about trying to breed a better one, likely td look "nice" on his allotment in York or in the gardens where he was employed for a few shillings an hour.

A brief but knowing compliment from the men who worked the allotments near his own was probably the only recognition that he ever expected or desired. When news began to leak out of unimagined splendours beside the early potatoes and among the makeshift sheds of the York allotments, Russell seems at first to have rejected offers of fame and comparative fortune with genuine embarrassment.

MR. Russell was born in 1857 in the village of Stillington, in Yorkshire. He remembers being taken as a boy to a flower show, where he saw lupins decked out in the original simplicity of their blues and whites. They seem to have made an impression, since he remembers them even now. But if the idea then occurred to him that he could grow something better, it was an unconscionable time maturing. Forty years later he found himself staring with unrelieved dissatisfaction at a vase of the same old blue lupins on the dining-room table in the Barnsley home of Mrs. Micklethwaite. And he still thought lupins were too thin, too colourless, and the wrong shape.

Then Russell began to let his creative impulse have its way, although he had reached an age when men are usually past being adventurous. Unlike the general run of jobbing gardeners—men who seem to be wholly absorbed in the life of the subsoil and are slow and reluctant of human contact—Russell knew what was going on in the world; in the world of gardening, at all events.

He had heard of a grower in Germany who was offering annual lupins which seemed to have some of the virtues Russell thought lupins should have—a plump round keel (the "slipper" part of the flower) and flattened-out standards (the pair of wings which in the old-fashioned lupin are folded back). But annuals die when they have flowered; Russell's idea was to marry these foreigners to the English perennial and so establish a line of lupins in which those transient German qualities might be given a hardy English permanence.

ONCE he had started, Russell's appetite for experiment grew. For 15 years he patiently crossed and re-crossed his lupins, ruthlessly scrapping inferior seedlings, struggling all the time with his main problem—the mortality of that foreign strain. In June, 1925, his allotment was already blazing with the bright dawn of success, filled with lupins such as the world had never seen. There were lupins with tall, symmetrical spikes in astounding new colours and mixtures of colours; lupins with outspread standards and plump keels which gave the flowers a rich, abundant shape.

It was impossible to confine the fame of this show, either to the allotment or to the town. Seedsmen from all over the country and from abroad began to arrive, offering £10 for this plant or £20 for that. Russell turned them all down. Whatever his objective was, it was plainly not gain. This jobbing gardener, who could have done with the money was throwing away plants he could have sold for a small fortune, because they did not satisfy the standards he had set himself.

He answered with the same shy stubbornness proposals made to him by firms who wanted to buy his creations root and stem. They reasoned with him; they pleaded posterity's cause. What would happen to the secret of his lupins if he died? Ah, said Russell, Sonny Heard, a lad who had always helped him, knew all about them. In the end Russell was persuaded. He sold the lot to a firm in the Midlands—on the understanding that Sonny went with them.

SOME growers work to scientific principles. If Russell did so, he seems to have been unaware of it. He once had a copy of Mendel's principles, but he never read it. He collected seeds from all over the world and, he says, "me and Sonny spent hours on winter nights chipping lupin seeds to make sure they would germinate." And most of the outdoor work, according to the old man, was done by bumble bees. A member of the Royal Horticultural Society's Floral Committee once said: "I do not know which other lupin species Russell used in his work, but from the range of colours I suspect Lupinus lexiflorus, L. lepidus, L. leucophyllus, L. mutablis, L. nootkatensis and L. subcarnosus have all played some part." To such analyses, Mr. Russell reacts with a look of gratification touched with mild surprise.

The fact seems to be that Mr. Russell is a natural Mendelian, one of that long line of creative cultivators who in years (or rather, in centuries) of painstaking hybridising, selection and re-selection, have evolved our garden flowers from the wild plants. It is a curious thought that some of our most beautiful and sophisticated flowers have been created by people in whom artistry is not otherwise apparent.

TODAY, old Mr. Russell sits in the sun outside the cottage he shares with Sonny at that nursery garden in the Midlands, looking out over dazzling acres of lupins which even Dutchmen confess outshine their tulip fields. The firm who bought the Russell lupins thought the old man might still feel inclined to potter with plants; there was work to be done on the columbine, for example. But old age now holds him to his chair and he is content just to sit, especially in June when the wind can bring him the scent of his lupins.

His pioneering plants have now been taken beyond the stage of development he reached with them on his allotment. But the catalogue still carries his original flowers, their names telling the story of his uncomplicated life. There is the "Mrs. Micklethwaite' in salmon-pink, the bright red "City of York," the "Sonny" in cerise, and a coral-pink bloom that he has named after himself.

Jacobus Strauss

(Successor to Field Marshal Smuts as Parliamentary Leader of the United Party)
BY A SOUTH AFRICAN CORRESPONDENT

THE appointment on Thursday of Jacobus Strauss as Parliamentary leader of the United Party is a clear pointer to the change that is, inevitably, overtaking the South African political scene. He is representative of a less colourful, less individualistic order of politicians who must follow on after the old "giants"—Botha, Hertzog, Smuts, Malan—who have successively dominated that scene since Union.

Jacobus Gideon Nel Strauss, a practising barrister, had his first contact with politics as a protege of Smuts. In 1923 Smuts, then Prime Minister, asked the Principal of the University of Cape Town to find among his students a man to serve him as private secretary. Strauss was chosen. He was young (he is only 49 now) and he has always looked even younger than he is. Thus, when constituents commented on the "youthfulness" of his secretary during the 1942 election campaign, Smuts explained characteristically: "The older fellows can't keep up with me".

That election was lost to the Nationalists and Strauss left Smuts to become Registrar to Sir Etienne de Villiers, then Judge-President in the Orange Free State. He was admitted to the Bar in 1926, three years later was elected to the Transvaal Provincial Council and, in 1932, won a surprise parliamentary by-election victory at Germiston, a seat which he held in the General Elections of 1933, 1938, 1943 and 1948.

Early in the war he distinguished himself as arbitrator in a Rhodesian railway dispute and in 1944 was appointed Minister of Agriculture in Smuts's second wartime Government.

It was an unenviable post. He had to avoid antagonizing the consumers and, at the same time, to provide higher-price incentives to win maximum production from farmers, politically powerful and by no means all in favour of participation in the war. He clashed with both sides, but he emerged comparatively unscathed from his precarious political balancing acts. His Soil Conservation Act of 1946 won him enthusiastic praise from United States conservation experts.

When Dr. Malan's Nationalists and their Afrikaner Party allies won power two years ago, Smuts's "Number Two" in Opposition was Jan Hendrik Hofmeyr. But Hofmeyr died in December 1948, and Smuts had often to be absent. Strauss became accepted as Parliamentary leader in his place—due more to Smuts's oft-expressed confidence in him than to any general feeling in the party that he was naturally "next in line". Thus, deputizing for Smuts, he has led competent and vigorous attacks on the Government's more contentious Bills, notably the Citizenship Bill of last year and the Group Areas Bill, "Apartheid" cornerstone which was finally approved by the House of Assembly this week.

His official appointment to Parliamentary leadership this week had the unanimous support of the Party caucus. But the less-optimistic among many prophets of what would happen "when Smuts goes", fear that such unanimity is artificial and forced on the Party through political necessity. There have been many predictions—that Nationalist-inclined United Party members would desert to the Government once Smuts's strong personal grip on their loyalities was relinquished; that Strauss's authority would be challenged by some "rival" group, backing either another former Cabinet Minister or one of the Party's "bright young men"—such men as Sir De Villiers Graaf, Marais Steyn or Harry Oppenheimer.

If there is to be a split within the Party it will not be as fundamental a division as would have occurred were Jan Hofmeyr (whose "liberal" views on Native Policy had made him feared as a "bad risk") still living. As it is, however, it will take all the skill and tact Strauss can find—not as a semi-autocratic party "guide", but as a party spokesman—to keep the United Party united. They are Malan's only significant opponents in Parliament. The Government Press will undoubtedly exploit any sign of dissension and try to make Strauss fail. If he does fail, it could mean the indefinite entrenchment of Nationalist control in South Africa.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith the Lord, As the new wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not; for a blessing is in it: so will I do for my servants' sakes, that I may not destroy them all. And I will bring forth a seed out of Jacob, and out of Judah an inheritor of my mountains: and mine elect shall inherit it, and my servants shall dwell there . . . For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind.

But be ye glad and rejoice for ever in that which I create: for, behold, I create Jerusalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy. (Isa. 65: 8, 9, 17, 18.)

And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea . . . And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be with them, and be their God . . .

And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful. And he said unto me, It is done. I am Alpha, and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely.

He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son. (Rev. 21: 1, 3, 5-7.)

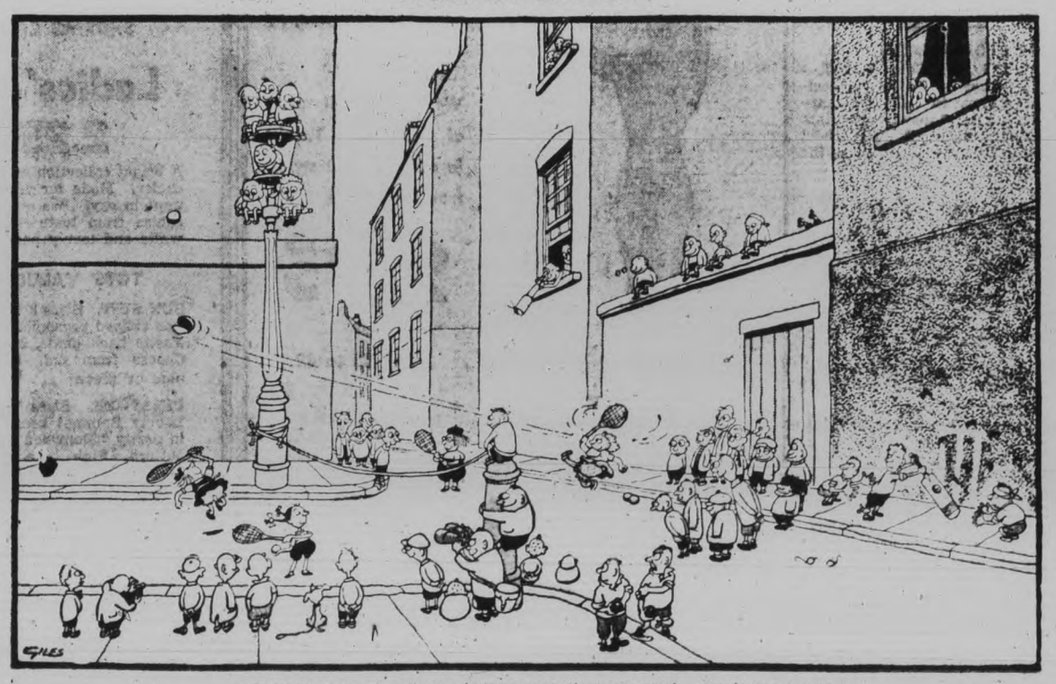
◇ ◇ ◇

Now the Lord had said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee: and I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing. (Gen. 12: 1, 2.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A girl from a big city, helping with the harvest, complained that a bull kept looking at her in a somewhat menacing manner.

"I expect," said the farmer, "that it's on account of that red frock you're wearing."



"Oh," said the girl, "I know its terribly out of fashion, but just fancy that—a country bull noticing it."

◇ ◇ ◇

Two American soldiers who had just arrived in Britain during the late war found the telephone boxes somewhat confusing. One of them was trying to make a call.

After manoeuvring with buttons A-B and dialing the operator, he had just pressed one of the buttons when a V bomb exploded nearby. Stumbling out on his knees, and covered with dust, he found his pal flat on the pavement somewhat hurt. He said: "Honest Joe, all I did was press button A."

A BRITISH OPINION

"It used to be the glory of the game that counted—not fancy pants."

CANNED PIG is little Bertha, who reached this undignified position by drinking spilled milk until she literally drank herself right into the overturned can. Then she was so stuffed with milk she couldn't get out. Owner Bob Beck, of Lawton, Oklahoma, left Bertha in the can until hunger thinned her down, and she could be pulled out.

Marmora Telephone Service More Than 50 Years Old

By W. J. COTTRELL

The history of the Bell Telephone system in Marmora goes back to the end of the 19th century. The exchange service was introduced shortly before the close of the last century when A. W. Carscallen, who also operated the first bank in the village and played an outstanding part in the business life of Marmora, installed a primitive switchboard in his office on Forsythe St., on the site where the Canadian Legion Hall now stands.

There were 25 telephones in service, listed as follows: Bleecker Brothers store, Forsyth St.; C. A. Bleecker; C. A. Bleecker; H. Black, butcher; H. Boyd, livery; R. Campion, livery; Canadian Gold Field Co., office and mill; A. W. Carscallen, office and residence; Central Ontario Railway station; Cordova Exploration Co.; Dempsey Brothers, hardware; Gladney and McDonnell, store; W. E. Gladney, residence; J. W. Haight, grocer; William Hughes, hardware; Dr. Jones, residence; Dr. W. G. MacKechnie, physician; N. McWilliams, livery; Pearce Co. Ltd., lumber office; J. W. Pearce, store; Royal Hotel and St. James Hotel.

In March, 1910, Miss Clara H. Eastwood, resident of McGill St. East, was appointed local manager of the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada with supervision over the telephone needs of 37 local subscribers. Miss Eastwood today lives at Seattle, Wash.

Develop Long Distance

In the meantime, the development of long distance service was progressing rapidly. Lines were built throughout the countryside, one of which led to Trenton, where it connected with the long distance network of the Bell Telephone Co.

Marmora subscribers were thus able to communicate with telephone users in Toronto, Montreal and Quebec, as well as to several communities across the American border.

For a number of years after the opening of the exchange, telephone service was available from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. on week days, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Sundays and from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. on holidays.

In 1920 there were 86 telephones in operation in the Marmora district. In 1930 there were 124 and an additional four in 1940. The number more than doubled during the war years and there now are 317 subscribers.

Started With 20 Miles

In Marmora, as at every other exchange in Ontario and Quebec territory, the Bell Telephone Co. expanded at a rapid pace from the very first years of its existence. The first commercial telephones had a range of only 20 miles for satisfactory transmission. Gradually the original instruments were refined and improved.

Copper wire replaced iron lines making inter-city communication available. Metallic circuits which eliminated static interference and "cross talk" while expanding the voice range, were introduced.

By 1927, by radio telephony, telephone users could chat across the Atlantic.

The first half of the twentieth century has witnessed a progress in telephony in rural as well as city areas in the Dominion, unequalled by any other invention.

Can Put Party-Liner Head Of Department

LONDON, June 22—(AP)—The Communist Daily Worker won the right to put a party-liner in charge of its own circulation department.

A ruling to this effect was handed down by the Printing and Kindred Trades Federation, which serves as arbiter in Labor disputes in the British publishing industry.

The Worker was muzzled by a one-day strike of 15 warehousemen, truck drivers and mailing room clerks over the issue last Friday.

The employees protested that Tom Elliott, new on the payroll, was appointed foreman of their department solely because he was a Communist. The men, most of them non-Communists, had asked that the job be given to a fellow worker recommended by them.

The Printing and Kindred Trades Federation ruled: "The right of firms to make their own managerial appointments is . . the custom throughout the industry."

Bedside Manner

HASTINGS, England—(CP)—Rev. J. Maddock takes church services into the homes of old people who are sick. On his portable gramophone he plays a record of church bells and a choir singing hymns. Then he preaches a "pocket" sermon.

Scandinavian Defence

KARLSBORG, Sweden (CP)—The Swedish air force staged one of its largest post-war exercises recently when aircraft from seven squadrons repelled an "invasion fleet" on Lake Vattern, south of here. Along with bombs, rockets and automatic cannon, a new 57-MM Bofors anti-aircraft gun was used.

Sault Groups Fight Licence

SAULT STE. MARIE, June 22—(CP)—The board of education and church groups Tuesday vigorously protested possible establishment of additional liquor outlets in the Sault Ste. Marie area when 33 Sault-Sudbury district applications were heard by the Ontario Liquor Control Board.

The hearing, presided over by Judge W. T. Robb, took the applications under consideration. Results will probably be announced in the next few weeks.

Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury groups said increased outlets "would tend to worsen instead of alleviate a bad situation".

The Rev. Elgin G. Turnbull, United Church minister, criticized the application of th Sault's Root River Golf Club because it said "clergymen were in the club" and that none of the member clergy had opposed the club's action. He said that ministers were offered "complimentary memberships.

The application of the Sudbury local of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers ran into opposition from Sudbury church groups and the Hotel Keepers' Association.

Counsel for the hotel men said it was not advisable to "allow liquor in a place where matters of such great importance are voted on."

Hearing Postponed

QUEBEC, June 22 — (CP) — Preliminary hearing of Mrs. Arthur Pitre, charged with intimidating witnesses in connection with the Sault au Cochon air disaster September 9 last, was postponed today until June 29.

BLITZ DAMAGE

Out of about 13,000,000 houses in the United Kingdom at the outbreak of the Second World War, nearly 4,500,000 were damaged or destroyed by enemy action.

Sometimes It Helps To Be Short, Tubby

LONDON—(CP)—Giving evidence against a motorist accused of reckless driving, a police doctor expressed the opinion that short, round tubby men can keep their equilibrium better than tall, thin men.

Queried the magistrate: "Why?"

"Because," said the doctor, "the short man's head is nearest his feet."

Brampton Edges Petes, 9-8 In Sizzling Lacrosse Game

Brampton hooked firmly onto top spot in the OLA senior "A" race here last night by yanking out a 9-8 verdict over the third-place Petes before some 1,600 fans. It was generally cold in Peterborough but Miller Bowl—at least the playing field—was a hot spot as the well-matched squads battled it out bitterly, time running out on the Petes as they finished strongly. Bob Thorpe's hat trick for three late goals in a row wasn't quite enough to overcome an early lead built up by the Excelsiors. The score was 5-1 at the half, there being no count in the first quarter and Brampton having a good edge in the second. The Petes then battled back to have a 3-1 margin in the third to make it 6-4 and they outscored the husky and speedy visitors 4-3 in the final frame. The homesters drew 13 of the penalties in a stiff-checking game.

LED THE WAY—Jerry Fitzgerald led the local senior lacrossers in scoring here last night, being in on four goals, but Brampton picked up the marbles as they jerked out a 9-8 win in a grand game.

No Quarter Given

Neither side asked or gave any quarter in the hot going. The checking was quite close and one fist fight—between Don Ashbee and Gus Chard—sparked action in the initial inning. Don drew 10 minutes for it and Gus got five. Later in the tilt, Dootch Vitarelli and Fred Severson went off together for roughing it up. A number of others got minors for hard slashing as both sides played it close to their vests. It was a good game to see, except that the visitors got that odd goal.

Bob Thorpe bashed in three goals for the Creighton crew, Jim Kinna and Jerry Fitzgerald got two each, with Arn Dugan scoring one. Two assists apiece went to Mick Magee, Don Ashbee and Jerry Fitzgerald, Dootch Vitarelli and Arn Dugan having one apiece. George Cruikshanks and Lew Landess had a pair of markers each for the visitors with one apiece tallied by Harry Graham, Gus Chard, Fred Severson, Jack Ashbee and Ollie Raine. Sibbard, Browning and Raine each aided on a pair, and Severson and Cruikshanks helped out once.

Missed On Shots

The Petes in the first half had some good opportunities but were muffing chances on wide shooting. Later they steadied away to hold their own with strong opponents. Both goalies gave away very little in a good showing, and the checking was hard and close. It was pretty much of a tossup toward the finish with the homesters driving in—as the visitors kept checking how much time was left — but the early lead by Brampton held up. It was announced before game time that Ostranders would sponsor the Petes the rest of the season.

Brampton — Goal, Eatough; defence, Sheppard and Landess; centre, Severson; wings Browning and Cruikshanks; rover, Steele; alternates, Graham, Raine, Sibbald, Gowland, Chard, Ashbee, and Garbutt.

Petes— Goal, Speck; defence, Fitzgerald, Curtin; centre, Lewis; wings, Vitarelli and R. Breakspear; rover, Kinna; alternates, Magee, Nolan, Creighton, Dugan, Ashbee, Thorpe, and Buchanan.

Referees—P. Bain and C. Davidson.

Clockers Take Easy Win Over Woollens

The hard-hitting Westclox girls' softball team racked up a 31-5 victory at the expense of the junior Woollens last night at the Bowl. Despite the huge score piled up Woollens kept trying hard and the joust lasted just an hour and 20 minutes. J. Vass, A. Anderson, M. Laing and C. Ferguson went best in the field. Homers were hit by A. Anderson, J. Vass, J. Hardy, C. Ferguson and J. Walling. M. Hawthorne and B. Morrow had six hits each as five each were gained by A. Anderson and J. Vass for the winners. J. Walling had two hits for Woollens, six of this side going down on strikes.

The teams:

Woollens—J. McIlwain lf, R. McInroy 2b, J. Walling cf, M. Laing 1b, C. Ferguson ss, J. Black rf, M. Dafoe rf, S. Harris p, L. Derry p, J. Lawson c, R. Naylor 3b.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

This is a special notice to the women. The third and final round of their Tip Top Tailor competition that was scheduled for Saturday night has been postponed until Monday night.

There will be the regular "family hour" tournament on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Our next open tournament is for the Ovaltine Trophy, mixed doubles, Dominion Day, Saturday, July 1. Three 15-end games, two in the afternoon and the third in the evening. Fee $3.00 per pair.

Now don't forget your entry for the Lift Lock Trophy doubles. The entries are coming in fast.

Over at Lindsay on Wednesday, playing in the ladies' tournament, the six local rinks were just half the entry.

First, 3 wins, each pillow cases —Miss B. Dawe, Mrs. J. Baird, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. F. Dawe, sk.

2 wins, each table cloth—Mrs. L. Riley, Mrs. J. Kingsbury, Mrs. N. Killingbeck, Mrs. W. Hepburn sk.

One win, each set of bowls (dishes)—Mrs. E. Jeffrey, Mrs. C. Jay, Mrs. C. Althouse, Mrs. C. Willison, sk.

King Edward Gets Intermediate Title

King Edward nosed out the Queen Mary intermediates 12-11 in a thrilling sudden-death playoff to take the chamnionship of the Public School Softball League at the Bowl yesterday. They built up an early 7-0 lead by the fifth but Queen Mary rallied for five in the sixth and half a dozen more in the seventh to tie it at 11-all. In the last of the seventh, Rusaw fouled out, Halcrow doubled and Sutherland's single sent the winning run scampering over the platter.

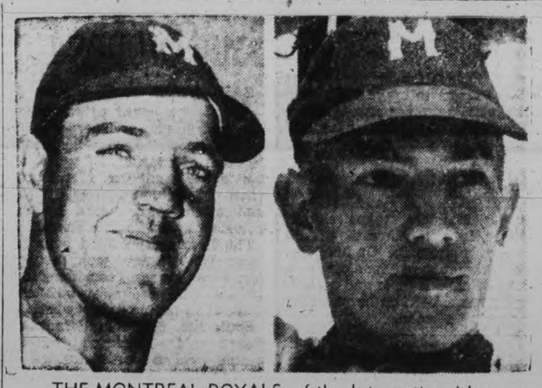
King Edward had been champions of the south section of the intermediate loop, while Queen Mary had taken the title for the north section. It was the latters' only loss of the season, and turned out to be a swell struggle before the crown was captured by the southerners. Teams:

Queen Mary—Putnam lf, Lincoln c, Jones p, Brown ss, Dubay 1b, Beck 2b, Dafoe cf, Friar rf, Hillier ss, Stinson, Reynolds, McIlwain.

King Edward—Curtis c, Rusaw 3b, Halcrow 2b, Sutherland ss, Ferguson p, Rowe 1b, Keeting lf, Simmons rf, Saunders cf.

Umpires, D. Crawford and E. Druery.

Yesterday's Stars



By The Associated Press.

Batting—Harry Lowrey, Rede: hit a three-run double with the bases loaded in the ninth as Cincinatti rally nipped Brooklyn 6-5.

Pitching—Sandalio Consuegra, Senators: held league-leading Detroit to five hits for his second straight big league victory 12-4.

THE MONTREAL ROYALS, of the International League, are winning games again. After losing nine straight games to all other teams in the league the Royals recently started a comeback to recapture the top spot. Manager Alston has shifted the field many times before he reached the winning combination. Shown above are George Schmees (left) who is now playing 1st base, while Chuck Connors is ailing, and Turk Lown (right) pitcher.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Yes, it is true—those fast-stepping and scrappy hockey Legionnaires are no more. The local branch decided to sponsor no senior "B" hockey this coming winter. However, the players—who were provincial champs a year ago and Ontario finalists this year—have agreed to stick together and seek another sponsor. But there'll be some changes made ere the campaign opens in the fall. It looks now like Lindsay will operate a senior "B" squad, claiming Ross Nicholls, Al Burns and Sixty Coombs of Lindsay from Legion. And Junior West (and mayhap a brother) of the Petes. Along with Percy and Ernie Nicholls and some others. So, the ex-Legionnaires (even with Bob Greenlaw back) have some rebuilding to do.

As the Prime Minister might have told us in the interview we just missed having with him on his recent visit here, golf is a good game. We'd certainly not argue with such a statement if Mr. St. Laurent—as in Sawnlarawn, we think—saw fit to make it. We note in the Kawartha Club schedule that first rounds must be completed by June 24 for the Kawartha Cup, handicap 25 and up; President's Cup, 24 and under; and Riley Cup, mixed team. Just a reminder. Ladies and men of Kawartha and the Peterborough Clubs are at it in good numbers these days, and a lot of younger divot-diggers are taking to the 18-hole sport. Not so many are 19th hole players.

Staffs Tackle Petes

Toronto Staffords meet the Petes here Saturday at three in Riverside Park, a Viaduct Major League ball game. Now, the Petes have dropped a few lately, by one run, and they're presently back of the third-place Oshawa Merchants by half a game, so they will be really fighting to take over third spot Saturday. Doing okay, mind you, for being shorthanded as competition stiffens, and they'll be in there all the way. The Murphyites play a hustling and interesting brand. Dadson's arm is just about right now, Danny Brown shortly will be here full time, and two more USA imports will be arriving in the near future. Yes, they'll do alright in a good loop, and they deserve plenty of fan support, even if the floodlights are held up a couple of more weeks.

* * * * * *

PMBA-ers will get started Saturday with a bantam game. Ten teams in now and the boys have been practicing for several weeks. Lack of diamonds slowed things down and the westend was a disappointment with no entries. Folks mustn't have kids in this part of town. We might point out to the teams that the winner must turn in the scorecard to the convener within 24 hours or forfeit that game. Also, birth certificates must be handed in to the loop secretary — Al Watkins—by July 1 or the player doesn't play any more this season. Managers should look after this.

Mimico Comes Next

Mimico Mountaineers play the senior lacrosse Petes here tomorrow night and, if it's anything like last night's OLA number, the place will be packed. You couldn't ask for a tighter tilt than that 9-8 one picked up by Brampton o'er the Creighton crew yester cold eve before about 1,600 noisy customers. It was plenty hot with stiff and close checking, but the Petes started their drive a little too late. Bob Thorpe was slamming 'em home at the last but the clock beat him and his buddies. Jerry Fitzgerald was in on four, while Jim Kinna, Don Ashbee, Mick Magee and Arn Dugan on the attack were hustling, too. Goalie Ralph Speck again made some swell saves. Yeah, a nifty scrap and we expect another hot one here Friday.

M. Hawthorne, B. Morrow, J. Vass and A. Anderson were the main stickers, but they nearly all cut themselves a piece of cake. Tomorrow's tilts: Westclox vs. CGE, and Marines vs. Ashby's.

Raybestos yanked out a 4-3 fastball fixture from Westclox last night in a fine fray. They got two runs each in the fifth and sixth as Westclox counted one apiece in the third, eighth and ninth to make it a close fit. R. Crary had a triple and three singles to lead the winners and Crampton got three safeties. Wyatt, of Westclox, got two doubles, and Donoghue and White had two singles each. Five Rays went down swinging and three Westclox batters fanned. Teams:

Westclox—Donoghue, Heffernan, Watson, Wyatt, Millar, White, Guerin, Evans, Shearer, Gosselin Sloan.

Raybs—Crampton, S. Maudsley Crary, Giles, Murphy, Pryde, L. Maudsley, Simpson, Nichols.

Marines Bow To CGE In Girls' Loop

Behind five-hit pitching by R. Boyce, the CGE girls of the softball circuit captured a 10-0 triumph over Marines at the Bowl last chilly evening. M. Owens, formerly of Lindsay, was in the CGE lineup and went good, she and D. Jackson being best defensively, along with the pitcher, who had 10 strikeouts and few walks. P. Williams gave way on the losers' mound to M. Connelly in the sixth. Marines battled hard but lack of hits limited their efforts.

M. Boyce led the Electrics at bat with a perfect night, having a triple, a double and two singles in four appearances. M. Owens clicked for three in five times up. S. Wakeford got two safe blows for the Outboards, who tightened up in the field the last three innings. The teams:

Hastings Victors

HASTINGS, June 22 (ENS)—Hastings Legion pounded out a 25-10 victory over Campbellford here in a regular TVL fixture. It was strictly a hitting affair for Legion, as they finally burst out in a spree. Scott collected two homers while Richardson came through with a grand slam homer in the 6th. Beavis collected five hits for six trips, while Fife had four for six.

Brunnell started on the mound for Campbellford, gave up two walks and a homer and went out in place of Renner. He lasted till the 3rd when Legion crossed the plate nine times, and McComb relieved and went the route.

Crowly started for Hastings, but was troubled with a sore arm and went in favor of West in the 3rd, who allowed but two hits for the remainder of the game.

Waits Calm Weather

SEATTLE, June 22 (AP). — If Lake Washington doesn't stand on end again today Stanley S. Sayres will cut his boat free for its first crack at the world speedboat record of 141.74 miles an hour. He and the boat—named the "Slow-Mo-Shun" by his teasing wife, waited all day yesterday for calm weather.

Petes Overpowered By The Roses, 20-2

Straight from the dressing room the Petes intermediates walked into a 20-2 nightmare at the hands of the Bowmanville Roses Wednesday night in Bowmanville.

Nearly everything in the rule book happened from the time the local Lakeshore League team walked on the field. Besides the 14 hits by Bowmanville, featuring three homers, the locals committed 15 errors, had two balks, an interference call on a steal home, a hit batter and couldn't hit the looper offerings of Jack Buttonshaw, a Bowmanville lefthander.

Peterborough used no less than four pitchers. Carmen (Jake) Jaquith started cold but was lifted in the third for Bill (Lefty) Dorris who was relieved in the fifth by Jaquith. He lasted until two were out in the sixth, Murph McGrath, who had caught, up to this point, went on the mound with Jaquith catching. Early in the seventh the Roses crawled over McGrath and Don Pagett, the shortstop, finished the pitching chore.

Late Arrival

Late leaving Peterborough, the locals arrived at the lakeshore diamond just at game time and weren't allowed a warmup. The Roses took advantage of this to score three runs on Jaquith's cold arm. Hooper, the Bowmanville shortstop, slammed a centre field homer with two aboard.

While the Petes were bobbling the ball, the Roses were giving their lefthander errorless backing. Buttonshaw sent four back to the bench on three strikes. After the first inning when the Petes bunched three hits, Buttonshaw held them to one lone single in the third by Paget.

Pagett hit the hardest blow when he powdered the ball off the edge of the centrefield fence in the first for a triple. Hooper's hit to centre in the first became lodged in the bushes allowing him to score. Other homers were by Williams (he replaced Cox when he was sent from the game in the fifth) and by B. Bagnell.

Don Pagett and pitcher Buttonshaw led the hitting, each with two for three. Gilhooley, T. Bagnell and Hooper each had two for six for Bowmanville.

Lineups:

Peterborough — Conway 3b, Pagett ss, p, Curry lf, 2b, Fitzgerald rf, Wade 1b, Legrow cf, McGrath c, p, ss, Casey 2b, Dorris p, lf, Jaquith p, c, lf.

Bowmanville—Gilhooley 2b, T. Bagnell cf, Yourth 3b, Hooper ss, Furey 1b, Cox rf, Williams rf, B. Bagnell lf, Strike c, Gallagher c, Buttonshaw p.

Summary:

Bowmanville	331 063 4—20	14	0
Peterborough	200 000 0— 2	4	15

Washington's Rhumba Boys Cool Tigers With Pitching

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Bucky Harris' new rhumba team—Consuegra and Marrero—have mucho stuffo on the old apple. Just ask Detroit.

The Tigers saw Sandalio Consuegra yesterday and Conrad Marrero Tuesday. They haven't seen the ball yet.

Consuegra and Marrero pitched for Havana in the Florida International League (Class B) last year. Consuegra had a 6-5 record in 11 games. Marrero had a 25-8 record for a 1.52 earned-run average. Three years in a row he was the top winner in the league.

Harris wasn't too keen on his Cuban talent during spring training. Consuegra got into an argument with owner Clark Griffith of Washington Senators about paying off an old Venezuela contract and went home. He was just called back from Havana this month. In his first start he shut out Chicago, St. Louis knocked him out then he whipped Detroit yesterday 12-4 with only five hits

Marrero, like his countryman a righthander, now is a regular starter with a 4-2 record. Half his victories are over Detroit's first-place Tigers.

Plenty of Help

Consuegra had plenty of help from a 14-hit barrage that unhinged Hal Newhouser, Montreal's Paul Calvert and Saul Rogovin. Starting with Sam Mele's three-run homer in the first inning, the Senators never let Detroit get started. Consuegra chipped in two singles and drove in three runs.

Cleveland, moving up fast in the American League race, saved Detroit's hide by whipping the second-place New York Yankees 5-1.

Billy Pierce followed up his recent one-hitter against New York with a 3-1 victory for Chicago over Boston Red Sox. Pierce yielded seven hits but he struck out eight, getting Ted Williams twice.

Philadelphia Athletics tagged St. Louis 4-2 to keep two games ahead of the last-place Browns.

Once again the National League is all snarled up with St. Louis and Brooklyn tied for the lead. Cincinnati rallied with three runs in the ninth to nip Brooklyn 6-5 yesterday while St. Louis pulled up even with the Dodgers on a 14-6 romp over New York.

Pittsburgh gained a 5-3 verdict over Philadelphia, costing the Phils a chance to close in on the Dodgers.

Vern Bickford's five-hit pitching was wasted as Chicago blanked Boston 3-0 behind Johnny Schmitz. Bill Serena's two-run homer in the fifth broke a 0-0 tie. They added another in the ninth.

Laabs Toast Of Giants Breaks Deadlock

By The Associated Press

Chet Laabs, the toast of St. Louis in 1944, is the No. 1 citizen in Jersey City today.

Laabs, who slammed two home runs in the final game of the season six years ago to clinch St. Louis' only American League pennant, is socking the ball far and often for the International League Giants.

The 36-year-old slugger was coaxed out of retirement after drawing the pink slip from Toronto a few weeks ago and both Laabs and the Giants have been happy ever since.

Laabs socked his sixth and seventh home runs of the season last night to lead the Giants to an 8-4 victory over Rochester Red Wings. His second homer decided the game.

The score was tied at 4-4 and the Giants had the bases loaded and two out in the last of the ninth. Laabs belted reliefer Mike Schultz' pitch out of the lot to break up the game.

In Third Place

The victory moved the Giants from fourth into third place, 2½ games behind the Red Wings and Springfield Cubs who are virtually tied for first place.

Springfield dropped a 10-8 decision to Toronto Maple Leafs and their margin over the Wings dipped to five percentage points.

The Leafs enjoyed a 6-0 lead going into the last of the fifth when the Cubs tied the count with a six-run rally that Jack Wallaesa featured with a grand-slam homer. The Leafs, however, came back with two runs in the sixth and seventh innings to win.

The last-place Buffalo Bisons turned back Baltimore Orioles 5-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Charley Harris. The Bisons also collected six hits off a trio of pitchers but two of the blows were home run blasts by Harry Minor and Cy Block.

Syracuse's Chiefs edged Montreal Royals 3-2 to pull into a fourth-place tie with Baltimore and a two-percentage-point edge over the fifth-place Royals.

Veteran Bud Byerly limited the Royals to six hits in gaining his eighth victory. The Chiefs snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh inning on Carden Gillenwater's run-scoring single, his third hit of the game.

UK Football Envoys Leave

MONTREAL, June 22 (CP)—England's all-star football ambassadors think they have planted a soccer seed in Canada which may grow into a tree of professional calibre.

The footballers, fresh from a tour of Canada and the United States, play their final game against Sweden's Jonkoping team here tonight.

Sponsored by the English Football Association, they came to Canada to boost soccer. They consider the trip a success.

"There is a good possibility now of professional Canadian soccer once it is properly started in schools and playgrounds," says H. H. Hughes, association vice-president travelling with the team.

"There are a lot of Canadian boys interested in the game. All you need is a steady source of these players to build up the game and you will have a professional league."

Members of the 18-man team admit that spreading goodwill and promoting soccer is harder than just playing.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The Canadian Professional Golfers' Association annual championship will be played Aug. 20-21 over the Montreal Summerlea course, the CPGA executive announced at Montreal Wednesday.

The tournament will precede by a few days the 1950 Canadian open to be played at Royal Montreal.

This year's CPGA championship will be fought out over 54 holes instead of the usual 72. The executive said that because of lateness of arranging the dates between the Ontario open and Canadian open, it was felt best to cut the distance. On the opening day, a Sunday, 18 holes will be played; 36 the following day.

Placing the CPGA tournament close to the Canadian open was said by the executive to be a good-will gesture to Western Canada golfers.

The westerners claimed that the gap between the Canadian open and the CPGA show—usually the case in recent years when both tournaments were in the east—means too great an expense in making the trip east twice.

Canada's harness horse racing moves into the big time July 3 with a 42-day meet over a built-in half-mile oval at Thorncliffe Park, on the fringe of northeast Toronto. Everything about it is big-league.

Operated by the Thorncliffe Raceway with Herb Hatch, wealthy Toronto sportsman as its head, promoters will spend more than $500,000 on the meet before the first sulky moves with the mobile starting gate opening day.

Purse money totalling $210,000 already has been put up with the Aug. 9 Canadian cup for pacers, worth $15,000 to the winner, the choice tid-bit of the program.

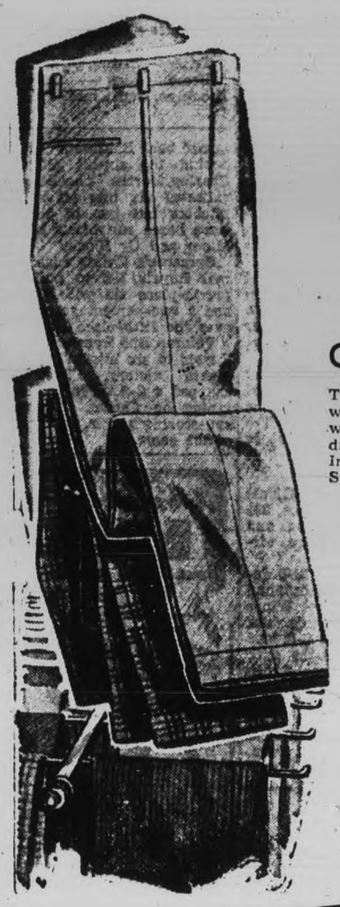
At Montreal managing director Frank Selke picked Wednesday to annouce that 40 players will report Sept. 18 for hockey fall training at Montreal Canadiens' camp.

The camp this year will be right in Montreal, at the Forum. Last year the squad trained at St. Hyacinthe, 35 miles away.

Not on the list issued was the name of Bill Durnan, the veteran goalie who last season announced he planned to retire at the end of the 1949-50 season.

Also missing were the names of defenceman Roger Leger and forward Bobby Fillion.

Suspension of Hugh (Scotty) Campbell by the Ontario Racing Commission Wednesday brought to three the number of jockeys suspended at Toronto this week.



Commission officials said on Wednesday night that jockeys Charlie Bright and Vic Polk, suspended Tuesday for "conduct prejudicial to the best interests of racing," could not be found to be informed officially of their suspension.

Two owner-trainers were also suspended as a result of the commission's investigations of races run during the 1950 season. They are A. Graffaganini and William Russell.

The commission gave no details of circumstances leading to the suspension of the riders or the owner-trainers.

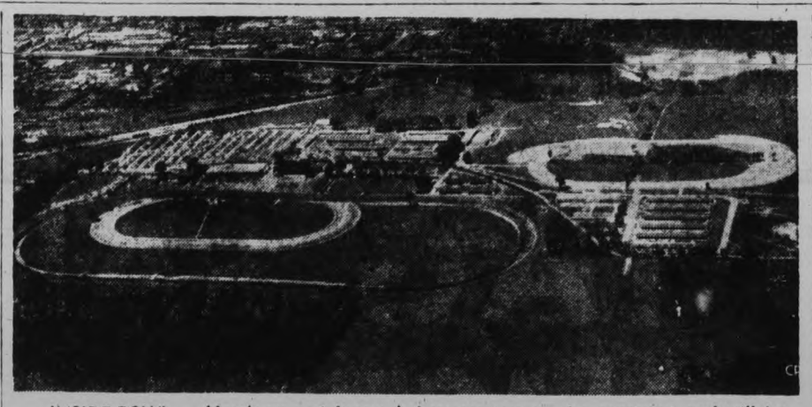
Watrous Proves Tilt Surprise

COLUMBUS, O., June 22 (AP) —Al Watrous, in his prime 20 years ago as a Ryder Cup stalwart, has become the first surprise in the $40,000 mid-century United States Professional Golfers' Association championship.

The prestige meet, which enters gruelling match-play tomorrow, promises to be full of them before it's all over.

The 52-year-old Watrous, from Birmingham, Mich., carved a one-under-par 71 in Wednesday's first qualifying round over the tortuous 7,032-yard Scioto Country Club layout.



This sparkling chore placed Watrous among the leaders in today's 18-hole qualifying finish.

Scioto's par was being treated with the same high respect as it was when Bobby Jones won the 1926 U.S. open here with 293 and Bill Melhorn set a competitive course record of 68.

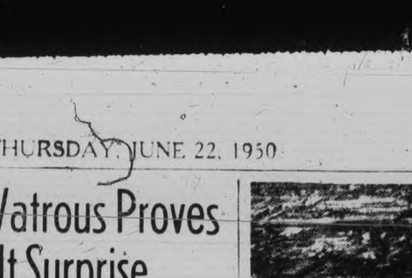
Leading the first round with 70s were chick Harbert and Marty Furgol. Only 19 players in the field of 129 aiming for 63 berths managed to equal or break par.

LACK OF IODINE

Persons whose diet contains few of the seafoods rich in goitre-preventing materials should use iodized salt.

INSIDE BOWL — Here's an aerial view of the one-mile Thorncliffe race track in Toronto with a "built-in" half-mile bowl, the only one in Canada, for the trotters which open a 42-day twilight meeting July 3. The meet has attracted some of the best trotters on the continent and will be highlighted by the $15,000 Canadian Cup event Aug. 9, richest trotting purse in Canada and equal to racing's blue-ribbon King's Plate event. More than $200,000 in purses has been offered.

Norwood Triumphs



NORWOOD, June 22 (ENS) — The Norwood All-Star softball team was again victorious over the Peterborough Marines on Wednesday evening by a score of 19-4. The All-Stars brought in a count of 13 in the first inning with Payne and Bill Garden each getting a home run. Two runs in the third and fifth, one in the sixth and seventh, with Payne getting another home run in the fifth added it up. Marines counted two in the first and fourth. Crowley relieved Putnam after 13 runs were counted.

Marines: Jacobs, Putnam, MacDougal, McQue, Doherty, Withers Hunter, Hollingsworth, Johnson, Crowley.

Norwood: Kelly, Bob Garden, Webb, Payne, Morrison, Bill Garden, Martin, Willfred, Aldred.

Umpire: Charles Puffer.

FLOOD PHENOMENOM—Floodfighter Walter Guenther is shown here trying to plug a "boil" beside a Fraser River dike. Boils occur when water seeps beneath the dike and up to the surface. The cure is to ring them with sandbags and hope they will choke themselves off. Workers in the background are filling bags to ring the boil.

Defends Dean

LONDON, June 22.—(AP). — The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Geoffrey Fisher, Wednesday night defended his left-wing Dean as a man who "holds profoundly and sincerely the precise same Christian faith as you and I hold." The Church of England's Primate referred to Dr. Hewlett Johnson called the "Red Dean" because of his outspoken sympathy with Soviet Russia.

Alberta Sands May Replace Some Oilfields

TORONTO, June 22 (CP)—The bituminous sands of northern Alberta sometime may supplement or even replace present oil fields Dr. T. E. Warren of Ottawa suggested today in a paper to the current conference of the Chemical Institute of Canada.

Dr. Warren, a chemical engineer with the mines branch of the National Research Council, said the last year saw the first successful operation of a large pilot plant separating the bitumen from 500 tons of bituminous sand a day.

This plant is operated by the Alberta government and two projects on a smaller scale are in progress at the mines branch, dealing with two different methods of separation. Dr. Warren predicted that by the end of 1950 a clearer picture will be available of the development work that must be completed before a plan can be made for exploitation of the vast bituminous sands.

Better Treadwear

Irvin J. Cjothun and John L. Dum, of Akron, Ohio, stated that motorists may expect 15 per cent and possibly as much as 35 per cent better treadwear from their tires because of new synthetic "cold rubber" and a new high abrasion furnace blacks.

They said natural rubber gives better traction on ice and snow while cold rubber gives better traction on wet pavement. But the latter improvement is considered more vital to public safety. Cold rubber, however, is still not competitive with natural rubber for heavy-duty tires, they said.

R. J. Orr and Dr. H. Laverne Williams of Sarnia, said synthetic rubber now is being made experimentally in Canada and the United States at temperatures even colder than that used for the present "cold rubber process." This development may lead to the wider use of foam sponge for upholstery and car seats and to improved tires for heavy-duty use on buses and trucks.

They are studying the preparation of rubber at temperatures of zero and 14 degrees fahrenheit. This compares with present-day "cold rubber" made at 41 degrees which has proved to be better than previous synthetic rubbers made at higher temperatures.

READY TO SHINGLE—George Murray, jovial Liberal member of parliament for Cariboo, rolls upu his sleeves before mounting to the roof of the new official residence for Canada's prime ministers to nail on a few British Columbia shingles. He suggested in the House of Commons recently that different types of wood typical of the various provinces be used in renovation of the home.

Sent 500 Copies Of Bill To Indians

OTTAWA, June 22 (CP) — A citizenship department spokesman said Wednesday that 500 copies of the proposed Indian legislation were circulated among Indian organizations in Canada two weeks ago.

"I would say most Indians across Canada have had time to make representations to Ottawa" said the spokesman. "Two weeks ago we circulated copies of the Act to all Indian organizations which had asked for it and to organizatfons we thought might be interested.

"We also notified all the Indian agents."

A number of representations had been made to the department since the copies were sent out, he said. The representations were under consideration.

Tuesday 60 delegates of the North American Indian Brotherhood presented a petition to Mr. Harris asking parliament to defer enactment of the Indian bill "in view of the fact that many of the clauses are too detrimental to the best interests of the Indians."

The delegation contained representatives of all provinces except Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Pussy Plays Mother To Hospital Puppies

HAMPTON, Middlesex, England—(CP).—Penny, a four-year-old black cat, brings up lots of puppies.

At the moment Penny is mothering four kittens of her own and two retriever pups whose mother is too weak to suckle them.

Penny loves pups. Since she first came to hospital to be destroyed she has mothered three Pekinese who were Caesarian, two Alsatians whose mother died, two French Poodles and many others.

Like your children to take more milk?

Try Rennet Dessert Magic

to make them ask for more!

It's easy to make milk into rennet desserts with "Junket" Brand Rennet Powder (six flavors, already sweetened) or "Junket" Rennet Tablets (not sweetened or flavored . . . add sugar and flavor to taste). Rennet desserts are even easier to digest than milk itself, thanks to the rennet enzyme. Try these "Nest Egg" Rennet Desserts tonight.

"Nest Egg" Rennet Desserts

2 cups milk (not canned)
1 package "Junket" Rennet Powder, chocolate flavor
½ cup shredded coconut (moist)
Jelly eggs

Set out 4 or 5 individual dessert glasses. Make rennet desserts according to directions on package—takes only a couple of minutes. Then chill. Just before serving, make a "nest" of shredded coconut in the center of each dessert and fill with colored jelly eggs.

Steelworkers Approve Contract With Algoma

SAULT STE. MARIE, June 22—(CP)—Local 2251 United Steelworkers (CIO) Wednesday night approved a contract with Algoma Steel Corporation Ltd, providing for an eight-cent hourly wage increase.

The contract was negotiated in Toronto by the company and the union with the assistance of the Ontario Labor Department. It was endorsed Wednesday night by the local membership.

It provides for setting up of a joint company-union committee which will arrange details of a company-paid pension plan by May 1, 1951. A similar committee will set up a welfare scheme supported equally by the company and employees.

The contract reduces the work week from 44 to 40 hours, improves union security and increases the number of paid statutory holidays. It provides for two weeks' annual vacation after three years' service instead of five years. The wage increase is retroactive to April 23 and raises the base rate to $1.12 an hour.

Seek Definite Stand On Lottery Question

VANCOUVER, June 22 (CP)—Resolutions seeking a definite stand on the lotteries question and a Canadian bill of rights were approved Wednesday by the national convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for forwarding to Ottawa.

Some of the awards to be given at the three-day conference were handed out Wednesday. The Chatham branch took the traffic safety award, followed by London, Ont., and Hamilton units.

The award for major-type publications to St. Catharines. Chatham was second in the division.

For outstanding municipal improvements, excluding civic, Brantford placed first.

Show Greater Interest In Pedigreed Seed

FREDERICTON, June 22 (CP)—Greater interest and appreciation of the value of pedigreed seed is being shown throughout Canada, delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association were told Wednesday by president C. P. Wright of Calgary.

Those elected as Robertson associates, so named in honor of the association's founder, for outstanding work during the past year, included:

J. E. Bradley, Stittsville; J. R. Hargreaves, Beachville, Ont.; C. A. Bannister, Ailsa Craig.

Mountie As Customer Nabs Three Agents

TORONTO, June 22 (CP) — A Mountie who posed as an underworld "customer" brought about the arrest of three agents of an international counterfeit network was disclosed in court Wednesday.

William Ignat, 33; Douglas Gordon, 39; and Charles Cipolla, 37, pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to distribute bogus money and were remanded to June 27.

The trio was arrested here May 10 after RCMP detective Sgt. P. C. Brooks of Winnipeg arranged with Ignat to buy $18,000 in counterfeit currency for $3,000.

Extending Inquiry In International Field

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP) —The Senate Crime Investigating Committee disclosed Wednesday that it is extending its inquiry into the international field. Boris Kostelanetz, special counsel to the committee, will visit Europe to study the operations of international crime rings having connections in the United States.

Similar inquiries will be made in Canada, Mexico, Cuba and other countries, although no decision has been made on sending investigators to each country.

At Ottawa Justice Department officials declined to comment on the decision. Normal procedure is to seek Canadian approval through diplomatic channels.

KING LEOPOLD AWAITS BELGIANS' CALL—King Leopold III, subject of a long and bitter political dispute over his right to reign again as king of Belgium, is seen in an informal pose with his second wife, the Princess de Rethy. Now exiled in Switzerland, Leopold may be recalled by the new Belgian parliament.

St. Paul's Picnic Held At Cobourg

The annual St. Paul's Presbyterian Sunday School and congregational picnic was held on Wednesday at Cobourg Park. Approximately 100 children and adults left the church in four buses and cars at 1:45 p.m. for the outing.

Races were held for both children and adults. At the conclusion of the races, a ball game was enjoyed by the children while the men pitched horseshoes. Lunch was served at 5 p.m.

After lunch, the children were treated to a television show, in the Pavilion, provided by the park management. Prizes were presented to the winners of the races at the conclusion of the show.

Bethel Series Tied

BETHEL, June 22 (ENS) In the second game of the Lindsay Presbytery baseball series, Bethel and Bobcaygeon Young Peoples' Union fought to a 12-all decision.

Tying this game on Tuesday at Wallace's Park put Bobcaygeon back into the running of the best 2-out-of-3 games, after a 36-11 trouncing last week on the Bobcaygeon field.

In that first all important game of the series, Bethel players hit 11 home runs and made 18 runs in the last innings to play in circles around the Bobcaygeon team.

Last game was a different matter. Bobcaygeon knew that they had a tough team to beat and came to play to the finish. The players certainly made a good try. From the 7-4 lead Bethel held at the end of the 2nd innings Bobcaygeon pulled ahead to tie the game 9-all at the end of the 4th innings.

In the 5th, Bobcaygeon scored a run while holding Bethel to a no-run innings.

In the last innings Bobcaygeon scored two runs for a three-run lead over Bethel. In the last half of the final, the first batter hit flies to the out-field for two easy outs for Bobcaygeon. The next three batters hit base hits each.

John Lewis drove a long low ball over centre field for a three-bagger sending three runs home. The score was tied. In a chance steal home John was tagged out by Bobcaygeon to end the game in a 12-all tie.

After the game the Bethel players met for a few minutes to make final arrangements for their strawberry social to be held on Friday June 30, in Bethel (Emily) United Church. Supper beginning at 6 p.m. will be followed by a play "Charity Begins" by the All Saints' Anglican Church Dramatic Club of Peterborough.

Normal School Results

The Minister of Education announces the examination results of the teacher-training courses given at the Normal School at Peterborough. Candidates who failed or who have been granted Second Class certificates will receive statements giving their marks and the conditions under which they may complete their standing. Extramural candidates will be informed by letter of the results.

Owing to the shortage of teachers, a student who failed on the Normal School examinations may, on the recomendation of the local Inspector concerned, be engaged on a letter of permission by a School Board, which, after due advertisemnt has been eunable to obtain the services of a fully qualified tacher.

Miss Hughena Margaret E. Clarke has been granted a letter of provisional standing as a First Class teacher for the school year 1950-51.

Liberal Leader Resigns Seat

MONTREAL, June 22 (CP) — Georges Emile Lapalme, recently-elected Quebec Liberal leader, last night announced his resignation as Federal Member of Parliament for Joliette-L'Assomption-Montcalm.

The 43-year-old lawyer made the announcement at a banquet tendered him by Montreal Liberals.

He told more than 1,600 persons that George C. Marler, member of the Legislative Assembly for Westmount-St. George, will remain the party's house leader.

Mr. Lapalme said he would devote his time to rebuilding the party's fortunes in Quebec.

His resignation will necessitate a Federal by-election.

He said last night he had reason to believe that the provincial riding of Montcalm, part of the riding he represented in the Federal House, soon will be opened. He did not elaborate. He stated it did not mean he would contest the seat.

Will Choose Seat

"I'll choose the seat I wish to contest," he said, "not Premier Duplessis."

(The Quebec Premier said recently that his Union Nationale party would not contest Mr. Lapalme's election if one of the eight Liberal members would resign his seat.)

The Union Nationale's sweep of the 1948 provincial elections cut Liberal strength in the Legislature from 34 to eight. Mr. Duplessis' party holds 82 seats. Adelard Godbout, former Liberal Premier, later was appointed a Federal Senator and Mr. Marler took over the Quebec Liberal leadership.

Of Mr. Duplessis, Mr. Lapalme said: "He'll try to trap me into seeking a seat somewhere, but I find myself in the fortunate position where I'm able to see through his designs and avoid the consequences."

Get Painting

THE HAGUE, June 22—(Reuters)—The first chamber of the Dutch parliament has approved presentation to the Canadian people of a painting, "The Two Watermills," by the 17th century Dutch master, Meindert Hobbema.

The gift is in gratitude for Canada's wartime hospitality to the Dutch royal family and her part in the liberation of Holland.

The second chamber approved the gift April 28.

Church "Collection"

BEAUFORT WEST, South Africa —(CP)— When he heard that the floor was to be relaid in the old Christ Church hall, a local resident got permission to sift the earth underneath. He found a large collection of coins, some more than 100 years old, and several military medals.

EYE TOPICS

NEW EYES FOR TELEVISION

The miracle of television—seeing life actually going on at a distance — has suddenly found a new eye. This eye is called the "Image Orthicon", and with it television can pick up and send into our homes delicate details of scenes that we ourselves could not see if we were on the spot. The image orthicon is a complicated new electronic tube, so powerful, yet so super-sensitive that it can "see" a roomful of people illuminated by a single candle. It can pick up the contours of a face lighted by the glow of a cigarette. It can even picture objects in a totally dark room, using the heat they give out instead of light.

What will this new eye do for television? Compare it for a moment with the older type of electronic eye. Scenes to be televised have always had to have a tremendous brilliance; plays to be sent over the air had to be small, simple bits of action on small stages flooded with light. Actors had to dress in strong contrasting colors. And even so, the effects were far from natural. But all that is history now. When you buy your new television set in a few months, you will pick up programs that have the same wealth of subject and action that you are accustomed to find on the movie screen. The image orthicon will make this possible.

FROM LEGISLATURE TO KITCHEN — Mrs. Nancy Hodges, coalition member of the British Columbia Legislature for Victoria, says her new job as speaker of the legislature doesn't mean she can forget housewife duties. Here she is seen peeling carrots and onions at her home. Her husband, Harry P. Hodges, is editor of the Victoria Times.

Two London Papers Increase Ad Rates

LONDON, England — (CP).— Two British national dailies, the Daily Mail and the tabloid Daily Mirror, have increased their advertising rates. The Mirror cited a 22 per cent circulation increase in announcing a boost of 16 per cent in advertising rates effective September 1. The Daily Mail owned by Lord Rothermere, said increased newsprint costs as well as higher circulation were considered in computing the new advertising scale which will become effective July 1.

Sees Minorities Greatest Danger

TOKYO, June 22—(AP)—John Foster Dulles said today the "captive world" of communism is too weak to seek war now with the free world.

The Republican adviser to the United States department told the American Chamber of Commerce that the immediate danger to free countries is that they may be taken over from within by small, disciplined communist minorities.

Dules said:

"Any struggle that openly pitted the full might of the free world against that of the captive world could have but one outcome. That would be the total demolition of the artificial, rigid and relatively weak structure that Soviet communism has built. That is why most well-informed people do not expect war. The position basically is too one-sided."

He cited three basic weaknesses of the communist world.

It is weak politically, he said, "because it is ruled from the top and has no broad popular support."

"It is shot through with distrust and suspicion; no one, even in high authority, feels safe."

It is weak economically, he asserted, after 30 years of successive "five-year" plans.

NICKEL DESIGNER — Stephen Trenka, of Green Lane, Thornhill, near Toronto, was named winner of the design competition for a new Canadian five-cent piece. Finance Minister Abbott said Trenka's design had been accepted for the new coin which will commemorate the 200th anniversary of the isolation of nickel. Trenka was awarded $1,000 prize money.

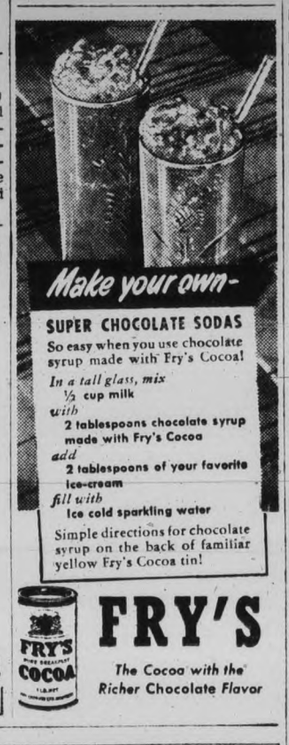
OMAHA, Neb., June 22—(CP)—W. H. Watson of the Montreal Star yesterday was elected a director of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising managers. Walter S. Campbell of the Detroit Free Press was elected president.



Peddling Fruit Good Business

LEEDS, England, June 22 (CP) —Thousands of university students in Britain will spend at least part of their summer vacation peddling fruit or catching worms.

Employment has been found for hundreds of members of the National Students' Union in the role of "barrow boys" — who offer housewives and pedestrians bargain prices in various varieties of fruit, from their two-wheeled push carts. The vendors, many of whom have been studying for degrees at Oxford and Cambridge, earn an average income of about £2 ($6.20) a day.

But for worm-catchers the profits are much better. It means night work and when the "wigglers" are really running the boys may earn as much as £4 a night.

Churchill Has Confirmed Eden Party's No. 2 Man

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, June 22—(CP)—Winston Churchill has confirmed what most people thought—that Anthony Eden is the Conservative party's No. 2 man. It has always been taken more or less for granted that Eden ranked second in the Tory line of succession. Now, for the first time, Churchill has gone on record as saying so.

In a speech to Conservative women at Albert Hall, Churchill defined his relations with Eden in these words:

"If we have any differences, we thrash them out. I should not take any important step in public life, nor do I, without consulting this most able and distinguished man, who will carry on the torch of Progressive Conservatism when other and older hands have let it fall."

Eden Trusted

For some reason—he is not so spectacular as some of his colleagues—Eden is one of the handful of politicians whose names are known around the world. People instinctively trust him. He comes from the upper classes, but of the type defined by one biographer as that which has made Britain the country of political change and political stability.

In the last few months his prestige has gradually risen. It is probably as high today as it has ever been. Many among the correspondents in the parliamentary press gallery consider that a Conservative party headed by Eden might do better at the polls than one headed by the commanding, but more controversial, Churchill.

A different twist on the same argument has it that there are deep differences between Churchill and Eden on how the Conservative party should be run. But in his Albert Hall speech, Churchill said:

"Don't you believe the nonsense of some writers in the newspapers about confusion and differences between Mr. Eden and myself."

Nickel Designer Works In Store

TORONTO, June 22 — (CP) — Stephen Trenka, 40, who was Wednesday named winner of the $1,000 prize for designing a new Canadian five-cent piece, is a Toronto furniture store employee whose first love is sculpturing.

Mr. Trenka came to Canada from Hungary 21 years ago. He said he tried 40 designs before finally settling on the one, representing a nickel refinery.

He said he used as his model for the refinery a smelter in Welland, a town he visited while courting the girl who later became his wife.

"It feels good to know I have done something for Canada because Canada has done a lot for me," he said. "This is a great country which gives an opportunity to all immigrants."

Mr. Trenka is a member of the Ontario Society of Sculptors. His pieces have won acclaim at many exhibitions, including the Centenary of Canadian Art at the Tate Gallery in London, England, and, in 1938, at the New York World's Fair.

"But," he says, "jobs in my line of work are very difficult to find, and one must eat." That's the reason he works in a furniture store.

"I too used to laugh at his theories on fishing."

Stalin Changes Language Policy New Confessions Can Be Expected

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

NEW YORK, June 22 —(AP)— Now that Prime Minister Stalin has laid down the law on Russian-language policies, a parade of new confessions can be expected in Moscow.

Stalin made known his views on language Tuesday in the Communist party newspaper Pravda. Exactly what his words meant is subject to varying interpretations, but this appears obvious: he laid waste the school of linguistics which long has ridden the crest of popularity in the Soviet Union.

Nikolai Yakovlevich Marr, the philologist hailed only recently as "inspired Soviet scientist and founder of the new materialist teachings on language," was not only wrong in many of his conceptions, but was un-Marxist, said Stalin. The Soviet leader thus entered—and probably ended—a debate on linguistics which has been going on for months in Moscow.

If the Communists run true to form, this will bring a parade of confessions in the form of "Bolshevist criticism and self-criticism," from persons like academician I. I. Meshchaniov, a leader of the Marr school, who in an academy discussion in April proclaimed Marr a model scientist "combatting hostile, idealist theories" of language.

Others had joined joyfully in singing the praises of Marr, who died in 1934.

Wrong Ideas

Stalin wrote in Pravda that Marr's theory that different classes develop different languages was absurd; Marr's notion that language was merely a cultural superstructure which would change swiftly with revolution was not true. Further, the prime minister deplored that the Marr school gave Soviet philology a regime under which scientists were demoted or fired for criticizing Marr's teachings.

This appears to mean that the imposition of Russian language or orthography upon subordinated peoples is not going so well. The Marr adherents dreamed that one day there would be a world language of revolution and that language would be basically Russian.

One speaker at the April Academy discussion of Marr's merits indicated what had been done. According to accounts of the meeting in the current digest of the Soviet press, a review of the Russian press translated in the United States, this speaker said Russian language "has exercised and is exercising a beneficial influence" of the Kazakh literary language.

Being Stubborn

The Kazakhs speak Arabic, but, said the speaker, "the contemporary Kazakh alphabet and orthography are built mainly on the correct principle of completely borrowing the Russian alphabet while taking in account the phonetic peculiarities of the contemporary Kazakh language."

"This," said the speaker, "is precisely the kind of language construction to which N.Y. Marr was summoning us."

Marr stood for the application of artificial means to speed up a common world language. Stalin blasted this idea.

In short, perhaps the Russians are finding out out that the peoples under their domination are being stubborn about speaking their own languages.

dian to be enfranchised with or without his lands.

The popular conception that the Indian was disappearing was not correct. They were increasing by about 1½ per cent per year. They now numbered about 136,000, including some nomadic groups.

Mr. Harkness suggested the debate be adjourned and that at the next session the government bring in a bill that would include the recommendations of various Indian bands.

Not Time Enough

He said it took the government two years to draft the proposed amendments, but the Indians, many of them illiterate or semi-illiterate had been given two weeks in which to study the changes and make recommendations.

The Indian was to be given the right to drink in beverage rooms and cocktail bars. He believed that the Indian should be given the same drinking privileges as the "white man." If the government's policy was accepted, Indians would drink too much in beverage rooms and bars and would be in trouble as soon as they reached the reserve where all drinking was banned.

Mr. Coldwell said he had hoped that additional work would have been done in the field of education. There were some advances in the bill, but he had hoped they would be "much greater." Some consideration should have been given to the Indians who sought the establishment of non-sectarian schools. The Indians should have the right to decide the type of education for their children.

C. W. Hodgson (PC-Victoria) said he thought the time was overdue for Indians to get the vote.

Some of the Indians had been great athletes. If they had deteriorated in any way, it was not their fault, but the fault of the white man.

VOL. C. No. 145 — THURSDAY, JUNE 22, 1950

Wilfred Langan Chairman RecreationGroup

Wilfred Langan, of the Peterborough Recreation Commission, was appointed temporary chairman of the newly-formed Lakeshore zone of the Ontario Recreation Association Wednesday in YWCA, Adelaide House, Oshawa Alex Sinclair, recreation director, was appointed a member of the zone committee.

More than 60 persons interested in recreational work attended the first conference with the purpose of closer co-operation in the field of recreation in the district. The zone includes the territory from Ajax on the west to Trenton on the east, the lakeshore on the south to Lindsay and Peterborough on the north. The next conference will be held in September, probably in Peterborough.

Amongst the recreation directors, commission members, private agencies representatives and professional workers were seven people from Peterborough: Wilfred Langan, Alex Sinclair, Mrs. James Wharry, Mrs. R. Whalon, all from the Peterborough Recreation Commission; Mrs. James Craig of the So-Ed; Miss Marion Foster of the YWCA and Al Clark of the YMCA.

During the afternoon J. K. Tett, director of the community programs branch of the Department of Education, spoke on provincial zone services. A panel discussion was held on "What Has Recreation To Offer?" in the afternoon and another in the evening on "What Have You To Oifer To Recreation.?"

Six Join Cubs At Bridgenorth

An investiture service for new members to Bridgenorth Cub Pack on Wednesday evening drew a crowd of about 50 to the United Church. George Groombridge, Scout Commissioner for Peterborough, did the honors for six new Cubs, Leslie Fowler, Bruck Forsythe, Charlie Murray, Richard Jopling, Gary Payne, and B. Donnelly.

Speaking to the boys and the parents, Mr. Groombridge left the suggestion that they obtain a wolf's head and have it mounted, explaining such a head is the sign whereby Cubs make their promises. He urged all boys to take advantage of the benefits to be derived from Scouting.

A baseball game in the school grounds played by Cubs, Scouts, and parents made an interesting prelude to the ceremony. Community singing opened the service, with Mrs. C. Telford at the piano. Chairman was the Rev. D. P. Morris. The Ladies' Auxiliary served sandwiches and cake at the close.

TOUR TORONTO-HAMILTON

Friday morning 15 Peterborough Lock Co. strikers will set out for a tour of six industrial plants in Toronto and Hamilton. Their objective is to hold plant-gate collections to bolster their strike fund. The 170 production workers have been on the picket line since May 4 when their ultimatum to the company over contract demands expired. Among the plants to be visited will be Westinghouse in Hamilton, and Massey-Harris, Acme Screw and Gear, Gutta Percha, Canada Wire and Crane Co. in Toronto. Arrangements were made by the union's financial secretary, Dunc Drummond.

Say Family Crackup Due To Liquor Craze

KITCHENER, June 22 (CP) — Liquor, not the "other" man or woman, is to blame for most family crackups in Kitchener and Waterloo.

Magistrate H. R. Polson told the North Waterloo Medical Association annual meeting Wednesday night that seven of 10 family trouble cases in the twin cities can be traced to drink. Another man or woman is responsible for 10 per cent.

"To my mind the old time bar room was the best temperance legislation we ever had in this province," he said. "There were no seats. If a man went on a binge you knew you could usually find him in one of the eight or 10 licensed hotels. Now he might be in any one of 200 places."

WATER SURGING through the spillway presents an arresting spectacle at the new Pine Portage development (shown above) on the Nipigon River. Opened on Wednesday by Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario, this plant is now delivering 40,000 horsepower from one generating unit and later this summer a second 40,000 horsepower unit will be placed in service. Ratepayers Say Smith School Taxes Ridiculous

Terming secondary school taxes "ridiculous", ratepayers from school sections 7 and 10, Smith township, voted recently to send a letter of protest to the township council.

It was pointed out at the meeting that under the present system of taxation, the northern half of Smith would have to pay 45 per cent of the cost of debentures to be issued for the proposed new Lakefield High School and the grade 9 and 10 school to be built at Apsley.

The north half of Smith has to pay 45 per cent of the cost of maintenance.

While Smith is assessed for $12,120 of $16,450 collected in the area during the past year, it also had the lowest number of pupils attending the school in the area. It was claimed that through an error, the township paid almost $5,000 more than it should have.

Divide Equally

Ratepayers said the best way to divide taxation would be equal division among all taxpayers in the district high school area. They estimated each taxpayer might pay $4 or $5, instead of the $10 to $200 they said had been paid by some in Smith.

Soon, a new high school will be built in Lakefield at an estimated cost of $250,000 and a two-grade school in Apsley for $85,000.

Admit Error

A member of the Lakefield Area Board attending the meeting admitted an error had been made in Smith township taxes "due to an extra $10,000 grant received from the department of education."

A suggestion put forward was that each township bear expenses incurred by its pupils attending the high school. Average cost per pupil in 1949 was $1.05 a day. It was estimated Smith would have to pay $4,620 under this system, rather than the more than $12,000.

Recapture Girl 14 Serving Drug Term

VANCOUVER, June 22 (CP)— A 14-year-old girl, the youngest person in British Columbia court history to be convicted of narcotics possession, was recaptured Wednesday at nearby Steveston, B.C.

She and two other girls fled Sunday from the girls' industrial school here, where she is serving an indeterminate sentence. The others, 15 and 13, are still at large.

Declares Dog Teams In Canada To Stay

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP) —Helicopters soon may drive packhorses out of business in Canada but dog teams are here to stay.

Lt.-Col. C. H. Smith of Ottawa in an address prepared for the American Congress of Surveying and Mapping today said helicopters are replacing pack animals in transporting survey parties in mountainous country during the summer.

But in the winter, he added, nothing has been found to take the place of dog teams.

Industries Now Prefer Single Women Employees

A few positions for single experienced stenographers and bookkeepers are available at the National Employment Service office, William Mellis, manager, said today. From the small to the large industries in the city, explained Mr. Mellis, the majority desire young single women to married women. This is not due to the inefficiency of the married women, he added, but due to the conditions under which they prefer to be employed.

Most of the factory managers, he said, believe that married women do not feel the same responsibility to their position as single women do.

Peterborough factories are not hiring married women at the present time, said Mr. Mellis, but are giving preference to the single women. A number of married women, he added, are working in local industry but in most cases were single when employed and have married since.

498 Drawing Aid

Peterborough unemployment figures to the end of May revealed that 498 women were drawing funds. Of this number 60 per cent were married women. The other 40 per cent were single women who did not have the necessary experience to fill the positions that were available. On the live files, women looking for employment, there are eight stenographers and six bookkeepers but all married.

Other centres in Ontario are experiencing similar conditions as in Peterborough. In Kitchener, with only 175 jobless women on the unemployment insurance rolls and 90 per cent of them married, the unemployment situation as far as women are concerned is practically negligible.

TWUA-BRINTON TALKS

A conciliation officer from the Department of Labor will try to settle the contract dispute between the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. and Local 822, Textile Workers Union of America next Tuesday. He is James Hutcheson. The meeting will be in the company offices. Should there be no agreement, the dispute will probably go to a conciliation board.

RCAF Wing To Get Charter

The Peterborough wing of the RCAF Association will get airborne at 2100 hours Friday. Target for the night will not be the flak-ridden journey to the Ruhr, Berlin or suchlike.

Instead it will be the Club Aragon.

Friday night is charter night for the ex-airforce types. Like the other services, the RCAF is keen on maintaining the spirit of comradeship and adventure that existed in the hectic war days.

And so like many other centres throughout Canada, Peterborough is to have its member branch—No. 428 (Peterborough) Wnig. Air Vice Marshal D. M. Smith, air member for technical services and Canada's youngest AVM, will present the charter to W. Ross Thompson, president of the Peterborough wing.

After attending RAF staff college in 1942, Air Vice Marshal Smith was in command of 39 Reconnaissance Wing. He remained in command until 1944. Later this wing was under the command of R. C. A. (Bunt) Waddell of Peterborough.

Included in the night's program will be several skits, dancing and prizes.

At present the Peterborough wing of the Association has 66 members and ex-airforce personare joining daily.

ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT

J. E. Huggins former secretary-treasurer of the Board of Education in Peterborough has been elected vice-president of the Ontario Association of School Business officials now meeting in annual convention at Bigwin Inn. Mr. Huggins is now business administrator of the Leaside Board of Education.

Women Modest, Men Gay Shopping For Holiday Wear

What is Peterborough buying for its vacation? Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen of this city usually pays a visit to a clothing store, shoe store, sports shop and drug store before starting out for that two weeks holiday with pay. This year the men seem to be favouring "T" shirts with gaucho collars, swim and play shorts and gabardine and tropical slacks. A high number of sales of gaudy ties are registered, revealing that the men consider the well-dressed vacationers must sport bright colours.

Conservatism and modesty is the main characteristic of the feminine choice for holiday apparel. The majority of swimmers are asking for one piece bathing suits, whereas last year there was about equal number of two piece and one piece suits sold. The popularity of plaid slacks has given way to plain draped slacks of gabardine or flannel. Pleated shorts are a thing of the past as the demand for tomboy shorts is becoming greater.

Sandals and playshoes seem to be the style for women's vacation footwear. The men are choosing shoes with rubber soles, both sponge and hard. For dress wear, woven and perforated shoes are preferred.

Get Sport Equipment

Sports play a major role in vacation time with the result that before a summer holiday a sports shop is usually visited. The fishermen this yeear seem to be leaning heavily to glass rods and spinning tackle rather than the conventional casting equipment.

Tennis players are demanding a better type of racket and higher priced slazengers are hitting high on the sales lists. More people in the city are taking up golf as is shown by the rise in sales of golfing equipment. There also seeems to be a great demand for portable coolers and Coleman stoves.

A trip always requires luggage, and the three piece set of wardrobe, overnight bag and train case are reported to be the most popular. However some men add a sport bag to their luggage. One of the newest items that have taken the vacationist fancy is a rug pack which can serve double duty as a rug container and a cushion for picnics and fishing trips.

Choose Simple Cameras

Human nature can't resist taking pictures that can be used to brighten dull winter evenings. However the majority of Peterborough vacationists can't be bothered with the intricate, more expensive cameras and demand cameras that are simple to operate. This not only saves them time, but also saves them money.

Sunglasses and sun tan lotion are old standbys as people depart for the playgrounds of the north.

3 Veterinaries Are Added To Field Force

Dr. George R. Penhall informed the Examiner today that his field division of the Health of Animals branch of the federal Department of Agriculture has been increased by the appointment of three doctors of the government veterinary service.

They are Dr. John Campbell, Dr. Leonard Cook and Dr. Howard Nurse.

"This increases our district staff to six full time and two part time veterinarians," Dr. Penhall said. "For the last ten years the department work had been largely skimmed over here because of an extreme shortage of staff men. So we got along the best we could."

Wipe Out TB.

The department is catching up on TB testing of cattle in this division in its unremitting campaign for the eradication of bovine turberculosis and the protection of the health of the people.

As recently reported the final tabulation of the Peterborough retest was: total number of herds examined 1,836; total number of cattle, 33,779; number of reacting animals, 35; number of infected herds, 21.

As Frank C. Patterson, agricultural representative, recently remarked "Those reacting have probably been cleared out by this time, and we may say that there is now no TB in our Peterborough herds."

Accreditation until June 1, 1956, relates not only to the health of the local animals, but is an essential requirement in the buying and selling of cattle, and is particularly important as a condition for export to the United States.

Work In Victoria

"We are now engaged in testing in Victoria county and after that it is possible that we will have to beging the first testing of the cattle of Haliburton, or even before Victoria is completed," Dr. Penhall said.

The Peterborough retest was done by Dr. John Leslie and Dr. Keith Mitchell.

The present staff has been assigned to the division of which Peterborough is headquarters. This city was their choice of residence although they work out of the city and county, not only in Victoria and Haliburton, but further afield when they receive other assignments in the work of the health of animals branch of the federal Department of Agriculture.

It may be generally understood that in the protection of public health in the supervision of the the qualtiy of foodstuffs that the department has also two veterinarians, Dr. James Turnbull and Dr. James M. Peryy, at the Peterborough plant of Canada Packers Limited, with four inspecting assistants who are not degree men.

The policy of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is to appoint qualified inspectors to all meat packing establishments in the country which are engaged in export business in meat and meat products.

The sign of their inspection is a blue circle stamp with the words "Canada Approved."

It may also be mentioned for the information of the public that this inspection guarantee applies equally to the products of such packing plants that are sold to domestic consumers.

Such meats and meat products are sold regularly through Canadian retail stores that buy their supplies from the inspected processing plants.

That means to the Canadian consumer that the effect of inspection required for export trade is also assured to the home consumer. The retailers who buy from Canada Packers offer their customers the same quality of meats and meat products that is provided for the export trade of CPC and other inspected packing plants. Their meat retailed at home gets the same examination and approval as the export products sold in Britain and elsewhere.

The government stamp is the passport of inspection and quality.

Scientist Gets Medal

LONDON, June 22 —(Reuters) —Professor Trofim Lysenko, Russian agricultural scientist whose genetic theories have aroused world-wide controversy, has been awarded the Soviet Academy of Sciences' gold medal for 1950, Tass news agency said today. Lysenko, president of the Soviet Academy of Agricultural Sciences, claims that factors hitherto thought to be hereditary can be artificially conditioned and controlled.

GRACIE FIELDS

Gracie Fields Coming To City

Peterborough will play host, in the near future, to the well-known and beloved English singing star, Gracie Fields. The 51-year-old concert artist will make her appearance for one night only at the Civic Arena, Friday, July 7.

Born in the cotton town of Rochdale, Lancashire Gracie started singing in public at the age of seven. It was not long until she became nationally famous, not only as a singer, but as an actress as well. She made her first tour to the United States in 1930 and soon won her way into the hearts of the American people.

Charity Performances

During the war, Gracie gave charity performances all over the world, and made her second Canadian tour in 1941. She has travelled more miles than any other concert artist and is the only one to have appeared before every allied army in the world. Her repertoire ranges from opera arias to popular songs and a burlesque of the concert soprano.

Jimmy Bailey is Gracie's accompanist on the present tour. Also appearing at her concert here, will be Marguerite Learning, violinist. Miss Learning has won numerous scholarships and medals during her musical career.

Open Children's Club For Summer Reading

Every book read by members of the Public Library summer reading club for children will put the reader through one more lock on an imaginary canoe trip through the waterways of the Kawarthas.

The summer reading club opened on Friday and is organized mainly for children who will be remaining in the city during the holidays. Those leaving the city are allowed to borrow six books to take with them.

Every child joining the reading club will be given a miniature canoe for pinning onto a papier mache map of the Kawarthas. The canoes will be moved through the next lock as the owner reads another book.

The children are asked to write a brief review of every book and are provided with small writing books for this purpose. The review is required to be only one page in length, just to show that they have understood the story.

Last summer a children's reading club was formed and the scheme was Alice in Wonderland.

Obituary

MRS. MARGARET JANE DICK

Mrs. Margaret Jane Dick, 82, died today in Omemee at the home of Mrs. William Fee. She was born in the district, daughter of the late Robert John Hayes and Jemima Best, and except for two years has lived in the community a lifetime. She is the last of a family of ten children.

Mrs. Dick leaves one son, Harold Dick, and one grand daughter, Mrs. James McManus (Marie), both of Emily township. Mrs. Dick was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Omemee.

Funeral service will be held at the home of her son, three miles east of Omemee on Highway 7, on Saturday at 2 p.m. Her nephew, the Rev. Dr. Stewart, of Toronto, will officiate, and burial will be at Emily Presbyterian cemetery.

Find 2 Youths Wandering Lindsay Streets

LINDSAY, June 22 — Found wandering in the St. David's and Colborne Street neighborhood in Lindsay about 2.30 a.m. Wednesday, two Peterborough youths appeared in police court here on vagrancy charges.

According to Constable Endicott, who made the arrest, the lads told him that they were looking for a cabin in which to spend the night, despite the fact that when searched, no money was found in their possession. One of them, however, produced a dollar this morning, which he told the court had been in his watch pocket.

The pair told police that they had come up to Lindsay last evening, and had been in the company of two girls here until about midnight. They then set out to find a place to sleep, and were found by the constable.

Magistrate Gee remanded them until Friday in order that a check may be made at Peterborough concerning them.

Name Delegates To UE Meeting

Ten delegates from Local 524, United Electrical Workers, were elected Wednesday night to attend the quarterly district council meeting, held July 9-10 in Kingston.

Two other items that came up at the membership meeting were the election of a new recording secretary, Thelma Deck, and the letter of resignation—offered and then withdrawn—by the local's president, T. P. Davies.

Mr. Davies, elected this year, has been ill for some time and he handed in a letter of resignation. The membership refused to accept it and he agreed to withdraw it.

The understanding was that he would offer it again at the August membership meeting if his health did not improve.

Miss Deck, the new recording secretary, succeeds Flo Farrance who, also because of poor health, has been forced to curtail her union duties.

The permanent delegates for 1950 are Mr. Davies, Miss Deck, C. R. Sullivan, Jack Chamberlain, Maurice Coderra, James Southgate, George Wallace, Alex Seppala, Ray Peters, and Lawrence Thornington.

Some 15 observers will accompany the official delegates to the Kingston district council meeting.

Kid Hogan Tries Hand At Film Wants Easy Job

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 22 (AP) So Society Kid Hogan, who is more than slightly allergic to work, goes to work at a job for which he is seemingly quite suited—that is, playing a Damon Runyon character.

Now I hasten to add that Society or Kid or let's call him Hogan was actually what he calls a "buddy-pal-chum" of the deceased writer. He looks like a Runyon character and sounds like one.

The fact that Hogan is working may cause some large tears around Lindy's because Hogan has long been an apostle of doing as little labor as possible. He figures a man should retire the first 30 years of life and work the rest.

Now a Worker

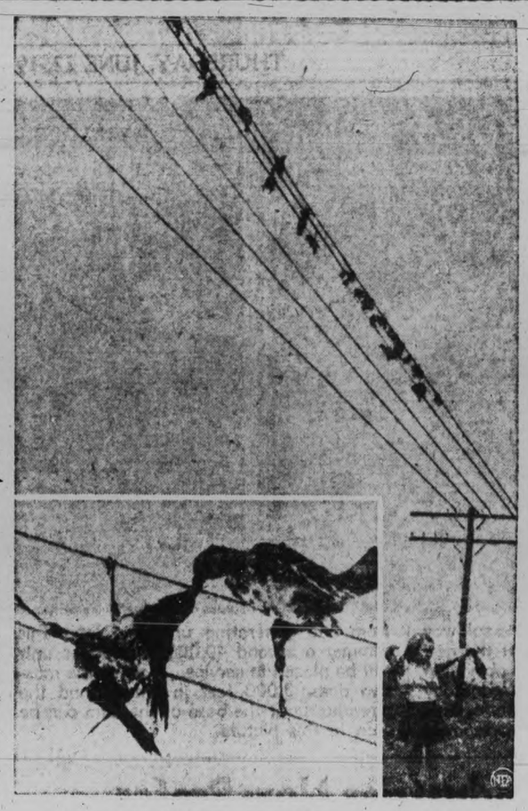
Now Hogan has passed the half-century mark so that puts him in the working class. Even so he does it Hogan-style, by that I mean he works at the $10 window at Chicago race tracks in the daytime and at similar pari-mutuels for six months and then loafs the other six months of the year.

Hogan is cutting into his vacation to do a job at $125 a week for the Paramounts. Having copped a load of lettuce with "Sorrowful Jones," the studio is putting its Mr. Robert Hope into another Runyon opus, "The Lemon Drop Kid."

"I'm helping with the script," explained Hogan himself. He will also play a role in the flick.

Now Hogan's real name is Salvatore De Lorenzo but he gets the Kid Hogan from a sports writer and the Society because his first fight is for a society charity.

They Die Broke



After quitting the fight game in 1924, Hogan takes his time about finding his life mission.

Hogan finally takes up as a half-year mutuel clerk, having found out the hard way what his pal Runyon expressed many times. That is that all horse players die broke.

"You got to go broke," he says. "One type that sometimes might make some money is them people who bet $10,000 or $20,000 on some horse like Citation to show. We call them 'bridge-jumpers.' If the horse don't 'show, they jump off a bridge somewheres."

KISS OF DEATH—A seemingly harmless little peck between two starlings (inset) proved fatal to themselves and 200 others. The starlings were settled on two electric wires which sagged close together. When two birds made contact in the kiss, it caused a short circuit on the wires, electrocuting the entire flock. The scene is near Okawville, Ill.

Slightly Weaker Sex

ADELAIDE, Australia (CP)—The Barossa valley vintage festival, held 50 miles north of here, attracted 35,000 spectators. Chief attraction was the grape-picking contest. J. Hague won the men's contest, picking 433½ pounds in 30 minutes. His wife led the women with only two pounds less.

Chocolate Chip Cookies

This recipe is on the package

½ to ½ cup shortening
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 package Baker's Chocolate Chips
½ cup chopped nut meats
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream shortening, add sugars gradually; cream until fluffy. Add egg and mix thoroughly. Sift flour once, measure, add salt and soda; sift again. Add flour in two parts; mix well. Add chocolate chips, nuts, vanilla; mix thoroughly. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased baking sheet, about 2 inches apart. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 50 cookies.

Court Dismisses Prisoner's Suit

FLINT, Mich., June 22.—(AP).—A circuit court late Wednesday dismissed a temporary restraining order which would have sought to stop a (NBC) radio network program — the "Big Story" — from telling how a Michigan woman slew her husband and two children.

Judge Clifford A. Bishop took the action with consent of Joseph Chranoski, lawyer, who filed the suit. Chranoski said he would immediately start action in federal court.

In New York, NBC said the radio drama "Big Story' went off as scheduled at 10 p.m. EDT. NBC said it customarily did not use the real names of the principals and did not do so Wednesday night.

Mrs. Julia Kulinich, now 34, sought the court order, claiming that dramatization of the triple murder of her children and husband would be an invasion of her "right of privacy" and would cause her "harassment, ridicule and humiliation." She said she is "paying society."

Mrs. Kulinich is serving a life term in Detroit's house of corrections.

Romney Marsh Court Flouts Old Custom

ROMNEY MARSH, Kent, England —(CP)— The court of Romney Marsh, elected by the people every year, held a session outside its ancient courtroom for the first time in its 500-year existence.

Members visited a nearby amusement park to hear a record played which residents claimed was too noisy.

The court, after listening to "The Merry Widow" and "You are My Heart's Delight," decided to grant a licence for the player if the park management guaranteed to keep it toned down.

Blame Cigarette

QUEBEC, June 22.—(CP)—A fire believed started when a lighted cigaret was thrown on a benzene-soaked floor in a St. Sauveur district convent was quickly brought under control late Wednesday. Estimate of damage was not immediately available. The convent is under the direction of Les Dames de la Congregation.

FUNNY BUSINESS —By Hershberger

"George has spotted a collector again!"

VON Asks Space In City Hall

Peterborough branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses would like to have an office in the new city building, R. J. Chandler, chairman, mentioned at the monthly meeting in the city council chamber Wednesday. Mr. Chandler said the council would be approached.

The number of patients attended by the VON to date this year is almost equivalent to last year's figures. So far 476 patients have been attended, three more than at this time last year, Miss Mary Ross, superintendent, reported.

The many unexpected opportunities for service which continually face the VON were illustrated by Miss Ross when she reported a recent incident. A nurse was making a routine visit to the home of a mother and infant, when the mother happened to mention casually that her husband had trodden on a nail the previous day. The nail had penetrated into the foot.

When the nurse asked to see the place where the nail had gone in, she noticed that a red streak was already appearing up the leg. The man had a high temperature and the nurse suggested that perhaps anti-tetanus serum was required.

A doctor was called while the nurse was still in the home and the man left by taxi for the doctor's office. The family has not failed to be greatful for this service, Miss Ross added.

Miss Ross told of another case when a man, unable to walk comfortably because of an artificial leg, was now enjoying car rides which had been arranged by the Red Cross, after the VON had brough this man's situation to the attention of the Red Cross.

Hungary Bishops Ease Resistance To Government

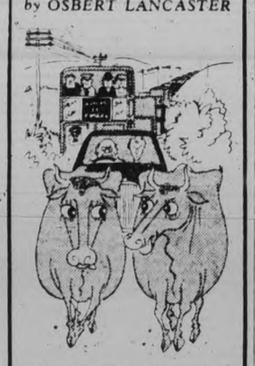
BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 22, —(AP)—Hungary's Roman Catholic bench of bishops has asked for an official review of "church questions" in a step interpreted as a surrender of the church's long resistance to the Government.

The fact that the Government itself announced the church move last night indicates that the Government will accept it as a surrender, demand that the bishops take an oath of allegiance to Hungary's constitution and instruct its clergy to sign the "Stockholm peace petitions."

(The bench of bishops is the highest ecclesiastic authority of the Catholic church in Hungary since its primate, Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, was jailed for life in 1949 on treason and spying charges.)

Two weeks ago Joseph Revai, minister of people's education, climaxed a bitter campaign of press and radio attacks on the Cathofic clergy by declaring that they were "imperialist agitators and reactionary newsmongers." He raised the question whether the country could tolerate their existence further.

The church has been in passive resistance to the Government since the conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty, but the strife was inflamed after bishops, heads of orders, priests, monks and nuns generally refused to sign the Stockholm peace appeal.



The document, drafted by the "partisans of peace" at a congress in Stockholm, is considered by the Government as the highest standard of democratic belief and loyalty. It calls for outlawing atom weapons.

Edmonton Airmen Not Scots But Grand Pipers Just Same

EDMONTON —(CP)— The pride and heritage of Scotland—the combination of bagpipe, kilt and drum—has found a spot in the Air Force in western Canada. Edmonton's RCAF station boasts a complete highland pipe band.

But a Scottish name on this bagpipe outfit is as rare as an easy loan from MacDuff—the lineup reads like that of a Notre Dame rugby team.

The founder of the band is a Canadian—Wing Cmdr. Wesley Hodgson, Commanding Officer of the winter experimental establishment of North West Air Command. He never gave the bagpipes a thought until he trained for the RAF in Scotland and met his future wife, whose father was a colonel in the Cameron Highlanders.

Lots of Support

When Wing Cmdr. Hodgson broached the subject of a highland pipe band here he found plenty of support from guys with names like Wiltzen, Halcrow, Tymchuk and Vroom. So the band was formed.

A few months ago the pipers couldn't have blown "C" on a kazoo, but after being trained by a piper of the old school, a Scot, a song like "Road to the Isles" now is a cinch.

First public appearance of the band came recently when it played for the official annual inspection of the RCAF station by Air Vice-Marshal C. R. Dunlop, Air Officer Commanding, North West Air Command.

RIVERVIEW, Fla., June 22. —(AP).—A year ago lightning knocked a bottle from the hands of Charles Sappal as he sat at his fishing camp. Lightning struck again yesterday in the same spot. Sappal, 67, was killed.

Campbellford's White Wash Walkers Cause Stir On Town's Main Streets

CAMPBELLFORD, June 22 — (ENS) Two men walking through the business section of Campbellford Wednesday evening, their feet covered in white wash and each with a pail to apply another coat as it wore off, set people wondering just how crazy people can get.

The two were Jimmy Heathcote and Wally Rutherford and their mission, to advertise the Laff Quizz which is to be held in Campbellford Community Centre on Friday to raise funds for the repair and maintenance of the Community Centre.

This was a brainchild of David Ness of Campbellford. The two men walked through the streets to back up the slogan "Follow the bare-foot boy to the Laff Quiz."

The show is being sponsored by the Community Centre Board and prizes representing more than $1,000 are being donated by local merchants.

Ten quarts of milk for everyone who gives a wrong answer, is one of the prizes. There are, of course, others for those who get the right answer.

Bill Bernard will be master of ceremonies of the hilarious nonsensical program.

Most Czechs Halting Communism

NEW YORK, June 22—(AP)—The majority of Czechoslovaks profoundly hate Communism, but it will take a war or internal collapse of theCommunist world to rid the country of its new masters.

This is the appraisal of a New York Times correspondent who recently left Czechoslovakia to avoid possible arrest in one of the Communists' spy hunts.

In a series of dispatches from Vienna, correspondent Dana Adams Schmidt has give his impressions of what happened through 28 months of iron Communist rule.

What the Communists have done in Czechoslovakia, Schmidt says, is a model for what they would do in Italy or France or any advanced capitalistic country where they seized power.

Holiday In Iceland

ERIKSDALE, Man. —(CP)—Olafur Hallson, pioneer Eriksdale merchant, left recently for a visit to Reyjavik, Iceland, his first in 40 years. He will stay with relatives there until September, when he will return to Canada.

Claxton President Of Two Colleges

OTTAWA, June 22 — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton's duties have to do with more than guns and soldiers. He's a college president, too—twice.

New regulations published in the Canada Gazette to apply alike to the two tri-service cadet colleges show that the minister is president of them both.

They are Royal Military College at Kingston, and Royal Roads on Vancouver Island. As a part of the unification drive by the Defence Department, both now train future officers for all three services.

SUMMER HOLIDAYS—These western Canada university students spend their summer holidays training with the Canada army—just like hundreds of other students. This army photo, taken at the Royal Canadian School of Artillery at Camp Shilo, Man., shows three students working on a wireless set. In the foreground are A. A. Covey of the University of Alberta, Edmonton, and W. J. Sheppard of the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon. Standing behind them is A. C. Moffat of Royal Roads, Victoria, BC.

Manitoba Army Camp Toughens Young College Officer Cadets

By NORMAN MICHIE

CAMP SHILO, Man. —(CP)—Canadian universities are turning out the youthful, well-trained core of a future Canadian Army.

More than 270 of the 850-odd cadets who enlist in the voluntary Canadian Officers' Training Corps are spending their summer holidays at this southern Manitoba artillery camp, 135 miles west of Winnipeg and 20 miles southeast of Brandon.

Theirs is definitely an army life. Fatigues are largely scrapped so more time can be devoted to training, and their two-to-a-cubicle quarters would make an old soldier swear, but the boys are up at dawn and hard at it all day.

Under permanent-army instruction at the Royal Canadian School of Artillery, they take their field training come rain, blistering heat or sandstorm.

Lt.-Col. H. J. Lake, school Commanding Officer, said the cadets—half of them just 21—get a more thorough training than did candidates at officer-cadet training units during the Second World War.

In addition to lectures and basic training during the university term, they get an average of 14 weeks' practical instruction at camp in each of three summers. At the end of that time those who pass—about 95 per cent—are "officer material fit for the Canadian Army."

42-week Period

The average 42-week practical periods compares with the wartime OCTU period of four to five months.

Col. Lake said that the nation-wide program should provide a nucleus of 4,000 to 5,000 men when the program is in full swing. These men would be far younger, better trained and more numerous than the nucleus available for active duty at the start of the war. They would fill junior commands for four divisions.

W. F. Moores of Memorial College, St. John's, Nfld.—the first and only cadet from Canada's newest province—is among the cadets.

Others include:

Ronal L. White, 21-year-old brother of famed negro contralto Portia White, from Acadia University at Wolfville, NS; Conrad Namiesniowski, who fled Poland with his father 10 years ago, now attending Victoria College in Victoria, BC; Claude LaRoche, formerly of Loyola College, Quebec City, and now attached to the COTC from the Command Contingent; Cyril M. Lewis, assistant-editor of the Canadian artillery publication Canadian Gunner, a student of McGill University in Montreal; W. J. Sheppard, 26 - year - old law student at the University of Saskatchewan, from Regina; Jack Ferguson, second - year arts student at the University of Toronto, formerly of Saskatoon.

Closer Relations

TORONTO, June 22.—(CP).—Canadian universities are earnestly seeking closer relations with the older universities of England and Scotland, Vincent Massey, Chancellor of the University of Toronto, said Wednesday. He spoke at a luncheon attended by delegates to the Seventh Imperial Press Conference. The delegates later were guests of honor at a garden party given by Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson at Ballymena, his home near Oakville.

Acquitted on Charge

NELSON, B.C., June 22.—(CP).—Michael (the Archangel Verigin, Doukhobor leader, Wednesday was acquitted on a charge of conspiring to dynamite a highway bridge in 1947 at nearby Brilliant, B.C. The "Archangel" was convicted Tuesday of seditious conspiracy. Verigin now leads the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor colony at Hilliers, Vancouver Island.

Elect Officials

BIGWIN INN, June 22.—(CP).—James Swinton of Brantford, Wednesday was elected president of the Ontario Association of School Business Officials. Other officers elected include directors J. M. McGrigor, Galt, Clifford Tuck, Kirkland Lake, and Dr. W. A. Potter, Niagara Falls. Dr. Potter is president of the Urban School Trustees Association, also meeting here.

Say 800 Employees Affected by Contract

WINDSOR, June 22 — (CP) — General Motor Corporation's new contract with the United Automobile Workers (CIO) will affect 800 employees in GM's Windsor plant.

It is here that all motors used by the corporation in Canada are made.

Hourly-rated employees of the Windsor plant are represented by their own unit within Local 195, United Automobile Workers (CIO). An agreement between this unit and the company will be signed when the Oshawa local signs.

Ask Truman Check Newsprint

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP) —President Truman will be asked to instruct the United States Tariff Commission to check whether Canadian newsprint manufacturers have violated the unfair-practices provision of the Federal Tariff Act.

This developed Wednesday at the House of Representatives judiciary sub-committee's inquiry into reasons for newsprint shortage.

Chairman Emanual Celler (Dem., N. Y.) told reporters he will make "a double request" — to the President and to the tariff commission itself to investigate.

Section 337 of the Act deals with unfair practices. If the President finds that such practices exist he has authority under this section to order the secretary of the treasury to bar the product.

Newsprint has been admitted tariff-free to the United States since 1913.

Celler said he didn't see why the tariff commission hadn't investigated in view of the anti-trust charges brought against the newsprint industry in the last 25 years.

NEW HEAVYWEIGHT TIDE gets clothes dazzling clean WITHOUT RINSING!

"MY WASH LOOKED WONDERFUL WITHOUT RINSING!" SAYS MRS. A. G. WESTBERG OF TORONTO, ONT.

"Was I surprised! I used new Heavyweight Tide—and didn't rinse—and my whole wash looked wonderful. I took the clothes out of those wonder suds, wrung them out, and hung them up. And they dried so fresh and soft and CLEAN—and ironed so nice, too! Believe me, I'll never use anything but new Heavyweight Tide from now on!"

Cuts washday work in half! Just wash – wring out – hang up!

ALL OVER CANADA women are talking about the amazing fact that you can wash with new Heavyweight Tide—without any rinsing at all. Some women just plain don't believe it—and you can hardly blame them, for it's the most revolutionary thing that ever happened to washday. But whether or not you find it hard to believe, it's absolutely true.

WHEN you wash with the new Heavyweight Tide, you can take your wash right from those wonder suds—put it through the wringer and onto the line, without rinsing! You see, new Heavyweight Tide gets the dirt out of the clothes—then holds it suspended in the sudsy water. As the clothes go through the wringer, the dirt runs out with the wash water, leaving the clothes so bright, fresh and CLEAN, you'll be amazed.

IT'S NEW! IT'S GOT STEPPED-UP WASHING POWER to do your heaviest, dirtiest wash!

JUST WAIT till you see how clean new Heavyweight Tide gets hard-to-do things like workshirts and overalls! Because of its new stepped-up washing power, every grain does more work . . . licks your toughest laundry problems. Yet with all this terrific new washing power, it's safe for all your colored washables!

GET NEW HEAVYWEIGHT TIDE! Try it without rinsing and save yourself time, and work . . . and hot water. See how beautifully fresh and clean your clothes come . . . see how nice and soft they dry . . . how easily they iron. All without rinsing!

MORE FOR YOUR MONEY! So much more washing power, every package goes much farther!

When you wash without rinsing—
NO OTHER WASHING PRODUCT KNOWN WILL GET CLOTHES CLEANER THAN NEW HEAVYWEIGHT TIDE

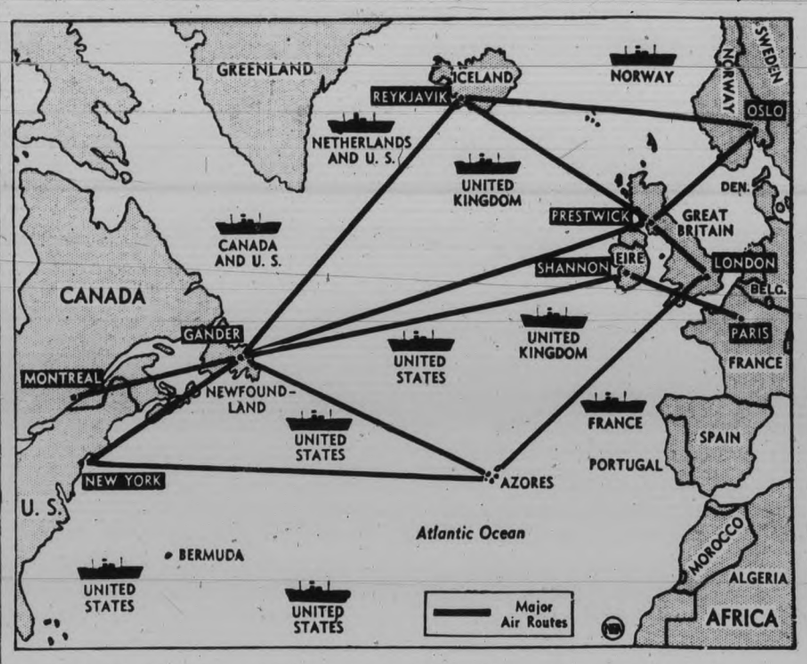
Rumor Hitler Seen

CANNES, France, July 22. —(Reuters).—Cannes is afire with a rumor that Hitler had embarked in a yacht here early Wednesday. The yacht, anchored off Cannes May 8, left with 23 persons on board, including 16 young Germans. Several people claimed they saw Hitler go on board the vessel, sailing to nearby Villefranche. Port authorities said that if nothing is heard of the Dangin during the next 24 hours they will warn all port authorities the vessel should be intercepted.

Hear Margarine Appeal



LONDON, June 22.—(Reuters). —The Privy Council Wednesday heard arguments in an appeal against a decision by Canada's Supreme Court that a federal law barring margarine is invalid The appellants are the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and the Dairy Farmers of Canada. The hearing is expected to last several days.

Harmonius Talks

LONDON, June 22. —(CP). — Anglo-Canadian trade talks were understood Wednesday to be proceeding in an atmosphere generally more harmonious than sometimes has been the case in the past. The recent reported improvement in the sterling area's dollar reserves is believed to be the basis for the easier going.

Ask Retirement Pay

TORONTO, June 22.—(CP).— Canadian postmen, at their 29th Triennial National Convention, Wednesday passed a resolution asking the Federal government for a $100-a-month retirement pay after 25 years' service.

THE ABOVE MAP shows the network of North Atlantic Ocean weather stations which goes into operation on July 1, 1950. Through the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO), eleven nations have agreed to operate a vast network of ten ocean weather stations, employing 25 ships. Information and services—including air-sea rescue work—will be pooled to help make the much-traveled region safe for air travellers. In addition to the six nations operating weather ships, financial aid to the network will be given by Sweden, Belgium, Denmark, Ireland and Portugal.

Loses Again In Bid For Bridge

TORONTO, June 22 (CP) — David G. Bawtinheimer lost another round Wednesday in his bid to get back land which would give him virtual control of one end of the Rainbow Bridge at Niagara Falls.

The Niagara Falls, Ont., business man once owned a half acre which now is part of the Rainbow Bridge Plaza. The Ontario government expropriated it in 1940; in January, 1947, the Ontario Municipal Board awarded Bawtinheimer $23,181 as compensation.

Later he brought an Ontario Supreme Court action for repossession of the land, where he formerly owned a group of stores and a parking lot. It was dismissed.

His appeal against that decision was dismissed today by the Ontario Court of Appeal. It ruled that the Minister of Highways "acted in good faith" in expropriating the property.

It's a sandwich spread that even a "Dagwood" would rave about!... a luscious taste-treat for all sandwich enthusiasts!

Lighten And Brighten your housecleaning chores with this truly "magical" new cleanser! It's LAVOLINE the cleanser that contains SANOVAL, an amazingly new cleaning agent which literally dissolves grease and dirt and produces a wealth of snowy-white, billowy suds! There's no need to rub 'n' scrub...painted walls—woodwork—kitchen linoleum or the "family wash"... everything looks whistle-clean in a jiffy when it's Lavoline-washed! And yet, though Lavoline is so effective—it's kind as kind can be to everything it touches! So next time you're shopping—ask for Lavoline—the new, improved Lavoline—at A & P, Dominion, Loblaw stores and your corner grocer.

Sun 'n' Sand are a wonderful combination for a holiday... not such a wonderful combination for your eyes! Eyes grow tired under the sun's bright glare...they smart when the wind blows. That's why it's such a good idea to carry a holiday supply of MURINE with you wherever you go. Murine soothes tired eyes in a jiffy...just two drops in each eye makes eyes feel rested and refreshed. For Murine contains 7 ingredients that blend with the natural eye fluids... cleansing and soothing delicate tissues gently as a tear, and relieving that weary, used-up feeling! So take my tip and put Murine at the top of your vacation-time shopping list! You'll find it in drug stores everywhere!

Piping Hot Or Icy-Cold...this tea's always good! The famous, full-flavoured deliciousness of BLUE RIBBON TEA is far from an accident—for the Blue Ribbon blenders have made a particular point of giving you the very best to be had. They've chosen the finest of India and Ceylon teas—then blended them to "Blue Ribbon" perfection! No wonder the marvelous flavour of Blue Ribbon Tea is just as perfect when the tea is iced as when it's hot! Here's how to make Blue Ribbon iced tea:—

Allow two heaping teaspoons of tea or two tea bags to each person. Infuse in teapot as for hot tea—that is, warm teapot, pour bubbling, boiling water over tea and let steep for a full five minutes. Place cracked or cubed ice in glass. Pour on hot tea, adding sugar to taste. Serve with lemon.

Enjoy Your Golf Or Tennis—and don't worry about cleaning your golf or tennis shoes—for it's a "wink-quick" job with Meltonian Sports White to help you! Yes, this marvelous white shoe cleaner is specially made for buckskin or canvas shoes. And for your summer-white street-wear and "dress-up" shoes, there's nothing better than Meltonian White Kid Cleaner! Easy to apply—long-lasting—it absolutely does not rub off! What's more, it preserves the leather. So keep your shoes "well-groomed" this summer—with these famous MELTONIAN White Cleaners! You'll find them at your favourite department or shoe store!

Just For Fun, would you like a brand new you for your Summer vacation? A beautiful dancing-under-the-stars dress can do it—or a once-in-a-million hair-do...but to look your loveliest all the time—try that brand-new make-up... WOODBURY DREAM STUFF! It's glorious! It's a tinted foundation and powder magically blended into one make-up! Not a drying cake—nor a greasy cream. Pat it on with its puff—it clings for hours. Tuck it in your purse—it can't spill! Only 65c in four dreamy shades...I particularly recommend the "Tropic Dream" shade for a Summer vacation complexion!

Here Today—Gone Too Soon... that's the story of the season's fruits. But there's a fine way to have year 'round enjoyment of summer-ripe fruits—thanks to CERTO Fruit Pectin! For with Certo you can preserve all the choice, rich flavour of fully-ripe fruits in jams and jellies, so quickly and easily. Because Certo recipes cut the boiling time to just 1 minute for both jams and jellies! And a pound of jam or jelly made with Certo contains no more sugar than a pound made the old, long-boil way! You get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit, and results with Certo are always sure—even for beginners—if they follow exactly the tested recipes in the booklet under the label of each Certo bottle!

Here's Your Chance to get a set of famous Wallace Brothers Silver Plate at half the price and less! All you do—simply save your LIBBY'S EVAPORATED MILK labels—and here's what you can have in the beautiful "Laurentian" pattern exclusive with this Libby Offer —6 Teaspoons ($2 open stock value) for just $1 and 6 Libby's Evaporated Milk labels — OR — a 24-Piece Set of 6 teaspoons, 6 dessert spoons, 6 forks, 6 knives ($15 open stock value) for only $6 and 24 Libby's Evaporated Milk labels. (Labels from both large and small tins are acceptable for both offers.) Use Libby's Evaporated Milk whenever your recipe calls for milk—use it for tea, coffee and in baby's formula! Libby's contains all the nutrients you expect from fresh, whole milk, plus added Vitamin D! It's today's best buy in milk—so buy it and try it! ...and, for your silverware, simply send your Libby's labels and money order to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.!

Are You In A June Mood? Feel like relaxing in the garden and watching the birds 'n' bees? To complete your sense of well-being, there's nothing like a refreshing glass or two of iced tea served with tangy, luscious lemon wedges! Or a frosty-cool glass of lemonade to quench your thirst! That's why it's such a good idea to keep a supply of lemons on hand these warm sunny days. They give added spice and life to iced tea—and everyone loves lemonade! But be sure the lemons you use are SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS... they're the finest, juciest grown!

Butterscotch Pudding is a wonderfully smooth — excitingly tasty — refreshingly cool dessert for a warm June evening! And when it's made according to the Ann Adam recipe on the new package of DURHAM CORN STARCH, it's specially good! Not only are there several wonderful Ann Adam recipes on the new package of your favourite corn starch, but this package has a brand new top, specially designed for easy, easy opening! All you do—just pinch the top and roll it back. Inside you'll find the corn starch carefully protected in a paper bag and when you've finished using it, replace the lid and your "Durham" will be protected completely from dust 'til the next time you use it!

To Me, June Is The Loveliest Month Of All. In fact, if it weren't for mosquitoes and other insect pests I wouldn't mind if it were June—twelve times a year! CHARLES WAGNER, 23, left, and Keith (Rocky) Pearson, 24, right, sought for almost a week for questioning in the blind pig stabbing death of 38-year-old Aaron Marks, surrendered to detectives at Montreal police headquarters. The two suspects in the brawl slaying in a Montreal blind pig were accompanied by their lawyer Lucien Gagnon when they arrived at headquarters. Immediately after detectives said they would be held as material witnesses at the resumption of a coroner's inquest in Mark's death and that the Crown would ask that murder charges be laid against them.

Seek Info On Aquarium Clubs

Information regarding the aquarium clubs in the Peterborough district has been requested by the Swansea Aquarium Club, James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said today.

The Toronto club plans to have an educational non-competitive exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition this year. In conjunction with the booth they are planning a special booklet with regard to the tropical fish hobby.

The centre page of the book has been reserved for the use of the Swansea club to welcome the visitors to the exhibit and to explain the advantages of belonging to such a club.

On the opposite page the secretaries of aquarium clubs will be listed. The Swansea club desires the names of any such clubs in the district with the names of the secretaries and their addresses. Anyone interested in this project should contact W. L. Whitern, Apartment 25, 118 Vaughan Road, Toronto.

Canada's Official Sculptor Dies Suddenly In Ottawa

OTTAWA, June 22— (CP). — Cleophas Soucy, whose ornamental carvings in Canada's Parliament Buildings won him international recognition, died unexpectedly at his home last night.

Official sculptor at the Parliament Buildings, the 71-year-old stone carver began working on the buildings under John Pearson, architect of the present buildings. In the last 30 years his deft fingers, which in spare moments played the clarinet, fashioned hundreds of designs and figures both inside and outside the buildings.

He wrought delicate friezes designed from Canadian animals and flowers. Wolves, moose, lions and unicorns, as well as regiments of dragons, gnomes and weird little caricatures of statesment of the past took their place around the buildings' Gothic arches and high marble corridors and in the PeaceTower.

In Gothic Style

All of his work was in the Gothic style.

Mr. Soucy's delight was doing store carvings in and around the main building.

"Nowhere," he once said, "'is there a building better suited to display the work of a Canadian sculptor for his work is not merely it but a part of it and a monument to Canadian culture and tradition."

Native of Montreal, Mr. Soucy came from a family of sculptors. A brother Elzear, and a nephew Donat Soucy, are prominent sculptors.

He showed a flair for sketching while attending school at Montreal and later began studying sculptoring at night school while working in a wood-carving factory.

In 1906 he went to Boston to study under the American sculptor John Evans and then returned to Canada to work under two distinguished Canadians, George Hill and Phillippe Hebert.

Early Work

Some of his early work is in the chapel if St. Laurent College, Montreal, and at St. Viateur Church, Outremont, Que.

In 1919, he married Elizabeth Boutot of Ottawa and began working on Parliament Hill.

Besides his work in stone, Mr. Soucy did much of the woodcarving in both the Senate and the House of Commons. Behind many of his carvings, both in wood and stone, may be seen the genial humor of the sculptor.

Fantastic Dwarfs

The Peace Tower also displays fantastic little dwarfs whose features are recognizable as those of Fuller, architect of the old Parliament Buildings destroyed by fire in 1916, and Pearson, who designed the new buildings. Another figure depicts former Prime Minister Sir Robert Borden capering in ecstasy.

Mr. Soucy once said there are only two or three good stone carvers in Canada. He was afraid there might be no young Canadians capable of carrying on his work of recording the story of Canada with hammer and chisel.

Jews Leave Wealth Behind For Chance To Live In Israel

By LARRY ALLEN

TEL AVIV, Israel, June 22—(AP)— Some of the wealthiest Jews in the world, straight out of the legendary site of the Garden of Eden, are flocking into Israel, practically "dead broke."

Jews from Iraq are arriving in Israel at the rate of 8,000 to 10,000 monthly. A total of 120,000 may come within the next 16 or 18 months. They are forced to leave behind homes and business holdings valued at hundreds of millions of dollars.

These people from the Biblical cradle of the human race arrive in Israel with about 60 pounds of personal baggage and the equivalent of about $15.

Take Big Loss

These Jews are abandoning or selling for virtually nothing properties built up in one of the oldest (2,600 years) and richest communities in the world. Immigration agencies have estimated the value of properties in Iraq of 30,000 Jewish families alone at 16,000,000 dinars. A dinar is worth $3.10.

There are 100 families with fortunes of 150,000 dinars each; 50 families are registered with properties worth 300,000 dinars each. Much of their wealth is in homes, schools, synagogues and business properties.

Leaving this wealth behind doesn't seem to disturb the incoming Iraqi immigrants. He beams happily upon reaching Ledda airport. Some kiss the soil of Israel. Others kneel in prayer on the airfield.

All seem anxious to get here in a hurry for the Iraqi government has set a time limit on the registration for those who want to come to Israel.

Unusual Operation

It is an unusual operation, for Israel still is technically at war with Iraq.

The Iraqis require planes loaded with Jews to clear for Nicosia, Cyprus. Then the aircraft have to turn around fly over to Israel. It is an expensive operation, for by going first to Cyprus the planes fly a 400-mile detour.

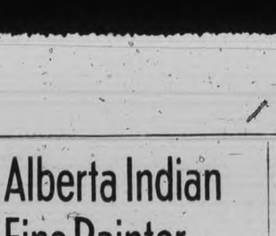
The flow of the Iraqi Jews increases still further the tremendous job of the Israeli government in finding places for immigrants to live and provide them jobs.

Alberta Indian Fine Painter

CARDSTON, Alta. — (CP) — Gerald Feathers of the nearby Blood Indian Reservation took his place in the field of Canadian art recently when 19 of his paintings were displayed at the Edmonton Museum of Arts.

The work of the 25-year-old Indian is distinctly Canadian, showing a strong Indian sense of color. Included in his display were western scenes, Indian portraits, and intricate native designs.

His big break came in 1941 when he submitted a portrait of Chief Shot on Both Sides to the Banff School of Fine Arts. It resulted in a series of scholarships which gave him four years of instruction at the Institute of Technology and Art in Calgary.



Two of the young Indian's portraits of notable chiefs are in the Ottawa office of the Director of Indian Education. Employed as a commercial artist by a large Edmonton department store, Feathers is also illustrating an Alberta traffic and safety guide being prepared by the Alberta Safety Council.

Grace WA Shows Progress

The Woman's Association of Grace United Church closed this season on Tuesday with a meeting at the church which began with a pot luck supper. Mrs. A. Cameron entertained with readings while the meal was served. Mrs. M. Close, president, opened the regular meeting afterward with a hymn and devotions were taken by Mrs. W. Thompson. The treasurer's report read by Mrs. E. McKinstry showed a pleasing balance on hand of $153.69. This is the amount left after expenses of work carried out in one and a half years since organization and compares most favorably with the size of the congregation. Arrangements were made for the junior congregation during the summer months. Mrs. A. Wright recited a piece and the meeting was closed with prayer by the Rev. E. W. Rowland.

Mrs. Renauds Class In Recital Worth Acclaim

A large class of piano pupils of Mrs. Norine Renaud acquitted themselves pridefully Wednesday evening before a crowd of parents and friends in the Wesley Hall of St. James Church.

The audience marvelled at the ability of the senior class and found their part of the program highly entertaining. The younger children pleased with their performances as well as their always delightful mannerisms.

There was evidence throughout of the work centred upon the young musicians by Mrs. Renaud. By giving them extra attention she had a number of interesting duets to present.

Pupils taking part were Margo Mills, Carole Ann Gledhill, Ailene Mann, Barbara Mann, Maureen Ward, Ronald Ward, Donna Greenwood, Ann Mander, Murray Mander, Phyllis Kylie, Barbara Bulmer, Doris Bell, Eva Mary Redout, Sandra Henwood, Gloria Robinson, Ann Reid, Melvyn Petersiel, Myrna Albert, Margaret Pritchard, Joan Rowe, James Jarvis, Douglas Bentley, Dianne Cochrane, Lenore Westwood, Myrna Albert, Mary Pritchard, Margaret Westwood, David Munro, Margaret Munro.

A trio number was by the Confederation school piano class, L. Payne, A. McLaren, and N. Branson with J. Kitchen the narrator, and another by Michael Philp, Malcolm Ray and Neil Andrus of Central school.

St. James Junior Choir assisted at the intermission.

Shoe Box Symbol Of War Orphans

ANCASTER, Ont., June 22 — (CP)—This is the stopping-off place between the new world and the old for many of Europe's war war orphans.

Almost every month for more than a year, children whose parents died in the Second World War have come from Europe by ship and plane to a reception centre in this community near Hamilton.

A box of shoes is their symbol of a new life.

All of them are given a new outfit of clothing and a pair of new shoes in a box. The shoes, still in their box, often lie beneath their pillows the first night they spend there. They stay here two weeks or a month before foster parents are found for them somewhere in Ontario.

They come from German work camps or the ruins of their homes. When they land at Halifax or Quebec City they are placed in the care of the Catholic Immigrant Aid Society which brings them here.

Husband Forced To Honor Gift

MONTREAL (CP) A husband who listed a $5,000 gift to his wife in their marriage contract 24 years ago has to pay up even though he didn't have $5,000 when the gift was made, it was ruled in superior court here.

In ordering Seymour Gibson to pay $5,000 to his separated wife Mr. Justice C. G. Mackinnon ruled the gift could only be set aside if it could be proven that the gift was made fraudulently to escape a creditor.

In his defence, Gibson said the debt was not enforcible because no time limit was fixed on the contract. He added that since he didn't have $5,000 when the contract was signed the gift was meaningless since no one could give away something he hasn't got.

The court replied the lack of time limit merely meant Mrs. Gibson could collect whenever she wanted and the lack of money at the time was entirely irrelevant.

Lady Burnham Steals Show

TORONTO, June 22 (CP) — Lady Burnham, wife of Lord Burnham, director of the Daily Telegraph, London, stole the show Wednesday night at a dinner tendered delegates to the seventh Imperial Press Conference by the city of Toronto.

After the dinner the guests spontaneously broke into community singing and, at the request of Mayor Hiram McCallum, Lady Burnham sang "Shenandoah," an old sea chanty. Later she led the guests in "Pack Up Your Troubles."

Blame Weather Conditions Hindering CWL Garden Tea

Wednesday's wind and unseasonable coolness were unwanted and persistent attendants at the garden party which Sacred Heart sub-division of the Catholic Women's League held on the church grounds in the afternoon. Not only did they cause minor inconveniences, but to them alone is attributed the fact that the crowd was smaller than on previous years.

Part of the proceeds from this affair will go toward furnishing a room in the new wing of St. Joseph's Hospital. The League raises most of its funds from weekly euchres and bingos, and these followed the garden party, the latter being played on the lawn with card games later in the parish hall.

Draws for attractive prizes were a big feature, a fruit cake being the prize of the afternoon and won by Mrs. J. Kearns. A Brinton-Peterborough scatter rug an electric tea kettle and a permanent wave were the big prizes on which raffle tickets have been sold and draws, made at the close of the evening, made the respective owners Miss Teresa Walsh Mrs. D. Carter and B. Wilkinson.

CWL president Mrs. Leo Martyn was overseeing all the proceedings and was greeting the guests. Social convener Mrs. C Viscoff had charge of the afternoon arrangements which provided entertainment for a crowd of school children as well as a pleasant social hour for their mothers.

Peonies decorated small tables, set for four, and were a colorful note on the central tea table, with unusual striped candles in flanking arrangement.

Hostesses Mrs. J. Kearns, Mrs B. Bailey, Mrs. S. Gilmour, Mrs J. Jones, Mrs. F McCarthy and Mrs B Flynn brought the refreshments to their guests and had their teacups filled by Mrs. Rosina Paquette, Mrs H. LaPlante, Mrs M O'Connell, Mrs C. Giardino, Mrs R Zberanowsky and Mrs. H. Connolly.

Provisions for the table were brought by Mrs. H. Kylie and Mrs. H. Masterson and Mrs. H. LaPlante were fixing the plates.

Iced layer cakes and other attractive items were on the bake table, attended by Mrs. W DeNoble, Mrs. T. O'Grady, and Mrs. J. Hickey. Decorated baskets filled with home made candy were sold by Mrs. R. McCabe and Miss Helen O'Toole, and Mrs. Neil Collins and Mrs. M. McDougall dispensed ice cream and soft drinks.

A small wicker basket on the end of the line proved the right bait in a secluded fish pond where the children were pulling out various kinds of small toys. Mrs. J. McParlan was behind the scene.

Mrs. W. Curtis was the treasurer at the entrance. Mrs. M. Murray was selling tickets on the fruit cake and Mrs. J. Cairns sold draw tickets.

Federation Aiding Exchange Teacher

TORONTO, June 22 (CP) — The Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario announced today $200 each will be given 23 exchange teachers here from Britain, South Africa and Australia "to promote even more cordial relations with the women teachers of the Commonwealth countries."

Dorothy Martin, convener of the Federation's goodwill project said the money, originally designed as a "holiday fund" for the teachers, will now assist them in making up losses due to devaluation.

Public Interest In Project Made Known to Soroptimists

Public interest in their project, the welfare of older women, is giving the Soroptimists of Peterborough greater impetus. Citizens who attended their annual garden party, held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs Gordon Miller, 161 Douro St., gave tangible support to the work in even greater amount than anticipated. And, they gave evidence of further help when they inquired about future events.

The Golden Mile Club which the older women carry on by themselves, though the sponsors are ready in the background when needed, had a prominent part in the garden party.

They had made up an attractively-patterned patchwork quilt which they raffled and Miss Leith Johnson was the winner when Soroptimist president Mrs. May Thompson drew out her ticket just as the event was concluded at nine o'clock last evening.

The Golden Mile Club president Mrs. E. Chatten and the past president Mrs. R. Tyres were also selling aprons, crocheted doilies, embroidered card table and dresser covers, children's knitted things and a variety of household novelties mostly made by the members.

Mrs. A. Sanders was selling small packages which were wrapped to conceal their contents, but she allowed the customers to "touch" several times and guess what they contained before making a final choice.

Not so with Soroptimist Miss Alice Curtis in charge of a "touch and take" table.

Viennese pastry, made by Miss Rose Williams, and Viannese cake made by a European baker were special items on the home baking table in charge of Miss Abbie Robinson and Miss Verna Johnston.

Home-made candy was sold by Miss A. Coleman for the Golden Mile Club but the supply was completely exhausted in a short time.

A great outdoor attraction of the day was tea cup reading, the seer's table set back in sunny corner of the garden. While awaiting a turn, the ladies sat on swings and chairs and admired the playing fountain and the charming layout of the Miller garden which gives evidence of careful and constant tending.

Tea was served in their attractive sunroom from a beautifully lace-covered table with a bouquet of yellow 'mums, tiny white Americas and blue cornflower for the centrepiece.

Cups were filled by Mrs. G. Schneider and Miss A. Miller for the first period and Soroptimists Miss Myrtle Sargent, Mrs. Edith Scott, Miss Grace Sargent and Miss Margaret Wolstenholme took turns later.

Hostesses were Miss Mary Huston, Miss Elsie Bennett, Miss Verna Johnson, Miss Musa Cox, Miss Elva Jackson, Miss Gene Clark, Mrs. Isobel Hutchson, Miss Helen Gerrard, and Miss Mary Carey, with Miss Florence Scott and Mrs. Agnes Green in charge.

The president Mrs. Thompson, and Mrs. Miller welcomed the guests, and treasurer Miss A. L. Thomson was taking tickets.

Sense of Smell Lost, Gets $6140

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Mrs. Anne Mary Jones lost her sense of smell as a result of an automobile accident.

She sued the car driver and was awarded $6,140 damages in supreme court.

In the judgement, Mr. Justice H. S. Wood held Raymond J. Montagne to blame for a collision in which Mrs. Jones and her husband were injured July 9, 1949.

"He's trying to get an offer from a South American club."

DOROTHY DIX

Youth Mistakes in Thinking He Will Never Love Again

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man of 24, a widower. I am very settled. There is a girl who loves me very dearly, who is quiet, dignified, thrifty and good housekeeper.

Dorothy Dix

I admire her and enjoy her company very much, but when my wife died my heart died, too, and I feel that I cannot love this girl as she loves me. Another objection to this girl is that she is very short. I am nearly 12 inches taller than she is. Do you think if I married her we would be happy?—X. X. X.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly the girl's height should be no bar to your union.

As for your feeling that you have buried your heart in the grave of your first wife and that you will never be able to care for any woman again, is the pessimism of youth. We who are old and have seen much of life, who have outlived sorrows and outgrown disappointments; know that the human heart is the most resilient of all created things.

A Boy's Love

Your love for your wife, however beautiful and complete it was, was just a boy's love. It was nothing to the passion that you will be able to feel some day for a woman who meets all the needs of your mature manhood, and for this reason it is a dangerous thing for you to marry a girl who comes up to your ideal but does not fire your fancy.

Of course, marrying a girl who adores you has its advantages. The wife who loves her husband better than he loves her is always breaking her neck trying to please him. His august word is her law, and she is as humbly grateful for a little kindness as a starving dog is for a bone.

But in love it is more blessed to give than to receive. Especially is this true with men, and so I think that it is a dangerous experiment for a youth of 24 to conclude that he has lost all power of loving and to marry a woman on the platonic basis. He will want something more of life than just a makeshift wife who is a good cook and saves his money.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Can a man love two women at the same time-I know a man who says he loves his wife and a girl with whom he has an affair. He is wonderful to them both, but he tells the girl she must remain in the background because he does not want to hurt his wife, his job or his children. He tells the girl that she means more to him than any one else in the world and is deeply hurt if she suggests leaving him, but he has no idea of divorcing his wife and marrying her. What do you think?—ANNE.

ANSWER: I think we can love many friends at the same time and love them for different reasons. But when it comes to a matter of love between the sexes, that is a different thing.

When a man says that he loves two women at the same time it merely means that he has a slight affection for them both. Each ministers to his pleasure in one way or another and he has some sentiment of gratitude or appreciation that he extends to them, but he has no really deep, passionate feeling for either one.

He wants to have his cake and eat it, too, and the only person he really and sincerely loves is himself.

Any girl is a fool to waste her time on a man who tells her that he loves two women at the same time. He is entirely too big-hearted. The only men who are worth while are those who concentrate their affections on one, and who love her so well that she fills the whole world for them.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am engaged to a splendid young man who is a hard worker, but cannot marry because he promised his father on his deathbed that he would care for his mother and four younger children. Has this boy no right to marry because he made this promise?—TROUBLED GIRL.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: In the first place, the young man must free himself from the superstition that there is something particularly binding in a deathbed promise. There is not. Such promises wrung from people in distress and under circumstances in which they have no chance to use any common sense or free will are generally better broken than kept. Of course, your sweetheart is in duty bound to help his mother and the children so long as they are little and unable to take care of themselvs, but that does not mean that he must sacrifice his whole life to them and be a slave to his family.

Danish Newspaper Has Useful Hints For Married Life

COPENHAGEN —(Reuters)— Disturbed at the "iron curtain of silence between man and wife on long evenings year after year," the Danish newspaper Politiken gives these tips for restoring harmony:

1. Not enough wives read newspapers or, generally, keep themselves informed on national and world affairs. Having small children is a good excuse for this but only for the first year or so.
2. Being in love is not enough —not for a whole lifetime, anyway.
3. Husbands—and there are two parties to all marriage troubles—should help with the washing-up and general household chores so that both parties are free as soon as possible to enjoy the evening together.
4. Husbands and wives should never work in the same office together. They see too much of each other if they do.
5. A husband should try to maintain a keen interest in domestic affairs—make suggestions for meals.
6. The wife should always be neat and tidy in readiness for her husband's return.
7. The husband should not assume his wife would not understand his work problems. Husbands should tell their wives of their office worries. Maybe she can help.
8. Neither party should live for the other's interests; both should have their different interests and both should be interested in each other's.

Statistics issued here add an interesting footnote to the marriage problem. Best age for a woman to marry, between 28 and 30; best age for a man, 30. Most dangerous years of a marriage—the third and fifth years.

Havelock News

Mrs. D. Scott, Judy and Donna of Trenton, spent last week with Mrs. Scott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rice. L.A.C. Scott joined his family here for the week end.

What's Right?

A man goes up to a buffet table with a woman.

WRONG: He looks after himself and lets her serve her own plate.

RIGHT: He offers to serve her plate before serving his own.

6—In Memoriams

DRURY — In loving memory of my dear brother, Sidney Drury, who passed away four years ago, June 22nd.
We cannot clasp your hand, brother dear,
Your face we cannot see,
But let this little token
Tell that we still remember thee.
—Ever remembered by his sister and brother-in-law, Annie and Albert.

DRURY—In loving memory of a dear son, who passed away 4 years ago today.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away for sight or speed,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here.
And who, though absent, is just as dear.
—Remebered by mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Drury.

DRURY—In loving memory of a dear brother, Robert Drury, who passed away four years ago today.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and kind in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory he left behind.
—Ever remembered by sister and brother-in-law, Margaret and George and family.

DRURY—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Robert Sidney (Sid), who passed away June 22nd, 1946.
In the garden of memory we meet every day.
—Sadly missed by wife and daughter Ruth.

Perfection in Refrigeration
Without Gas or Electricity

Why take a holiday to rest and spend hours shovelling sawdust or carrying ice, just to watch it melt?

See Servel!!

All Canadian kerosene operated REFRIGERATORS

No muss—no fuss—no noise

Silent at the flame in your coal oil lamp—because it is a flame in a lamp that does the work.

Lasts many years longer, because there is no moving part to wear out. Guaranteed to work with the greatest efficiency for just pennies a day.

Makes ice and ice cream, keeps frozen foods, meats, vegetables, etc.

Ideal for the farmer, lunch counter or store where electric power is not available.

Railway To Tap Fertile Fields Of Mid-Africa

CAPETOWN (CP).—One of the great African transport projects that will be laid before the coming conference of central and southern African countries will be a railway line linking Northern Rhodesia with the East African Territories.

W. Marshall Clark, secretary for the interim transport organization for central and southern Africa, says the line will open large fertile tracts of Africa that have remained unfarmed and untapped because of their remoteness. The line will also have obvious strategic importance in time of war.

Mr. Clark, until recently general manager of the South African Railways, has already attended a preliminary conference at Lisbon which drew up a general agenda for the main conference, to be held in South Africa in October.

Asked if any new pan-African transport project is likely to be discussed at the coming conference, he said "nothing much has been said yet about the plan, which the British Colonial Office is directing, to link the railway system of Northern Rhodesia with those of East Africa.

"At present, the most northerly point of the Northern Rhodesian Railways is Sakania. From there the line goes northwest through the Belgian Congo to the terminus at Port Francqui.

"But the new line, which is already being surveyed, would, I should imagine, branch off at Broken Hill and run northeast through Kasama and from there to the Mbeya plateau, which lies at the top of the great range of mountains between the northern end of Lake Nyasa and the southern end of Lake Tanganylika.

Over High Plateau

"The plateau lies 5,000 feet above sea level. Crossing with a railway line would be a difficult engineering task, though by no means an impossible one.

"From Mbeya the line would follow the course of the great Rhuha River until it crossed the railway line from Dar-es-Salaam. Then it would continue north via Arusha to the Kilimanjaro area and Nairobi."

Mr. Clark said that through this ambitious link-up, the peaceful Congo and Mikindani would be joined by land with territories to the north and south. It might even be payable to use the line to send coal to Kenya and Tanganyika from Southern Rhodesia.

"The country through which the line would pass is wild and undeveloped," he said. "But I am told that it is fertile, and many parts of it — especially the Mbeya plateau and the Ruaha valley — are said to be highly suitable for big agricultural settlements.

"Certainly, anyone who has flown to Cairo from the Union will have reflected how prosperous these vast uninhabited tracts of Africa might be if they were opened by roads and railways."

The October conference would not only concern itself with railways, Mr. Clark said, but would try to co-ordinate all forms of transport in Southern and Central Africa, except airways.

Notable Growth Of N.Z. Maoris Belies Forecast

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, NZ — (CP) — New Zealand's native Maori race is increasing so rapidly that opinions are being drastically revised as to its future.

Less than half a century ago it was being confidently predicted that the Maoris were doomed to extinction within a short time. Then came a remarkable revival and it was considered that the race would survive until its eventual inevitable absorption by the European inhabitants. Now, with numbers increasing faster than ever, it shows every sign of living on as a separate entity playing an increasingly important part in New Zealand life.

Some estimates place the number of Moaris when Europeans discoverd New Zealand as high as 200,000. The introduction of European weapons among a warlike people and the introduction of European diseases played havoc with the race.

By 1858 the Maori population had dropped to 58,000. At the end of the century the number was down to 39,000 and few people held out any hope for the race's future.

But the end of tribal warfare, the gradual acceptance of European medicine, and a revival in spirit under the influence of a series of notable leaders, brought a turning point.

116,000 Maoris

By 1936 there were 82,000 Maoris and today the population exceeds 116,000. It is increasing two and a half times as fast as the European population.

About half the Maori population today is of mixed descent, as Maoris inter-marry freely with Europeans. But with the revived pride of race, half-castes are increasingly identifying themselves with the Maoris and many of them are marrying back among the native people.

Half-castes are often more typically Maori than those of full blood, having a fierce pride in their ancestry and a determination to retain traditions.

With the vigor of the racial revival showing no signs of diminishing it seems doubtful whether the Maoris will be absorbed in the European population.

Mission Circle Sunset Service

MILLBROOK, June 22 (ENS) —The annual sunset service of the Golden Links Mission Circle which brings activities for the season to an end, was held Tuesday evening on the verandah of Miss Estella Hetherington's home.

The president, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, was in the chair, and in the absence of the secretary, Betty Lunn, the minutes were read by Jessie Lunn. Miss Mary L. Widdis conducted the worship service and the scripture lesson was read by Miss Marjorie Skitch.

Mrs. Hobbs read a report of the meeting in Peterborough of representatives of the Circles of the Presbytery to plan for the full rally to be held the second week of October at George St. Church.

The corresponding secretary was asked to send a card to Mrs. Lawrence Winslow, who is a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital.

All those who had collected Sunday school papers, magazines and pictures to be sent to China to the circles special missionary, Miss Jean Stuart, were told mailing particulars.

Mrs. Homer Ouellette gave as her temperance report, an account of the last three steps in the cure of alcoholics used by Alcoholics Anonymous.

Mrs. Bruce Ingham was appointed delegate to the School for Leaders in Whitby the end of August, with Mrs. David Lunn as alternate.

The next meeting of the Circle is to be held at the home of Mrs. L. Wideman in September.

Mrs. W. E. Ball gave an account of her winter spent in Florida and Mrs. Hobbs thanked her on behalf of the Circle.

Supper hostesses were Mrs. G. A. Spicer, Mrs. C. R. Graham and Mrs. Gordon Wight.

Irish Banter Greets Last Indian Treaty In Canada

DUBLIN —(CP)— Under the heading "Lo! The poor Indian," the Daily Irish Independent, indulges in a bit of editorial whimsy and satire in commenting on the recent signing of a treaty between the govenment of Canada and the Chipewyans, last nomadic band of Indians in the Dominion.

Under the agreement, the wandering band undertook to settle down on a reservation on the eastern fringe of the Rockies. Before the signing, the Indians had steadfastly refused to have anything to do with the white man or accept the white man's money.

Wishing Canada the best of luck, the Independent hedged, however, by remarking that it just couldn't approve the Dominion's latest diplomatic triumph.

End of Romance

"No doubt Indians, and especially Indians who refuse to stay put, are a bit of a nuisance to their neighbors," the paper says. "Nevertheless, this treaty marks the end of an old romance. The last frontier has been at last attained; who now will bite the dust —an occupational disease of Red Indians—when the hero's rifle barks! Are we to understand that in future iron roads can be driven across the North American prairies without any other obstacle than periodic strikes based on an increase in the cost-of-living index? We sincerely hope that romance will be preserved and that some leader of the Chipewyans will be found to carry on the fight against a treaty signed, no doubt, under duress."

The Independent believes that Europeans, at least, should have some right to object to the Indian submission. For one thing, it observes, no one in Europe would refuse for one moment to accept anybody's money — whether Russian gold or American and Canadian dollars—so long as it is hard currency.

The editorial continues: "Who indeed, are the Chipewyans to refuse the Canadian version of Marshall aid? But there is worse to come. Their chief who is called (a little unexpectedly) 'Yellow Face' was unwilling to sign the treaty, being under the impression that to sign was to accept responsibility for its consequences. In other words, these unlettered savages think that treaties are meant to be kept. It will take a great deal of effort to enable them to catch up with the 20th century. The sad thing is that the effort will be made; and it will be successful."

Equal Education For Negroes Growing Problem In South

By CHARLES BARRETT

ATLANTA, Ga. —(CP)— Equal education for negroes is a volcano on which the south slept for half a century.

Now the volcano has erupted into a $1,000,000,000 problem. That's the best available estimate of the total difference between educational facilities for whties and negroes in 17 southern and border States today—from kindergarten through college.

The figure raises a cloud for the south in the wake of supreme court decisions. The court ruled in Texas and Oklahoma cases, that States must provide education for negroes equal in every way to that for white persons.

If separate negro facilities are not equal, said the court, then negroes must be admitted to white institutions.

Actually, of course, that's no new idea. Southern States themselves enacted laws demanding equality back in reconstruction days after the Civil War.

Little Action Taken

The problem is that little was done about it. In recent years some States have started big programs to meet the issue. But there's still a long way to go for the south as a whole.

Each time the supreme court flashes its red warning signals enforcing equality, uneasiness spreads across the south. More than a dozen equaliyt suits are pending now in lower courts in southern States.

What can the south do?

Senator Olin Johnston (Dem. SC) said: "It's obvious that South Carolina cannot afford to provide separate and equal school facilities for both races."

It's also obvious that South Carolina isn't ready to integrate the races in schools and colleges.

Caught in Trap

Said editor Ralph McGill in the Atlanta Constitution: "We should have known that we could not solemnly pass laws and then cynically and cruelly ignore them and get away with it forever. Certainly there were vast discriminations. There still are. We are caught in the trap of our own laws."

Increasing the headaches, the south's white schools are superior to negro schools, but below the average for the US. The south is the region least able to pay for either.

Interviews with educators and other objective leaders indicated these are some of the answers that will develop:

1. Some racial barriers will fall in college graduate education. More and more States will admit negroes to white medical schools, and such. The cost of providing duplicate graduate facilities for negroes in each field in each State is all but prohibitive.

2. There will be little if any quick breakdown of segregation at the undergraduate college level—and absolutely none in public grade schools in the south.

But to preserve segregation, lagging States will speed sharply their equalization of negro schools.

Many southerners think if real progress is shown toward equalization, negroes will go easy on court demands for immediate, one-swoop equality.

Priest Marks 21st Anniversary Of Ordination

MARMORA, June 22 (ENS)— desk set was presented to Father O'Neill by the Catholic Women's League, in celebration of the 21st anniversary of his ordination. Mrs. Cook made the presentation at the League's June meeting Wednesday at the summer home of Mrs. Theresa Warren, Crowe Lake.

The president, Mrs. C. Brady was chairman.

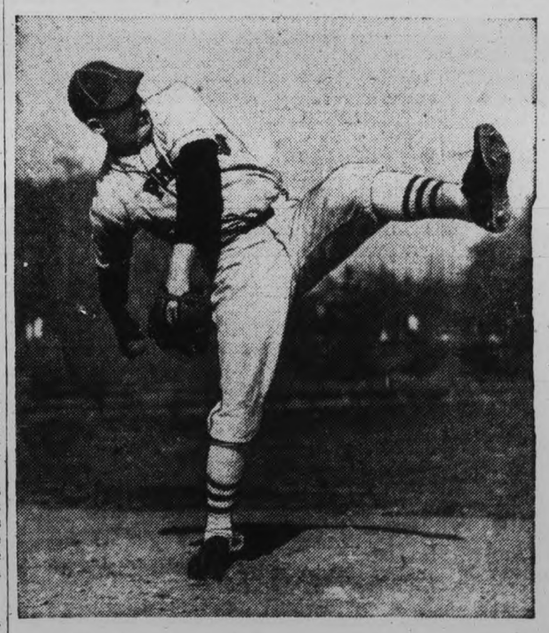
The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. B. McTaggart and the president disclosed that $15 had been realized by the sale of sandwiches in the special train to the Rosary Rally at Kingston on June 4.

Mrs. C. Crawford and Mrs. K. Donaldson reported for Social Welfare and Miss Mary Hughes exhibited quilt blocks brought in by the members for a quilt in aid of the annual bazaar. The Rev. Father O'Neill congratulated the members on the good attendance and urged them to spend the summer months preparing for the bazaar. He asked the members to sponsor the "400 Club" for the next party.

Mrs. Sandham displayed a picture in oils of the Holy Father. The president discussed plans for showing a film of the life of Pope Pius XII.

Give And Sell Food

It was decided to have a travelling basket, to which each member would donate home cooking and also purchase home cooking from same to raise funds during the summer months.



The president reported on the Diocesan Convention held this month in Brockville. The president thanked Mrs. Warren for the loan of her cottage for the meeting and presented her with a gift in appreciation.

Mrs. Black took charge of the program. A reading was given by Miss Mary Hughes and also by Mrs. S. A. Stephens. Mrs. Black read a poem, and Mrs. W. A. Shannon contributed a poem, followed by a recitation by Mrs. Black.

A few games of bingo were enjoyed and a lunch was served by Group Two and Group 5.

Thirsty City

ST. THOMAS — (CP) — St. Thomas residents used nearly 20 per cent more water last month than in May, 1949 — 67,456,000 gallons. The Public Utilities Commission is having test wells drilled with a view to supplementing the present supply.

9 Playgrounds Organized For Children This Summer

A nine-week program for city playgrounds starting July 3 and ending September 1, has been planned by the recreation director, Alex Sinclair. The same program will be conducted in the nine playgrounds, Riverside, Inverlea, Hamilton, Turner, King Edward, Fleming Place, McKellar and Confederation. There will be 14 supervisors.

According to Mr. Sinclair's plan each week will have a specific name and purpose. The first week, July 3 to July 8, will be known as "Know Your Community Week." During that week the supervisors will organize the playgrounds, at the same time becoming acquainted with the children.

Under special activities for the first week Mr. Sinclair has planned that each playground should organize a group of junior leaders. The supervisors will teach games such as tether tennis, volleyball and organize teams in other sports.

Preparations for the second week of the program will begin the first week as safety posters will be drawn, plans made for a Community night and groups organized for Cleanup Week, the second week. During Cleanup Week the parents will visit the playgrounds for the special community night programs. A marble tournament will be held for the boys and craft work started for the girls.

A start will be made during the second week on the regular playground activities as the supervisors will be instructed to coach track and field activities as well as organize softball and volleyball teams.

During Safety Week, the third week, the softball league will start and the safety posters will be displayed. Each playground will practice track and field events throughout the week for Track and Field Week, the fourth week. That week the playgrounds in the northern section of the city will contest at Riverside Park and those in the south at King Edward Park. The softball league will also continue.

A beginning will be made during the fourth week for the fifth week's program, Pets Week. Shows of the children's pets will be held Wednesday evening on all the playgrounds. The softball league will continue.

The sixth week's program Mr. Sinclair has called "On Wheels Week." Then on each playground the supervisors will conduct a Wheel Parade. The softball play will be limited to games between the playgrounds of the north and the south. Completed handicraft items will be collected for display during the seventh week. Handicraft and Hobbies Week.

During that week besides the exhibit of crafts on the playgrounds, preparations will be made for the work to be exhibited at the Exhibition. In athletics, volleyball tournaments will be held in the north at Hamilton and Inverlea Parks and in the south at Turner and Confederation Parks.

The eighth week will be Exhibition Week. A demonstration playground will be situated in the Exhibition grounds as last year for four days. On the playgrounds individual championships will be held for horseshoe playing, tether tennis and other competitive games.

During the last week Mr. Sinclair has planned to hold a parents night at each playground. The season will close with weiner roasts at each park.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER ACT—Lassie and Lady, mother and daughter collies belonging to C. F. Sharp of Westlake, O., combined to present 23 collie pups to the Sharp household within 48 hours. Lady, (top) had a 10-pup litter, four more than her mother had ever produced. Not to be outdone, two days later, Lassie (lower) gave birth to 13 puppies. At last report, all 25 collies were doing fine.

English Danseuse Teaches On Italy

LONDON (CP)— The Italians, it seems, want to learn about ballet from Britain.

Stung by newspaper criticisms of Italian ballet, Milan's famed La Scala School has invited Phyllis Bedells, a British ballet mistress, to teach at La Scala.

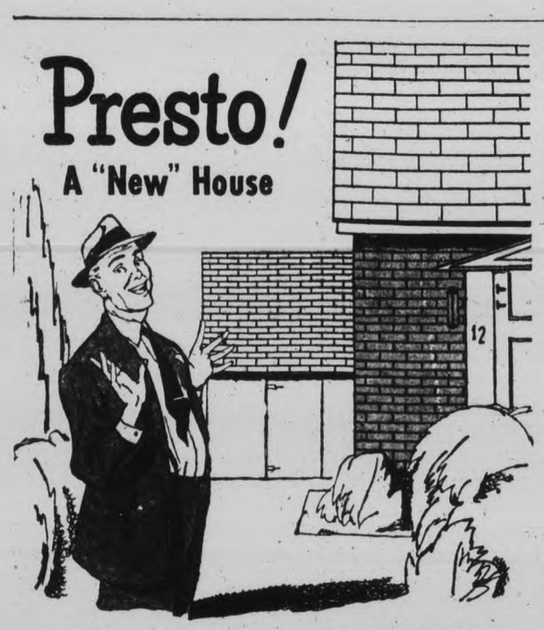
Critics said top-notch British dancers, including Margot Fonteyn and Robert Helpmann, made Italian performances "look like sceneshifters."

City To Publish Statement Of Finance For 1948-1949

As proposed recently by Ald H. F. Waddell, chairman of the finance committee, the council approved the report of that committee Monday including a clause "that a statement prepared for the council by City Auditor E. Humpage showing basic revenues and expenditures for 1948 and 1949 be published for the information of the public."

The purpose is to acquaint the taxpayers in an official way, apart from press reports, of the municipal income and outgo. These facts were tabulated by Mr. Humpage for the council itself and Ald. Waddell suggested that the information should be placed before the people.

The council also ratified expenditure up to $1,000 from the miscellaneous fund for the placing of a steel wire fence on the west side of Confederation Square "to protect the park from people who do not follow the concrete walks."



Approval was also given to withdrawal of $250 from the miscellaneous fund for the moulding of a figure of a fishing boy for the restored fountain in Victoria Park.

Council is also setting up a depreciation reserve fund for the board of works department to the amount of $10,000, according to the recommendation of the Department of Municipal Affairs.

This fund will provide for the purchase of new machinery for the streets department as present equipment wears out.

MILK THEFT SPURS SEARCH FOR KILLER

200 Evacuate Their Homes As Fraser River Smashes Port Mann Dike

Walls Holding Along Rest of Valley Most Serious Threat At Trail; 3 Drowned In 8 Days By Swirling Waters

VANCOUVER, June 23—(CP)—The Fraser River, swollen by a night of rain, smashed its way through a small dike at Port Mann today, forcing 150 to 200 persons to evacuate their homes. Port Mann is a Canadian National Railways divisional point, 20 miles east of here on the south bank of the river. The village has a population of about 300. The district is outside the main network of dikes on the Fraser River, but a small dike, one-quarter of a mile long, protects low-lying land on its outskirts.

The evacuation order and the call for volunteers to bolster the dike came shortly after 4 a.m.

The swollen Fraser broke through a rain-weakened spot, cutting a 35 to 40 feet passageway for the flood waters.

"The situation is not too serious," said a police spokesman directing the evacuation. "Most of the houses in the district are on high ground."

Situation Unchanged

Elsewhere in the 100-mile long Fraser valley dikes were holding and the situation was reported as "unchanged."

Most serious flood threat was at Trail. The industrial city's main street and low-lying residential areas are in the path of Columbia River flood waters.

The death toll in the eighth day of the floods stood at three today. The victims were two boys and a man, drowned in turbulent waters.

13,000 Population

Trail, 250 miles east of Vancouver and home of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, Ltd., has a population of nearly 13,000.

At Trail, a dike front will be extended today along one side of Bay Avenue, in an attempt to keep the street open. It is part of the southern trans-provincial highway and leads to the East Trail bridge which connects East Trail and Trail proper.

The Columbia climbed 1.17 feet in 24 hours and was still going up. The Kootenay River, which joins the Columbia at Castlegar, 20 miles north of Trail, also was rising.

Telephone Lineman Sees Man Leap Fence Disappear Into Bush

Police Report They Have "Good Hunch" Of Fugitive's Identity; Find Clear Set Of Prints On Slayer's Car

LANGTON, Ont., June 23—(CP)—Theft of some milk, apparently by an elusive man later spotted by a telephone company employee, spurred the search today for a bank bandit who Wednesday shot and killed two pursuers. A police-led posse, guns drawn, converged on the town line of Middleton and Haughton townships, near the village of Glen Meyer, about five miles west of this community. The milk was stolen during the night from a well on the farm of Ream Hall. A telephone lineman, Walter Stanson, reported today that he saw a man in white shirt and khaki trousers leap a fence and disappear into the bush.

Earlier, police intimated they have a particular man in mind as they press the grim hunt.

Have Hunch

Inspector A. R. Knight, one of several senior Ontario Provincial Policemen directing a posse here, said investigators have "a good hunch" about the fugitive's identity.

"The way the bank robery was handled gave us a good idea who the man is," he told reporters. He declined to elaborate.

Detective Sgt. Oliver Borland, Toronto police fingerprint expert, found a clear set of prints on the windshield of the killer's car. These were to be checked as soon as possible at R.C.M.P. headquarters in Ottawa and F.B.I. headquarters in Washington.

Stanson, who saw the man leap over the fence, said he appeared to be carrying something in his arms. Police believe their quar-

Latest Rumor Princess To Wed Earl Of Dalkeith

LONDON, June 23—(AP)—London gossips are saying that Princess Margaret wants to marry the 26-year-old Earl of Dalkeith. Buckingham Palace, which frowns on such talk, refused today to discuss it.

The rumors have it that the engagement of Princess Elizabeth's younger sister will be announced after Margaret's 20th birthday, Aug. 21.

The earl himself, a handsome red-haired Scot who has been one of Margaret's most devoted escorts, snorted impatiently and called the rumors "foolish."

Margaret and the earl have been friends since childhood.

May Call In National Guard

MORRISTOWN, Tenn., June 23 — (AP) — This violence-shaken community awaited a decision today on whether National Guard troops will be returned to the bloody strike scene at the American Enka Corporation rayon plant.

Representatives of Governor Gordon Browning questioned about 100 men and women in jail far into the night after gunfire Thursday wounded four men, one critically.

The 13-week-old strike by the Textile Workers Union (CIO) has spawned repeated violent incidents since the plant reopened late in May. The outbreaks reached a new height with the latest incidents, which began with 25 minutes of gun fire at the early-morning shift change Thursday. In previous incidents, no one had been injured seriously.

U.S. Navy Plans Big Carrier

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) —The United States Navy plans to build a flush-deck aircraft carrier in 1951 only a little smaller than the huge vessel which became a centre of controversy last year after construction on it was halted.

A high navy official confirmed last night that the joint chiefs of staff and defence secretary Louis Johnson had given a go-ahead on the new vessel.

The projected "super carrier" which Johnson junked last year after the keel had been laid would have been 1,090 feet long and would have cost an estimated $125,000,000.

Crashboat Rescues 8 Men Off Superfort

GUAM, June 23 (AP)—Eight men of the 11-man crew of a Superfort down 140 miles off Guam were rescued today by a crashboat.

Three others, one of whom was seen from planes as he tried to climb into a lifeboat, are missing.

The crashboat reached the survivors of a B-29 crash before dusk far east air force headquarters announced.

A search for the other three crew members continued.

Little Racket Backfires While In Jail

TORONTO, June 23 —(CP)—A four-day jail sentence for contempt of court today mushroomed into six charges of car smuggling for Fred Halliday, 25, nearby Scarboro district farmer.

Halliday was jailed for failing to appear in a civic suit brought against him. He obtained permission to park his automobile near the police station while serving sentence.

However, a patrolman who didn't know about this arrangement thought the licence plate didn't match the registration. police searched Halliday's home and found 16 sets of Michigan licence plates and six sales contracts.

They said Halliday had been buying second-hand autos in Detroit, driving them into Canada as a tourist, and selling them in Toronto and other centres. Police said up to 12 more charges may be laid against Halliday and that he is wanted in Detroit for cashing worthless cheques.

Hand-Pick Aliens For Citizenship

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) —Congress today held out a promise of American citizenship to hand-picked aliens who enlist in the United States Army.

Under a provision approved by the House of Representatives yesterday, 2,500 foreigners would be eligible to become Americans after serving in the army for five years. The vote was 261 to 86. A bill previously passed by the Senate sets the total at 10,000 but provides no time limit.

A compromise will have to be approved by both houses before the legislation goes to President Truman.

Canadian Ambassador Pays Visit To Caen

PARIS, June 23—(Reuters)—General Georges Vanier, Canadian ambassador to France, left tody on a three-day visit to war-battered towns in Normndy which Canadian troops helped liberate six years ago.

In Caen tonight, he will visit the university and speak at a dinner in his honor.

At Red Cross headquarters in Paris Thursday, Mme. Gilbert Hubert Guerin, wife of the French ambassador to Canada, and Latta Hitchmanova, a Canadian citizen of Czech origin, re-received the gold medal of the French Red Cross.

$300,000 Fire Razes Plant

TILBURY, June 23—(CP)—Fire today destroyed plant No. 1 of Chatco Steel Products Ltd., Canadian manufacturer for the Hudson Motor Car Company. Harold Shannon, Chatco President, said in Toronto the damage amounted to $300,000. Firemen's estimates ranged up to $500,000. Mr. Shannon said the loss was insured. Plant No. 1, a woodworking plant, was the oldest and smallest of Chatco's five Tilbury units. The fire will have no effect on any but woodworking operations, Mr. Shannon said. A "great deal" of raw material was saved and immediate arrangements were made to transfer the woodworking operation to another plant.

The fire broke out about 3.25 a.m. Two hours later only the outside walls remained standing.

Near Boiler Room

Tilbury is about 18 miles southwest of Chatham, a city in southwestern Ontario.

The fire was first noticed near the boiler room close to the central part of the one-storey plant, the company's woodworking shop. Witnesses said that within five minutes the entire structure was ablaze.

The cause of the fire had not been established several hours later, but a member of the staff of the Ontario Fire Marshal's Office said the blaze apparently started near a large generator in a mill room.

Roy Wilton, night watchman at the plant, said later that he smelled smoke and, investigating, discovered a small fire in the mill room. Within a few moments the building was filled with flames, he said.

Tilbury fire department sent out a call for help. The Chatham brigade, led by Fire Chief Geo. Kennedy, and the neighboring departments from Tilbury west and Comber under Chief Raymond Markham responded.

Save Other Plants

The Comber firefighters were credited with saving the Marchand Furnace Company's plants No. 1 and No. 2, across the New

Think Mars Invasion On As 11 Baboons On Loose

DETROIT, June 23—(CP)—What happens when 11 baboons are at large in the community. Detroiters found out yesterday when the baboons escaped from the Detroit Zoo. By nightfall, eight had been recaptured, but in the meantime pandemonium broke out among the residents in the vicinity of the zoo on the north side of Detroit.

Mrs. Anna Krupka, Detroit housewife, was picking strawberries when she looked up and saw a baboon sauntering down the middle of the road.

Starts Screaming

"There was a woman behind him," she recalled, "when all of a sudden she takes a good look at the thing in front of her, and starts screaming.

Northern Detroit police station switchboards were flooded with telephone calls from anxious citizens wondering if the long-heralded invasion from Mars had actually begun.

The baboons broke loose while they were being transferred to the zoo infirmary. Three still missing were expected to show up today for dinner.

Peacetime Draft To Be Extended

WASHINGTON, June 23—(AP) —The peacetime draft in the United States is just about set to run on for two or three more years.

It was due to expire at midnight tonight, but Congress Thursday approved a stop-gap bill providing a 15-day extension.

As the bill was sped to President Truman for his signature, the Senate shouted its approval of a three-year draft-law extension after beating down a racial-segregation plan for the armed forces.

There remain some differences between the Senate and House bills to be ironed out. For one thing, the House bill would extend the draft two years, not three.

Senator Richard Russell (Dem. Ga.), who lost 42 to 29 an earlier attempt to let any non-commissioned or drafted person request service only with persons "of his own race," offered a modified proposal.

Need $300,000 More To Finish PM's Home

OTTAWA, June 23 — (CP) — Trade Minister Howe told the Commons today the government will ask it to vote another $300,000 for the completion of a permanent home for the prime ministers of Canada.

He said this amount, to be placed in supplementary estimates, will be in addition to $80,000 already included in the main estimates and another $30,000 spent in the last fiscal year—making a total of $410,000.

He said he wished to "admit" that the total, which includes $305,000 for the cost of the building and $105,000 for furnishing, is higher than the original rough estimate.

However, it had been found, upon demolition of the interior, that the structure of the building selected had deteriorated to an extent that the house practically had to be rebuilt. In addition building costs had risen substantially.

A-Power Plant In Four Years

HARWELL, England, June 23 (AP)—Sir John Cockroft, director of the giant new Harwell Atom Research Laboratory, says Britain may have a practical atomic power plant in "four or five years."

He revealed Thursday that researchers at Harwell, with this goal in view, are trying to figure out new ways to produce plutonium—atom bomb ingredient — faster and more efficiently.

He said his scientists already have worked out a new way of getting uranium out of uranium ore more economically.

The vast Harwell laboratory was thrown open to the press for the first time Thursday. Top atom scientists showed Western correspondents—no Russians or East Europeans were invited—their 110-inch underground cyclotron, their house-high atomic pile and many of their formerly secret processes. Few key facts or figures were disclosed, however.

The atomic pile is a 40-foot stack of lavender-painted graphite blocks. Uranium slugs are thrust through six-inch-square ports on both sides and cold-air ducts keep the temperature down.

Open Campaign To Give Europe Modern Arms

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) —Administration forces opened a drive today for Senate approval of a program which would place the most modern weapons of the United States — except atomic bombs—along the defence frontiers of Western Europe.

Senator Tom Connally (Dem. Tex.) will guide the $1,222,500,000 foreign arms plan into its second year of operation. There was trouble ahead—mostly from Republicans.

The major points of dispute are:

1. A provision to give President Truman authority to hand over $122,250,000 worth of arms to any European country whose defence he considers vital to the security of the United States.

2. An amendment which would permit the U.S. government to sell arms on credit to any friendly power.

3. A proposal by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (Rep. Mass.) to permit Marshall-Plan countries to draw on $5,000,000,000 of European Recovery Funds for military purposes. These funds are local currencies deposited by European country to match recovery dollars.

While many new type weapons developed since the Second World War are not yet being produced in any numbers, the Senate foreign relations and armed services committee said in a report Thursday that they will make it possible to defend Western Europe without matching an invader division for division.

Under present law, the United States cannot arm European countries with atomic weapons. But other arms can be supplied as they become available, and it was to these that the committees referred.

Jet Helicopter Said Wrecked

CULVER CITY, Calif., June 23 (AP)—The giant jet helicopter that Howard Hughes is building for the United States Air Force tore loose from its moorings and was wrecked Thursday while undergoing ground tests.

No one was injured.

The massive craft, designated the XH-17, was rolled out for ground test March 27. It is the largest and most spectacular helicopter ever built, and was designed as a "flying crane" to lug huge loads, such as tanks, field guns, and vehicles, for short distances. Its construction permits it to settle over loads much in the fashion that a lumber carrier moves over a stack of boards. It is designed to lift a weight of some 10 tons.

The U. S. Air Force said the XH-17 is a secret project. No details of the accident were disclosed.

Lightning Makes Fast Play 8 Players, Umpire Down

MIAMI, Fla., June 23 (AP) — Lightning in Florida Thursday destroyed a church, killed an escaping convict and knocked down eight baseball players and an umpire.

Convict Angelo Massina, 30, was hit by a bolt while fleeing across a field near Winter Haven.

An eyewitness gave this account: he saw Massina running. Lightning darted about him but he threw up his hands and kept going. Lightning again flitted around him and this time he fell. The bolt ripped off the soles of his shoes.

Massina with a companion, had jumped off a prison truck when it stopped at a traffic light. The other convict, Robert W. McKay, 28, was critically wounded by gun shot.

Another bolt during a Navy baseball game near Jacksonville knocked the umpire and eight players to the ground. None was seriously hurt.

Charles Webb was winding up to pitch when lightning struck just off the mound between second and third base. He was lifted off the ground. The game was called right there in the eighth inning.

In Winter Haven, lightning hit a power pole, travelled under the street by underground cable to the Christian Science Church and started a fire. The church, built in 1928 at a cost of $75,000, was destroyed.

Order German Reds Purge All Titoists

BERLIN, June 23 — AP) — West-German Communists have received stern orders from the East-German Politburo: Purge all Titoists and step up underground activity to foment unrest.

Tied in with developments in France and Italy, this report from East-German political sources indicated that a continent-wide drive is on in full force against "deviationists"—any who do not blindly follow the dictates of Moscow.

Communist pronouncements in Rome and Paris have called openly and urgently for a purge of all Titoists. While the movement away from complete Moscow domination has not been strong outside Yugoslavia, the Communists indicate a fear that it will grow and get out of their control.

Attlee Rejects Plan Boost Exports To North America

LONDON, June 23, (CP) — Canadian-born William Aitken is going to keep on promoting his idea for increasing British exports to North America, despite a preliminary parliamentary defeat.

Aitken, Conservative Member of Parliament, proposes that a proportion of any extra dollar receipts earned in Canada and the United States should be exempt from profits tax. Exemption would be based on any increase in exports compared with the base year of 1949.

"British industry, faced with the highest taxation in the world, cannot afford to tackle the immense cost of embarking on a sales campaign in this highly-competitive market," Aitken told the House of Commons Thursday night in a maiden speech.

It isn't a case of British salesmen being unable to master the "American technique," he continued. His contention was that it isn't a question of inferior craftsmanship; it is just a matter of not enough money, caused by high taxation.

A clause embodying Aitken's idea was rejected during debates on tax proposals. Hugh Gaitskell, Minister of Economic Affairs, congratulated Aitken on his first speech in the House of Commons, but said that to remove the present tax would increase company dividends and precipitate wage demands.

"We have all been impressed with the honorable gentleman's knowledge and experience," Gaitskell said in a customary passage of tribute to a maiden speaker, "but I am afraid we cannot accept his plan."

Police Use Launches After Brisbane Cyclone

BRISBANE, Australia, June 23 (Reuters)—Police today cruised in motor launches along flooded streets of Brisbane, Queensland's capital of $400,000, to rescue people stranded after a cyclone which brought six inches of rain in three hours during the night.

Two constables swam 100 yards to save an elderly woman standing helpless outside her cottage in water up to her armpits.

Material damage was great, but no loss of life was reported.

Exports Jump 54 Million To U.S. In May

See Narrowing Gap On US Imports A Hopeful Sign

OTTAWA, June 23—(CP)—Canadian exporters went after the U.S. market in a big way during May, sharply narrowing the Dominion's adverse trade balance with her neighbor.

The Bureau of Statistics, in a preliminary summary of May exports and imports issued Thursday, reported that Canadians sold goods worth $289,600,000 on foreign markets, $500,000 less than her imports totalling $290,100,000.

The over-all export figures represented a sharp change from the corresponding month last year when Canadians sold $275,700,000 worth of goods, but imported only $250,500,000 from other countries.

The United States remained the largest consumer of Canadian goods and the largest supplier of items needed in this country.

Canadian exports to the U. S. during the month under review totalled $177,200,000, up $54,200,000 from the $123,000,000 sold across the border a year ago. Canadian consumption of U. S. goods also increased to $196,400,000 from $172,100,000 in May, 1949.

Narrowing Gap

Of major interest to Canada was the narrowing gap between imports and exports with her big neighbor. The May figures left Canada with an adverse U. S. trade balance of $19,200,000 compared with $49,000,000 a year ago.

The trade gap between Canada and the United Kingdom also narrowed—in the U. K.'s favor. May exports to the U. K. totalled $48,750,000, compared with $72,900,000 in May, 1949, while imports rose to $35,700,000 from $29,500,000.

Exports to other Commonwealth countries and to foreign countries other than the U.S. also fell.

Rescue Laborer From Quagmire

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 23 (Reuters)—Firemen Thursday night rescued a laborer in northeast Sweden from the bottom of a narrow, 30-foot shaft, six hours after he plunged into a soft quagmire of clay.

Helpless with his arms trapped against his thighs, 38-year-old Per Larsson, had given up hope Thursday afternoon. He told rescue workers: "Give my love to my family."

By that time, the clay was up to his chin, threatening slow strangulation. Then a fireman went down the foot-wide shaft at the end of a rope and jerked him by the hair of his head until he was only waist-deep.

While rescue workers dug frantically to get him out, another man went down and poured milk and cognac into Larsson's mouth. A strap was slipped under his arm-pits and fastened to a winch at the top of the shaft.

Larsson groaned as the winch turned, and shouted that his right leg was trapped. He fainted. Then rescue workers freed his leg from a plank embedded in the clay, and he was hoisted to the top.

18 Die In Blast

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, June 23 (AP)—A bus and a railway locomotive collided Thursday, touching off a gasoline explosion and fire that killed 18 persons and injured at least 11 others. It was reported that several of the injured probably would die from their burns.

Commons Moves To Strengthen Anti-Spy Laws

OTTAWA, June 23 — (CP) The Commons moved Thursday to strengthen Canada's anti-spy laws.

With opposition members urging the government to take even wider powers, the Chamber adopted a bill amending the Official Secrets Act to double the penalty for espionage, boosting it from seven to 14 years' imprisonment, and empower firm steps against Canadians who commit treason.

It gives the government power to prosecute anyone owing allegiance to Canada—including an alien in this country for a short period—and to deal with Canadians who disclose official secrets even when beyond this country's boundaries.

Five members suggested that the legislation did not go far enough. They were John Diefenbaker (PC, Lake Centre), Donald Fleming (PC, Toronto Eglinton), E. D. Fulton (PC, Kamloops), Alistair Stewart (CCF, Winnipeg North) and Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L, Portneuf).

In the espionage debate, Justice Minister Garson said the government was making it an offence to disclose secret information outside of Canada.

Train For Revolution

It now would be considered an offence if the disclosure was made by a Canadian citizen or by a person who obtained the secret while he owed allegiance to Canada. Under the law, an alien owes allegiance while he is within the realm of Canada unless he is protected by diplomatic immunity.

Mr Diefenbaker urged the government to take action against "some" Canadians who he said

Western Oils Continue Advance On Exchange

TORONTO, June 23 (CP) — Western oils continued advancing despite a slight decline on the remainder of the market on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Key oil stocks jumped strongly ahead while market leaders in other groups tended lower following two successive sessions of advance.

Volume for the first three hours was 2,311,000 shares.

Gains ranged up to 25 cents in leading western oils. The list has been moving in a comparatively narrow price path in the last few sessions following strong gains into new high price ground last week. Atlantic Oil, Anglo-Canadian, National Petroleum and Federated Petroleum were among the leading gains.

Industrials were under pressure of heavy profit-taking following yesterday's advance into new high price ground. Several leaders showed signs of resuming the advance in mid-session today. Early losses were reduced and gains began to appear. Constructions continued a bright spot and several papers and steels firmed. Refining oils and utilities tended lower.

Base metals sagged over a wide front. Anacon Lead and Ascot Corp., features of previous sessions, dipped steadily. Consolidated Smelters and Waite Amulet were also lower. International Nickel bucked the trend for a fractional advance.

Low-priced gold stocks traded briskly in an otherwise dull gold board.

York Central Railway tracks from Chatco and less than 200 feet away from the razed factory.

Herman Robert, one of the first persons to reach the scene, said he heard a blast on the plant's whistle after the blaze was discovered by night watchman Roy Wilton.

"As soon as I heard the whistle, I knew something was wrong. I live just around the corner. As I came around the corner, I saw the fire right over the door east of the boiler room. That is where the main electrical panel is located. In no time at all, flames were shooting high in the air from the whole building."

Had 100 Employees

About 100 men have been employed in Plant No. 1. The plant turned out trim for Hudson cars, as well as woodwork for Ford car bodies.

Two Ontario Hydro Commission workmen suffered burned hands while assisting firemen. Dutch Cushman, of Appin, and Bill Marks, of Orillia, grasped a hot iron fence for support when one of the boilers blew up. Cushman and Marks have been working on a hydro project in this district.

The reflection of the fire could be seen in the sky for 10 miles. One of the plant's two tall chimneys collapsed in a cloud of sparks and smoke after firemen, fearing that it might fall into a street, cut supporting guy wires.

Obituary

MRS. ANNIE GARSIDE

A lifelong resident of the Peterborough district, Mrs. Annie Garside, 199 Reid St., died Thursday at her home after a long illness. She was in her 92nd year and was the wife of James Garside who predeceased her in 1944 and the daughter of the late Faxton Brown and Thoe-be Gibson. Mrs. Garside was born in Seymour township.

She was a member of Park St. Baptist Church, and an active member of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Surviving are two daughters and two sons, all of Peterborough, Mrs. Thomas Smith (Clara), Miss Bernice Garside, Charles and Birdean, four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The Rev. E. J. Whan of Park St. Baptist Church will officiate at the funeral service Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the Comstock Funeral Home, 356 Rubidge St. Interment will be at Little Lake cemetery.

JACOB JAMES BATTEN

A retired Dummer township farmer, Jacob James Batten, 492 Aylmer St. died today at his residence after an illness of two months. Seventy-nine years ago Mr. Batten was born in Dummer township the son of the late Richard Batten and Emma White. His wife, the former Pearl Bertrand, survives.

Besides his wife surviving are four daughters, Mrs. William Sorrie (Mary), Bertha, Irene, Dorothy and a son, Harold, all of Peterborough and three grandchildren.

Major C. G. Everitt of the Salvation Army Temple will officiate at the funeral service Monday at 2 p.m. at Kaye Funeral Home. Interment will be at Ray's cemetery in Lakefield.

ry still is armed with the Sten sub-machine gun he used to kill the two men who overtook him minutes after the holdup.

Hall's farm is half a mile from the farm of Alex McKenzie who Thursday reported seeing a stranger lurking on the outskirts of his property.

Ken Hill, a young farmer who lives about three miles from Langton, told police today that someone slept Thursday night in his automobile, which he had left in his garage. The floor in the car's rear seat was covered with mud and there also was mud around the pedals in the front seat.

"It certainly wasn't like that when I put it away last night, just before sundown," said Hill. His farm is about 14 miles from the swamp in which the killer disappeared Wednesday.

Step Up Patrols

Police disbanded posses and stepped up highway patrols, apparently in the belief that hunger, mosquitoes and perhaps an impression that searchers had lost interest in the area may lead the bandit to try to escape from the swampland.

Earlier hopes that a posse could flush the man from his hideout appeared to have faded.

Police last night conceded that the killer probably had eluded the tight ring they had thrown around the Guysboro area six miles east of here.

Widen Search

The search was widened late Thursday to a general coverage of the London-Hamilton area.

The bloodhound, brought in from Mount Clemens, Mich., to scour the bushland, failed to reveal any leads and was returned home.

But police continued to patrol the area where Lierman a 31-year-old insurance agent, and William Goddyn, 24-year-old operator of Lierman's farm, met their death.

Late Thursday they scoured the farm of Alex Mackenzie who reported seeing a man entering the woods near his home. No trace was found of the killer. Several other leads ended in a dead end.

A promising clue petered out at Niagara Falls, Ont., yesterday when police caught up with a car bearing Oklahoma licence plates, reported to be carrying a passenger whose description tallied with that of the bandit.

The cars occupants were found to have no connection with the crime.

Joseph Lasure Buried

Funeral for the late Joseph Lasure, 64, of Peterborough was held today from the Anglesley Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral. The Rev. Leo Leahy said requiem mass and pall-bearers were Leo Belanger, Leo Blodgett, Leverne Jones, Edward Thibault, John Campbell and Thomas Tobin. Burial was at St. Peter's cemetery.

Mr. Lasure died in hospital on Tuesday. He was born in the city, son of the late Joseph Lasure and Melvina Turcotte. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Loretta Galas and a son John Leo Lasure, both of Racine, Wis., and two sisters, Mrs. J. Burke of Killarney, Ont., and Mrs. William Allan of Toronto. A broher, Leo Lasure, lives in Detroit. Mr. Lasure was a journeyman electrician.

Guild Withdraws Application To Prosecute CP

TORONTO, Feb. 23 —(CP)— The American Newspaper Guild (CIO) announced today it has agreed to withdraw its applications to Labor Minister Mitchell for consent to prosecute The Canadian Press and Press News Limited, CP's radio subsidiary, and that in return the companies had agreed to "certain actions and undertakings."

In a statement, the Guild said the settlement was reached at discussions before James H. Stitt of Ottawa, appointed by the Labor Minister to investigate the Guild's charges of unfair labor practices.

The Guild, certfied April 5 as collective bargaining agent for CP editorial employees, said the national news-gathering agency and its subsidiary had agreed to reinstate a number of dismissed employees and that others are placed in a preferential re-hiring pool. They had recognized the Guild's status as collective bargaining agent for editorial employees and had stated their readiness to negotiate a contract.

Reinstate 13

"Of 27 employees given dismissal notices simultaneously May 5, the agreement provides for reinstatement of 13 in Press News The other 12, all in CP, are placed in a preferential re-hiring pool, with some taken on immediately as temporary summer employees. In addition Guild member Dent Hodgson, discharged May 4 after refusing a transfer out of Ottawa, is reinstated immediately with full rights."

The statement said Gillis Purcell, CP general manager had recognized the right of any staff member in Ottawa to belong to the Guild and had "repudiated his ban on Guild members working on the parliamentary staff in Ottawa as 'a personal expression' and not an expression of policy by the 91 member publishers who operate CP co-operatively."

The Guild quoted Manager C. B. Edwards of Press News as stating most of the PN dismissal notices were given "because of the uncertainty of the future" of the company. He had agreed that the notices be ignored and that no similar notices would be given at least until September 1.

Purcell Comments

Pending an official statement of the settlement from the Minister of Labor, Mr. Purcell made the following comment:

"The Guild charges were unfounded.

"It charged April 15 that CP imposed a condition that no Guild member may serve on CP's parliamentary staff.

"This was in reference to my personal statement that there would be no Guild card-holders on the parliamentary staff. It has been made clear that this was not a statement of CP newspaper-member policy and that it recognizes the right of CP employees to belong to the Guild.

"It also has been made clear that no action was taken as a result of my expressed opinion which was based on my view that under any circumstances CP news must not be exposed to criticism.

"The Guild also charged that CP refused to bargain collectively by stipulating that the Guild Committee must consist solely of CP employees, excluding specifically an international representative.

"CP did so refuse unless the Department of Labor stated that the international representative was entitled to be present. Upon receiving the department's ruling to that effect, CP immediately opened negotiations May 3.

"The Guild charged May 5 that certain dismissals from CP staff constituted illegal interference with formation and administration of a trade union.

"At that time, because of budgetary limitations, CP dismissed 12 short-service men, all unmarried. CP will hire back any of these men if he is qualified, should a vacancy occur through resignation, or for temporary work. All left the service in good standing.

"It was made clear that budgetary limitations resulting in the closing of these positions was reasonable and that the members of the CP have the right to decide what services they require."

Funeral Service Held For George A. Welch

Funeral service for the late George Alexander Welch, 65, of 493 George St. S., was held today at the Belleghem Funeral Home. The Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James United Church officiated, assisted by the Rev. Walter Crone of the Church of the Open Bible. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Mr. Welch died in hospital on Wednesday following a short illness. He was born in Brandon, Man., son of the late James Welch and Jemina Wright, and has been a resident of Peterborough for the past 35 years. Employed for many years with the De Laval Company, he became partner in the tinsmithing business with Fred Goodfelolw. Mr. Welch was associated with this firm for about 10 years and finally went into business for himself with his son.

He served overseas during the First World War with the 93rd Battalion. His wife, the former Rosetta Harper, predeceased him in 1947.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Melville Hunter (Alma) and one son, James Welch, both of this city.

Court Finds Man Guilty Of Indecent Assault

COBOURG, June 23 (ENS)—Norman Deremo, 56, of Port Hope was today found guilty in county court of a charge of indecent assault.

The offence involved a nine-year-old Port Hope girl and was said to occur in November.

Judge M. A. Miller remanded Deremo out of custody to Sept. 21 and directed that he be examined by a physician of his own choice and submit to an examination by a doctor appointed by the Crown.

Affirm Sovereignty

BUENOS AIRES, June 23 — (Reuters)—The Argentine Senate Thursday unanimously approved a declaration affirming Argentine sovereignty over the Falkland Islands, a British dependency.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on 'nerves'—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better. 136

Dominion Stores Sign New Contract

TORONTO, June 23 — (CP) — The Retail and Wholesal Employees Union (CIO-CCL) and Dominion Stores Ltd., Thursday signed an agreement calling for minor contractual changes covering employees in six Ontario centres.

The agreement applies to employees in Niagara Falls, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Toronto, Oshawa and Peterborough. It is the first time Peterborough employees have come under contract.

The contract provides for reduction of work from 44 to 42 hours, some rate adjustment, continuance of the union shop, vacation of two weeks after one year and one week after six months, nine statutory holidays with pay, and continuance of a $9.25 cost of living bonus.

Agricultural Sports Day Great Success

ROSENEATH, June 23 (ENS)—The annual sports day sponsored by Roseneath Agricultural Society, and held on Wednesday afternoon and evening on the Agricultural grounds, was an outstanding success with horse races and ball games and a dance in the evening.

The committee in charge of the horse races were Ivan Thackeray, F. J. Slade, John Coyle and Murray McFiggin.

Twenty three horses faced the Roy Mitchell Starting Gig in the four classes. Ivan Thackeray was the announcer.

A dance in the Agricultural Hall ended the event.

Results of races were as follows:

Burwash Prisoner Free For Four Hours

SUDBURY, June 23—(CP)—Slipping away while laying sidewalks with a working gang in Burwash village, Laurier Pelletier, 22, of Quebec city, a prisoner at Burwash Industrial Farm was free for about four hours Thursday afternoon.

He was recaptured by prison guards while walking toward Sudbury, five miles from the prison grounds. It was his second escape within a year.

He was sentenced at Napanee, on June 2, 1949, to four months in prison for breaking and entering and theft. He was sent to the reformatory at Mimico, but escaped a short time later.

On June 24, 1949, he was given an additional six months at Toronto for escaping lawful custody at Mimico. He was sent to Burwash.

Communism Bill Squeezes Through

CAPETOWN, June 23 (Reuters)—The South African Senate today adopted the suppression of Communism bill by a one-vote margin on third reading. The deciding vote was cast by the Senate president, C. A. Van Niekerk, after the vote was recorded at 18 to 18 in the 40-member chamber.

Opposition amendments were rejected in a series of divisions earlier by votes of 19 to 18, the absence of one opposition senator enabling the government to carry these divisions without the chairman's casting vote.

But even earlier in the debate, the president's verdict was needed in three ties.

Community Centre Gets Face Lifting

CAMPBELLFORD, June 23 — (ENS)—Campbellford Community Centre is sporting a new coat today after having a new aluminum paint job done on the entire building by a Warkworth decorating firm.

The old metal was beginning to look a little shabby, so the board decided the building needed a face-lifting.

BROCKVILLE, June 23. — (CP).—Fire swept through the Brockville Fire Extinguisher Co. plant in Northern Brockville Thursday causing damage estimated to have topped $100,000.

One employee, George Buchanan, was slightly injured when he jumped from a third-story window to an adjoining roof when the flames, which broke out in the second floor duco room, cut off his escape. His condition is not serious.

Spreading from the second-storey paint shop with unbelievable speed, the flames engulfed the top half of the structure within four minutes, sending the 20-odd employees scurrying for exits. An attempt to fight the fire with extinguishers proved futile.

The Brockville Fire Department which called out all reserves and the Royal Canadian Regiment fire company, prevented the blaze from spreading to an adjoining warehouse of McNeil Transport Ltd. The strong north wind, which fanned the flames and forced firemen and citizens to wet down neighborhood houses, blew the main force of the fire away from the McNeil establishment.

The three-storey building was a complete loss along with its contents and a huge quantity of cart and hand fire extiguishers. Sulphuric acid, used to fill the finished products, exploded at intervals, hampering firefighters.

Campbellford To Buy Deluxe Garbage Cart

CAMPBELLFORD, June 23 — (ENS) — Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason, chairman of the road and bridge committee, is going to get the super deluxe push cart for the street cleaning department, which he suggested at the last meeting.

Council Thursday night decided the purchase of the new cart be left to the chairman of the road and bridge committee, with power to act, so Mr. Mason will go ahead and purchase the outfit at a cost of about $105.

It was decided to spend $25 more than the price council expected to pay at the last meeting, when it was discovered the first price did not include a garbage can.

Permission was granted to the Rotary Club to close Front St. to traffic on the evenings of July 13, 14 and 15 when they will hold their mammoth three day carnival. A petition was presented, signed by all the business men on Front St. requesting the carnival be held there.

Convict Farm Woman Of Arsenic Death

COVINGTON, Ind., June 23 — (AP)—Mrs. Mary Ellen Osborn was convicted of first-degree murder Thursday night in the arsenic death of her husband.

A jury found the 39-year-old farm woman guilty of giving the poison to her husband, Amandus Osborn, 49, last Christmas day. He died the next day.

Sentencing was set for Saturday.

The State said Mrs. Osborn had fallen in love with a 30-year-old apple picker.

Marmora Woman Has Quilt 90 Years Old

MARMORA, June 23—(ENS)—Mrs. Everett Vilneff of Marmora Township is the proud possessor of a quilt that is about 90 years old. It was made by her grandmother, the late Mrs. William Neal, when the latter was residing near Tiffin.

The design of the quilt is made up of red diamonds and hearts and green spades and clubs on a white background. The quilt has been used only on special occasions and almost as good today as the day it was finished.

Mrs. Vilneff is considering the suggestion of friends that it be exhibited at the 1950 Marmora Fair.

Make Mrs. Roy Smith Farewell Presentation

ROSENEATH, June 23 (ENNS) —Neighbors and other friends met in Fenella Community Hall on Wednesday for a surprise party for Mrs. Roy Smith, who is leaving shortly to make her home in Hamilton.

A table lamp and purse of money was presented by Mrs. Charles Childs on behalf of the gathering and an address was read by Mrs. Stanley Hutchison. "For She's a Jolly Good Lady", followed the presentation.

The party started with cards and then Mrs. Stanley Hutchison was master of ceremonies for an entertainment which included a duet by Barbara and Grant Duncan, solos by Valda Hutchison, John Jewell, Ken Waldie, Shirley Ferguson, Barbara and Elizabeth Bates.

Miss Jean Waldie and Mrs. Burton Roberts were piano accompanists.

A lunch was served to conclude the party.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., June 23—(AP)—Discovery near Kingman, Ariz., of a rare radio-active mineral that may be valuable in atomic research has been disclosed by Santa Barbara College. The mineral, called Talenite, heretofore has been found only in Sweden, the College said.

No Intimidation Board Rules On Paper Vote

TORONTO, June 23.—The Ontario Labor Relations Board, in a majority decision Thursday found in effect that publisher George McCullagh had not intimidated editorial employees of The Telegram in a speech prior to a vote to determine whether the employees wished to be represented by the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL).

The board's decision, with the two labor members dissenting, dismissed the Guild's application for certification for editorial employees of The Telegram.

The Guild lost the vote held last Feb. 3, when it failed to obtain a majority of all those eligible to take part.

A complaint was filed by the Guild charging that the publisher's speech had constituted an unfair labor practice.

P. M. Draper, chairman of the board, said reasons for its decision would be handled down at a later date.

The protest against the vote was pressed by the local and failed to carry the endorsation of The Telegram employees concerned

Evidence showed eight of the nine members of the paper's provisional Guild committee voluntarily withdrew their support after the protest was made. A letter to that effect was sent to the board.

Hospital Must Pay

LONG BEACH, Calif., June 23 —(AP)—Because she received unsightly burns on her left thigh while in a hospital, little Gloria Lime, 22 months old, was awarded $20,000 in damages Thursday. Her parents testified she was burned mysteriously during treatment for pneumonia when 5½ months old.

An Ounce Of Prevention

A Red River Valley Flood Protection Board of three men has been appointed and will meet for the first time next week, in Winnipeg. It will organize flood protection in the Greater Winnipeg area, take steps to check possible floods in 1951, and recommend permanent measures of flood control. The last named seems to us to be the most important of its duties. Emergency measures are stopgaps; however ingenious they may be, and however bravely they are carried out, they serve at best to minimize the danger of floods. What is wanted is a long-term plan to keep the Red River under control.

• • •

Because of the size of the Red, and the area in which it flows, this is a difficult feat of engineering. The river rises in the lake region of Western Minnesota, not far from the headwaters of the Mississippi, and flows north between Minnesota and North Dakota; it flows through clay land and is between 20 and 50 feet in depth through most of its course. Any scheme to control it must be started at its headwaters; dams on its Canadian reaches only are not enough. Control of the Red River (more properly called the Red River of the North, to distinguish it from the Red River of Louisiana) will have to be an international project.

• • •

It should not be impossible to arouse the government of the U.S.A. to its responsibility in this matter. The great damage done in Canada by flooding this spring cannot be repeated often, if southern Manitoba and the city of Winnipeg are not to suffer irreparable loss. The floods have their origin in Minnesota, and it is there that they must be checked. Canada would, we are sure, be willing to share in such a project, but Canada cannot begin it. The first job of the Red River Valley Flood Protection Board is to find out what the U.S.A. is prepared to do, and then to see that Canada gives adequate assistance. All flood control schemes are costly, but they are not so costly as floods continued over many years. The ounce of prevention will cost us dear, but not so dear as the loss of a rich farming area and the crippling of Winnipeg and St. Boniface.

A Poor Lookout For The Horse

We had not known that there was such a thing as a World Motor Census until the other day when some information concerning it came to hand. It appears that somebody has taken the trouble to discover that there are 62,000,000 motor vehicles of one sort and another in the world and (this will surprise nobody) 43,429,205 of them are in the U.S.A. But the remaining 19,034,589 are scattered about in the most unlikely places.

Who would have thought that there were 20,477 cars in the Belgian Congo? We have always thought of the Belgian Congo—on the rare occasions when we think of it at all—as a large, unspoiled tract of jungle, full of powerful black men and women who wear nothing but leaves and who are ready to swap large uncut diamonds for a few toys from Woolworth's. And Burma, too, has been spoiled for us by the World Motor Census news that it contains 32,211 cars. We have always imagined it as a country of beautiful little dancing girls wearing hats like pagodas—not as a country of garage mechanics. There are even, we read, 20 cars in Greenland. And of course there are 2,194,929 cars in Canada. As we sit here, pecking away at our typewriter, we can hear the plangent bleat of one of these which has its horn stuck.

It's a poor lookout for the horse, that is all we can say. That noble beast is being shoved off the more progressive farms and has quite lost his hold on the carriage trade. Even the elephants in the teak forests will soon be supplanted by tractors. It is a faster and more efficient world than it used to be but we are not sure that we like it any the better for that.

The C.B.C. Annual Deficit

The Parliamentary Committee on Radio has been told by the chairman of the governors of the C.B.C. that the annual deficit of that Crown company is about one million dollars. Two courses are open; either the C.B.C. must be given a larger government grant, or the C.B.C. must save a million dollars on its present operation. To save a million dollars the C.B.C. says that it would have to drop its news, farm, school and "actuality" broadcasting, and also its Wednesday night programs, its "Stage 50" programs, its musical comedy programs and a number of other popular and excellent features.

It would be a pity to see such drastic cuts in the C.B.C.'s broadcasts. After all, we have a national broadcasting company in order that we may have precisely such programs as those mentioned above. They are programs which would be unlikely to find commercial sponsors, and they are programs which, in one way or another, serve Canada well. If we lost them we should have lost most of our excuse for the C.B.C.

It has not been shown, however, that a larger Government grant is the only way to make up that deficit. Nor has it been shown that there is good reason to double the license fee which each owner of a radio receiving set must pay. If it were perfectly clear that the C.B.C. collected all the fees due to it at present, an increased grant or an increased fee might be considered. But it is not certain that the C.B.C. does collect all its fees.

The C.B.C. says that it collects 93 per cent. of the fees owing to it. It makes that statement on the authority of a "sample survey" made by the Department of Transport, which visited 48,117 homes to obtain this information. But the Montreal Gazette points out that, according to a report made by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, 3,247,000 Canadian households have radios; this is 1,069,555 more license fees than the C.B.C. reports as having been collected. In other words, about a third of the people who own radios in Canada do not buy a yearly license.

If those people did buy licenses, it would not be necessary for the C.B.C. to have a larger Government grant, nor would it be necessary to raise its license fee. Even if it only collected fees for another million licenses, the C.B.C. would not need to retrench; indeed, it would be better off than it is at present.

Perhaps there is an explanation for the great difference between the figures of the Department of Transport and those of the Bureau of Statistics. If so, the people of Canada would like to know what it is. But until there is such an explanation there is no reason to raise the annual fee or the C.B.C.'s grant. Collecting license fees is not easy, but there must be some way of doing it. We may be sure that a private company would find a way.

A New Deal For Canada's Indians

The Government acted wisely in withdrawing the amendment to the Indian Act which has been under consideration in the Commons; Indians themselves have had only a fortnight to consider it and express their views about it, and that is not a sufficient time. The amendment was criticised severely by the Opposition because it did not go far enough, and if it had been kept before the House, and forced through on a vote, it would never have been satisfactory.

We are not convinced, however, that the Opposition forces who want a more liberal amendment to the Indian Act are working in the best interests of the Canadian Indians. Their status at present is that of minors; they are, in fact, children of the state. They enjoy certain privileges and benefactions, and they are denied certain rights. Any Indian who wants to become a full citizen can do so by renouncing his rights as an Indian, and accepting full responsibility as a citizen. There have been some able Indians in Canadian life, but there have never been a great number of Indians who wanted to be full citizens.

Is it fair to the Indians to rush them into a citizenship which they do not yet desire? If they are to relinquish their present status as wards of the state, would it not be better to lead them toward citizenship by degrees? We mean no disrespect toward the Indians who have chosen to become citizens when we say that few Indians on reservations give the impression that they would take the duties and responsibilities of citizenship seriously.

The majority of Indians at present are not impressive; if they were not already inhabitants of this country they are certainly not the sort of people who would be chosen as immigrants. Perhaps this is the fault of their white conquerors. But whoever is at fault, the lot of the Indians will not be improved by plunging them suddenly into citizenship, which they have not chosen to earn for themselves. A program of legislation which would lead them toward citizenship by easy degrees might be better for them and better for the country.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Have any sovereigns of England been murdered? If so, how many?

ANSWER: Four, not counting Charles 1st, who was executed, or murdered, according to your view of history. The four are Edward II, murdered in Berkley Keep in 1327; Richard II, who either starved to death or was assassinated in Pontefract Castle in 1399, Henry VI, murdered in 1461; Edward V, the boy king who was murdered in the Tower of London.

Other sovereigns who had other than very ordinary deaths were: William I (Duke of Normandy) who died of fever induced by shock received on horse in 1087; William II his successor who was shot in the New Forest, 1100; his successor Henry I, who died by eating to excess of lampreys (a sort of eel) in 1135; Henry II who died in 1189 from fever caused by the wayward conduct of his sons; John who died in 1216 from a fever induced by agitation; Edward I died of dysentery in 1307; Henry IV in 1413 of epileptic fits; Edward IV succumbed in 1483 to an illness rendered fatal through debauchery; Richard III was slain at the battle of Bosworth in 1485; his successor Henry VII died of consumption in 1509; as did Edward VI in 1553. Edward VI's successor Mary (another child of Henry VIII) died of dropsy in 1558. The first Stuart, James I died in 1625 of tertian ague; Charles II died of apoplexy in 1685; William III died from a fall from his horse in 1702 and Queen Anne, the last of the Stuarts, died in 1714 from apoplexy. The first George died from the same cause in 1727 and his only son, George II died of heart disease in 1760. George III's death is attributed to natural causes, although during the last twenty years of his reign he had been mad much of the time.

Expert diagnosis on the cause of death is fairly modern. It would not do for the medical records now to say that a king had died from a fever brought on by the wayward conduct of his children.

ALPHA: Can you tell me the derivation of the phrase: "To go the whole hog". Does it refer to greed?

ANSWER: No, I think not. It means that once decided to embark on a project, or spree, the person is set to do the whole job "up brown". The phrase probably rose from an Arabian story versified by Cowper in "Love of the World Reproved".

Mohammed allowed his followers to eat pork, except one portion of the animal. However, he did not say which was the forbidden part. Therefore good Mohammedans had to refrain from eating any part of the animal, lest they transgressed. But some of the less strict

Thought it hard
From the whole hog to be debarred and so, one taking a ham, another a shoulder and so on
With sophistry their sauce they sweeten,
Till quite from tail to snout 'tis eaten.

Other expressions similar to "go the whole hog" are "In for a penny, in for a pound"; "As good be hanged for a sheep as for a lamb." An Italian equivalent is "It is the first shower that wets".

ALPHA: How many numbered highways are there in Ontario?

ANSWER: There are 117 numbered highways in Ontario, including A's (like 7 A), and S's (like the Scenic route 2 S, skirting the St. Lawrence east of Gananoque), and the Queen Elizabeth Way from Toronto to Fort Erie. There is no Highway Number 1, I believe. The Queen Elizabeth Way seems to have been put in that first category. Highways are numbered from 2 to 105. You know where No. 2 is. No. 105 is 111.9 miles long and runs from Number 17 (the Ottawa River in Northern Ontario) to Red Lake.

ALPHA: Why do nice ladies say: "Dear me", instead of a stronger phrase. Why Dear Me?

ANSWER: That's a puzzler; not the mildness of the epithet, but its derivation. I guess that it comes, through analogy of sound, from the Italian 'Dio mio!'—'My God!' Certainly people who use slightly stronger phrases than 'Dear me!' say 'Good God!' or 'My God!' etc.

SIR: I notice in the two-page advertisement last Friday about the new Lions Club swimming pool that the RIGHT Hon. Ray Lawson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario was opening the pool. Is he a Right Hon.?

ANSWER: No. That appelation was an error on somebody's part. He is an "Honourable" by virtue of his office, and even after leaving it, is entitled to retain the "Hon." To be a "Right Honourable", a person must be a member of His Majesty's Imperial Privy Council. The Hon. Ray Lawson is not. Churchill, Bevin, Attlee, Smuts, Mackenzie King, Mr. St. Laurent, and two or three senior members of his cabinet, Vincent Massey (11 Canadians all told) are "Right Honourables". Incidentally, Provincial Premiers, and Provincial Cabinet Ministers are "honourable" during their terms of office. When they go out of office, they cease to carry that badge of honour.

MORE EPITAPHS: The following has been reported to me, written by John Weever in 1599:

Within this place lies Abraham the civil
Who never did good, who never did evil:
Too ill then for God, too good for the devil.

And here is another which has come to hand; I am told it is from a tombstone in Portbury churchyard, near Bristol:

My forge and anvil are reclined,
My bellows they have lost their wind,
My shop and hammer are decayed,
And in the dust my vice is laid.

My fire's extinct
My coal is gone,
My nail's are drove,
My work is done.

Another reader reminds me of the epitaph which Benjamin Franklin, later U.S.A. president, wrote for himself at the age of 23, when he was a journeyman printer:

The Body of
BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, Printer,
(Like the cover of an old book,
Its contents torn out,
And stript of its lettering and gilding,)
Lies food for worms:
Yet the work itself shall not be lost,
For it will (as he believed) appear once more,
In a new
And more beautiful edition,
Corrected and amended
By the Author.

This epitaph is not original with Franklin. He plagiarized it from Benjamin Woodbridge, and there were others before Woodbridge.

A SUMMER Exhibition of Peterborough city and district old manuscripts, prints, photographs and books is being planned by the Public Library staff for this centenary year. Persons willing to lend such items of historical interest for the purpose are asked to bring them to the library, or to communicate with Miss Sullivan of the Library Staff, who is in charge of arranging the special exhibit. She does NOT want old dresses, prehistoric baby cribs, pioneer plumbing exhibits or any other such objects. No room for them.

FOR THE RECORD: Nothing of special note, except that it is June and the countryside is looking wonderfully verdant and pleasant.

SHOULDER TO SHOULDER

Peasants Resist Soviet Farm Program

(By EDWARD CRANKSHAW)

THE Soviet Government is meeting resistance from the peasants to its drive to raise the standard of living by increasing milk and meat supplies. Some idea of what the Government is up against is given by the intensity of its current propaganda campaign playing variations on the elementary principle that cattle cannot live without fodder.

Fodder in Russia means hay, cattle-cake being practically unknown. It is clear that in many areas the peasants are quietly sabotaging the Government's three-year plan for livestock breeding. The Government plan is designed to raise the morale of factory-workers by providing them with meat and milk. The peasants are not interested in meat and milk, but only in bread.

They deeply resent the compulsion to sow down their valuable cornland to grass. Their interest in livestock is strictly confined to the personal possession of a cow, a pig, a goat, a few chickens. The cow is the type of animal which is led out on a rope by an old woman to graze on the road-side verge. In winter it is fed on scraps and emerges in the spring looking like a bag of bones, if it emerges at all.

All attempts on the part of the Government and Party to make the peasants take an interest in the collective herds and to convince them that they would get more and better milk and meat and calves if only they would feed them properly during the six-months winter, are met with sulky resistance.

The latest propaganda move is the publication of a combined Government and Party directive urging "the special importance of fodder for socialized animal husbandry and the need to do away with the lag of stored fodder behind the increase in head of cattle, which is marked in a number of Regions, Territories, and Republics".

EARLIER this month the Soviet Press contained exhortations to the Ministry of Agriculture and local Party committees to instruct the peasants in the proper way of making silage and the desirability of cutting hay before the grasses have seeded and lost their virtue—a traditional custom all over Russia.

In particular, the local Press of the Crimea and Kazakhstan has been citing widespread examples of anti-social behaviour in those regions, the sort of behaviour which, in fact, is widespread throughout Russia. Serious losses of stock are reported because of "inadequate housing and feeding", while in other areas there has been a wholesale slaughtering of breeding stock for internal consumption on the farms, with the result that there is no hope at all of these regions completing their breeding programmes.

It is this sort of attitude, older by many centuries than the Revolution, which is largely responsible for the continued lowness of the Soviet standard of living. And the harshness of the measures used to combat it very often succeed only in driving the peasant into still more stubborn passive resistance. Every day animals from the collective herds are illegally transferred to private ownership.

The grain situation is another story. The Russian peasant understands the necessity for grain and to all appearance the position here is more comfortable than at any time since 1940.

WITH last year's exceptional harvests the Government was able to embark on a large storage programme. And although, in fact, the amounts delivered turned out to be less than the paper estimate, newly constructed elevators in Kazakhstan and the Volga region are being filled.

So intent is the Government on building up these reserves that it has imposed punitive terms for 1950 deliveries on areas which failed last year, and at the same time a number of regions—notably the Georgian Republic—which in the past have relied largely on grain imported from those parts of Russia better suited for growing it, have been told that they must make themselves self-sufficient in grain, even at the cost of temporarily reducing their special crops—tobacco, grapes, tea and citrus fruits.

This quite new policy is bound up closely with the chronic failure of the Soviet transport system to keep pace with the ever-increasing demands placed on it.

The Customer Is Always Right

When the famous film star, Dorothy Lamour, visited England recently she appeared in the BBC's magazine programme, "In Town Tonight," in which most visiting celebrities are heard in the week of their arrival. Miss Lamour, after speaking of her early work in pictures, went on to state her belief that the public should have what it wants. She illustrated her point by a story of a man in a Hollywood restaurant who came up to her shortly before she sailed for England, asked for her autograph and told her he had seen her last picture. He then asked for his money back, one dollar, sixty-five cents. The astounded film star obediently opened her bag, and handed this hardy specimen of her public one dollar sixty-five. The man took it, walked over to the bar and bought himself a glass of beer to celebrate his victory.

Rains — But How?

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

The scientific rainmakers hired by New York City to produce some extra rain to help fill the city's depleted reservoirs must be pretty unhappy by now.

Countless times their experiments have been postponed—on account of rain. On other occasions, they've seeded clouds with the necessary chemicals, only to find later that it rained over a wide area anyway. Thus making it impossible to tell what effect their work actually had.

Above all, the scientist dearly loves what he calls the "controlled experiment." The test, that is, where other factors are so carefully measured that the effect of a new twist can be gauged beyond doubt.

The New York rainmakers have been engaged in experiments that probably rank with the most uncontrolled tests in history.

How Time Flies

JUNE 23

1920 Miss Helen MacLaren has resigned as soloist of St. Andrew's Church choir.

H. Kelsey is elected chairman and H. B. Rye secretary of the second annual peace day regetta.

C. H. Meade of the colonization roads department inspects roads in the northern townships.

1930 Hon. G. N. Gordon is the speaker at a meeting of the High Park Liberals.

The government labour bureau here is ordered to give out no information in regard to the employment situation.

Jack Crary allows but one hit as the C.G.E. ball team defeats Bethany 6-2.

1940 At the request of the Minister of Munitions and Supplies, the C.G.E. Co. here will work six days a week, nine hours a day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Garbutt of Lakefield are appointed respectively superintendent and matron of the House of Refuge.

Major James Turnbull will command headquarters company of the S.D. & G. Highlanders in Peterborough.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them: insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel. (Matt. 15: 30, 31.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Philip saith unto him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us. Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works. Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father. (John 14: 8-12.)

Letter To The Editor

BARBERS AND PUBLIC SERVICE

Sir: I saw in a recent issue of the Examiner that haircuts have gone up to 75 cents and had it impressed on me when I had my last haircut. "I don't suppose there is much use in arguing about the rise in prices, since it seems to be a trend. Barbers have to live too. And, it seems, in these days of trade unions, business associations and such, the barbers should band together and regulate hours of business, prices and standards of the trade. That we can also go along with.

But, the part that affects the average man working in any of the city's industries is that barbers are not prepared to perform a ready service at a time when he is free. Generally speaking, he must join the "sitter's club" for minutes on end because his associates in industry also want their haircut at the same time. This applies to the 5 to 6 p.m. hour and also to Saturdays. Of course, Hairless Joe has an "out"; he can always put off until next Saturday when he must get the job done despite all obstacles.

Is it not about time the Barbers' Association thought of giving better service to the public in general and in particular to the man in industry? Are they not passing up an opportunity to make their cash registers ring more often by minimizing postponements?

May I suggest they open a night or two per week. Let them enjoy a whole Wednesday holiday and possibly another morning or afternoon per week, depending upon the needs of their customers who are not so pressed for time.

As a result of looking around for barber shops with the least number of sitters on Saturday mornings, my crowning glory has been clipped by more barbers than you could shake a stick at, because I follow the path of least resistance.

The last barber I visited asked me who under the sun did the job last. I pointed across the street. "His eyesight must be getting bad," he commented. "Look how short he cut that snout in front!"

I had to admit it was three weeks and two days since I visited his competitor. Being unwilling to be a Saturday morning sitter any more frequently than I could help, I had taken the scissors from my wife's sewing basket and, with one bold stroke, shortened the snout myself.

HAIRLESS JOE.

Black Man's Burden

(New York Herald Tribune)

In South Africa people of coloured skin outnumber the whites nearly four to one, yet are repressed by the white minority. The black man goes through life in a mood of perplexity and frustration and with scant hope for a brighter future. It is difficult for the unprejudiced observer, scanning the scene for signs of harmonious solution, to avoid falling into a similarly discouraging state of mind. The racial maze is so complex, the colour bar so formidable and racial differences so wide, that a generally satisfactory formula seems almost unttainable.

Cat Or Elephant

(UK Information Office)

The only hostel in the world specially designed for animals travelling by air is being built at London Airport. It will cost about $36,000 and incorporate a surgery as well as a dispensary. It will provide comfortable quarters for quarantine or weather-bound flying animals, from cats to elephants, and from snakes to crocodiles.

Expect To Renew Ship Permission

OTTAWA, June 23 — (CP) — Government officials have been advised the United States is planning to renew permission for Canadian ships to ply between U.S. ports on the Great Lakes, it was learned Thursday night.

The permission has been granted on a year-to-year basis for several years, to augment U.S. tonnage at the height of the ore-carrying season. It consists of a suspension of the United States' Jones Act, which restricts the U.S. coastal trade to American ships.

Officials here said some Canadian ships usually participate in the U.S. ore trade when the ban is lifted, though they did not indulge to a great extent because they are kept busy with domestic cargoes.

Under a reciprocal arrangement, Canada also allows U.S. ships to enter the Dominion's domestic costing trade when Canadian ships cannot handle the cargo. Up to date, this has not been done this year.

Senators Would Like Higher Immigration

OTTAWA, June 23 (CP) — A call for increased immigration to Canada from the United Kingdom and European countries was made Thursday in the report of the Senate's committee on immigration and labor.

The committee said that it noted there had been a substantial decrease in immigration to Canada during the last year and said it felt increased immigration to this country was desirable.

The report, signed by chairman Senator Cairine Wilson (L-Ontario), will be considered by the Senate later in the week.

Jack Daudrick (right) of Morris, Man., gets his first bit of good news in six weeks. Moray Sinclair (left) of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund committee tells him of the first installment cheque for $300.00 given Mr. Daudrick's wife from the fund in Winnipeg, Tuesday. The Daudrick's new home suffered badly in the flood. Most of its contents have been written off as a total loss.

Soviet Not Ready For War-Senator

OTTAWA, June 23 (CP)—Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, told the Senate Thursday he did not believe Russia would go to war if the rest of the world was ready to resist the attack.

He did not think Hitler would have started the Second World War in 1939 if the Democracies had been ready for him and he did not believe the Russians would go to war "just for war, though they are getting into a position where they cannot do much else."

It was up to the Democracies to be ready and no steps that might possibly prevent war should be left untaken.

Senator Haig was speaking in support of a resolution proposed by Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario) for investigation of the possibilities of federal union. It asks Senate support for the calling by the United States of a convention of Atlantic Treaty nations to explore how far their peoples and those of other democracies could apply the principles of federal union.

Duke's Memoirs Said Misleading

TORONTO, June 23.—((CP).—Allan Pitts Robbins, editor of The Times of London, said Thursday that the account of the abdication given by the Duke of Windsor in his memoirs is not a true picture of what happened.

Mr. Robbins in a speech to the Empire Club here took exception to the Duke's portrayal of Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister of Britain during the abdication period, and the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Mr. Robbins, parliamentary correspondent of the Times for 15 years, said:

"Mr. Baldwin had a real affection for the monarch, as he called him in those days. He hoped and believed that he could persuade the Duke to change his mind. He told me once there there was a time when he (Baldwin) loved him almost like his own son, which doesn't sound like the man described in the book which is now issued."

Witness' Names Kept A Secret

WASHINGTON, June 23. — (AP).—A Congressional committee summoned unidentified Canadian witnesses today in its monopoly investigation of the Canadian-American newsprint industry.

In advance of today's hearing, Chairman Emanuel Celler (Dem., N.Y.) refused to announce the names of the Canadian witnesses and cloaked their appearance in a mild air of mystery.

Celler has hinted at "fear of reprisals" among potential witnesses in his inquiry into the reason for high newsprint prices and short supplies.

About 80 per cent of the paper used in printing United States newspapers come from Canada.

The committee, a monopoly investigating sub-committee of the House of Representatives Judiciary committee, has been turned down on invitations to testify that it sent a number of leading officials of Canada's newsprint industry, including Robert M Fowler, president of the Newsprint Manufacturers' Association, and Charles Vining, former president.

Celler said Vining, now retired, was invited to testify about a confidential memorandum put into the committee record Thursday.

Approve Curbing Government Spending

OTTAWA, June 23 (CP)—The Senate Thursday concurred in reports of committees on natural resources and Canadian trade relations where emphasis was put on future steps toward more economy in government spending.

The trade relations committee recommended the government "continue the policy" of reducing payment of subsidies and suggested they be discontinued entirely except in cases of urgency It urged other steps to provide a clear picture of government expenditure by departments.

CGE Picnic Plans Ready For Saturday

An outdoor stage show will be the highlight at the CGE picnic to be held on Saturday. Among the outstanding array of performers will be The Nicklings, acrobats, Buddy Arden and his puppets; Flash, the prize-winning dancing stallion; The Rutleys, hand-balancers and equilibrists; Captain Pickard's trained seals; Dot Steadman, a contortionist dancer; The Metro Maids, an ensemble of dancers and many others.

Bobo the clown will be there to amuse the youngsters and the Musical Ambassadors, a stage band, will accompany the entire show.

The show will begin at 8:30 and thousands are expected to be in attendance at Nicholls Oval.

Says 200 Million To Be Spent On Public Health

HALIFAX, June 23.—(CP).—Canadian governments will spend $200,000,000 on public health and hospital care this year, Health Minister Martin told the Canadian Medical Association today in a speech prepared for delivery before the C.M.A.'s annual meeting He said the provinces have done a "superb" job in carrying the main burden of public health care while the national health program—under which 3,000 provincial projects totalling $37,000,000 already have been approved—is opening "new and exciting possibilities of advances for them."

He detailed four major steps now being taken to clear the way for health progress in the years ahead:

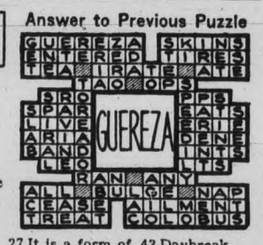
1. Provincial health surveys and new sickness surveys which will supply an "exact knowledge" of the public health position and of anticipated requirements.

2. Provision of more hospital accommodation and more and better equipped clinics. Some 21,000 of the additional 40,000 hospital beds required by 1953 are in sight and have been allocated federal aid.

Need More Workers

3. Provision of more health workers. The national program has enabled the provinces to open more than 2,000 positions in public health. There still is a shortage of 2,000 doctors in Canada.

4. Steps to increase the level of training of health workers. Through federal health grants, 1,500 have been trained, including 265 physicians. The practitioner is being brought up to date in such fields as cancer, tuberculosis and mental illness.



Mr. Martin reviewed health progress in Canada during the last half-century and suggested that the emphasis in the next half-century will be on "the prosperity of our people and the degree to which, in part through measures for social security, this prosperity benefits all Canadians."

Two-Alarm Fire

MONTREAL, June 23. (CP) — A two-alarm fire at the Canadian Liquid Air Co., Ltd., plant in east-end Montreal was brought under control here Thursday night after the area had been evacuated in fear of possible explosions. A two-storey building, used as a storage plant for machinery, was gutted. Cause of the blaze was unknown and there was no estimate of damage.

Snead Grabs Off Medalist $250

COLUMBUS, O., June 23 (AP) —Sam Snead, noted among his colleagues as thrifty, today begins defence of his United States Professional Golfers Association crown jingling $250 as the meet's medalist.

Never since the birth of the PGA tournament in 1919 has a defending champion, automatically exempt from the 36-hole qualifying round, condescended to compete for the sake of picking up extra cash. That is until Snead who tops the money winners with more than $21,000 and, according to the pro pack, still has every cent of it, came along.

But you can't take anything away from the West Virginia hillybilly—either a penny or a golf shot. He's got both.

Over the tough 7,032-yard course Thursday his lethal chip shots, which left him with only 25 putts for the round, supported a dazzling 68.

This four-under-par effort, matching the competitive course record set by Wild Bill Mehlhorn and the late Mac Smith in the 1926 U. S. open, gave him a 36-hole total of 140 and medalist honors.

When Snead returned to the clubhouse and ducked out without even taking a shower, Lawson Little of the PGA tournament committee managed to tell him: "you won't even let one of us guys try for the medalist prize — you've got to go whole-hog."

East City Gets The Verdict In 8th Inning

Rallying for seven runs in the eighth inning at the Bowl last night, East City pulled out a 13-10 men's softball victory over UEW to climb closer to the second-place Unionists in the standing. It was a hard-fought and even fray with plenty of arguments as it wore along. Chuck Birch pitched well till the late innings for UE, and Terry Woods gave way on the other mound in the sixth to Haddy Eakins, who got the win. Curry's three-run homer —the losers argued it was foul— clinched the verdict in the eighth after the count was tied 10-all.

Cournyea was the big hitter for East City with a double and three singles in five. Jaquith had a double and two in five, and Curry clouted a homer, double and single in six tries. O'Heron got two for five. Jack Mackness was in fine fettle at the plate for UE to smash two homers, a three-bagger and a double in five trips. Byrnes banged out a two-base blow. Smart catches were reeled off by White, Legrow and Curry.

Matches Re-arranged In Cricket Schedule

Owing to the CGE employees picnic this Saturday at the Oval, the Dentonia and Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club match will not be played here this weekend. The clubs have agreed to switch dates, so the locals will go to Toronto tomorrow, and have Dentonia here on July 29.

The same situation has arisen in regard to a match with St. Edmunds here on July 8 when the Oval will be taken over for a picnic. The local club will now go to Toronto on that date and have the return match here on Aug. 12.

On July 1, the Peterborough County team meets Carleton County in the first round of the county cricket championships for the R. C. Matthews Trophy, which was won by Peterborough in 1948 and by Carleton County last year.

Keene Schedule

Following is the remainder of the junior Keene and Community Softball League schedule:

June—

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Cold unseasonable weather sees the odd puck item decorating the Show Window, though the sport is several months away. Pat Wilson, husky and hard-hitting right fielder for the Petes in the Viaduct League, tells us he has asked St. Louis Flyers to place him on the voluntary retired list in the AHL. Doesn't plan to play any more pro hockey, figuring the years will soon catch up with him and he'd better plan a career now. Pat has a good opportunity offered him for the fall, but it'll probably take him either to Ottawa or Toronto, where he may return to amateur hockey on the side. He'd be a handy guy to have around here, too.

* * * * * *

Like many other up-and-coming athletes, Wilson was a war casualty insofar as his hockey career goes. He would probably have been in the NHL, instead of the AHL, years ago but for time out to serve overseas. The Toronto product was going places in the ice game as a defenceman ere duty called early in the war and he went into the RCAF. After 'twas over he toured around various places playing hockey for a living and doing okay, finishing up at St. Louis last winter. Played ball here last summer and liked the place so he came back again this ball season. But comes autumn and he'll be settling down elsewhere in the business world.

* * * * * *

Refs Keep Out Of It

Referees Piper Bain and Chuck Davidson were quite casual about that lacrosse fist fight here the other night, eh? Don Ashbee of the Petes and Gus Chard of Brampton teed off on each other in the first quarter, with sticks flying at first and then fists. The two referees just waved back other plays and stood aside till action slowed up betwixt the pugilists. Then they stepped in calmly and waved them to the sin bin, Ashbee for 10 minutes and Chard for five. Why get hurt, or why work up a sweat? That was the official attitude. Let 'em beat their brains out and they'll get tired. It might be a good angle for all OLA and OHA arbiters, and it might cut down on the number of fist fights, too.

* * * * * *

Mimico Mounties play the Petes an OLA senior "A" scrap at 8.45 tonight in Miller Bowl. Like the Brampton-Peterborough tilt, it should be a hard-checking struggle, but we think the Creighton crew can take this one. It ought to pack in the fans. The junior Petes, who play Owen Sound an OLA game here at 8.30 p.m. on the morrow, will be introduced to the fans wearing their new red-black-white uniforms (the players, that is, not the fans) betwixt periods and will perform for 10 minutes at the half. Their schedule is in tonight, and the PMLA weekly schedule should be in tomorrow.

Staffs Playing Petes

Senior "A" baseball attraction at Riverside Park is Staffords of the Viaduct Major League and the Petes at three on Saturday aft. Locals have lost several lately by one-run margins and must get back in there to stay up with the first four clubs in a hot race. They're half a game back of Oshawa in third slot now, but should take the Staffs if they keep hustling. Danny Brown will be on deck and we expect it'll be Bill Edger or possibly Left Dadson—in his 1950 debut if he's feeling fit—on the home mound. The club rates support as it is playing fine ball in this Toronto circuit. A couple of more imports expected in another week, and lights up during July.

Mutuals downed the Orphans 8-5, while East City defeated UEW 13-10 at the Bowl last eventide in two pretty fair men's softball games. Still seeking a win, the Orphans have been coming close against the best of 'em but can't quite make it. The surging East Citizens drove for seven markers in the eighth inning to take their joust and pull up closer to the second-place UEW bunch, Mutuals being atop the heap. Several arguments on this and that, particularly on the ground rule which says a ball bouncing over the outfield fence is a two-bagger, and not a homer. Playoffs must be approaching the way the boys are fighting lately. Games next Tuesday: UE vs. Mutuals, and Orphans vs. East City.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Two touring Canadian athletes travelled home Thursday night after a "very pleasant" invasion of British and continental tracks.

Toronto's Richard Ferguson and Bob McFarlane, of London, Ont., left from London, Eng., airport — Ferguson to compete in four track meets in the next month, McFarlane to resume work in a "lab" at the University of Western Ontario.

Thus ended a visit in which McFarlane right at the peak of his form, snatched 10 victories against British, United States and European challengers, and finished second and third in his other two appearances.

Ferguson, rated as something of a boy wonder, finished first twice in nine races against older opponents.

The New Haven team in the American Hockey League will operate next season as an independent organization, it was decided Thursday at New York by the league's board of governors.

New York Rangers of the National Hockey League recently announced they had severed connections with the New Haven club, which was reported to have lost $87,000 last year for the Rangers. New Haven finished fourth in the eastern division of the two-division, 10-team circuit.

Maurice Podoloff, who presided over the annual business meeting, said the circuit would function again with eight clubs—five in each division.

Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, former all-star leftwinger in the National Hockey League, will return as coach of North Sydney Victorias of the Cape Breton Senior Hockey League next season, club president Ed Swyers announced Thursday at Sydney, N. S.

Schriner is the only one of last year's Cape Breton coaches expected back. Murphy Chamberlain, former NHL star who coached Sydney Millionaires, and Hal Dewey of Smiths Falls, Glace Bay Miners coach, will not return.

England's all stars, led by centre-forward Nat Lofthouse, with four goals, Thursday night scored a 7-1 victory over Sweden Jonkoping in an international soccer exhibition game seen by a crowd of 12,000 at Montreal.

Mutuals Take 8-5 Win Over Orphans

Mutuals pulled out an 8-5 City Softball League decision over the winless Orphans at the Bowl last night to stay comfortably in front of the pack. They didn't look too impressive in the process, getting fair flinging from Bob Greenlaw and kicking in with four miscues. However, they hit Hinton and Sandersons pretty hard to earn the duke, getting seven of their runs in the first three innings. Sanderson took over in the fourth and went better. Orphans made it a fight to the finish.

Giardino, Crowe and Foster led the victors at bat, while Borland, Carpenter and Dalton were also effective. Bob Greenlaw belted a homer, Dalton a triple, and doubles were clouted by Carpenter, Foster and Giardino. Lewis and Griffin each hit two for Orphans with doubles knocked by Crowley, Hinton, Richardson and Riches. The latter roped in a nice catch in the seventh, and Orphans had two twin killings

Don Budge won the world's Professional Clay Courts Championship at Richmond, Va., four years ago today, taking Bobby Riggs, 5—7, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3, 6—4. The triumph was a partial revenge for the consistent beating Budge took from the Chicagoan on their cross-Continent tour. The five-set match took them four hours and 19 minutes.

OLD PROS—The incomparable Stanley Musial, right, and Enos Slaughter are running one-three or thereabouts in the National League batting race, while supplying the stick work keeping the Cardinals on top of the pennant pace.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

In presenting the prizes at the annual Tip Top Tailors tournament last evening, W. M. Saunders, on behalf of the Tip Top Tailor Co., paid tribute to all who had taken part in this annual event, and expressed his firm's appreciation to the committee and the club in general for their generous support.

The games were keen and well contested and the winners were in doubt until the final ends were played. It is very rarely that you have six rinks w'n their three games, yet that happened in this contest.

The ladies' games scheduled for Monday evening have been postponed until Thursday evening.

Over at Cannington on Wednesday, J. Ditcher, N. Routley and R. F. Downey were the winners.

Tonight, novice singles; ladies' Tip Top Tournament; men's tournament, draw from the board 7.30 o'clock.

Winners:

First and Tip Top Trophy—S. Cummings, I. Cipen, F. Worsencroft, R. Hopkins sk.

Second—Col. Richie, H. Girven, H. Outram, N. Routley sk.

Giants Sweep Doubleheader From Red Wings

By The Associated Press

Andy Tomasic, exiled to the bullpen after completing only one of nine starts, is earning another chance at a starting berth with Jersey City Giants through some neat International League relief pitching.

Tomasic relieved in both ends of a doubleheader last night which the Giants won from Rochester Red Wings 5-2 and 14-5. He saved the first game for rookie George Heller and gained credit for the the victory in the second game.

The twin triumphs moved the Giants to within a half-game of the second-place Red Wings and to within 1½ games of the pace-setting Springfield Cubs.

Tomasic, who hadn't started a game since June 10, relieved Keller in the sixth inning of the opener and held the Wings hitless the rest of the way.

Stops Wings

The big righthander took over from Roger Bowman in the fourth inning of the nightcap and stopped the Wings on three hits over the remaining distance.

Chet Laabs, who poled two home runs to beat the Wings Wednesday night, socked one in each game to increase his output to nine. Laabs featured a four-run explosion with a two-run homer in the fourth inning of the opener and climaxed a three-run rally in the third of the nightcap with his second homer.

Syl Yvars was the big gun in the finale for the Giants. Yvars drove in five runs on a pair of homers.

Trounce Buffalo

Baltimore Orioles trounced the last-place Buffalo Bisons 13-2, behind the seven-hit pitching of Russ Bauers. The victory was Bauers' fifth against one loss. Al Cihocki led Baltimore's 13-hit attack by driving in five runs on a double and three single.

Clyde King, veteran right-hander, pitched Montreal Royals to an 8-0 triumph over Syracuse Chiefs. The victory enabled the Royals to take over fifth place from Syracuse.

King granted nine hits and also drove in a run and scored two on a triple and single.

First baseman Chuck Connors of the Royals climbed into the stands in the eighth inning after a fan and with other spectators joining in there were several punches thrown before police and Montreal players rescued Connors. Connors was banished from the game.

Toronto and Springfield were idle.

Springfield dropped a 4-0 exhibition game to the parent Chicago Cubs before 7,746 fans, largest crowd of the season at Springfield.

Bob Feller Still Has It Lashes Yanks In 6-2 Win

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

Does Bobby Feller still have it? The answer seems to be "yes."

Even in his balmy days, the Cleveland Indian ace had trouble beating New York. Now he's whipped the Yankees twice in a row.

So-so-rapid Robert Rode home Thursday on five tribe homers off the Yanks' lefty Joe Ostrowski, late of St. Louis Browns. The 6-2 victory was No. 199 for Feller. One more and he'll be the only active major leaguer in the 200 club.

With Feller's help, the surging Indians' American League pennant stock is booming. Only 5½ games back, they figure to gain while Detroit and New York play an important four-game series opening today.

Cleveland, winning eight of nine, is the hottest club in the league. Thursday, Jim Hegan and Luke Easter each hit two homers and Ray Boone hit another. For the Yankees Joe DiMaggio nicked Feller for his 13th and big Jawn Mize hit his first.

Embarass Tigers

Washington continued to embarass the Tigers as Bob Kuzava threw a six-hitter for a 5-2 decision. Despite the defeat, Detroit clung to a one-game lead because the Yankees lost.

Irv Noren paced the Washington 13-hit blast with a double and two singles.

With manager Joe McCarthy in Buffalo, N.Y., for a rest and physical check-up, Boston Red Sox dropped another game to Chicago 4-2. Steve O'Neill, a coach under McCarthy, took over as acting manager, perhaps for some time to come.

Philadelphia Athletics pounded four St. Louis pitchers for 15 hits and an 8-4 victory. Sam Chapman got a two-run homer for Philadelphia and Sherman Lollar did the same for the Brownies.

Larry Jansen and Dave Koslo, two New York Giant pitchers juggled the National League standings. Jansen and Koslo blanked St. Louis 3-0 and 5-0, dropping the Cardinals from a first-place tie to third.

Brooklyn Bows

As Brooklyn also lost to Cincinnati 9-5, Philadelphia Phillies sneaked into second place, a half-game out of first, by dumping Pittsburgh 7-4.

Jansen stretched his string of consecutive scoreless innings to 29 with a six-hit effort against the Cards. Koslo allowed only two hits—third inning singles by Eddie Miller and Tommy Glaviano—in the second game.

The Phils parleyed four home runs and a triple play into Bob Miller's sixth straight win. Willie Jones, Del Ennis, Andy Seminick and Bill Nicholson hit the Phils' homers and Ralph Kiner hammered his 15th for the Pirates.

Church Kitchen Improvements Planned

NORWOOD, June 23 (ENS)—The Woman's Association of the United Church made plans on Thursday to consider what improvements can be made to the Church kitchen and a committee of group leaders will meet on Saturday to discuss the matter.

The meeting Thursday was at the home of Mrs. Willis Preston.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. Patterson, reported cards of thanks from Mrs. Carberry, and a card from Mrs. E. Cox of England expressing thanks for parcels received from the Association.

It was decided to send a parcel this month to Britain and Mrs. John McConnell is in charge.

It was decided to buy felt for communion service and also to ask Mrs. Roy Brown to assist Mrs. Stewart prepare communion. The corresponding secretary was asked to send a letter of appreciation to Mrs. W. H. McMillan and Mrs. Fred Gardner for their service in preparing communion.

Mrs. Wesley Chamberlain and her group presented the program, with the theme "Do not judge others too hard," read by Mrs. Chamberlain.

The scripture was read by Mrs. John Marks. A duet was sung by Shirley Starke and Sheena MacPherson and the topic was taken by the Rev. E. E. Pugsley.

Margaret Clarke played the piano. Mrs. Chamberlain expressed thanks to all who helped her, especially the junior members and Mrs. Preston for opening her home. Lunch was served.

Mrs. G. Peoples Hostess To Auxiliary

NORWOOD, June 23 (ENS) — The June meeting of the Evening Auxiliary was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George Peoples when the president paid tribute to the late Miss A. Crawford, a willing and faithful member of the society and the members observed a minute of silence in her memory.

Miss Pauline Weir read the latest report from Miss Rorke, a missionary in Japan and prayer was offered on behalf of the church's missionaries at home and abroad.

Mrs. Gerald LaBrash and her group then took charge of the programs the theme of which was church vacation schools. Mrs. Weir read the account of ten days spent at the first fresh air camp in western Canada, near Winnipeg. Mrs. La Brash spoke of the splendid work done each year on the mission fields by the summer students.

Miss Greta McGee told of the activities at another fresh air camp; Mrs. Everitt Waters explained how the outlying areas of the West are supplied with Sunday school helps and literature and Mrs. Roberts read of the experience of a teacher in one of the summer vacation schools.

Mrs. Doreen Brown played the piano and a lunch concluded the meeting.

Marmora Victors

MARMORA, June 23 (ENS)—Marmora won a closely contested game with Havelock in the Trent Valley Juvenile Baseball League on the latter's grounds Thursday by the score of 6-3. Seven innings were played. Drummond again starred on the mound for the winners getting 13 strikeouts as in the previous two games played and won by his team. Killian and Hickey both got two baggers for Marmora. Vaughan turned in a good game for Havelock. Bales and Laing were effective at bat for the team.

Marmora: Brown ss, Jones cf, Darrah lf, Killian 2b, Borland c, Brooks rf, Hickey 1b, Drummond p, Auger 3b, Dikun cf, Bedore rf.

Havelock: Bales ss, Southward rf, B. Laing 2b, Smith 3b, V. Laing cf, Pollock cf, Cosgrove c, Heath 1b, Vaughan p, McCabe lf.

Roseneath News

Mrs. Walter A. Down, Sr., has sold her house and lot in the village of Roseneath to Mrs. Korah Skinkle, of Alnwick township.

In Fenella, two and a half miles southwest of Roseneath, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan have purchased the W. A. Macklin home.

Mrs. Roy Smith sold her house and lot in the village to Mr. Willis Elder and Mr. Elder has re-sold it to Mr. and Mrs. George, Belleville. Mr. George has taken possession.

Mr. Earl Goodfellow visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Goodfellow, Wooler, during the week.

Guests of Miss Jessie Johnston during the week were: Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Sherwin and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCullough, Baltimore.

MEMORY LANE—Mrs. Christine Gehrig wraps her arms around young ball players at formal opening of Lou Gehrig Memorial Baseball Field in Bridgeport, Conn. Ma Gehrig led a parade, perched on the top of an open auto, to the field named in honor of her late son, the Yankees' famed slugging first baseman.

Two Lindsay Stores Added To Breakins

LINDSAY, June 23—(ENS)—The Lindsay Flour and Feed on Queen St. and G. S. Byrnell & Son Grocery Store in the East Ward were broken into Wednesday night but only a small amount of loot was taken. The thefts were two more in a series of breakins that have taken place in this area.

Sgt. Hargreave, who investigated both breakins, says that he believes they were done by the same person.

Police Chief Webster has asked citizens of Lindsay to help in the search for the guilty party by reporting any suspicious looking persons seen loitering around the town.

Erosion Danger

MUNDESLEY-ON-SEA, Norfolk, England — (CP). — Parishioners have sent a petition to the King asking him to help save their church from falling into the sea. Parts of the church now are only 30 feet from the cliff edge.

Millbrook Plays Host To Circus Lion Cub

MILLBROOK, June 23—(ENS)—A lion cub in the window of the dry goods store owned by Capt. G. A. Wood and Mrs. Wood caused considerable excitement among children and adults alike on Wednesday night "open" night in the vilage.

Capt. G. A. Wood, ho is stationed at Camp oBrden, received a telegram from Mr. Hamel, manager of the Bailey Brothers circus, telling him he could take the cub from Kingston and he brought it to Millbrook on a 24 hours leave.

The lion cub is not quite three months old.

Quakers Victorious

Quakers edged Woollens 10-9 in a fine fastball fray last night, the losers scoring two and having the tying run aboard in the ninth at the last out. The hitting was 16-15 for the winners, but they had five errors to two. Jones and Leonard each had two hits for Woollens, as Nolan hit hard for Quakers, with two homers and a single. Montgomery also clouted two round-trippers. Teams:

Quakers: Connelly, 1b; Nolan, ss; McDonald, rf; Prescott, 2b; Shine, 2b; Logan, cf; Lomax, c; Weaver, 3b; Hughey, lf; Wesenburg, lf; Montgomery, p.

Lions Trounce Riverdales In 17-15 Tilt

TORONTO, June 23 — (CP) — Brampton Excelsiors and Owen Sound Crescents are perched precariously atop the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior league in one of the hottest championship races in years.

In a rough, fast, free-scoring season Brampton remains the league's only undefeated team. The Excelsiors have won seven games. Crescents have won seven and lost one.

Trailing the Crescents by two points up to today are St. Catharines Athletics, while Peterborough Petes remain a scant two points behind St. Kitts.

Hamilton, Mimico, Weston and Toronto straggle behind the leaders in that order.

Prominent in the Brampton line-up has been Fred Severson, an import from the West Coast. Severson has been a leading scorer in most of Excelsiors' games to date. Jim Kinna, another former West Coast player, has been a standout for Peterborough.

The veteran Hamilton team, league champions last year, started the season slowly, but paced by ace forward Stu Scott have picked up steam of late. The last three clubs have been consistently overwhelmed by the league's Big Four.

In the only game scheduled last night, Weston Lions scored their first victory of the season, a 17-15 conquest of Toronto Riverdales who have yet to win a game. The contest was played at Oshawa, because Riverdale's home court is not ready to use.

WI Tells History Of Westwood Branch

WESTWOOD, June 23 (ENS)—The June meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday in the Town Hall, Mrs. William Post presiding.

The program on historical research included a paper on "The History of our Institute" prepared by Mrs. Jane Thompson and read by Mrs. Aubrey Wood. The first meeting was held in March, 1932, at which Mrs. Thompson was the president, and with an attendance of 28 members and four visitors. During the first few years the number on the roll of membership increased to 51, but at the present time there are 28 members.

A report of the district annual held at Havelock was given by the district director, Mrs. William Renwick, and events of interest in current news were told by Mrs. Stuart Graham. This included the announcement of twin daughters born to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon English of Hastings. Mrs. English was the first treasurer of the Institute.

An observation contest sponsored by Mrs. Everett Elmhurst was won by fire people. A draw was held and Mrs. E. W. Sargent and Mrs. Fred Nelson were the lucky winners.

Visitors Invited

It was announced that the July meeting on the third Tuesday of the month will be held in the evening. A speaker from the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Cancer Society will be present and the public is invited to attend at 8.30 p.m. It was unanimously decided against holding a short course this year.

A lunch was served, the hostesses being Mrs. Wood, Miss Margaret Comstock and Mrs. Graham.

Young Canadian Doctor Battles Mosquito Plague

By NEA Foreign Service

ROME —(NEA)— A million Italians, four times as many as lived in Italy's pre-war African colonies, are scheduled to be resettled in Sardinia as a sequel to the cleanup of the island's deadly mosquitoes recently completed with Marshall Plan funds.

Helicopters supplied by the Economic Co-operation Administration sprayed DDT into inaccessible gorges and swamps in the final assault on the stubborn insects that had hampered development of the island for 3200 years.

Sardinia, a rich and beautiful island, was a pest-hole, according to Phoenician accounts of 1200 BC. Ancient Roman emperors confidently sent political enemies there to die.

The island remained underpopulated and more backward even than Italy's southern provinces because until 1946, malaria had grown worse year by year. In 1938 the railroads stopped running on the island for days because all the train crews were down with malaria. Fertile valleys, silver mines, and rich coal deposits were only partially developed.

Spray Houses

As soon as Italy was liberated in World War II, the Rockefeller Foundation at the Army's request began to spray houses with DDT. In 1946 work began on Sardinia.

The Foundation in 1947 sent a young Canadian-born physician, Dr. John A. Logan, who had fought malaria during the war in the Amazon Valley with the Army. He felt so confident of success that he soon brought his wife and two small children to the island.

Dr. Logan learned the native language—a strange dialect resulting from its long isolation, understood by few mainland Italians—and won the confidence of the peasants, who regarded malaria with stubborn fatalism.

The government formed a malaria-fighting agency, called ERLAAS for short, which tried to cover every inch of the island, placing a protective film of DDT and oil on every possible breeding place.

Then the government, battling a serious post-war inflation and a rising tide of Communism, ran short of funds. Dr. Logan and ERLAAS faced defeat. The whole effort would be waisted unless all the malaria-carrying mosquitoes could be killed. Because so many Sardinians have had malaria and retain the blood parasite in their systems even after recovery, a mosquito needs only to bite a native to infect first itself and then start a new outbreak.

At this point the American representatives of ECA were asked if the Marshall Plan could help. About 3,400,000,000 lire — the equivalent in "counterpart funds" of almost $6,000,000—were made available to the battle for Sardinia, as the Italians call it. The ECA also brought helicopters to buzz up and down steep mountain gorges, spraying crannies which could not be reached otherwise. Thousands of native workers followed on foot with spray-guns to make sure that "the last mosquito was dead."

In 1950 Sardinia, for the first year since the time of Christ, is a safe place to live. With Marshall Plan aid, roads are being restored, aqueducts, bridges, hospitals and houses built, plumbing and sewage systems planned. These are making work for the many unemployed on the island, and Communism is losing its last toe-hold among the Sardinians.

THE BATTLE FOR SARDINIA — In native dress, a peasant sprays the mountainside with DDT as a shepherd watches. Marshall Plan funds helped furnish the DDT to end malaria menace that has plagued Sardinia for 3,200 years.

Officer Heads Industrial Plan

OTTAWA, June 23 — (CP) — Maj.-Gen. G. B. Howard, veteran army officer and armaments expert, has been drafted to help the government plan the gearing of Canada's industrial resources in the event of a national emergency. Trade Minister Howe announced Thursday.

The 55-year-old Toronto-born General, head of the Anglo-Canadian Armaments Inspection Board during the Second World War, now is general manager of the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association.

Mr. Howe said that arrangements had been made with the Association to make Maj.-Gen. Howard available to the government on a "consultative basis."

He will deal with the "particular problem of telling Canadian manufacturers what and how much it might be necessary for them to make if trouble comes."

Says Attackers Threatening Him

BRAMPTON, June 23—(CP)—A crippled youth who was stripped and covered from head to foot with shoe polish then beaten, said in court Wednesday that two of his assailants entered the hospital where he lay recovering, and threatened to "get him" if charges were laid against them.

Donald Manderson, 19, partially paralyzed, told of being picked up by a gang of young men in Streetsville, June 4, and taken to a secluded lane where he was undressed, covered with polish, whipped with branches from a tree, and punched.

He said that Norman and Harold Leslie, who are charged with assault along with Murray Glover, saw him in hospital and said a gang would be waiting when he got out if he pressed charges against them.

Manderson said the gang accused him of stealing money from them. A charge of theft of the money against Manderson was withdrawn as the case opened. The trial will resume next Wednesday.

Fickle Felines

STELCAM, Sask. — (CP). — Mother cat's offspring take no notice of her except at mealtimes these days. The rest of the time, the kittens cuddle warmly under a little red hen. The cat just sits forlornly about a foot from the nest waiting for the kittens to get hungry.

Allies On Threshold New Period–Acheson

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 23—(AP) — State Secretary Dean Acheson said Thursday the United States and its allies "are on the threshold of a new period" in their quest for peace.

Despite the obstacle posed by the "inordinate ambition" of Russian leaders, he said, war is not inevitable.

"We are building our strength," Acheson said in a speech prepared for the Harvard University Alumni Association, "in order that we may eliminate the conditions which would give rise to war, and we are on the threshold of a new period in the successful forward movement of this effort."

Three Men Wounded By Gunfire At Plant

MORRISTOWN, Tenn., June 23 (AP)—Three men were wounded by gunfire at the American ENKA Corporation Thursday and 2 hours later a barrage of gunfire shattered windows in the strike harassed rayon producing plant.

Gunfire erupted during a change of shifts at the plant, scene of recurrent disorders since the Textile Workers' Union (CIO) Local 1054 went on strike March 28 in support of a wage increase and other benefits.

The official said at the time of the second outbreak about 60 to 75 men were milling around the gate armed with rifles, shotguns and pistols.

Trustee Appointed Manage Gray Estate

TORONTO, June 23 (CP) — Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven in Ontario Supreme Court Thursday appointed the public trustee to manage the estate of Thomas H. Gray, missing since Feb. 28 from his Scugog Island farm near Port Perry.

Mr. Gray, known as "professor" and reverend," has not been seen since he boarded a bus for Toronto intending to return the same day. When he left home, he was carrying $200.

His wife, Mrs. Nellie Gray, 62, now is residing in Toronto.

FDR's Cousin, H. O. Clarke Running In UK Politics

LONDON — (Reuters) — A British cousin of the late President Roosevelt, Oxford-educated Sir Humphrey Orme Clarke, has been chosen as Conservative candidate in the London borough of Hammersmith.

It will be his first attempt at politics, although he has tried his hand at banking, a diplomatic career, business and gentleman-farming.

In Banking Firm

Sir Humphrey's mother was Elfrida Roosevelt, daughter of Alfred Roosevelt of New York.

The 44 year old Baronet—fifth in a line dating back 120 years—is six-feet-four inches tall.

He has been married three times, and the heir to the baronetcy is his elder son, 10-year-old Charles, by his American second wife Elisabeth, daughter of Dr. W. A. Cook, of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Before the war, Sir Humphrey worked in the family banking firm in New York. From 1940 to 1944, he was a secretary at the British embassy in Washington, and he then spent two years in the British Foreign Office here.

Now he has private business interests and runs his own farm in Gloucestershire.

His job as Tory candidate in South Hammersmith will be tough. In last February's election, Labor won the seat with a majority of 2,600.

Seeks New Job After 48 Years With Railway

MONTREAL— (CP)—A wiry little man who toted baggage for 48 years without going anywhere is all set for a well-earned rest.

The oldest of Canada's railway "red caps" is Henri Lalonde, who is retiring after a career that included service to presidents, premiers, government officials and just plain ordinary travellers.

Henri started his career in the old Montreal Bonaventure station in 1902 and moved to the new C.N.R. Central station when it was opened seven years ago. For 48 years he's been as much a part of the two stations as the trains that rolled in from all over the country.

Although he didn't devote his time especially to the upper crust, he found carrying celebrities' baggage gave him a bigger thrill—and sometimes more money.

Raises 18 Children

And he proved that a lot can be done on a red cap's earnings if you go about it in the right way. He has raised 18 children so far, 12 still living, and he now is able to retire to a cottage of his own in Laval Sur-Le-Lac. How he made it and how much he made are trade secrets.

Now that he's reached the 65-year retirement age, Henri figures he's had enough railroad work.

"Station work is trying and now I want to get something quieter," he says. "After a rest I'll begin looking for a new job."

In the meantime he's off to his summer home.

No, he's not going by train—he's going to drive.

Perfect blueprint for happiness

When did you last read the greatest blueprint for a happy life that was ever drawn—the Sermon on the Mount?

Can you quote a single line of this famous code of human relations? Do you know the sound advice it contains on personal conduct in every day affairs?

In July Reader's Digest (now on sale) T. E. Murphy shows how Jesus in this, his most notable utterance teaches everyone the practical, day-to-day techniques for finding health, success and tranquillity, peace of mind and soul. Here is unfailing refreshment for your spirit.

Actress Glad She's Being De-Garsonized

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 23 (AP) Take it from Amanda Blake, it's no fun being known as a "young Greer Garson."

"I see red only twice—when I look in the mirror and when I read that I'm a second Greer Garson," the young actress remarked.

The 21-year-old redhead from Buffalo, NY, recently severed a contract with M-G-M, home of Miss Garson. Amanda did only two pictures in two years there. She felt that her inactivity might have been caused by the resemblance to the more famous star.

"I felt it many times," she sighed. "Once I reported for a dramatic lesson the coach looked at me and said, 'Amanda, can't you part your hair some other way? It makes you look too much like someone else on the lot.'

"I rush home and parted my hair in the middle and have ever since. I even wore it tied in a big bun in back.

"I don't want to be a reasonable facsimile of anyone. I feel that I have my own personality and I don't want to be typed as anyone else."

But everyone else, including me, seems to note the resemblance.

Happy Ending

Amanda took her crusade to the studio publicity department. "I pleaded with them to stop linking me with Miss Garson. They just nodded and kept on doing it."

Finally she and the studio parted. "I was bored and I guess they were, too," she explained.

But there is a happy ending to the story. She was signed immediately by Columbia Pictures and put into a starring role in a mystery. Furthermore, the studio publicity department is giving her what it calls the "de-Garsonized" treatment.

"It's fun being me again," said Amanda.

Horticultural Society At Sunday Service

OMEMEE, June 23 — (ENS) — Christ Church, Omemee, was filled to capacity Sunday morning for the annual Sunday service of the Omemee and District Horticultural Society.

The service was conducted by the Rev. F. W. Pooley, rector of Christ Church, and the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, pastor of Trinity United, delivered the address.

The floral decoration was profuse. In front of the chancel was a bank of vari-colored June flowers of many varieties, while the altar was adorned with pure white peonies, iris and lilies.

Mr. Pooley extended a warm welcome to the Horticultural Society, the visiting congregation and to Mr. Zufelt as speaker. He expressed his approval of the union service by saying "There should be more such occasions as this." Mr. Zufelt voiced the same sentiment while expressing his appreciation of the goodwill which the service produced.

Mr. Zufelt took for his text: "Consider the lilies." He spoke of the beauty of flowers about which more poetry was written than on any other theme, the botanic wonder of flowers and then the marvel of the Creator's purpose in the planning of every small detail for the protection and care of the flower.

106 DP's Sent Home Over Technicality

NEW YORK, June 23—(AP)—One hundred and six displaced persons who fled totalitarian persecution in Europe 10 years ago and came from the Orient seeking a haven here, sailed for Germany Wednesday.

They said they dreaded going bac' "where our people were gassed after we fled."

A technicality in the United States Displaced Persons Law prevented them from remaining. Several organizations and individuals had sought a way for them to stay. However, authorities decided there was no way out of sending them to a camp in Germany to await processing so that they can return.

Escape Injury

PORT ARTHUR, June 23. (CP) —Four Hydro officials and Pilot Jim Henderson of Toronto, escaped injury Wednesday night when their aircraft broke two front struts in making a water landing here. The plane was returning to the lakehead from Pine Portage and the official opening of a new Hydro station.

Praises Bilingualism

MONTREAL — (CP). — Recent visitor to the local Criminal Court was Magistrate John H. Sheriff of Glasgow, Scotland. "It amazes me how judges and lawyers switch with great facility from English to French," he said. "It also amused me to learn that there were third-generation MacPhersons in Quebec who cannot speak a word of English."

Rimouski Asks Aid For Seminary

An appeal for financial assistance has been made to Peterborough Chamber of Commerce by the Rimouski Seminary, a victim of the fire disaster on May 7.

The seminary, wrote Father Guillaume Dionne, bursar, among the other institutions, was hit severely at a time when there was still at debt of several hundred thousand dollars. The calamity turned not only the house into ruins but also reached many of the affiliate schools training leaders for commerce, maritime, agriculture and technical duties.

"We must rebuild, and as quickly as possible. The future of the youth of our region depends upon our being able to greet them this September and offer them conditions somewhat close to normal operating efficiency.

"In an indirect way, our whole country will feel the benefit of our recovery, since in such a tightly organized society as ours, no institution may run out of order without lessening the general welfare of even the most distant communities."

Despite the help already received, it has been inadequate to meet the urgency and extent of the needs, said Father Dionne.

"If, throughout the country, each Chamber of Commerce were agreeable to appropriate a minimum $10 contribution to our reconstruction, we would be able to face the future with greater confidence, where as your organization would feel none the poorer,—and none the less effective—for it."

YOUTH DIVES INTO SOULANGES CANAL; SAVES DROWNING WOMAN

Gordon Emblem, 22, of Cornwall, Ont., makes plunge in semi-darkness near Cascades, Que.

1. Gordon Emblem and Joseph Hart, both of Cornwall, were driving to Montreal. It was a rainy night and darkness was falling as they were doing the long stretch beside the Soulanges Canal. Suddenly, ahead of them, they saw the red tail light of a car — skidding off the road and over the canal bank!

2. By the time Emblem had put on his brakes, the other car had gone under. Racing to the canal bank, Emblem saw a woman struggling in the water. He took time only to remove some of his clothes . . . and then dove in and grasped her. After several minutes, he managed to bring her to the bank.

3. Joe Hart was at the canal's edge and, using all his strength, succeeded in pulling the woman out. Unfortunately her husband had drowned while she was being rescued. For his gallantry and coolness in averting what would certainly have been a double tragedy, we are proud to present Gordon Emblem with THE DOW AWARD.

THE Dow AWARD

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects Award winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

Iraq Faces Bad Depression Fails To Win Syrian Merger

By STAN SWINTON

BAGHDAD—(CP)—This sun-baked capital and the nation of Iraq—cradle of western civilization—are plagued by the political and economic headaches brought by progress. The country is suffering from a depression. It is frustrated by neighbor Arab nations in a great Iraq desire: Union with Syria.

Iraq had its genesis in the ideal of Arab unity. When the new State was created out of Mesopotamia and placed under British mandate in 1920, the great proponent of a united Arab world, Emir Feisal, was made King. He was of the Hashemite House, which led the revolt in the desert beside Lawrence of Arabia.

Britain and France frustrated Feisal's dream but the idea lives on. As a first step, the Iraqi want to merge with Syria, which has a population of 3,400,000 and an area of 54,300 square miles. Lumped with Iraq's 5,000,000 population and 116,600 square miles this would make a nation of greater political importance with a sounder economic base.

Iraqis believe a majority of Syrians favor merger. In Damascus a reporter encounters both pro and anti-merger sentiment. Certainly a large percentage of Syrians do support the idea. Others might be for it if the sponsors abondoned idealistic generalities for a firm plan defining just what kind of a government they propose.

Still a Dream

Last fall the merger seemed close. But Egyptian and Saudi Arabian pressure on Syria's shaky government made the Syrians shy away.

Saudi Arabia opposed any merger because it would have increased power of the Hashemite House, blood enemies of its king, Ibn Saud.

So Iraq's big political dream of union remains just a dream.

More important in this desert land is the increasing economic depression. The departure of thousands of Iraqi Jews for Israel is a big factor, Iraqis frankly admit. The Jews were the businessmen and money lenders of Bagdad. Now many are gone. Those remaining have taken their capital off the market and hoard it as a result of Arab-Jew tension.

Trade Slumps

As a result, trade has slumped drastically.

Economists say another factor was a recent law that any money lender must declare assests of more than £50 ($155) and keep 15 per cent of his capital in the national bank. Bazaar money lenders—traditionally secretive—had about 1,000,000 pounds in fluid capital to finance Iraq's small traders. Rather than reveal their resources, the lenders hid their money. Many were Jews who felt a declaration of capital might result in discriminatory legislation. As a result, small businessmen cannot get credit and buying has slowed drastically.

All sources agree there is capital in Iraq. How to pry it loose is the big question. Unless this is done, economists fear a full-fledged depression.

Must Do Bargaining

ROYAL MUSKOKA HOTEL, Ont., June 23. (CP)—The capitalistic system cannot survive without full opportunity for free collective bargaining between industry and labor, Prof. J. C. Cameron, director of the industrial relations department at Queen's University, Kingston, said Thursday. Speaking at the conference of the Eastern Canadian Drycleaners' Association, Prof. Cameron said if collective bargaining does not work, the only alternative is a regulated society and police state.

Lengthen Work Day

OTTAWA, June 23. (CP) — Some 123,000 civil servants across Canada will start reporting to work 15 minutes earlier than usual July 3, under a new five-day summer work week, State Secretary Bradley announced on Thursday. During July and August staff working hours will be lengthened three-quarters of an hour each day from Monday through Friday. But most civil servants will not be required to work Saturday morning as at present.

UAW Replaces Union President

DETROIT, June 23 (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers international executive board unanimously voted Thursday night to place an administrator over Ford Local 542 at Canton, O., where a strike threatens Ford Motor Company production.

The action suspends William M. Owen, local president, and other officers.

The board appointed regional director Patrick J. O'Malley of Cleveland as administrator for the Canton local.

The action means O'Malley will take charge of the local's affairs until he feels good order is restored. Then he will supervise an election for officers within the local.

Ford accused Owen of assisting an AFL union in a strike that has closed the Canton plant since Tuesday. The company said a continuance of the strike would shut down Ford's entire system.

The UAW, which did not authorize a strike at the plant, accused Owen of attempting to lead local members out of the CIO and into the AFL.

Propose Several Changes In Canadian Citizenship Act

OTTAWA, June 23. (CP) — A series of changes to Canada's Citizenship Act were proposed Thursday night in the Commons by Citizenship Minister Harris.

The changes, already passed by the Senate, would:

1. Make clear that a child born on a Canadian airplane, as is the case with ships, is a Canadian by birth.

2. Exclude from the status of natural-born Canadian citizens the children born in Canada of parents in the diplomatic or consular service of foreign governments.

3. Enable Canadian women who lost their citizenship through marriage to an alien prior to Jan. 1, 1947, to regain Canadian citizenship.

4. Enable Canadians who became naturalized in a foreign country and who returned to Canada to spend the rest of their lives to regain their citizenship after one year.

5. Permit the granting of Canadian citizenship to adopted legitimate children if the adopter, or the legally-recognized father, is a Canadian citizen.

Bring Into Line

6. Bring the Act into line with constitutional developments in India and Pakistan and give the term "Commonwealth Citizen" the same meaning as "British subject."

7. Give citizens of the Republic of Ireland the same status as that enjoyed by British subjects in Canada.

8. Permit, in the case of a Canadian who deliberately acquires nationality in an enemy country, a discretion that either he be held to his responsibilities as a Canadian citizen, or that he be deprived of such citizenship.

Mr. Harris said that a number of other changes, mainly of a technical and administrative nature, are planned to clarify the Act in the light of experience since it came into force Jan. 1, 1947.

The bill was quickly given second reading.

Peterboro' Welcomes US Kiwanis

The Union Jack and Old Glory few side by side in Peterborough Thursday afternoon while expressions of international goodwill were exchanged.

It was a return visit paid by the Watertown, NY, Kiwanis club to the Peterborough club which made the trip to New York state back in 1948. Altogether there were 20 United States' visitors—19 from Watertown, headed by their president, Roy Hayes, and the New York district governor, Harold White of Albany.

The party was met at Havelock by local club members and escorted to the city limits by the provincial police. Then the city police took over and the car caravan was led to the Empress Hotel for a reception and dinner.

Part of the welcoming ceremony included a kilted bagpiper "piping them in." After a short get together and chat Canucks and Yanks linked arms and strolled into the Kawartha room for dinner.

The United States guests were Harold White, New York district governor; Roy Hayes, Watertown president; Marvin Fairbanks, vice president and chairman of the international goodwill committee; Dr. Robert Kilburn, treasurer; Chester Hoyt, Dick Bern, Dr. Louis Stabins, Dr. Larry Henderson, Sanford (Pop) Poppleton, Lyman Goodrich, Louis Grapotte, Wesley Plumpton, Maurice Jones, Leslie Chellis, Stanley Corp, Art Hinds, Sam Kallen, Rolly Deline, Ralph Mifflin, and Earl Young.

Following the dinner the United States Kiwanians were taken on a sight-seeing trip through the surrounding district as far as Burleigh Falls. The return journey was through Young's Point and Chemong Park.

Governor White, an attorney by profession, warned both his fellow countrymen and Canadian Kiwanians not to take too literally the oft-repeated advice to keep the club "out of politics."

This advice did not mean adopting any party platform—Democratic or Republican, Liberal or Conservative—but keeping in touch with "the issues of the day."

Back Good Government

"Talk about aggressive citizenship amounts to nothing unless we back up our phrases with non partisan action on behalf of good government," he said.

If the definition of "no politics" were followed to its logical conclusion, Kiwanis could not take a stand on socialism, communism, or most of the other significant issues of our times, governor White continued.

"The fact is that Kiwanis, through the international organization, have decided in favor of good government, peace, free enterprise and democracy."

"Why are you in Kiwanis?" he asked.

Not for business nor to make money; nor just to have a good time.

Develop Personality

It might be for fellowship or for the "liberal education" that comes with holding office. But the main reason, he suggested, was the appreciation of human personality and the desire to develop it—particularly in the children of the community.

"We have a job to do and we can't do better than give our time in this way. We are moulding the minds of boys and girls to help make a better community."

Last year some 40,000 boys were playing baseball in the New York district under the sponsorship of the Kiwanians, he said. Boys playing baseball are not getting into trouble with the police.

He though the Peterborough club might consider this project.

Gifts Presented

Travel alarm clocks were presented to governor White, Kenneth Loheed of Toronto, governor of the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime district, and Roy Hayes, Watertown president. The visitors were welcomed to the city by Mayor Max J. Swanston.

Al Plaskett, Peterborough president, was chairman when the dinner meeting began but part way through he handed the gavel over to Mr. Hayes.

had gone to Moscow to study at the International Lenin School, which had "world disruption" as its main object. While protected by a Canadian passport, they were preparing themselves to "commit revolution" in Canada.

Mr. Garson said the government can and will prosecute persons who go to Moscow and disclose secret infrmation,whether or not they are Canadians. But it could do this only if it had evidence against them.

Mr. Fleming termed the legislation "too little and too late."

Dr. Gauthier felt there should be a crusade against the Red doctrine in which all like-minded persons could take part.

Mr. Fulton and Mr. Stewart suggested that the government appoint a board to which civil servants dismissed because their loyalty was questioned could appeal.

Cattle Prices Remain Firm During Past Week

TORONTO, June 23—(CP). — Cattle prices were firm on cows and bulls and from 25 to 50 cents higher on steers and heifers this week at the Ontario Stockyards, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today.

Calves were $1 a hundredweight lower. Hogs gained 25 cents and lambs were $1 to $2 a hundredweight lower with sheep unchanged.

Cattle receipts of 5,123 head were 695 fewer than last week. The run was the lightest of any week so far this year. Export buying was only moderate in volume but domestic demand was fairly good.

Expect No More Raw Sewage Dumped In River

Flow of raw sewage into the Otonabee opposite the sewage disposal plant will be halted within three weeks, J. G. Powell, plant engineer, said Thursday.

At present, the sewage bubbles up to the surface of the river near the exit of the old Park St. drain, making a grey stain on the surface and leaving an ugly black mark on the shore in front of a number of cottages.

Members of city council took an hour off Thursday afternoon to peer at the working of the sewage plant and to hear Mr. Powell of Grove and Storrie, Toronto consulting engineers, explain the plant's operation.

Completion of the plant should come about the end of September Mr. Powell told the aldermen. Last year, when the plant was started, it was expected to be finished by July 1 of this year.

However, he pointed out, bad weather and high water this spring, plus a delay in letting the contract, have caused the delay. Another bottleneck was the digging of holes for the digestion tanks. The plant, save for these tanks, will be ready to go in about a month.

Sewage will come from the sewer to the plant, and will be pumped into primary settlement tanks where about half of the sediment will be removed. Prior to this, rags and other bulky objects will be strained out.

Sewage will then flow to secondary settlement tanks and eventually to aeration tanks, from which it will return to the river, clean.

Sludge from the various settlement tanks will be pumped to the digestion tanks, where it loses a good deal of its odor.

Possibility of selling the sludge as fertilizer was discussed during the visit, and it was pointed out by Mr. Powell, that only since the war, has Milwaukee made its sewage - fertilizer, Milorganite, pay.

FIRST VISITING CRUISER of the summer season, AL-JOE II of Harbour Springs, Michigan, warped into George St. Wharf on Thursday noon, southbound from Georgian Bay. The craft, owned by C. M. Hammond of Indianapolis, Ind., was launched about a month ago; its appointments incorporating many ideas of the owner, are the last word in utility and workmanship. The cruising party of eight were taken pickerel fishing at Pigeon Lake today and will try trout fishing on Saturday. — (Examiner Staff Photo)

First Cruiser Of Season Ties At Wharf

"That's a dreamboat." This was the comment by a spectator as he watched the Al-Joe II from Harbor Springs, Michigan, rock with the waves at the government wharf on Little Lake Thursday afternoon.

The 30-day-old craft, a cabin-cruiser by Chris-Craft, owned by C. M. Hammond of Indianapolis, is the first visiting cruiser to come through the Trent system this season. The water-tourists were met at the wharf by James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who had been advised that the cruiser would be docking in Peterborough for a few days.

Eight days ago the six passengers, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hammond, son Joe, Mr. and Mrs. W. Preston Ross of Indianapolis and Miss Donna Hecox of Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, left Harbor Springs for a summer cruise to Montreal and Quebec. Since then they travelled the Great Lakes to Port Severn and down the Trent canal to Peterborough. The craft was docked at Lakefield over Wednesday night.

Go Fishing

Through the efforts of Mr. Fraser the craft was serviced and passengers advised on suitable fishing spots. Today they spent the day fishing at Pigeon Lake and Saturday they will try their luck for trout in the Bewdley region.

Upon completion of their stay in Peterborough they will cruise to Lake Ontario. From there they plan to go to Montreal where they will leave their craft for another travel to Quebec. They will return through Lake Ontario and Lake Erie along the American side visiting Rochester and other cities along the way. More than a month from now they plan to dock at the home wharf at Harbor Springs.

Mr. Hammond's cruiser is named after his wife, Alice, and his son, Joseph. It was launched about a month ago with many ideas of the owner being incorporated in the plans. When night arrives the cruiser is capable of sleeping eight. In the stern is one cabin which is equipped with a double bed and a single. In the bow is the kitchen and another small cabin with bunks. The kitchen can easily be converted into a bedroom in a matter of minutes.

The lounge is of African mahogany wood with more than the comforts of most homes. It is situated between the the sleeping cabins and the bow kitchen.

Post Office Delivers Mail To More Houses In City

The Post Office at Peterborough extended its mail delivery services this week to cover all parts of the city, but coverage of the additional streets has necessitated cutting down the number of deliveries in some areas. Twenty-nine streets or sections of streets where there was previously no delivery by mail carriers from the city office, have been incorporated in the city mail service.

The extended services are in three parts of the city, in the south between Braidwood Ave. and the river; in the west between Lansdowne W and Sherbrooke W; and in the northeast, the Morrow estate and south to the river.

Of the 28 mail routes in the city, seven are now covered on a once daily delivery basis, the remaining 21 receiving mail twice a day. The central business section has had its service cut from three to two deliveries daily.

A group of residents in the south of the city, immediately north of the section which is now receiving mail for the first time, has protested against their service being cut from two deliveries daily to one. Some have suggested presenting a petition in protest.

Takes 48 Hours

Those who complain are people whose mail from Montreal now takes 48 hours. It arrives in Peterborough in the morning, too late to be taken out by the carrier for morning delivery, and remains at the Post Office until the following morning.

Andrew Jackson, Post Office supervisor of mail carriers, said Thursday that when he asked for three additional carriers in order to operate the new schedule, he was allowed only one. This made the job much more difficult and apart from inconvenience to the public, means that several mail carriers have to work a six day week.

The carriers have to work a seven and a quarter hour shift every day except Sunday in order to maintain two deliveries daily in some areas and one in others.

Not Enough Carriers

"We have done all we can to see that the business people get two deliveries, Mr. Jackson said, "The public may complain but we don't like this system either," he added.

There is a staff of 32 carriers, who start at 6 a.m. to sort their mail ready to go out on their walks at 8 a.m., Mr. Jackson explained. With 28 routes, that leaves a leeway of only four men, three of whom are at present on holiday.

In addition to delivering letters and parcels, the postman's job includes putting circulars through the letter box. There were four different sets of circulars awaiting one carrier alone, Thursday afternoon and every householder received a copy of each.

New Delivery Streets

The streets which are now getting mail delivery from the city for the first time are:

Rose Ave., O'Connell, Hawley, Little, McKellar W, Gillespie, Orpington, Cameron, Howden, Arndon, St. Catharine, Riverside, Spruce, Monaghan and Erskine in the south.

Lansdowne W, Western, Frank, Clonsilla W, Sherbrooke W, Grandview, Kenneth, Third, Hillcrest, Manor Hill and Hopkins W, in the west.

Wolsley, Mason, Brookdale, Chesterfield and Aberdeen W in the north; Curtis, Swanston and Caddy in the northeast. Snelgrove Ave. will be serviced as soon as work on the road is completed, probably within a week, and plans are made to deliver mail on Watts Ave. and Welch St. as soon as road conditions are satisfactory.

Kinsmen Club Names Officers

With the exception of the position of president, the Kinsmen Club elected Thursday night its officers for the 1950-51 at a meeting at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. The president will be elected at the first meeting of the club in September as well as the service committees appointed.

Th officers elected were: first vice-president, Clarence Boorman; second vice-president, Howard Doolittle; secretary, Donald Kitchen; treasurer (acclamation), Richard Jones; registrar (acclamation), William VanAtter, directors, Jack Lewis, Arthur Black, John Wocker, William Godson and William Roche.

Following the business session during which William VanAtter and Harry Huff each received a ham for perfect attendance, the club members adjourned to Riverside Park where the booths were erected for the carnival today and Saturday. Runnersup in the attendance contest were Howard Powell and Al Wilson.

Two Cars In Collision Driving North Of City

Two cars were in a minor collision about 6 p.m. Thursday on Highway 28, 1¾ miles north of the Nassau turn. There were no injuries and damage amounted to $50.

Ernest T. Davis, RR 10, Peterborough, was driving north on the highway and then made a left turn into a private drive. Another northbound car, this one driven by Alex Dunford, Albert St., Lakefield, was trying to pass the Davis car and the two vehicles collided.

Provincial constable J. R. Pollard investigated.

AID TO MANITOBA RELIEF

About 700 spectators were in the Brock Ballroom Thursday night for the repeat performance of the YWCA gym pageant and ballet which was presented to raise money for the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. About 80 per cent of the performers were on hand and the show went over well two-year-old Janice Crary making a steal with her own improvised dance. Miss Caroline Littlefield, physical director of the Y, expects to have a balance of more than $200, to turn over when all returns from ticket sales are in and her expense and advertising, printing tickets and programs are paid.

Employer-Union Agreement Cuts Work Week

Some 15 Dominion Stores employees in Peterborough are affected by a master agreement signed Thursday between the Retail and Wholesale Employees Union (CIO-CCL) and Dominion Stores Ltd.

Altogether stores in six Ontario centres are included in the agreement. The Peterborough bargaining unit is Local 505—a composite local that includes two other retail businesses.

The settlement cuts the work week from 44 to 42 hours and provides union shop, vacations of one week after six months and two weeks after one year, nine statutory holidays with pay, a $9.25 cost-of-living bonus and some adjustment in pay rates. Centres involved are Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Oshawa and Peterborough.

Driver Hurt When Car Crashes Tree

A Toronto man is in St. Joseph's Hospital with minor injuries and his car is wrecked after crashing into a tree late Thursday night on Highway 7, five miles east of Peterborough.

Hugh M. Scott, 56, Toronto, sustained injuries to his jaw and leg and received a lacerated tongue. He spent a good night and his condition is not considered serious.

The accident occurred about 8 p.m. as Scott, unaccompanied, drove toward Peterborough. He lost control of the car and it ran into the ditch, smashing into a tree, a total wreck.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where he is being treated by Dr. John T. Stewart.

Provincial Constables J. R. Pollard and Harold Armstrong investigated.

Students Visit Two Industries

Forty-five students of the Newcastle High School visited the Peterborough and Lakefield area today. Through the Chamber of Commerce a morning and afternoon itinerary was arranged.

During the morning the pupils visited the Quaker Oats Company and Western Clock plants and the Lift Lock.

They were taken along the Otonabee by the River Road to the Lakefield park where they picnicked until 2 p.m. Finally they boarded two cruisers at the Lock 22 wharf for a trip along the Trent canal and over the Lift Lock to the George St. wharf. From there they visited the Normal School where a number plan to attend next term.

Bicyclist Strikes Open Door Of Car

Two men were slightly injured in city accidents Thursday. One received a cut hand, and the other a bruised forehead.

M. Haynes, 588 Waterford St., riding his bicycle on George St., struck the open door of a parked car and was thrown to the street. He suffered a cut hand. The auto is owned by H. J. Weir, 773 Water St.

Howard Outram, 186 George St., passenger in a truck, suffered a bruised forehead when the truck was in collision with a car driven by Joseph Finn, Indian River.

Finn was driving west on Hunter St., and started to make a left turn into the service station when his car was in collision with the truck, driven by Carl Foster, RR 4 Peterborough.

Foster said he didn't see Finn signal his turn, although Finn claimed he did. Outram was thrown against the windshield of the truck.

COALS TO NEWCASTLE

Bringing coals to Newcastle . . . . that just about sums up one humorous feature of the Thursday visit of 19 Watertown N. Y., Kiwanians to the Peterborough club. Living up to their national reputation for generosity the New Yorkers decided to give their Canadian cousins something they understood was very scarce here. And so each Peterborough Kiwanian was solemnly handed a five-pound bag of flour. "Don't ask me where we ever got the idea you needed flour up here," said the chairman of the goodwill committee while the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel shook with international laughter.

Dairy Farmers Approve One-Cent Toll

That any dairy farmer of Peterborough County should object to the toll of one-cent-a-pound butter fat in June, for a publicity and propaganda fund, will deeply grieve Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore, president of the Ontario Creamery Producers.

Creamery management has reported a few producers who have refused to contribute with their fellows for the welfare of their industry.

Three were listed at Silverwoods and more than that number at Campbell's Dairy.

"Several of them not only told the truckers that they didn't want their cheques touched, but they even came in to tell me about it," said W. G. Ovens, manager at Campbell's Dairy.

"One man was particularly wrathy, and I could say to him that he was protesting to the wrong person," Mr. Ovens said.

Too Few To Bother About

The commodity group levy is a cent a pound on butter fat, and an equivalent 3½c per hundred pounds of milk, for a month.

Eddie Butler, president of Peterborough Whole Milk Producers, said: "There might be one or two, or something like that, but they are too few to bother about. I suppose we'll never get everybody in full agreement on any subject, and in a democracy they can express themselves. There is no whipping them into line in this country.

One producer in the manufactured milk patrons group asked me about this fund. She said she did not know what it was about, and when I explained it to her as well as I could she was quite satisfied. She was the only one who spoke to me.

Generally, I understand the response of our milk industry has been very good. Probably some of those few exceptions who held out did not understand the purpose of the fund. Some of them rarely come out to a meeting and are not informed about the merits of such things. I think there was probably more lack of understanding than adverse sentiment in those cases."

The dairy industry all the way from Gilbert McMillan, president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, down through the creamery producers and whole milk group, is deeply worried about the effects of the booming margarine business on butter volume and dairy production.

The cent a pound toll on butter fat in June, plus the milk levy, has been carried on for 10 years by the farmers of 40 of the States of the Union to the south. They sought the money to spend on advertising their business and their products.

Norman McConkey said that the surprising observation of his trip recently through Illinois and other States was publicity of dairy products on billboards and through other mediums.

The American dairy farmers several months ago voluntarily increased their set-aside, a euphemism for toll, to one-half cent per pound of butter fat sold throughout the entire year. It had previously been the same as in Canada, one cent pound only in June.

Campbellford Wants Form Independent Municipality Break Away From County

CAMPBELLFORD, June 23—(ENS)—Campbellford town council decided Thursday to withdraw from the counties council of Northumberland and Durham and to set Campbellford up as an independent municipality. This action was voted unanimously by the council after the cost of remaining in the school area had been fully discussed. The town solicitor was instructed to institute proceedings immediately and to draw up any papers necessary to allow Campbellford to withdraw from the county and become an independent municipality.

A delegation from the township of Seymour attended the Campbellford meeting. Reeve A. B. Billen said he would follow the lead of the town if it became a separate municipality and Seymour pupils would attend the Campbellford school.

If Campbellford were to allow the Counties Council to high pressure them into becoming part of the Brighton High School area, the town would have to pay its share of the debentures on a new school building which would cost in the neighborhood of $600,000, Councillor W. A. Kingston declared. There would be the upkeep of this school and the transportation of town pupils to it.

The town would also have to accept its share of the debentures now outstanding on the Warkworth, Castleton, Colborne, Brighton and Wooler schools. The high school in Campbellford was practically paid for now, only two more payments to be made.

Rawdon township would wind up paying one-third of the debentures on two other schools, but would have none of its own.

Pay Eight Mills a Year

Campbellford now paid about eight mills a year in taxes to the counties council. The counties had never quite been able to make up its mind what it considered to be a school area, having first had three, then changing it to two and now back to one.

Unless Campbellford Council took some definite action now, the town would be forced into the school area next week.

The powers that be in the southern part of the county had no love for the Campbellford area and Campbellford representatives would be voted down at the special meeting of the county council to be held next week to pass the third reading of the bill. If Campbellford was going to become independent, now was the time to take the step.

The high school in the town was practically paid for. If the town were to go into one large area, the counties would take over the assets and regulate the standards of the schools.

The Campbellford school was valued at $300,000 and could accommodate more students than it had at present. Campbellford would pay increased taxes for the next 20 years on the initial cost of the new school alone.

Would Lose Grants

On the other side, there was to be considered that if the town did become independent, it would receive no grants from the counties for its school or hospital, and would have to look after its own aged and indigent patients. Only one of these was at present in the home at Cobourg.

Last year Campbellford paid the county $14,100 in taxes, it was said, and got back only about $4,000. This, it was claimed, was for value received and was not in any way in the form of a grant.

The counties council decided some time ago to build a new home for the aged and after spending some $7,000 of the taxpayers' money on architect fees, decided it would not go through with the plan after all.

The meeting was adjourned to Monday, when the town solicitor will be present and also the councillors who were absent on Thursday night.

Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason was in the chair in the absence of Mayor J. E. Ayrhart. Councillor Maybee and Reeve Ralph Lock were also absent.

Fraser Praises Recent Work Of Film Board

OTTAWA, June 23 (CP)—One of the House of Commons' most outspoken critics of the National Film Board had some kind things to say Thursday about the board's recent work.

Gordon Fraser (PC, Peterborough) said he approved a new setup the board contained in a bill introduced by Resources Minister Winters.

The bill re-defines functions of the board and ends the former practice of having two cabinet ministers sit as members.

Speaking of the board's recent productions, Mr. Fraser said a well-known motion picture man had told him sound effects had improved.

"He said that during the first five years of the existence of the board the sound effects always reminded him of the man in charge at the time," said Mr. Fraser. "They sounded like Communist music. Now we have a little softer music and the effect is much better."

A Lovely Drive - - A Delicious Meal

Instead of wondering what to do on Sunday—plan now to treat the family to a delightful meal (noon or evening) at Gil-Mar Lodge. It is located on Sturgeon Lake just 28 miles from Peterborough. The roads are good — the scenery beautiful — and your meal in our large panelled dining room overlooking the lake—a real treat. We hope too that you will not rush away—but stay and just take it easy on the terrace. In the evening after dinner you can enjoy our regular Sunday musical and then drive home in the cool of the evening, relaxed after a delightful day. Luncheon is served at noon $1.25. Dinner 6 to 7:30 p.m. at $1.50. To drive to Gil-Mar lodge turn north at Omemee—to Dunsford and then west on the highway one mile to the Gil-Mar Lodge sign post. It's good road all the way. For reservations on Sunday, or any day of the week, phone Dunsford 22.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Reeve Robert Armstrong Of Cavan Growing First Field Of Elite Cornell 595 Wheat In District—George McLaughlin, Oshawa, Says Ontario Holsteins Rate With Best Across The Border—Victoria Farmers Greeted By The Master Of Malabar Farm.

The first field of registered Cornell 595 winter wheat grown in this district is in head on the farm of Robert Armstrong of Cavan.

He sowed four bushels of elite stock on 2½ acres last fall. The seed was part of the supply distributed to specialty growers by the federal Department of Agriculture last year.

Mr. Armstrong qualified for that distinction as a member of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association which is in charge of the distribution of registered seed in co-operation with the Dominion and provincial departments.

The field was waist high and heavy in grain last week, an exceedingly attractive sample of cereal production in the green stalk.

That is the nearest registered Cornell to Peterborough. Mr. Armstrong has been growing and exhibiting, and also selling, registered seed for fifteen years. A lot of wheat was killed out in 1934, when A. D. Runions was agriculture representative in this county. He and William Michaels of the Dominion seed division talked of registered seed, and Mr. Armstrong got a bushel of Dawson's Golden Chaff from Simcoe county.

Won Duffus Cup

About that time Senator J. J. Duffus donated a silver trophy to the Peterborough Crop Improvement Associatinn to stimulate member interest in grain growing. Gordon Hancock won it the first and second year. Mr. Armstrong took it the next two. Then it switched to the possession of Ralph Drummond of Otonabee. In the following year it returned to Mr. Armstrong as a permanent award.

In that experience his interest deepened in growing registered grain crops. This season he has Cornell wheat, Galore barley and Beaver oats. Incidentally, he likes a field of commercial Cornell that he mentioned several times last Monday afternoon. There are about 20 acres of that grade of the new fall wheat.

Mr. Armstrong has charge of 64 test plots of oats and barley, eight varieties of each grain, and each variety duplicated in four plots for adequate range of test.

In oats, for instance, there are four plots each of Ajax, Cartier, Erban, Roxton, Clinton, and two that are only yet designated by numbers: C-15 and GA-14.

Testing seed and propagating registered seed are two of Mr. Armstrong's activities apart from the general work on his farm.

Modified Strip Farming

Partly with an eye to preventing erosion on two slopes in one field, Mr. Armstrong is growing wide sections in oats, wheat, hay oats. It suggests something of the method of "strip" farming. The broad hay lot was a seeding last year of alfalfa, brome grass, red clover and timothy, "but the alfalfa has pretty nearly taken full possession," Mr. Armstrong said.

He did not hesitate to indicate a mistakes in too close cropping last fall of another field, and as a result the alfalfa suffered considerable heaving from frost.

The first of these two hay areas may yield three tons to the acre when cut in flower, but the second one is likely to be plowed under.

Although Mr. Armstrong lives in Durham county, several miles west of Scott's Corners, he is regarded as a member of the Peterborough community, and has been active in its affairs. He is president of the Peterborough Crop Improvement Association this year, and is also Reeve of Cavan township, an indication of his genuine spirit of citizenship.

Robert Armstrong is particularly a grain specialist. That has been his chief interest in the last 15 years, and much of his good seed has been distributed throughout this district. He has been a consistent supporter of the Crop Improvement Association, and is one of the comparatively few farmers of elite registered seed in the province.

Grain For Boys' Club

Robert Bell, assistant agricultural representative, announced some weeks ago that he had arranged with Mr. Armstrong to supply registered Cornell seed for the boys' grain club which he is planning for this summer and fall. The first fifteen applicants will be accepted. Three have already signed for the club, and Mr. Bell is hoping that others who wish to join will do so at once.

The Armstrong farm is clean and tidy and is showing a lot of growth as the season advances through June with timely rains.

In that registered Cornell field, Mr. Armstrong was finishing its only vacant area in preparation for corn. The layout of the field from west to east was: oats, corn, wheat, hay and oats.

BLOW TO DAIRY INDUSTRY

Margarine interests have won the first round in their battle with the dairy industry of Canada, Dr. E. C. Hope, Ottawa, economist of the Federation of Agriculture, told 5,000 farmers at the 8th annual field day of Huron Federation at Goderich as reported last week from London.

He said the federal government had for 80 years considered it sound to protect and foster a Canadian dairy industry.

"If they do not wish to see this major industry destroyed or go into a 20-year slump then they must take immediate steps of a permanent nature to provide some measure of protection."

To the question why there should be a hue and cry raised against butter, Dr. Hope charged that the textile industry in Canada had taken the consumer for a ride under tariff wall of 22 to 25 per cent.

"Is there any more justification for destroying the dairy industry than there is for destroying the textile industry or the electrical goods industry, which might be the case if they received no tariff protection?"

Dr. Hope said 105 million pounds of butter would be dumped this year into a market which used to consume around 268 million pounds of butter. In other words 40 per cent of the butter market was being taken away from the Canadian dairy farmer.

"We simply cannot produce butter at 40 cents a pound at present costs, which is what we have to do under full competition with margarine."

DURHAM FEDERATION PICNIC

Ed. A. Summers, representative in Durham of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and Mrs. Summers, will be guests of the county Federation at its picnic July 5 at Orono Community Park. M. H. Staples is president. An address will be presented to Mr. Summers in recognition of his 20 years' work in the county promoting the interests of agriculture and especially among its junior farmers.

MATCH AT PLAINVILLE

The Durham - Northumberland plowing match will be in the Plainville section of Hamilton township Oct. 4, directors decided last Friday night at Port Hope. President Len Henderson mentions the date as information to other groups in the district. The program will include a tractor rodeo for juniors.

CANADIAN QUALITY HIGH

Ontario county Holstein cattle will rank in type and quality with the best on the continent, George McLaughlin of Elmcroft Farms, near Oshawa, said at the county Holstein breeders' picnic last Saturday at Ransom Stock Farm. He based his statement on observations of some of the leading stock farms in two recent trips to the United States.

On one of those visits he paid $9,000 at a Holstein auction. He told his audience that the man who was bidding against him offered him $15,000 for the bull immediately after the sale.

Mr. McLaughlin said he had been criticized for buying south of the border. His reply that the animal was "exactly what we wanted." Furthermore, it was reciprocity to buy occasionally in the United States.

On the buying trip he was accompanied by Prof. A. D. Runions of OAC; Roy Ormiston, Holstein fieldman; and Harold Jebson, herdsman at Elmcroft.

"An 'execellent' cow in the U.S.A. certainly would not be given that rating here," Mr. McLaughlin said. The reason was that the system of grading was different. American breeders seemed to fear regimentation by their association. The rigid requirements of the Canadian organization were not to their liking.

Apparently they overlook the fact that the grading here was imposed after a majority of the breeders so decided. In that respect it was entirely voluntary.

CREATES JERSEY HERD

One of the good Jersey herds in Durham is owned by R. P. Stenger of Enniskillen. The family came from eastern Europe, established a small herd on a farm in Cartwright, increased their property and in a few years have built up an outstanding Jersey herd, according to a note from James Bremner of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club. Several of the cows have recently completed records, including Enniskillen M. J. Basilla Pinn, with a junior four-year-old record of 8,618 lbs. milk and 494 lbs. fat in 365 days.

A cow bred by M. W. Staples of Orono, Village View Standard Girl, produced 10,985 lbs. milk and 487 lbs. fat in 341 days.

Several records have recently been reported in the Bamforth & Kelly herd in North Monaghan. In the herd of Dr. W. W. Sherwin, Orono, Village Jester's Margaret completed a senior three-year-old record of 9,064 lbs. milk and 522 lbs. fat in 305 days. She is a daughter of the superior sire, Edgeley Standard Jester's Lad, formerly at the head of the herd of Prof. Staples, and now owned by an artificial breeding unit in New Brunswick.

KEMPTVILLE GRADUATES

Peterborough students who recently completed their two year course at Kemptville Agriculture School were: Miss Jean Bolton, Lloyd Thackeray, Kenneth Masters and Douglas Meiklejohn.

Mr. Thackeray placed third in the order of proficiency and Mr. Masters sixth with percentages of 79.4 and 75.9 respectively.

Mr. Thackeray, 365 Park St. north, Peterborough, was awarded the Stanley G. Anderson Shield for the greatest proficiency in agricultural engineering.

Clarence Shannon of Marmora, 75.8 per cent, received the A. G. Logsdail trophy for the greatest proficiency in horticulture.

Other Peterborough district students who were graduated in agriculture by the Kemptville School were: Harlan McCarrell, Omemee, RR-1; Hugh Laundry, Bancroft; Timothy Rolph, Cobourg.

Miss Bolton was graduated in home economics. With her from the district were Margaret Hancock of Port Hope, Lorraine Vodden, Brighton.

Top ranking student in the agricultural course was Michael Banyard with 83.9 per cent who came from England to enroll.

NEGLECT MARKETING

The average farmer spends 98 per cent of his working time on production and practically no time at all on the important business of selling his products, was the statement of Dan Stouffer president of United Co-Operatives of Ontario, to 500 farmers of Wellington Federation of Agriculture at Moorefield Tuesday. Selling, he said, was essential to prosperity.

Mr. Stauffer urged the Federation to use all its influence as a national unit to persuade government to take action that would be fair to farmers. He said he did not like the term "pressure group," but such groups worked effectively for other segments of the Canadian economy.

VISITED LOUIS BROMFIELD

Victoria farmers' trip last week end to Louis Bromfield's Malabar Farm near Mansfield, O., was a wonderful experience, as related by T. C. Taylor, Bobcaygeon, president of the county Federation of Agriculture.

"This adventure was to most of us a highlight in our lives," he said. "Friday June 16 we spent an hour at the farm of Douglas Hart, Woodstock, seeing his Holstein cattle and Yorkshire swine and his forage harvester and blower making grass silage. We picked up some new views there on pasture and hay.

After supper we went out from Chatham to Lawrence Kerr's farm. He is one of the outstanding farmers in Ontario, growing a big cash crop of tobacco, carrots, canning beets, sugar beets, soybeans and so on.

He also feeds from 150 to 250 cattle, and usually has on hand several hundred hogs. He also was making grass silage, harvesting a very heavy crop of hay."

The party from Lindsay district reached Malabar Farm at 4 p.m. Saturday.

"Although it was not a regular visiting day, Mr. Bromfield came out immediately to greet us, and spent three hours showing us over the farms. He has a wonderful pasture and hay crop on land once so badly eroded and run down that it was growing only thorns, Jimson weed, golden rod and other weed species.

One field of 55 acres that was seeded in 1949 carried 80 head of milk cows until recently when they were taken out and the field mowed. A lot of calves were turned in, and in a week or so the cows will be back grazing again.

Mr. Bromfield does not believe in plowing and turning down the sod and organic matter. He leaves on the top to form a mulch. He uses a Graham plow which stirs the ground to about 20 inches. Mr. Bromfield says it enables the plants to root more deeply, thus drawing on the reserves of plant food in the soil which are locked in by the conventional methods of moldboard plowing.

While we were at Malabar a group of officials from the Veterans Land Act Department, Ottawa, drove in. They included H. R. Hare who was at one time assistant agricultural representative at Lindsay."

With other details of the trip, Mr. Taylor concluded with credit mention to Roy Patterson of North Emily Farm Forum who originated the idea; LeRoy G. Brown, agricultural representative in Victoria, for arranging the itinerary.

AT FIRST GLANCE this looks like a flooded farm, but actually they are fields of radishes in Ville St. Michel, Que., where Andre Laffitte, a Frenchman who came to Canada 23 years ago, cultivates this vegetable in sufficient quantity to supply thousands of Montreal families. The radishes are picked before sunrise and may be on the consumer's table by noon. On this 45-acre farm Laffitte also grows spinach, onions and lettuce.

U.S. Prosperity Said Key To Optimism

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Present United States prosperity is the key to much of the optimism in the world today.

It is contributing mightily, for instance, to the improved situation in Britain, because of American buying of raw materials in sterling areas.

It is cheering to Canada for two reasons: because it makes it easier for us to sell across the border; and because it is supplying overseas customers with dollars with which they may buy from us.

It is only about a year since the talk was of "recession" in the United States. Actually, this turned out to be an inventory recession—a precautionary step taken by business firms to make sure that they weren't caught with too much goods on hand. They just stopped buying for a while, but real demand was so great that they had to stock up again and the United States is back in a virtual boom.

At the moment there doesn't seem to be any prospect of an early setback.

Didn't Feel It

Canada hardly felt last year's American recession at all, but of course she would have if it had continued.

Of the European situation, John A. Marsh, general manager of the Canadian Exporters' Association, has this to say:

"Anyone visiting the Canadian International Trade Fair recently must have been impressed with the degree to which Britain and Western Europe have recovered from the second world war . . .

"For the first time since the United Kingdom crisis of 1946 there is a real probability that Britain will relax her restrictions against imports from Canada and will take steps to release her close fiscal control of certain colonies and especially the British West Indies which will result in the loosening up of trade between Canada, the sister Dominions and the Colonies . . .

"It is inevitable, however, that Canada and the United States continue to be each other's best customers."

This is, perhaps, the most cheerful statement Mr. Marsh has been able to make in some time on behalf of worried Canadian exporters.

STILL HELD UP

SHIRLEY MAY FRANCE and her coach, Harry Boudakian, arrive at Southampton, England, after crossing the Atlantic aboard the Queen Elizabeth. The 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., schoolgirl will go into training for her second attempt to swim the English Channel.

WMS Observes 25th Anniversary

MARMORA, June 23 (ENS)—A five-part anniversary program on the work of the WMS for the past 25 years was reviewed by five members at the St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society, on Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. H. C. Barlow.

Mrs. E. C. Prentice was in charge of the worship service which had for its theme "People grow older." Mrs. H. C. Barlow as president, took the chair for the business meeting. Mrs. F. Trennum took the record of books read. It was decided to order the Blue Book and new Study Book so that they would be ready for the September meeting.

Mesdames E. C. Prentice and G. D. Young reported for the Mission Band and CGIT respectively.

Several members spoke of the WMS service at Eldorado on June 8, at which the local branch was represented.

Mrs. T. Hannah gave a paper on Temperance.

After the closing service, the hostess served refreshments assisted by Mrs. A. W. Drew and Mrs. F. Melvaer. A bale of clothing was later packed to be sent to Toronto for either the Manitoba Flood Relief of for Overseas Relief.

New High School To Cost $350,000

NORWOOD, June 23—(ENS)—Representatives of the municipalities of Norwood, Havelock, Hastings, Belmont, Otonabee and Asphodel met in Norwood High School on Wednesday to discuss the proposed new high school for the area.

Mr. Roberts, Westport architect showed plans of the proposed building and said that a school capable of handling 300 pupils in five classes, with auxiliary rooms would cost approximately $350,000.

The Department of Education has indicated that a grant of 85 per cent of the cost of the building may be expected.

All the councils represented have given tentative approval to the plan and final approval is anticipated in time for work to commence in the fall.

Trapped In Cave-In

HAMILTON, June 23 (CP) — Tom Connor, trapped in a six-foot excavation by a cave-in, was dug out uninjured Thursday after spending 15 minutes up to his shoulders in cement and earth. Connor was working on construction of a new downtown warehouse when the cave-in occurred.

Blames Crimes On Effects Of Sickness

LONDON, June 23 (Reuters)—Many divorces and crimes of violence may be due to the mental defects of sleeping sickness, a leading British psychiatrist suggested today.

Dr. Geoffrey Tooth, who spent two years in the African gold coast investigating the disease, advised doctors to look first for mental symptoms of the disease.

In many cases, Tooth's report to the Colonial Office suggested, first evidence of sleeping sickness is a change in mental pattern. There may be depression, weeping, talkativeness, mischievousness, impulsive acts of aggression or gross lunacy.

In nine months' work devoted to the subject—part of a wider investigation of mental illness in the gold coast—Tooth examined 232 patients and made a check for comparison with 59 patients suffering from another disease.

He reported that the majority of advanced cases "show a simple dementia, they are happy, talkative and inclined to be mischievous, for the most part dirty and careless in their habits; they take their place in village society as professional beggars and nuisances."

Tooth cited the case of a staid farmer, member of the Presbyterian Church, who specialized in telling "funny stories" after claiming he had been told by God on the telephone to make haste and have a good time as the world was soon going to end.

More than 83 per cent of the patients Tooth examined showed mental abnormalities. Bad temper, dullness and forgetfulness were the most common symptoms.

Canadian Newspapers Giving Good Coverage

TATAMAGOUCHE, N. S., June 23 (CP)—Canada's small daily newspapers give their readers remarkable coverage of world events, Walton A. Cole, editor of Reuters News Agency, said on Thursday.

Making his first visit to the Maritime provinces, the 37-year-old news chief of the world-wide news agency commented that Canada has thriving dailies in small cities generally.

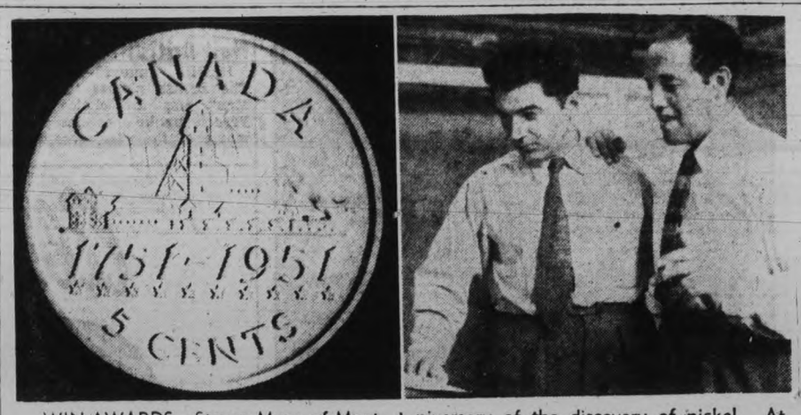
"In other parts of the British Commonwealth the dailies were concentrated in the large cities with weeklies in the small cities.

"It is interesting," he said, "to notice the large number of stories from Commonwealth date lines published in Canadian dailies. This is significant of the broad community of interests within the Commonwealth and the desire of Canadian editors to meet this interest with news."

Ill Health Halts Duchess' Fight

MADRID, Spain, June 23 (AP)—Ill health may halt the dashing Duchess of Valencia's militant crusade to put the pretender Don Juan on the throne of Spain.

Generalissimo Franco's government wasn't able to stop the red-haired, 34-year-old woman with heavy fines and a prison term.



But informed sources said today her doctors have ordered her to retire from politics.

Her breakdown began in prison in 1948. Associates of the fiery, attractive Duchess said that even Don Juan, in Lisbon, has insisted she give up her fight.

The fourth and last arrest of Maria Luisa Narvaez, Duchess of Valencia, occurred Feb. 23 at the door of the Madrid office of The Associated Press, where she came for an interview. She was acquitted in June by a military tribunal. April 6, 1948, she and her monarchist associate, Jose Pardo, had been convicted of high treason and she was sentenced to a year in prison.

Liquor Buying Down

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The commerce department reported today Americans spent less on liquor in 1949 than in any year since 1944—$8,550,000,000, a drop of 250,000,000 from 1948 and $1,090,000,000 below the post-war peak of $9,640,000,000 set in 1947.

Tourist Advertising Reported Reasonable

OTTAWA, June 23 (CP)—The Senate's standing committee on tourist traffic, in a report tabled Thursday, said the cost of advertising and other forms of promotion in the last year did not exceed one per cent of the American dollars spent in Canada by United States tourists.

It praised the work of the Canadian Travel Bureau and said an increase of $175,000 in the amount to be spent on advertising and publicity this year was considered justified "due to the anticipated increase in the number of American tourists it is expected to attract to Canada."

Duplessis Favors Building Of Bridge

QUEBEC, June 23 (CP)—Premier Duplessis said Thursday that his government favored construction of an inter-provincial bridge across the Ottawa River between Renfrew county, Ontario and Pontiac county, Quebec, as proposed recently by Federal Public Works Minister Fournier.

The Premier said Mr. Fournier stated in a letter to him that the Federal government would pay one third of the cost if the Quebec and Ontario governments agreed to share evenly the remainder of the costs.

Court Says Automobile Is "Public Place"

VANCOUVER, June 23 (CP)—An automobile is a public place within meaning of the British Columbia Liquor Act, B. C. court of appeal decided Thursday.

The court allowed the appeal of the Attorney-General from a judgment of Mr. Justice H. S. Wood.

Ford McLeod of Ladysmith, B. C., was fined $50 for drinking beer in a parked car outside a dance hall. The conviction was set aside by Mr. Justice Wood, who ruled that a car was not a public place within meaning of the Liquor Act.

A Short Courtship

LAUREL, Miss., June 23—(AP)—A 76-year-old widower and a 73-year-old widow saw each other for the first time yesterday. They talked for two hours, then got married. They are J. A. Lowe, merchant, and the former Mrs. Lucy Benner.

Hold 76 Red Barges

BERLIN, June 23 (AP)—Seventy-six Soviet-zone barges with German exports for Russia are under detention today in West Berlin. Western city officials said the craft lack proper documents.

Hang Salesman For Slaying

MONTREAL, June 23 (CP)—Marcel Marcotte, 40-year-old haberdashery salesman, was hanged early today for the slaying of his former friend and business associate, Marcel Boileau. He was pronounced dead at 1:16 a.m. EDT.

The tall, one-eyed Marcotte had been in jail since his first conviction in 1946.

Marcotte had been twice convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of 41-year-old Boileau April 13, 1946.

The murder charge was laid against Marcotte after Boileau's body was found half-buried in muddy wasteland in the north end of the city. A bullet in the head was the cause of death.

Bethany Garden Party Successful But Cold

BETHANY, June 23—(ENS)—St. Mary's Anglican Church, Lmford Line, held a successful garden party on Wednesday night. Owing to the cold weather the supper and concert were held indoors.

A softball game between Yelverton and Bethany girls resulted in a win for the Yelverton team, with the score 21-7.

A humorous play "George In a Jam" by local talent wound up the evening. The cast included the Rev. T. S. Gault, Joseph Staples, Robert Reid, Lawrence Staples, Lewis Staples, Earl Morton, Miss Maycie Lang, Mrs. George Timms, Miss Nancy Wilkinson and Mrs. Lawrence Staples.

Find Babies' Bodies

RACINE, Wis., June 23—(AP)—An automobile trunk yielded two decomposed infants' bodies Thursday when a garage mechanic opened it to get a spare tire. Police quoted an unmarried 38-year-old nurse as saying the babies had been born dead to her separately more than three years ago and that she had been afraid to dispose of the bodies.

Dr. W. R. Marshall Dies

TORONTO, June 23 (CP)—Dr. William Russell Marshall, a native of Kingston, died Thursday after a lengthy illness. Organist for 17 years at Trinity United Church here, Dr. Marshall came to Toronto 45 years ago.

Beat Down Plan

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—The Labor government Thursday night beat down by 11 votes a Conservative attempt to wipe out the 10 per cent tax on undistributed company profits. The vote in the House of Commons was 295 to 284.

House Ends Marathon 14-Hour Session

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—The House of Commons ended a marathon 14-hour session early today, during which the Labor government beat off all attempts by the Conservative opposition to amend tax proposals.

During the debate, Brendan Bracken, wartime information minister, charged that the government has been acting as "a post-office for Gen. MacArthur."

His criticism came in discussion of a complaint made by MacArthur, supreme allied commander in Japan, against the Tokyo correspondent of the Times of London.

The government sent the complaint on to the Times.

Re-Elected President

MONTREAL, June 23 (CP)—Dr. Edward Warner was re-elected Thursday for a three-year term as president of the council of the International Civil Aviation Organization. The election was held at ICAO's Montreal headquarters during the first meeting of the new council chosen by the ICAO assembly two weeks ago.

Peterborough Radio Amateurs Plan Field Day

Local radio amateurs, members of the Peterborough Radio Club take emergency-powered radio stations into the field Saturday, in the fourteenth annual nationwide "dress rehearsal" of disaster communications. Sponsored by the amateurs' national association, The American Radio Relay League, the 24-hour event will test operating skills and the portable equipment of the club group.

The field installation of the Peterborough Club will be set up at Highway 28 near the 4-mile turn with nine operators manning the stations.

Starting at 4 p.m., the club operators will contact other amateur stations, both at home and portable locations, from the two transmitters installed at the Field Day site. Emergency-type messages will be relayed.

A notable feature of the Field Day station will be the complete independence of commercial power mains, as would be the case in the event of a real eemrgency. The club will use a 110-volt, gasoline powered generator to power their equipment.

Local operators participating in the Field Day will be: George Wong, John Holmes, Len Thibadeau, Bill Farris, Stan Weber, George Gould, Ken King, John Todd, Olliver Brailey.

Even when dried indoors... EVEN WITHOUT RINSING

Surf gives you Sweeter Washes

...whiter, brighter to look at!
...fresh-air-sweet to smell!

Surf contains an amazing detergent which removes not only every trace of soil and grease, but all "dirty clothes" odor, too! Your wash is so deep-down clean it's actually sweeter-smelling!

Your Surf-clean wash is perfection! Your eyes can tell how white and bright it looks. Your nose will report a sunshiny fresh-air sweetness—even when you've had to dry the clothes indoors.

What's more, you don't even have to rinse your clothes to get this cleaner, sweeter wash. Surf has the magic power of grabbing and holding the dirt in the wash water, so when you wring out the water you wring the dirt out with it.

When you don't rinse your Surf-clean wash, its astonishing purifying ingredient goes right on working in your clothes. (If you do want to rinse, add a little Surf to your rinse-water.)

All the Surf your grocer now has in his store is "no-rinse" Surf . . . specially developed—to save you hours of work and dollars in hot water and fuel bills.

Use Surf for EVERYTHING

Surf makes mountains of rich, long-lasting suds . . . suds that do 3 times the work of ordinary soaps in hardest water . . . suds that are powerful enough for your grimiest clothes yet safe, gentle for sheer lingerie . . . and easy on your hands.

So, try Surf next washday. See the difference between your Surf-clean wash and the washes you've had before.

"ORDINARY" CLEAN
Though you may think your wash is perfectly clean, a faint "musty" odor often betrays the presence of dirt, grease or scum. Rinsing won't get rid of this . . . but Surf does.

SURF CLEAN
Even without rinsing, Surf removes every last trace of dirt, grease and scum . . . every trace of odor, too! That's why it gets your clothes so white, so bright . . . so sweet!

A LEVER PRODUCT

If it's Surf-clean, it's really clean . . . EVEN WITHOUT RINSING

Morley Hodder, student minister on the Belmont Lakes Area Mission, was chairman. The proceeds after the deduction of expenses went to the Mission Band.

Cabinet Man C. E. Gerhart Makes Fine Violins

EDMONTON, Alta. — (CP) — Because a bank clerk once traded boxing instruction for music lessons, Albert's present cabinet includes a skilled violin maker.

He is C. E. Gerhart, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Municipal Affairs.

The first fiddle he hand-fashioned is one of his most treasured possessions. Appraised by at least one concert violinist at what Mr. Gerhart will only state is a "fabulous" figure. He is carving a second from the same pattern as the first. Three others are planned so that each one of his children and grandchildren will have one.

Mr. Gerhart first became interested in the hobby when he was a bank clerk at Stettler, Alta. An amateur boxer, he made a deal with a musican to teach him the violin in exchange for boxing lessons.

Leads to Project

This lead to the fiddle-building project. Bed-ridden with a knee injury, Mr. Gerhart saw a violin pattern in a magazine. He started to work and in seven months had finished the job.

The second one is taking longer to complete, although in the meantime Mr. Gerhart has developed a set of precision tools for the job. These were fashioned from an old set of dentist's tools he begged from a friend.

The minister expects to complete his second violin by Christmas, and by then he expects to have the third started.

Mrs. Gerhart finds her husband's hobby satisfactory. Much of the work is so delicate that an entire evening spent at the hobby produces only half a teaspoon of wood shavings.

Chapel Committee Thanked

Setting up of business matters until the next meeting in the early fall was attended to Wednesday evening when the Silver Cross Chapter of Peterborough met in the YWCA. A picnic to Mrs. B. D. Hall's summer home at McCracken's Landing was also planned for June 28. President Mrs. B. W. Harvey heard reports from the executive members and an outline of the final steps to completion of the memorial chapel in the new Civic Hospital which was formally opened on June 4. The meeting was highlighted with a letter moving a vote of apreciation to the committee responsible for carrying through the idea which took form many months ago, Mrs. J. E. Patte, chairman, Mrs. B. D. Hall and Mrs. Harvey. Writer of the letter was Mrs. John Allen and the motion was seconded by Mrs. H. J. White. All members felt satisfaction that the small room for meditation and prayer will bring comfort to many during the coming years. A short social period followed the meeting.

Smith Union at WCTU Meeting

Members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Peterborough met Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Macklin, Douro St., for the monthly meeting and annual picnic. Special guests were members of Smith Union and the Rev. D. P. Morris who led in prayer. Mrs. Gordon Mann, county president, brought greetings. Mrs. J. A. Young gave an interesting account of the Temperance Society in the year 1874, then known as Union Temple. The "Lodge" met every second week for debates on current events in a building on "Temperance Hill," Lindsay Highway. Similar lodges were situated at Mount Pleasant and Bridgenorth. Appointed the provincial delegate to Toronto was Mrs. E. M. Davis, and as national delegate to Montreal, Miss May Bowers. A social hour was in charge of Mrs. W. H. Morton who conducted contests. A pot-luck supper was much enjoyed and all agreed it was fortunate the weather was too cold to meet in a park.

AT SUMMER THEATRE Next Week

Lay Teachers Honor Three With Presentations

Lay teachers of the city Sepa-Schools staff gathered at St. Anne's School after four o'clock on Thursday to honor three teachers who have resigned their positions recently.

Miss Josephine Lynch and Miss Frances Quinn, of Sacred Heart School, are to be married during the summer. Mrs. Patricia Fleming, of St. John's School, is leaving the city to live in Montreal.

Refreshments were served in the kindergarten room. Mrs. M. McDonald presided at the tea table and assistants were Mrs. C. Rodd, Misses M. Belanger, M. Neville and M. Flynn.

At the conclusion of the social hour Mr. E. J. Boland expressed the good wishes of the assembled group to the guests of honor. Presentations of electric clocks were made by Mrs. M. O'Brien, Miss M. Collins and Miss L. Cavanagh.

Observers Find Civic Affairs Well Conducted

Observers to this month's meetings of the City Council and board of Education reported to the meeting of the Civic Affairs Study Group Thursday evening at the YW.

Punctuality of the city officials was remarked upon by Mrs. J. E. Watters, who, with Mrs. J. A. Nornabel, attended the June 6 council meeting. She was also struck by certain acts and tendencies of the Mayor and his aldermen which seemed to engender an attitude of respect and she was complimentary on their ability to be devoid of any personal bias in their discussions.

Miss Cathleen McCarthy reported on the June 19 council meeting at which she was an observer with Mrs. C. G. Pilon. She had viewed the proceedings with a practised eye for details of attitude and behaviour and she commented on the arguments put forth by a battery of legal supporters of citizens who are endeavouring to get certain actions by the city.

All those who have attended council meetings as spectators complain they are unable to hear what is said by the aldermen as they speak in low rapid tones with their backs turned and heads down.

Information on the routine procedure of passing by-laws was passed on to the meeting by both reporters, first reading given in council; second reading in committee-of-the-whole when the mayor takes a seat in the audience and an alderman is called to the chair. The by-law then goes to Toronto for review by the Municipal Board and if approved, comes back for a third reading, similar to the second.

The Board of Education of June 8, attended by Mrs. Romeyn Stevenson and Mrs. Blake Bell, was reported in detail by the latter. Since all matters were clearly explained there was no discussion.

Observers appointed to council meetings of July 3 and August 14 are Miss Helen Gerrard and Mrs. D. R. McGregor, and to the Board of Education meeting on July 13, Mrs. C. K. Hurst.

President Mrs. W. E. Fanning presided and Mrs. J. A. Nornabel read minutes and the treasury report.

Kawartha Golfers Who Won Thursday

Weekly field day competitions at the Kawartha Golf Club on Thursday were in charge of Mrs. Al Clark. Mrs. Lionel Browne was winner in the 18-hole section and also won a point for low net. Mrs. Clark won a ball on her low score and a point on the competition. Mrs. Jack Condon went into the last round of the spring trophy.

Mrs. S. Csumrik won the spoon on the nine-hole players' competition. Mrs. Ken McCannan had low net and went into the spring trophy.

When the ladies had refreshments in the club house afterward, Mrs. McCannan poured their tea.

Business girls had tea at five-thirty when Misses Jean Hamley and Grace Lundy presided and Misses Margaret Lundy, Dorothy Lefebvre, Gen Murray and Phyl Perdue served. Winners for this section will be announced next week.

Teachers Receive Gifts From Staff and H&S

Prince of Wales teaching staff, assisted by members of the Home and School Association, entertained for afternoon tea Wednesday to honor three of the teachers who will not be with them another year.

Miss Cora Bailey and Miss Eleanor Glover have transferred to other schools and Miss Ethel Huffman has resigned her position. Gifts were presented to them by both groups, and messages were extended by Principal Mr. R. J. Bolton and Association President Mrs. W. E. Baggs.

The tea table was attractive with a cutwork cloth and a bouquet of white and red peonies flanked with white tapers. Mrs. Frank Gray, past president, poured the tea and assistants were Mrs. J. Fraser, Mrs. J. Donaldson, Mrs. A. E. Parker, Mrs. M. G. McCartney, Mrs. P. W. Johnston and Mrs. C. A. Gilders.

Convener of the tea was Mrs. A. Smith, assisted by Mrs. J. King and Mrs. J. James.

Only Woman MP Raps Liberals For Childishness

OTTAWA, June 23 (CP)—Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC-Hamilton West) says that some Liberals in the Commons indulge in schoolboy tactics and act "like 10-year-olds."

The recently-elected only woman member in the House Wednesday night told the annual meeting the Carleton County Progressive Conservative Association:

"It is an alarming situation to find that men who have assumed a seat in the House of Commons should soon forget their responsibility to the people who sent them there."

Mrs. Fairclough attended the meeting with George Drew, National Progressive Conservative leader.

She said she came to Ottawa expecting to see many unusual things. What she actually witnessed "hit me with some force."

Liberal members, who filled the majority of the Commons seats, either were absent from the House or "indulging in schoolboy tactics, acting like 10-year-olds."

Mr. Drew said the distribution of seats in the Commons had no relationship to the proportionate support shown by the voters in last year's election.

Despite the huge majority of the Liberals, that party had received "just less than half the votes."

"If anything was needed to give evidence of the strength and vitality of our party, it was given in the results of the last six by-elections—four of them won by Conservatives."

Gardner-Roddick

A wedding of local interest was solemnized at Wall St. United Church, Brockville, on Monday when the Rev. Gordon Maxwell united in marriage Vera Kathleen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Roddick and Glenn Roy, only son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Gardner.

The bride was attractive in a gown of chantilly lace over white slipper satin with sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves, and her nylon veil was held in place by a halo of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of American Beauty roses.

Miss Beulah Louck of Prescott was bridesmaid and wore a gown of pale blue lace over satin with an off-the-shoulder neckline, with matching halo of flowers and gloves to match. The flowers were a cascade of pink carnations.

Leonard Belisle of Lyn was the groomsman.

A reception followed at the home of he bride's parents. The bride's mother wore a navy dress with white accessories and corsage of pink roses, and Mrs. Gardner wore a pink dress with black accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

The bridal couple left by motor on a trip to Peterborough, Toronto, Hamilton and points west. The bride was wearing a navy sheer dress with navy shoes and pink accessories. They will live at 22 McCready St., Brockville.

The groom formerly lived with his parents at 540 Weller St., Peterborough and is a grandson of Mr. Fred Gardner, Norwood, and Mrs. James Longmuir, Havelock.

O'Brien-Cavanagh

The marriage took place in St. Joseph's Church, Douro, at nine o'clock Tuesday morning of Anna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Cavanagh, Indian River, to Clement O'Brien, son of Mrs. O'Brien and the late Patrick O'Brien, Douro. The Rev. J. J. McCarthy performed the ceremony and said the nuptial mass.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Victor Kennedy and during signing of the register Mrs. Kennedy sang "On this day O beautiful Mother."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white satin with bustle back and a yoke of nylon lace. Her veil was fingertip length and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Miss Teresa Cavanagh was bridesmaid for her sister, frocked in nile green taffeta with a matching hat and mittens and she carried Talisman roses.

Groomsman was Mr. Martin O'Brien and ushers were Vincent Torpey and Fergus O'Brien.

The reception following the ceremony was in the Club Aragon where the bride's mother received in a gown of navy faille with hat of pearl grey straw and wearing a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother who also received wore black crepe with a black straw hat and had pink roses.

The couple left afterward on a trip to Western Ontario, the bride travelling in a navy dress, hat and shoes and carrying a grey shortie coat.

On return they will live at 382 Stewart St.

Future Attendance Figures Indicate Need of New School

Second general meeting of the Civic Affairs Study Group on Thursday evening at the YWCA was ably addressed by Mr. G. Wilson Craw, member of Peterborough Board of Education.

Mr. Craw gave facts and figures which made it clear that there is and will continue to be in greater proportion, necessity for new secondary school accommodation in the city. The Board is able to determine fairly well the number of students there will be in secondary schools any year during the next 14 from the city's population. Children born in 1949 will be entering the school in 1963 when there should be from the city alone 990 grade nine students.

"Times of prosperity are times of high birthrate and it is only from the fact that we had a depression in the '30's that we have been able to operate the past few years," Mr. Craw said. "So, if a depression came this year the Board would still have to continue to build schools, since the birthrate has been steadily increasing from 750 in 1939 to 1,650 in 1949. In our five top grades in the public schools there are 1,800 pupils registered and 2,100 in the three lower grades. Ninety per cent of these will enter collegiate, although many will not stay five years for if they did we would never be able to accommodate them. In any case, many would be toking a four year course while others will take the new two-year course," he opined.

The fact remained that there are 1,600 students who will enter collegiate before 1955 and there is presently a greatly overcrowded building with numerous deficiencies which Mr. Craw outlined. Rural students who make up 25 per cent of the present attendance have been welcomed since 1928 and have paid their own way giving "found" money to the city ratepayers from the Peterborough High School Area Board, and the Board deems it advisable to allow them to attend in future though it could be terminated with two years' notice.

The 14-acre site for a new academic collegiate at Monaghan Rd. and Cameron St. was chosen because of the large percentage of pupils in the area south of Sherbrooke St. In its initial stage it will be a junior school, expected to be in use by September, 1952, and further stages will provide for the students as they progress, Mr. Craw stated.

As to the situation in the public schools, Mr. Craw said the only one where there is room is Ceneral because people are now moving out of the centre of the city. He expects a four or six room school for East City pupils will be built on McFarlane Ave. property about 1953.

Mr. Craw also told the history of the secondary school in Peterborough from 1852 when the various one-room common schools were brought together in a church at the corner of Hunter and Sheridan Sts., under a Union School Board, and 1857 when the Grammar School, today called the Collegiate, moved in with them for lack of a habitable building. The Central School east building was opened in 1860 and there secondary education was continued until the space was too hopelessly inadequate, and building of the present collegiate was begun in 1908.

Mrs. John Hornal thanked Mr. Craw for fostering keener interest and clearer understanding of the problems facing the Board of Education. Presiding president Mrs. W. E Fanning thanked him for the history of early schools which was new to many.

Of Interest to Women

Unfair to Family to Invite Boy in After Late Party

DEAR MISS DIX: Should a girl ask a boy into her house when he brings her home at 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning? The girl maintains there is no opportunity for conversation at the movies and subsequent party and that it is very inhospitable to just say good night at the door. Her mother says it is a social error to have a young man visit her at that hour of the morning and that it will cause gossip. Also, that it is very annoying to those who are asleep in a small house. Which one is right—the girl or her mother? ANNA.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: The mother, absolutely. It is the height of impropriety for a girl to entertain men visitors at that hour of the morning, and after the neighbors get through saying what they think about it she won't have a shred of character left.

She Has No Excuse

Also, it is the most unmitigated selfishness for her to be willing to break up the rest of a family with her dates. Nor are her reasons for keeping this all-night vigil an excuse for such conduct, for if she so pined for conversation with the youth she might have stayed at home and indulged in a talkfest. Furthermore, it is a safe bet that the young man, would not regard her failure to drag him in for another hour's talk as a lack of hospjtality. He would look upon it thankfully as a reprieve and a chance to get a little sleep.

Many young men don't date girls because the girls are never willing to go home from a place of amusement. They are not satisfied with going to the movies or the theatre. They always want to go on from there to supper or a night club or take a drive, anything that will keep them up until dawn. At a dance they can't be dragged away until the good-night number is played and then they can always think of somewhere to go from there.

Certainly the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Dumb Animals ought to do something to protect the young men from the girls who won't go home till morning, till daylight doth appear.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I are very anxious to adopt a child, but want to go about it in the best way. Shall we tell the child when it is old enough to understand that it is an adopted child? My husband insists that I go away some place and then return with the child so the neighbors won't know it is not our own. Also he thinks we should keep the child from ever knowing that it is adopted. What is your opinion?

Mrs. A. B. B.

ANSWER: I have answered this question a hundred times in this column, but I'll keep on answering it as long as any woman asks it. For I get a glow of vicarious happiness out of even hoping that I may help in putting a baby into the arms of some child-hungry woman and giving some poor little homeless child a home and parents and a chance in life.

First, tell the child that he is adopted before he is old enough really to understand. Then there is never any shock to him in learning about it. He takes it naturally and there is none of the mental upset that adopted children invariably have if they are kept in ignorance of their adoption until they are nearly grown.

Your husband is absolutely wrong in even thinking of such a foolish thing as to try to palm a spurious baby off on your friends and neighbors. It simply can't be done, and if you attempt it it will only make a scandal out of a fine deed. Don't let yourself in for a life of deceit. It will take all of the pleasure you have out of your adopted child if you are forever trying to conceal the fact that it is not your own, and if you are forced to live in continual fear of somebody discovering your secret.

DEAR MISS DIX: Please tell me which wife would be the best for an ambitious man, a scolding thrifty one, or a good-natured easy-going wife?

L. C.

ANSWER: Well, the thrifty, scolding wife might save more of your money than the good-natured, easy-going one, but she would cause a lot more wear on your disposition, and as between the savings-bank account and peace and comfort in the home I'd take the peace and comfort every time.

Of course, wives help husbands in different ways and there is no doubt that there are gadfly wives who sting into action men who might otherwise be inert and lack ambition. So there you are, and you will have to decide for yourself which type of wife you need—the woman who scolds or the woman who smiles.

Sold First Picture When 16 Years Old

HALIFAX —(CP)— Mrs. E. Dorothy McAvity, painter and world traveller, recently returned to Halifax from Barbados, where she exhibited some of her pictures.

Mrs. McAvity, widow of H. Haddon McAvity of Saint John, NB, won wide acclaim for his portrait of the Prince of Wales in 1921. She also painted a portrait of Queen Mary.

Among other distinguished subject have been Viscount Falkland, Lady Carson of Montreal, Maj.-Gen. Fitzgerald, General Sir David Campbell, Governor of Malta, and Mary, Countess of Clancarty.

Her painting career—she sold her first picture when she was 16—was interrupted during her marriage, but later, when her only child was three years old, she took up portrait painting professionally in Toronto.

She then moved to London for two years and her paintings were exhibited in exclusive galleries there. During the Second World War she exhibited paintings in aid of the Viceroy's War Purpose Fund in India, Durban and Malta. Since then she has held exhibitions in Montreal.

UK Cook Books Go Like Hot-cakes

LONDON —(Reuters)— New editions of Mrs. Beeton's famous cook book are selling like hot cakes, say the publishers.

They report that they have had clerks working eight hours a day for more than a month, invoicing nothing else but the new cookery series.

The new edition of Mrs. Beeton's most popular book, "Household Management," took nearly four years to prepare. It represents the work of a team of 20 experts, and its 1,680 pages contain 4,000 recipes.

But it is much more than a cookery book. It has, for instance, "Home Lawyer" and "Home Doctor" sections.

Isabella Mary Beeton, (1836-1865) first produced her monumental book on household management in monthy parts in 1859.

"I just can't hurt her feelings, John, after all the years she's been with us."

Booklet Gives Helpful Hints On City Playgrounds

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, June 23 —(CP)— Playgrounds — where the very young ones are out from under mother's feet and at the same time safe from passing traffic—are becoming accepted as essential in the planning of new neighborhoods.

In the meantime there are many ways of turning the vacant lot in the older districts into a children's paradise.

Officials of the health department's physical fitness division say the properly-equipped and well-supervised playgrounds contribute greatly to the fun, safety, health and character of children. Behavior and skills learned on the playground determine the leisure-time pattern of children for years to come.

Book of Ideas

The division has published a booklet filled with ideas for pre-school play areas, based on plans supplied by J. A. Dulude, commissioner of playgrounds for Ottawa.

The booklet recommends the city block playground—made up of "back-yard" land contributed by all block residents.

Such a block gives quick "kitchen - window" supervision and assures mother of junior's whereabouts.

Tots play in "back-yard" safety, free from the dangers of traffic, crossings, ditches or diversions.

Mothers divide daytime duties of supervision and instruction and share in the resulting dividends of more leisure hours.

Fathers co-operate in choosing and installing equipment.

Making Equipment

In another booklet based on material supplied by the Citizen's Committee on Children of Ottawa, the physical fitness division gives detailed instructions on the making of outdoor play equipment.

Play equipment does not need to be expensive if it is made of durable material. Usually, it can be made at home, thus saving on labor costs.

All equipment made of wood should be carefully sand-papered and painted. A play-yard can be very attractive if the big objects are painted the same color—a dark color weathers best— and the smaller objects different colors.

The booklet, entitled "Equipment for Outdoor Play," contains several diagrams complete with instructions for father to follow in building playthings for small son or daughter.

Directions are given for construction of a "Climbing Horse." Climbing apparatus provide good exercise and a sense of achievement, but it must be sturdy. Children should be supervised for the first few times they use this type of equipment, until they gain experience and confidence.

MP's Sarcastic On Mothers-in-law

LONDON —(CP)— Mothers-in-law can make or break a marriage, the House of Commons decided.

Harmar Nicholls, Conservative member for Peterborough, said the first choice a married couple must make is which mother-in-law to live with. Then, whatever they decide, "the young get thwarted and the old don't get tranquillity."

A. Blenkinsop, parliamentary secertary to the health ministry, said the time-worn problem of living with in-laws isn't as bad as it was.

"Before the war," he said, "it was a rare thing for a newly-married couple to have a chance to start in a new house."

Outside the House, Walter Elliot, former Conservative health minister, said the Labor government claims that houses now being built have more amenities, such as built-in refrigerators.

"But many a young wife," Elliot said, "would willingly do without a built-in refrigerator if she could get rid of a built-in mother-in-law."

What's Right?

A girl is going dancing with a young man and she wants to take along several make-up aids, such as a compact, comb and lipstick.

WRONG: She hands them all to him to put in his pocket.

RIGHT: She takes along a small handbag in which to carry her make-up equipment.

6—In Memoriams

AKERS—In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away June 23, 1942:
Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile,
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy to make some other bright.
If sick or suffering one she knew
Some gentle act of love she'd do.
No thought of self, but of "the other"
I know he said "well done" dear mother.
Ever remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Mel Akers, and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Akers.

TIMM—In loving memory of our dear father, Wilfred Timm, who passed away three years ago today
Those whom we have go out of sight,
But never out of mind,
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
—Ever remembered by the family.

7—Cards of Thanks

I cannot find words in which to express the deepest and sincerest gratitude of my family and myself to those who so tenderly sympathized with us in the loss of our son Ernie. I wish to thank the police department, the fire department, the Sea Cadets and the doctors in doing their share, also the Comstock Funeral Parlors, who looked after his keeping, and the relatives and neighbors who, with so many friends, paid floral tributes to our son.—J. F. Chase and family.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the nurses of Civic Hospital and attending doctors, also Rev. Cole for his comforting words and the W.A. of Trinity United Church for flowers, and also the L.O.B.A. for flowers and to all my many friends who sent cards and helped in any way to make my stay in hospital more pleasant.—Mrs. H. Henry.

Mrs. G. Royea and family wish to express their sincere thanks to the attending doctor, the Sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital and all those who sent kind expressions of sympathy and floral tributes during their recent sad bereavement.

Sees No Help For Liberal

QUEBEC, June 23 (CP) — Premier Duplessis said Thursday that if no Liberal will resign in favor of party leader Georges Emile Lapalme, "he cannot count on the Union Nationale to give him a provincial seat."

Mr. Duplessis made the statement at his weekly press conference here, held Thursday because of St. Jean Baptiste Day celebrations Saturday. A reporter had asked him whether Mr. Lapalme was correct Wednesday in saying he believed there soon would be a vacancy in the provincial riding of Montcalm.

(Mr. Lapalme, recently elected Quebec Liberal party leader, was speaking at a Montreal banquet in his honor. He also announced his resignation from the House of Commons where he represents Joliette - Montcalm - L'Assomption.)

"The Liberal party leader seems rather strong in vacancies at the moment," the Premier said. "I note that the seat of the leader is vacant at present. He likes to fight from afar instead of on the field of battle.

"If his friends don't want to give him a seat he cannot count on the Union Nationale to give him one."

Given Appointment

SMITHS FALLS, June 23 (CP) —Appointment of Msgr. John P. Hanley, pastor of St. Francis De Sales Roman Catholic Church here as vice-general of the Kingston Archdiocese was announced Thursday night by Archbishop J. A. O'Sullivan of Kingston. He succeeds Msgr. J. F. Nicholson of Belleville who has been forced to retire from the post due to ill health.

GUNMAN'S VICTIMS—William Goddyn, 24, left, and Arthur Lierman, 31, right, were felled Wednesday by bullets from a sten gun in the hands of a bank robber as they pursued him along a road near Langton, Ont., in the heart of Norfolk County's rich tobacco region. The two men, prominent Langton residents who were in the bank when the $23,000 holdup took place, gave chase as the bandit fled. A burst from a sten gun, fired through the back window of the getaway car, killed both men.

PURUSERS' CAR — Eleven bullets from a sten gun punctured the windshield of this car Wednesday killing both occupants as they chased a bank bandit who had just held up the Imperial Bank of Canada's branch at Langton, Ont. in the heart of the Norfolk County tobacco region. Dead are Arthur Lierman, 31, prominent Belgian tobacco grower and real estate operator in the tobacco area, and William Goddyn, 24, sharecropper on Lierman's farm. In the bank at the time of the $23,000 robbery, the pair gave chase in Lierman's car as the bandit fled only to meet death as he riddled the car when the vehicle plunged into a ditch.

Denies Politics Influences Choice

OTTAWA, June 23 — (CP) — Justice Minister Garson said in the Commons Thursday that ability and integrity came before any political considerations in the appointment of judges to Canada's Federal courts.

Mr. Garson declared he could say with a "clear conscience" that any appointments made by him had been made with the main emphasis on qualifications other than political.

He could not agree that in the last seven or eight years there had been "only two" outstanding examples of appointments of persons supporting a political party other than the government party.

The minister was answering charges by John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) during second reading of amendments to the Judges Act providing for further judicial appointments and an increase in judges' travelling expenses. The House gave the measure third reading.

Circus Comes To Town 5 Fined For Activity

KINGSTON, June 23 (CP) — The circus came to town Thursday and before sundown five members had been fined for their activities with the travelling troupe.

Michael O'Brief and John Stevens both of Gonzales, Texas, were fined $200 each for running gambling games. William C. Hammond, Miami, Fla., paid $200 and costs for keeping a common gaming house, and Daniel Mahoney $25 for obstructing an officer.

Frances Doran, a dancer, was fined $50 and sentenced to two weeks for doing an indecent act in public.

All five pleaded guilty.

HEADS MEDICAL ASSOCIATION—Dr. Norman Gosse, of Halifax, was elected president of the Canadian Medical Association at the association's 81st annual meeting held in that city. A native of Newfoundland, he is a governor of the American College of Surgeons and a Fellow of the Royal College of Canada.

Labor Strikes Isolate Centre In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, June 23 — (Reuters) — Argentina's "Little Wales"—Chubut Valley, the most important settlement in Patagonia —is threatened with a shortage of household and other consumer goods because of labor unrest at Buenos Aires port since the beginning of May.

The last coastal link with Patagonia was cut when the crew of the Santa Maria De Lugan went on strike and abandoned ship, seamen's strike leaders said on Thursday. Merchants at Chubut were planning to bring in the most needed articles over 750 miles of road.

Chubut Valley derived its nickname, "Little Wales," from the fact that it was first settled by Welsh immigrants in the last century.

Newspaper Halts Strike Talks

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP) — The World-Telegram and Sun on Thursday broke off talks with the striking American Newspaper Guild (CIO) whose pickets have kept the newspaper closed for 10 days.

The newspaper, in a letter to the Guild, said there is nothing to be gained by further talks, and left future negotiations up to federal mediators. The dispute involves contract demands over wage minimums and other issues.

At the same time, the World-Telegram and Sun turned down an offer by an independent union to go back to work.

"We cannot make work available until the members of all unions return," said the newspaper in reply to an offer by the Newspaper and Mail Deliveries Union (Ind.)

The union is one of 10 AFL or independent unions whose members have refused to cross Guild picket lines since the walkout began June 13.

The "Flying Saucer" is good news

Flying saucers don't come from Russia or Mars but they DO exist —and they're ours. Without revealing military secrets that's what Henry J. Taylor, internationally known journalist and radio commentator, says in the July Reader's Digest (now on sale).

Some are guided, others are not. They have no stream of light or smoke, no sound. But they're all part of a great and growing experiment. Get your Digest today. Read this advance report of new weapons, still on the secret list, that will prove wonderful news for the people of this continent.

(Condensed from a radio broadcast)

Get your Digest today: 43 articles of lasting interest, condensed from leading magazines, current books.

Wonderful for BRICK, STUCCO, ASBESTOS SIDING. Comes in Pure White and 8 lovely colors.

Farmer Finds Man In Barn Believes It's Killer, Both Flee, No Shots Fired

Provincial Police Throw Cordon of 200 Men Around Straffordville, Farmer's Description Fits Bank Bandit

LANGTON, June 24—(CP)—The hunt for the man who killed two men after robbing a Langton bank was concentrated today in the area around Straffordville, 10 miles west of here and 10 miles directly north of the Lake Erie shore at Port Burwell. A farmer doing his evening chores fushed a sleeping man from a hayloft hideout at Straffordville last night and squads of Provincial Police swept in to take up the case.

In the hayloft police found an overcoat and two half-peeled potatoes which the man had gnawed on before falling asleep.

When word was received that Bert Luce had seen the possible suspect in his barn police threw a cordon of more than 200 men around the area. The police said they were sure that the wanted man had been there.

Luce told police "It's him, all right," as he described the wanted man's features, build and clothing. He said he had gone to pitch hay down to the cattle. He heard a groan.

Flees Barn

"I let go of the fork and got out of there fast," said Luce. "I jumped 10 feet to the barn floor and lit out for the house. I heard him hit the boards after me and when I was halfway to the house I dropped on my belly figuring he was going to open fire. But he headed for the bush."

The bank-robber escaped Wednesday with $23,000 in a hold-up of the Imperial Bank branch at Langton. When his automobile ran into a ditch he poured bullets ito a pursuing car, killing Arthur Lierman and William Godyn.

2 FBI Agents Shoot Down Dangerous Man

INDIANAPOLIS, June 24. (AP) —Two agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation Friday night shot down Henry Harland Shelton, one of the 10 most-wanted criminals in the United States, when the Michigan fugitive reached for a gun to avoid arrest.

Shelton was critically wounded. The two bullets fired by the agents passed through his body.

The 41-year-old fugitive from the Northern Michigan State Prison was approached by the agents in front of an eastside tavern.

Mrs. Mason P. Harper, wife of the tavern owner, was standing about six feet from Shelton and said she heard an agent say: "Come on, fella, it's all over."

Reaches For Gun

"That's what you think," the fugitive replied and reached for an automatic in his belt.

Both agents fired.

One of the agents, unidentified was wounded slightly in the thumb by his partner's bullet which riccocheted from the sidewalk after passing through Shelton's body.

Shelton's career in crime goes back to 1933 when he robbed a bank in Kaleva, Mich. He was serving a 60-year term for this when he and Sam Lieb, 42, escaped last labor day.

The two kidnapped a salesman and took him on a wild ride over the mid-west for 30 hours that set off a hunt in four states. Their victim escaped in northern Indiana unharmed. Lieb was recaptured but Shelton escaped.

Bidault Gov't Tossed Out

PARIS, June 24 — (AP) — The French National Assembly today overthrew Premier Georges Bidault and his middle-of-the-road cabinet. The official vote on a government motion of confidence was 352 to 230 against the government.

The defeat came in the midst of a portentous European colasteel pool conference in which France has taken the lead. Some observers said the cabinet's fall may be a blow to those negotiations.

However, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, father of the Schuman plan for industrial cooperation, remains a prime candidate to retain the foreign ministry in any succeeding government unless his own party, Bidault's Mouvement Republicain Populaire (MRP) decides against it.

Police Inspector Goes For Windsor Check-up

WINDSOR, June 24 (CP) — Inspector Alex MacLeod of the Ontario Provincial Police, is in Windsor to "check up on Windsor ends" of the Langton bank robbery and slayings of two civilians who pursued the bandit.

There is still conjecture that the killer may be a Windsor man, but Inspector MacLeod would not disclose if he was in Windsor to specifically chase down certain persons or leads.

Inspector MacLeod said he expected to be in Windsor for a day or two.

To Use Water Bombs Fight Forest Fires

TORONTO, June 24.—The Ontario Department of Lands and Forests is going to battle Northern Ontario fires with bombs this summer—water bombs.

Although no claims are being made for this new method of attack yet, tests recently completed at Sault Ste. Marie were sufficiently encouraging that the department is going to continue them on the real thing.

Casing of the water bomb is a modified cement bag with an additional layer of waterproof paper. Into the bag is poured about five gallons, or 50 pounds of water. In the tests, a bombload was 10 bags to a plane.

Indications are that water-bag bombing's principal usefulness will be in containing small fires until ground crews can get at them. A patrolling plane will be able to bomb ahead of a fire just starting and delay its spread.

4 Children Burned

KANSAS CITY, JuJne 24 (AP) —Four small children burned to death and their father was injured severely last night in a fire which destroyed their three-room home here. The children were asleep in a single bed when fire raced through the building.

Truman Offers US Ship To Stranded Canadians

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)— President Truman was ready today to give 600 Europe-bound students—several of them Canadians —the thing they missed the most —their boat.

The White House offer Friday of the military transport General Ballou pumped new life into a summer cruise that seemed dead when the United States Coast Guard banned the original ship as a "firetrap."

The students, some with as little as $100 left after paying their passage, suddenly realized with horror they were cast away on the most expensive beach in the world—New York City.

In their despair, they fired off telegrams in all directions.

One landed in the White House. Only 80 minutes later a Rear-Admiral William M. Callaghan, commander of the military sea transportation service, was on the telephone offering the Ballou.

But the President laid down two conditions—the students must get a contract release from the operators of the first vessel, the Norwegian motorship Svalbard, and they must pay the Ballou's regular expenses.

These are expected to amount to nearly the $200,000 the students paid for the Svalbard.

If all goes well, the Ballou should be ready to sail for Rotterdam with the youth party Tuesday.

The students, travelling under the sponsorship of the National Student Association, planned to sail Thursday aboard the Svalbard, a former German ship used in the invasion of Norway.

Mayor's Son Gives Up

LINDSAY, Ont., June 24 (CP)—Douglas Lamb, son of Mayor Charles Lamb of Lindsay, surrendered to police today. Mayor Lamb drove his son who was wanted on two charges of shopbreaking to the station and bail of $3,000 was arranged. He will appear in court Monday.

Believe Strike Lock Workers About Settled

If all goes well the 170 striking Peterborough Lock Workers will be back on the job Monday.

The company and union (Local 527, United Electrical Workers) discussed the union demands Friday night and finished about 3 a.m. today. Unofficially, it was learned, the company agreed to the 42-hour week with no loss of take-home pay.

A satisfactory compromise was also reached on seniority.

Earlier this week R. Hosken Damon, chairman of the board of directors, Bowser Corporation, Chicago, arrived in the city and has been discussing the issues of the strike with company officials.

The strike began May 4 when the production employees refused to return to work when the company did not meet their demands.

Main issue was the 42½-hour week with no loss of take-home pay; seniority clause, and increased minimum rates for both men and women.

Fortified by the findings of the Conciliation Board, the company has maintained that they were in no position to give wage increases or shorten hours.

Negotiations between the two parties was resumed at 10.30 today.

Charge Officers Play Favorites

PICTON, June 24. — Charges that Prince Edward County police were showing favoritism in traffic cases were levelled here at the June meeting of the county council.

The charges were made as Reeve Hugh Macdonald of Bloomfield, moved that the two constables be granted salary increases from $300 to $500 a year. The motion was defeated.

Replying to the motion, Reeve Cockburn of Picton said the policemen appeared to be ignoring excessive speeding and playing favorites.

Reeve Alva Bowerman of North Marysburgh, also said the police were playing favorites. A defense of the two county policemen was voiced by Reeve Cleminson of Wellington. It would be difficult to find two better men for the job, he said. He added that the method of paying them was unsatisfactory and that they should be put on a permanent salary.

The two constables, James Lovelace of Bloomfield, and Earl Marvin of Wellington, now receive fees for court appearances and other duties as well as their annual salaries.

Planes Sight Oil Slick, No Survivors

Aircraft Last Reported Over Lake Michigan; Spot Some Wreckage

CHICAGO, June 24—(AP)— A Northwest Air Liner with 58 persons aboard was reported missing today over wind-lashed Lake Michigan. The United States Coast Guard district office in Milwaukee, Wis., said their surface craft had located a oil slick off Milwaukee. They did not know the origin of the slick.

However, the oil slick area, about nine miles southeast of Milwaukee, was marked off with buoys. The Coast Guard said wreckage of an unknown nature and some dye markers also had been found.

The Coast Guard did not comment on a report that divers might be sent down to investigate whether the plane sank into the waters there.

If all aboard the DC-4 four-engined air coach are lost, it will be the most disastrous crash in the United States commercial aviation history. The plane was en route from New York to the Pacific northwest.

A gigantic air and surface search net was thrown out from both east and west shores of Lake Michigan.

Fogs clinging to the surface of the water hampered early morning searchers.

Crew of Three

There was a crew of three aboard the craft. The skipper was Robert Lind, 35 of Hopkins, Minn. Co-pilot was Vern F. Wolfe, 35, of Minneapolis. Stewardess Bonnie Ann Fieldman, 25, of St. Paul completed the crew roster.

The night plane last reported its position at 12:15 a.m. CDT today. At Minneapolis the civil aeronautics authority said Capt. Lind told them he was over the eastern edge of Lake Michigan at the time.

He asked permission to descend from 3,500 feet to 2,500 feet. The CAA denied the request because there was too much traffic at that altitude already.

The CAA said Capt. Lind did not mention storm conditions. Sections of west Michigan, however, were lashed by electrical storms at about midnight. Winds of gale force slashed through the region.

Non-Stop Run

The plane left La Guardia Field in New York at 9.25 p.m. EDT. Friday and was due at Minneapolis at 2.23 a.m. CDT on a non-stop run. NWA officials in Seattle said among the 55 passengers, 11 were bound for Spokane, eight for Seattle, and two for Portland, Ore.

An incomplete passenger list issued in Minneapolis and giving destinations of those aboard listed none as flying to points in Canada.

The Chicago headquarters of the Coast Guard dispatched the cutter Frederick Leek as soon as it was established the plane was overdue.

Reeves Caught In Liquor Raid

OTTAWA, June 24. (CP)—City morality officers said they raided an informal party at the Carleton County offices Friday night and seized a quantity of liquor.

The majority of councillors who had attended the party had left when police, armed with a warrant, walked in.

Reeve Howard Craig of North Gower, one of the four council members present when police arrived, told reporters that the group was having a "friendly drink" and that he had "no idea there was anything illegal about it."

The three other council members present were Reeve Victor Major of Fitzroy, Reeve Thomas Keenan and Deputy Reeve Aubrey Moody, both of Nepean.

It is not known what charges, if any, will be laid. Authorities said the police action followed a "tip" that council members were staging a drinking party in the courthouse.

A PREVIEW OF THINGS TO COME was looked over at PCVS on Friday afternoon when rural students visited the school from top to bottom. After being welcomed by Princpal C. S. Browne in the auditorium, they were divided into three groups and conducted through all departments by Mr. Browne, Howard Moebus and Wesley Switzer. A partial group of boys ABOVE listen intently as Mr. Switzer explains some of the intracacies of the large milling machine in the technical school.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Experts See Ball Of Fire, Meteor-Saucer?

DALLAS, Tex., June 24 (AP) —A ball of fire flashed across the southern United States sky as the sun sank last night, trailing a streamer of flame and startling thousands.

Or did it? Was it just a speeding plane with the sun's last red and gold rays playing tricks with its vapor trail? Was it a real ball of fire, a meteor? Or was it—could it have been—a flying saucer?

What direction did it travel? Take your choice: east to west or south to east.

And where did it land? If it was a jet plane, at El Paso, Tex.; if a meteor, perhaps in the swamps of Louisiana.

Or maybe there was a meteor as well as a jet.

Known Facts

Here are the known facts: a brilliant light, variously described as a fire ball and a fiery streak was seen from Montgomery, Ala., to Fort Worth Tex., at about 7:40 p.m. CST. A ship 350 miles at sea from Galveston, Tex., saw it. A similar flash was seen an hour earlier at Natchez, Miss., and about 20 minutes later at Abilene, Tex. During this period a jet plane was whizzing over the south on a course from Langley Field, Va., to El Paso.

The weather bureau at Moisant International Airport in New Orleans said there were theories that the fire ball was either the tail-end of a comet or the vapor trail of a high-flying aircraft.

Dr. David V. Guthrie, director of the Louisiana State University astronomical observatory, was sure it was a meteor. But he hadn't seen it.

New Orlean's weather observer E. A. Aime, who did see it, wasn't sure what he saw. He carefully reported the aircraft vapor trail theory, then said:

"It looked like something that came from outside our atmosphere," (which reaches upward about 75 miles) and burned up in our atmosphere.

Tax On Drinks

LOS ANGELES, June 24 (AP) —Buy a couple of 50-cent drinks here and it'll cost you a nickel tax, if the Los Angeles city council carries through its plan. By a vote of 10 to 1 the council, searching for revenue, directed the city attorney today to draft a tipplers' tax ordinance calling for a five-per-cent sales levy on spiritous products.

Ring In Mouth

BOSTON, June 24 (AP)—The thick-tongued talk of a man collared in gem theft chase aroused the curiosity of Police Captain Frank Sliney. The captain found a $3,500 ring in the man's mouth.

Queen Mary's House Entered Man Beats Up 2 Servants

LONDON, June 24—(CP)—A man broke into Marlborough House, home of 83-year-old Queen Mary, early today and severely beat an aged housekeeper and her helper. A short time late detectives arrested a man found hiding in the basement and held him for questioning.

The Queen Mother was asleep in another part of the house, an old landmark built by Sir Christopher Wren, and was not disturbed.

The injured women were Mrs. Alice Knight, a housekeeper, who is in her 60s, and an assistant, Mrs. Winifred Ralph, about 50.

Hospital officials said Mrs. Knight, severely beaten about the head and shoulders, was in a serious "but not grave" condition. Mrs. Ralph's condition was less serious.

The intruder was believed to have scaled a vine-covered wall then entered the house through a window. He apparently prowled through several rooms but did not enter the queen's private apartments on the second floor.

Nothing Taken

Marlborough House contains one of Britain's finest art collections. Nothing appeared to have been taken.

Mrs. Knight heard the intruder enter her room and shouted a challenge. He struck her savagely and slashed her about the shoulders, apparently with a penknife.

Awakened by her screams, other members of the household staff ran to her aid. Mrs. Ralph was struck several times by the intruder.

The alarm touched off inch-by-inch search of the huge house and the four-acre grounds.

At dawn, a police truck drove into the grounds. Plainclothesmen put into it a small black tin trunk, like a cash box and a small cardboard box.

Marlborough House is a long building of three storeys built in red brick with stone pilasters and dressings.

UK Frigate Fires On Planes First Blow At Nationalists

HONG KONG, June 24—(AP) —A British frigate fired on three Chinese Nationalist fighter planes Friday off the Communist port of Swatow. No casualties were reported.

Official announcements from both sides refrained from identifying the nationality of the opponent. But the two statements left no doubt as to their identities.

The Royal Navy said the 1,490-ton frigate Hart opened fire after three "Mustang fighters"—common to the Nationalist Air Force—made an "unprovoked attack" on the British tug Frosty Moller.

The tug was assisting the British freighter Anhui, which had struck a mine and was beached near Swatow on China's southeast coast.

A Chinese Nationalist Communique from Formosa said Air Force planes were "fired upon by a gunboat which entered deeply into Chinese territorial waters in an attempt to drive them off as they attacked an unidentified freighter at the entrance to Swatow harbor."

It was the first time that the Royal Navy had taken retaliatory action against Nationalist warships or airplanes within Chinese territorial waters. It has intervened several times in the Nationalist seizure of British ships, but always in International waters.

Friday the British blockade runner Lady Wolmer returned to Hong Kong with six wounded. It had been strafed by Nationalist planes Wednesday off Swatow.

Smuggle Aliens 80 Arrested

DETROIT, June 24—(AP)— With 80 arrests, United States immigration agents claimed today they had cracked activities of an Italian gang reported to be smuggling aliens into the Detroit area.

Fifty arrests in Detroit were announced, and 30 more in New York. The roundup began four months ago.

Among those bagged, said James Butterfield, immigration service district director, was 29-year-old Gaetano Badalmente, once known as a bandit "Robin Hood" in southern Italy. The Italian is wanted by Italian police on charges of robbery, kidnapping and murder, the immigration official added.

Butterfield said some of the aliens reported to have been smuggled into the United States were rowed across the Detroit River by boat from the Ontario shore.

Uphold Appeal

TORONTO, June 24 (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal Friday upheld an appeal by the city of Toronto against reduction of assessment on Woodbine race track by the Ontario Municipal Board. The board rerduced the assessment from $1,070,133 to $508,500. Court said the reduction was unfair and violated the assessment act.

Gun-Happy Bandit Robs Storekeeper

Fires Three Shots At Man With Box Gets $1,300 Payroll

KAZABAZUA, Que., June 24 —(CP)—A trigger-happy bandit today held up a merchant in this Gatineau Valley village 40 miles northeast of Ottawa, escaping with $1,300 in cash after firing three wild shots at his victim.

The merchant, W. A. Kenney, frightened but not hurt, told police he was carrying a $1,300 pulpwood-cutters payroll and was just about to unlock his general store when the bandit ran towards him and shouted:

"Drop that box".

The bandit, believed to be about 27 or 28 years of age, without warning then fired three shots from a revolver in Mr. Kenney's direction.

Mr. Kenney said he was carrying the payroll in a fisherman's tackle box. The bandit scooped up the box as Mr. Kenney dropped it and fled.

Mr. Kenney said the bandit escaped in a dark-colored sedan, heading south towards Hull, Que., and Ottawa. Pedestrians who noticed the bandit getting into the car told police that a second man was at the wheel.

Quebec provincial police immediately threw up a road block on the Hull-Maniwaki highway which runs through Kazabazua.

Boost Estimates By 82 Million

OTTAWA, June 24 — (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott Friday boosted the estimate of government expenditures for 1950-51 by more than $82,000,000.

He tabled further supplementary estimates of $82,451,398, bringing the total of proposed expenditures to $2,393,782,998. This brought him close to his forecast in budget speech March 28.

At that time he said he expected expenditures would amount to $2,410,000,000 and revenues to $2,430,000,000, leaving him a surplus of about $20,0000,000 for the year which ends next March 31.

In a statement outside the House he disclosed that in the first two months of the current year revenues were running at the rate of $194,000,000 over expenditures.

U.S. Trade Pact Ended Canada Affected

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP) —The United States and Mexico are ending their reciprocal trade agreement Dec. 31, 1950. This is an event of much economic importance because it means higher U.S. tariffs on imports not only from Mexico but from Canada and a number of other countries as well.

Major repercussions will be felt in oil and lead—the tariff will be doubled on lead from Canada, Australia, Peru and Mexico.

Officials said the cancellation will double—from 10½ cents a barrel to 21 cents—the tariffs on about half the oil imported into the United States.

The effect also may be shown in some price increases in the United States on a range of goods from toys to oil.

Unidentified Plane Crashes In England

LONDON, June 24 (Reuters)— An unidentified plane said to be carrying four persons is reported to have crashed today near Dale Head, four miles north of Clitheroe, Lancashire.

First reports said the plane was a passenger aircraft making for the Isle of Man from Leeds. But a Ministry of Civil Aviation spokesman said later the Leeds-Isle of Man plane landed safely.

He added: "we have no other reports or any planes missing or crashed."

Police from Lancashire and Yorkshire began to investigate the reported crash.

Stock Markets Rallied During Week

By FRANK KAPLAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stock markets rallied from early heavy profit-taking to chalk up a mild advance this week.

Stocks early in the week bucked a continuation of the previous week's heavy profit-taking following an almost uninterrupted year-long bull market.

Leaders in the 12 months advance were hardest hit. Many issues that have sat on the sidelines during the climb attracted attention.

Now the current market watchword is "caution." Observers have been predicting a technical setback for some time and investors are beginning to think similarly.

Increases in volume on signs of a downturn were disconcerting to the bulls.

In New York, the Associated Press 60-stock average closed the five days trading yesterday at 79.1, a gain of .5. The advance in the average during the week followed a loss of more than a point the previous week.

Heavy Realizing

Heavy realizing was evident on Canadian markets. Selected stocks like papers, that featured recent strong advances into new price territory, were pushed downwards.

Mining and oil stocks continued in the trading spotlight. The small investor was having his say in the more speculative issues.

In Toronto, the exchange's index of representative industrial stocks gained 1.37, largely the result of renewed buying Wednesday and Thursday.

Senior and junior gold producers ignored by traders in previous sessions, gained 3.11. Attention of most Bay Street operators has been centred on penny golds in recent weeks. Several of these more speculative stocks attracted heavy buying.

Base Metals

Base metal stocks climbed under renewed buying for a gain of 2.11. Leading issues were especially strong. Some traders loath to participate in highly speculative mining issues and yet who prefer the slightly more speculative to the more established stocks have entered the oil market in the last few months, carrying the average price level to the highest point since the boom days of Turner Valley in 1937.

Volume for the five days on Toronto was 19,233,000 shares, compared with 16,809,000 shares the previous week.

Changes on the Montreal averages were: banks up .17; utilities off .2; industrials up .5; combined up .3; papers off 1.37; golds up 1.06. Industrials volume was 379,195, as against 246,914, and mines, 5,681,533, as against 4,644,728.

Grain markets climbed slightly. In Chicago, gains ranged up to six cents in July wheat. In Winnipeg July oats, rye and barley brightened.

Rural Minister Takes Broadcasts

Rev. D. P. Morris of Bridgenorth is scheduled to take the morning broadcasts sponsored by the Ministerial Association next week over radio station CHEX. These devotional broadcasts at 8:45 a.m. are usually taken by ministers in Peterborough but this week a departure is being made from the custom.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9.30 a.m. EDT, June 24, 1950.

Synopsis:
Relief from Friday's heat and high humidity came to Northern Ontario this morning with the arrival of cooler, drier air from the prairies. A slow southward motion of this air is indicated for today, but it is expected to stall just north of Toronto and vicinity on Sunday. Consequently little change in weather is anticipated for extreme southwestern Ontario. Elsewhere Sunday should be sunny and cooler.

Forecasts:
Northern Lake Huron, Southern Georgian Bay, Haliburton and Eastern Lake Ontario regions.
Cloudy with scattered showers or thunderstorms today, mostly clear tonight and Sunday. A little cooler. Winds light. Low tonight and high Sunday at Trenton 60 and 80, Muskoka and Killaloe 55 and 80, Wingham 60 and 80.
Summary for Sunday: Sunny, a little cooler.

Flood Threat Worsens At Port Mann

VANCOUVER, June 24 (CP)—A new threat to the Port Mann area of the Fraser Valley flood region loomed today as a 14-foot tide inched up on a trembling temporary dike protecting an estimated 1,000 persons.

The area, 20 miles east of here, where 200 residents fled Friday, became a hazard point in the British Columbia flood picture early today with the official opinion that nothing could keep out the pressure of the flooding Fraser and the tide water.

Canadian National Railway shops and rail lines are menaced as well as the Trans-Canada Highway and 1,000 residents.

The dike was erected this year when the Fraser began to rise. It gave slightly Friday with pump failure forcing temporary evacuation of some 200 residents.

Elsewhere, the smelter city of Trail faced another day of trial against the Columbia River. Low-lying east end homes are threatened but 20,000 sandbags and all-out emergency dike work have staved off serious flooding so far.

The remainder of the provincial flood picture appeared unchanged with a constant check against weak ramparts the main precaution in the Fraser Valley diking system girdling the swollen, muddy river. In the north and central interior, flooding appeared over with minor damage to roads and bridges being assessed.

Gets 4 Years In Pen

NAPANEE, June 24 — (CP) — Norman David Martin, 33, of Gananoque, Friday was sentenced to four years in penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to charges of arson, breaking and entering, and theft. He was charged with being party to setting fire to Robert Wright's grist mill in Odessa, May 31, breaking and entering the home of Freeman Wright, Robert's father, and stealing $1,688.

Diabetic Condition Blamed For Bad Driving On Road

COBOURG, June 24—(ENS)—The Crown indicated yesterday during the trial of a man charged with dangerous driving, that it would not consider a diabetic condition as an excuse for the alleged dangerous driving, when Phillip Speede of Napanee pleaded not guilty to the charge. The case proceeded to the extent of hearing three Crown witnesses, after which it was adjourned for two weeks.

Speede was charged with dangerous driving on May 29 at Hope township. Corporal Jack Hatch of Madoc testified that he was proceeding east out of Port Hope when several times he saw a truck ahead of him go off the roadway on to the shoulder and swerve back on again. Near the highway bridge east of Port Hope he thought the truck would collide with another truck but it avoided a collision by crowding to the rail of the bridge with only an inch or two to spare. The officer caught up to the truck and stopped it.

The driver, Phillip Speede, staggered, smelled of liquor and was belligerent, Corporal Hatch testified. He radioed Peterborough and Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine was sent out from Cobourg. Constable Erskine testified that Speede voluntarily had a blood test. Insulin was carried by the accused.

Dr. D. H. Gear of Cobourg was called and took a blood sample for a blood sugar blood test and for an alcohol blood test. The blood sugar blood test showed 230 milligrammes per hundred c.c.'s. Dr. Gear said that diabetics reacted differently in respect to the amount of blood sugar content required to bring about an onslaught of diabetic coma. However, while 80 to 120 was normal, he didn't feel that 230 would cause a diabetic to drive in an erratic fashion.

Evidence Deferred

As Professor Joselyn Rogers was not available for the present court, evidence as to the alcohol blood test was deferred. Before court adjourned, Crown Attorney Harry Deyman said that he was going to take the position of contending that negligence was present whether it was shown that alcohol or diabetic symptoms were responsible. Mr. Deyman said that he would submit that if a person drove after diabetic symptoms became evidence, he was negligent.

As far as is known, this would be the first case in Ontario based on such a legal foundation.

157 Employees Fired At University

LOS ANGELES, June 24 (AP)—The University of California, world's largest educational institution, has fired 157 faculty members and other employees who refused to sign statements saying that they are not Communists.

The dismissals were ordered on Friday by the board of regents

The University president, Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, told the regents that 9,929 letters were sent to university employees, asking them to state as a condition of employment that they are not members of the Communist party. All the nonsigners were given the right to a hearing.

The 157 who were fired ignored this right.

The dismissals are effective June 30. Names of those discharged were not disclosed, since they can re-apply for their jobs by signing the non-Communist statement in their new contracts.

Sources close to the university indicated, however, that there were no outstanding scientists on the list.

The dismissals are unprecedented in American academic history and close a 14-month row over loyalty oaths and contracts bearing anti-Communist clauses.

Ottawa Silent On Exchange

OTTAWA, June 24—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott, possibly the only man in Canada who knows the answer, declined in the Commons Friday to go out on a limb about the Canadian dollar and related foreign-exchange controls. Amid reports that the dollar might be revalued and the controls relaxed, he told the Chamber he wasn't going to influence stock market sales by prophesying what may happen to the value of the dollar and to exchange restrictions. He addressed the reply to J. M. Macdonnel (PC—Toronto Greenwood), Progressive Conservative financial critic, who termed it "most unsatisfactory."

The discussion developed as the chamber, striking towards possible prorogation next week, opened consideration of finance department estimates.

Sign Agreement

In the early stages, Resources Minister Winters announced that Newfoundland has signed an agreement for construction of its section of the Trans-Canada Highway. Quebec and Nova Scotia are the only provinces which still have not reached agreements

The finance debate featured the varied activities of the day and produced a motion by Rodney Adamson (PC—York West) to reduce from $205,000 to $1 the amount provided for administration of foreign exchange controls It was quickly defeated.

Mr. Adamson wanted to see the controls abolished and Canada's currency put back on the gold standard.

Mr. Macdonnel also protested against the principle of controlled currency and against Mr. Abbott's refusal to indicate whether or not it was to be permanent government policy.

5 U.S. Railroads Facing Strike Sunday

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP) — Switchmen on five big mid-western and Western United States railroads are due to strike Sunday. Four of the roads have announced that they will not try to operate.

There was no sign early today of any break in the deadlock between the Switchmen's Union of North America (AFL) and the carriers.

The five roads are the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Chicago Great Western, the Western Pacific, the Great Northern and the Denver and Rio Grande Western.

One To Operate

All the railroads except the Great Northern have said they will quit rolling if the switchmen strike at 6 a.m. local time Sunday. In San Francisco, a spokesman for the Great Northern said that all but 60 of their switchmen belonged to another union, and the line would be able to carry on.

Lindsay 'Cow-Hands' Poor At Punching

LINDSAY, June 24—Attracting as much attention as a rodeo, a cow jumped over a truck rack and landed on the pavement in front of the Victoria Trust building Kent St., Lindsay, Friday morning. After a trot down William St. south to the laneway separating the Central garage and Berlett Jackson hardware, the cow apparently thought town life was too lively and dashed up behind the post office away from inquisitive eyes.

The owner of the truck immediately gave chase, a chase which lasted nearly an hour before the animal was again taken into captivity. After making things lively for a number of would-be cowboys as they endeavored to throw a rope on her, she turned about face and refused to budge.

All Coast Guard stations and State Police posts in Michigan were warned. Two amphibian planes droned off over the lake seeking the missing liner. Early in the search police at suburban White Fish Bay, reported seeing a light on the Lake. After 10 minutes it vanished, they added.

Send Patrol Bombers

The naval station at Glenview, Ill., put patrol bombers in the air when the search alarm was sounded. They planned to ride the radio beams that the northwest plane should have followed.

The search area was vast covering about 32,000 miles.

The big search turned up conflicting reports. In Chicago Coast Guard Captain Daniel Fulford said wreckage had been sighted nine miles off Milwaukee's north breakwater light. Milwaukee craft however could not locate it.

The air route traffic control centre in Chicago said that northwest's Duluth control tower had heard a constant radio signal which it could not fix exactly. Government listening stations said they could not pick it up.

The Milwaukee office of Northwest Air Lines said one of their cargo planes had sighted an oil slick about six miles south east of South Milwaukee.

Two Clergymen Testify About Newsprint

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—A Canadian clergyman told Congress Friday that Canada's newsprint and pulpwood industry controls 95 per cent of Ontario's Crown timber lands, keeping paper production down and prices up.

The Rev. Dr. B. C. Eckhardt, of London, Ont., accused the Ontario provincial government of allowing its forests to be exploited by pulpwood manufacturers.

Pulpwood is the processed wood from which newsprint is made.

Dr. Eckardt and a fellow minister, the Rev. G. A. Peddie, of the Knollwood Presbyterian Church in London, Ont., were unheralded witnesses in the committee's investigation of tight supplies and high prices in newsprint.

Dr. Peddie also is vice-president of the Christian Social Council of Canada.

Both said their primary interest is a reform in the Ontario government's handling of its forests. Unemployment, lack of housing and gradual elimination of the timber industry are resulting, they said.

Dr. Eckardt brought frequent laughter with his forthright sallies. At one point, he observed, "I may go to jail for this."

He did not make clear what he felt the committee might do about Canada's forestry problem.

Accident Victim BuriedInRawdon

BONARLAW, June 24 (ENS)—St. Mark's Anglican Church, Bonarlaw, was filled to overflowing on Friday afternoon as the funeral of Charles Nobes was held. The sad circumstances of his death in a car accident Tuesday night awakened deepest sympathy in the hearts of the many who knew him over a wide area. The funeral was under the auspices of Marmora Branch No. 237 Canadian Legion deceased being a First World War veteran. The cortege left the home of his sister Mrs. Smith Fraser for service at the church which was inducted by the Legion chaplain Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie. The robed choir led in the singing of the hymns "Now the day of toil is done" and "Abide with me."

Rural Dean Brownlie in his consoling message referred to 1st Corinthians 15 pointing out that St. Paul had little to say therein about heaven but rejoiced to think of what Christ had done for him. Religion, the preacher declared, is a binding of ourselves to God as realized by St. Patrick whose breastplate bore the words "I bind myself to God."

Burial took place in the 12th Line Cemetery of Rawdon Township. Following the committal the ritual of the Legion was taken by Comrade W. J. Cottrell and Last Post and Reveille was sounded by Comrade G Brooks.

Major Percy Gray, past president of the Marmora branch was in charge of the parade.

The pall-bearers were Comrades Ward Luery, George Wellman, Leslie Rundle, Norman Hipson, George Gordenier and Joseph Darrah.

Killed By Truck

STONEHAM, Mass., June 24 — (AP)—A year ago, little Kathleen Halligan, 3, underwent a successful operation for cancer of the brain. Yesterday she left home with five pennies to go to the candy store. Crossing the street the pennies slipped through her fingers. As she stooped to pick them up, a truck struck and killer her.

HOG PRICES

TORONTO, June 24 — (CP) — Hog prices at Stratford were unchanged this morning. Truck hogs were quoted at $31.00.

Obituaries

MRS. JOHN WILEY

A resident of Peterborough for the past 48 years, Mrs. Martha Wiley, 502 Stewart St., died Friday in hospital in her 75th year. She was born in Alnwick township, Martha Brown, the daughter of the late James Brown and Sarah Johnson. Her husband, John Wiley, predeceased her some time ago.

Mrs. Wiley was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church and an active member of the Ladies' Aid Society for a number of years.

Four children survive, Mrs. Fern Hayes and Mrs. R. Watson (Thelma), both of Toronto, Harold and Gordon, both of Peterborough. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Margaret Brown of Newcastle, two grandchildren, Joan Wiley and Phyllis Hayes.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's church, will officiate at the service Monday at the residence, 502 Stewart St., at 3 p.m. Interment will be at Little Lake cemetery.

CARL W. NIXON

TRENT RIVER, June 24 — (ENS)—Carl W. Nixon, 69, of Trent River, died suddenly with a heart attack at noon, Friday, at his residence. He was born in Trent River, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Reddon, and has lived in Trent River all his life, except for a few years when he resided near Selwyn. His wife, the former Margaret Wellman, predeceased him four years ago.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Rufus Redden (Doris), Norwood, Mrs. John Moore (Lois), Verona, and Hazel, Toronto and two sons, Morley, Selwyn and George, Lindsay.

Mr. Nixon was a member of the United Church in Trent River and a staunch Progressive Conservative.

The body is resting at the Tedford Funeral Home, Norwood. Funeral service will be held at the Trent River United Church on Monday at 2 p.m. Interment will be in Centre Cemetery.

SAMUEL COPELAND STINSON

A railroad engineer, retired for the past 23 years, Samuel Copeland Stinson, aged 79, died Friday at his home 270 William St., after a short illness. Born in Bruce County, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Copeland Wilson, he was married to the former Sarah Clark.

He had lived in Peterborough 17 years, coming here from Winnipeg. He was an adherent of the Salvation Army.

He is survived by his widow, five daughters, Mrs. Raymond Bergeron (Dorothy), Markstay, Ont., Mrs. Harry Hamilton (Hazel), of Peterborough, Mrs. Arthur Tinney (Florence), of Coe Hill, Mrs. A. Houston (Olive), and Mrs. Jack Johnson (Mary), both of Winnipeg; six sons, Fred of North Branch, David of Winnipeg, Elijah, Samuel, Gerald, and Alex., all of Peterborough; and two sisters, Mrs. Alice Mason, of Porcupine Plains, Man., and Mrs. Emma Rowntree, of Riding Mountain, Man.

Funeral service will be held at 3.30 p.m. Monday at the Comstock Funeral Home, Rubidge St., Major Cyril Everitt of the Salvation Army officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Four Indicted For Bogus Bills

ROCHESTER, N.Y., June 24 (AP)—The four men accused of the actual manufacture of counterfeit Canadian and United States bills during last spring's bogus money round-up were indicted Friday by a federal district court grand jury.

They were Bernard Neuner, 50, of Buffalo, Matthew Zdolinski, 58, of Depew, N.Y., and Alphonse Stablewski and Henry Stevens, 45, both of Cheektowaga, N.Y.

The four-count indictment said Neuner made the lithographic plates from which more than $1,000,000 in bogus United States and Canadian bills were made.

Three Cars Damaged At Street Intersection

Three cars were damaged in an accident at Hunter and Aylmer Sts. Friday afternoon, and at night, there were two minor accidents near the intersection of Rubidge and Townsend Sts.

In the three-car accident, Dr. Rundal Kenny, 319 Pearl Ave., was driving east on Hunter St., stopped for the stop sign, and started across. About half way, his car was in collision with the left front of a north bound auto driven by G. C. Little, 648 Armour Rd.

The doctor's car bounced off Little's and struck a car stopped for the through street at the east side of Aylmer. Dr. Kenny's car was damaged extensively on the front, and the left front fenders of the other two cars were crumpled.

A hit-and-run driver put a dent in the fender of a truck owned by G. B. Hoster, 29 Orpington Rd., Friday night, when the truck was parked on Rubidge St. near Townsend. Damage was about $10.

In the third accident, Earl Gooley, 35 Stewart St., was driving north on Rubidge, had crossed the intersection of Townsend when his auto was struck on the left front fender by an auto driven by Glen Osburn, Omemee. Damage was not extensive to either car.

$109,000 FOR PORT HOPE

Public works appropriations contained in supplementary estimates tabled in the House of Commons on Friday included $109,000 for the extension to Queen's Wharf in Port Hope harbor and $15,000 for additional wharfage facilities at Trenton.

JOURNEY TO PORT HOPE

Eleven members of Moore Preceptory Knights Templar went to Port Hope on Friday night to attend a district meeting of Sovereign Great Priory and also visited Palestine Preceptory where the Grand Master was making his official visit.

UP AND DOWN

The yo-yo season is back with a vengeance. Motorists and pedestrians, waiting for the light to change at Aylmer and Charlotte Streets today, saw a young passenger in a car calmly lean out the window and start his bit of wood and string into its up and down motions. As his father's auto pulled away when the light changed, he gave one final flick, and withdrew.

GIVES YEAR'S REPORT

I. H. Keefer, president of the Rotary club for the past year will present on behalf of the executive and directors Monday a summary of the club's activities and accomplishments of the past year. The incoming president, Hugh Waddell, will introduce the board of directors for 1950-51.

TWO YOUTHS HELD

Lindsay police have arrested two youths in connection with two cases of breaking and entry which occurred in the town late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning. A warrant is out for the arrest of a third man. The breakins occurred at the Lindsay Flour and Feed Company's building on Queen St., and at the Byrnell Groceteria adjoining it. Only a few coppers were reported missing from the former, where entry has been gained by chopping a hasp lock off a door, while merchandise to the value of about $100 was taken from Byrnell's. Entry had been gained to the grocery by kicking in a cellar window.

Frank Bowness 40 Years With CGE Retires

Frank Bowness, chief draftsman of the Canadian General Electric Company, another of its senior employees, begins today a holiday of indefinite years. His vacation is the prelude of his permanent retirement.

Mr. Bowness has been with the company here for slightly more than 40 years. He joined Peterborough works at that time when he came here from the Old Country, and has been associated with the steady expansion of the drafting department in which he has been employed from the outset of his engagement with CGE.

It is understood that the retirement of Mr. Bowness was approaching in July. His vacations were beginning today, and it was presumably optional whether he severed his ties with CGE at once or deferred that action until the holiday period was ended. Apparently Mr. Bowness decided to go through at once with the wrench of terminating his days with the company.

Power Cut Off In Heavy Storm

Damage by wind and lightning during the thunderstorms which rocked the Peterborough area early today is reported light.

The first in a series of storms, confined mostly to heavy rain and lightning, struck Peterborough about 4 a.m. calling out hydro workers to repair some minor damage. The most severe storm broke loose about 6:30 a.m.

The Bell Telephone Company reported trouble of the "chicken-feed" variety, mostly wet wires. Regular workmen required little additional help. No wires were reported down due to fallen trees and snapped poles in the Peterborough area but in the neighborhood of Campbellford several poles were struck by lightning. Repair crews were sent to investigate the damage.

Lightning was the main headache to the hydro men. They were out at 4 a.m. when the first storm broke in the area. The bolts of lightning striking the wires caused a surge back to the transformer, blowing fuses, causing temporary shutoffs. The radio station went off the air shortly after it began broadcasting but the blowout on the main line was repaired.

Several trees were splintered by lightning in the city. The worst case was on Maria St. about 6:55 a.m. when a large bolt ripped a tree from top to bottom.

Rain caused minor damage to several gardens, beating the fresh young plants to the ground. Washouts on highways were only minor.

Mother Will See Child Made Saint

VATICAN CITY, June 24 — (A).—The wax-preserved body of young Maria Goretti, "martyr of purity," was displayed today in the Bascilica of St. John and St. Paul as thousands of Roman Catholic faithful gathered to witness her elevation to sainthood.

Later today, Maria will be declared a saint in the huge, outdoor canonization ceremony in St. Peter's square.

The Pope will present the murdered child as a model for all the world's youth. She died 48 years ago at the age of 11 from 14 dagger wounds, rather than submit to a man's passion.

Precedent will be set when Maria's 87-year-old mother witnesses the elevation ceremony—a privilege enjoyed by no other mother in the church's long history.

To Send Message

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—The Air Force amateur radio system will relay a message from Premier Joseph R. Smallwood of Newfoundland to provincial Premiers across the country on Newfoundland Day, June 24, RCAF headquarters announced today. Afars, with a membership of approximately 500 "ham" operators, is co-ordinated by the Air Force under Captain E. A Hutton, director of signals. The message from Premier Smallwood will be sent on its way from St. John's by Wing Commander E. L. Wurtele.

Keep Judy Garland Under Sedatives

HOLLYWOOD, June 24 (AP) —Judy Garland, who slashed her throat with a broken glass earlier this week, is being kept under sedatives for hysteria, her agent said today.

Carlton Alsop disclosed that the 29-year-old singer has been informed that there's no chance she'll get back her latest movie part—with Fred Astaire in "Royal Wedding."

"That's the reason she's still so upset," Alsop said.

Two Books Ready

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—Two volumes which tell the story of Canada's army in the Second World War are just about finished—but there still are a couple more to go. Army headquarters today reported that work on the first two volumes, one dealing with the army in Canada, the United Kingdom and the Pacific, and the other the story of the fighting in Sicily and Italy, is nearing completion.

DIKE VICTORY—Army engineers and volunteers plug a gaping hole beneath the dike at Harrington Mills, 40 miles east of Vancouver. This aerial photo shows boil (circled) where the water poured under the rampart. Trucks are bringing up sandbags and workers are seen dumping them over the dike.

Gets $7,000 Fund

MONTREAL, June 24 (CP)— The widow of murdered Alexander Gamman will be provided for with a $7,000 fund from the charter banks of Canada, it was announced Friday. Gamman, veteran RCMP constable, was killed by a gunman May 25 during the course of a robbery of the Bank of Toronto branch on downtown Beaver Hall Hill here.

Gas Truck Strikes Damages Bridge

NEW HAMBURG, Ont., June 24 (CP)—A bridge which spans the Nith River at the south end of the village was damaged when struck by a gasoline truck Friday and closed to all traffic.

The truck, driven by Charles Kraemer, of Kitchener, went out of control owing to a broken tie rod and crashed into the main upright of the bridge pushing it in several feet.

Blame Oxygen Use For Tug Explosion

OAKVILLE, June 24.—(CP).— A coroner's jury found Friday night that use of oxygen instead of compressed air to start the Diesel engine of the tug Radel was the cause of the explosion which killed two men in the harbor here May 25.

Garland Guy and John Peeze were fatally injured in the blast. Evidence was that day-long efforts had been made to start the tug's engine and the supply of compressed air was exhausted. A bottle of oxygen had been procured and it was used in the fatal attempt to start the engine.

Cargo Ship Aground

QUEBEC, June 24 (CP)—Department of Transport signals service said today it had received a report that a cargo ship had run aground on Gaspe coast. One official said that a message had been sent to the cargo ship "Cheswick" believed in the area, to enquire on the ship's position.

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—The parliamentary committee established to study the most suitable old age security system for Canada completed its work Friday and will report to the Senate and the Commons next week. Drafting of the report was conducted in private.

Defy Council

ROMFORD, Essex, England, June 24 (Reuters)—Cart-pushing fruit vendors, the super salesmen of Britain's street markets, staged a stormy revolt here Friday backed by crowds of shouting housewives. Ignoring a dawn-to-dusk ban on them imposed by the local council, the "barrow boys" trundled their carts onto the streets and fought police who tried to move them on.

4,000-Mile Canoe Trip Undertaken By Pair

FORT FRANCES, Ont., June 24 (CP)—Two modern voyagers today enjoyed the comforts of civilization before continuing the next leg of a 4,000-mile canoe trip to the Northwest territories.

W. Emerson Scott, of Caro, Mich., and Raymond Driessen, St. Charles, Ill., were undecided whether they would make up lost time by loading their equipment aboard a train for Winnipeg and continue their northward water trip from there.

Storms on the Great Lakes put them three weeks behind schedule.

SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1950

Census Year, 1951

Next year is census year. The last was 1941. The taking of the census is a decennial event, and the 1951 census will be the ninth since Confederation. Some 18,000 census-takers will be turned loose on the public, but they will not be asking too many questions. A new card system is being introduced which requires a minimum amount of writing. These cards, when marked, can be sorted by electronic machines. Mr. Herbert Marshall, the Dominion Statistician, predicts that the 1951 census-taking will be the fastest of modern times, despite the greater number of citizens about whom facts must be recorded.

* * *

There will be special sets of questions, and specially-trained census-takers, for selected assortments of the population. The reason that all citizens will not be asked these intricate questions (from the number of taps in the house to the kinds of diseases the children have had) is that only expert census-takers could be relied on to collect the information properly, and there are not enough of them to go around. Further, there is no need: statisticians have worked out methods of taking "fair samples" which give a reasonably accurate picture of the whole.

* * *

The ten-yearly census is a valuable means, and the only comprehensive one, whereby Canada can know what Canada is, as a people working, eating, playing and dying. Much of the value of the census comes from its periodicity. The development and stature of the country can be assessed by precise comparison with other decades. There was a storm of protest when the last (1941) census was about to be taken. Critics said that there were more important things to be done in that alarming war year than to employ an army of people with pencils and pads to knock on doors. There were more important jobs; nevertheless, the importance of the decennial census was not overshadowed by a temporary event like the war. The propriety of taking it in 1941, despite the war, is now generally admitted. The Dominion is co-operating next year with twenty-one other nations to make a complete census of the American continent.

* * *

When all the figures are analysed the 1951 census will have some startling tables to tell of changes and advancement in the last decade. It will probably be the most news-worthy census in Canada's history.

A Presbyterian Anniversary

Tomorrow the Presbyterian Church in Canada celebrates the 75th year of its existence. Presbyterianism, of course, flourished long before that; the earliest Presbyterians to reach Canada did not come from Scotland, but from Europe, and especially from France, in the first decade of the seventeenth century. But it was on June 15, 1875 that Free Kirk and Auld Kirk adherents from Upper Canada and Lower Canada and the Maritimes met in Montreal and agreed to unite under their present name.

At that time the Presbyterians numbered 90,653. By 1925 their number had increased to 385,000. The secession of a large part of the church membership to the newly organized United Church left the Presbyterian forces at 154,000. Today they estimate their following at 175,676, and are showing considerable vigour in all branches of church work.

To non-Presbyterians the question inevitably occurs: why did so large a group remain outside the union of Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches in 1925? After a quarter of a century the heat of discussion has cooled and the dust of the battle has cleared, and an answer may be attempted. They chose to continue as Presbyterians because union would have meant a break with an historic theological attitude, an attitude having its roots in the teachings of John Calvin, the Swiss reformer. Since Calvin's time (1509-1564) his teachings have been greatly modified, and it is doubtful if anyone living today, even in the remotest corner of Scotland, subscribes to them in their original form. Union mean compromise, and to many Presbyterians the compromise was too great to be acceptable, whatever obvious gains union might hold out. What modern Presbyterians believe is a complex doctrine derived from Calvin; it is substantially different from the creed of the United Church.

To some people such differences appear to be theological hair-splitting. It is arguable, however, that as God may sometimes call men to mighty labours He may also call them to split hairs. It has often been pointed out that the weakness of Protestantism is its variety of belief: it can be said with equal truth that such variety is also the strength of Protestantism. The spirit of the Reformation may be nobly served by union, but he would be a bold man indeed who said that it was not also served by abstention from union when union meant a compromise with conscience.

This seventy-fifth anniversary of the Presbyterian Church in Canada will call forth the good wishes of all denominations. Its persistence speaks well for the alertness of the Canadian conscience in matters respecting faith.

University Avenue Is Our Street Too

Toronto has been running into difficulties about the beautification of University Avenue. This street, over the years, is changing its character, and in time it will be the most impressive street in Ontario. What happens to it is the concern of all of us, for it leads toward the Provincial Parliament and is, in a sense, a provincial possession.

Recently a group of private Toronto citizens brought Mr. Patrick McKenna a distinquished landscape architect, from the U.S.A. to get his advice. He suggested that the street be planted with red maple and sugar maple in a regular but not rigid design; these trees are indigenous and will bear our climate well; they are beautiful, even when bare, and they are particularly beautiful in the autumn. They would give great dignity and unity to the street, and they would not suffer from traffic fumes and summer heat as plantings of flowers might do. We hope that Mr. McKenna's suggestion will be adopted.

It is high time that all our Ontario cities began to plan fine streets and noble avenues of trees. We have now emerged from the pioneer days when any sort of building, and an haphazard, ugly planning was good enough. Nature has given Canada exceptionally beautiful trees and we should use them for decorative purposes. Let us hope that Toronto will give a worthy lead by its treatment of University Avenue, which leads to our parliament and our university.

Take It Back, Waterhouse!

A British member of Parliament whose name is Captain Charles Waterhouse made what we consider an offensive remark on Thursday last. He was questioning the president of the Board of Trade about the import of Canadian whisky into the United Kingdom. "What advantage is obtained by selling good whisky to obtain dollars and then using the dollars to buy less good whisky?" he asked. What does the captain mean—"less good whisky"?

If he means that Canadian whisky is inferior to Scotch, he is wrong. It is different, but it is not less good. The only thing that differentiates Scotch whisky from Canadian is the taste, and tastes are acquired. There are cheap Scotches, just as there are cheap ryes; when we say "cheap" we refer of course to quality, for governments take care these days that no whisky shall be cheap in price. But a good rye is as good as any whisky in the world.

There is a good deal of snobbery about whisky, and the biggest snobs are those whose palates are incapable of distinguishing between one drink and another if they cannot see the labels on the bottles. They judge by price. They cannot trust themselves to judge by taste alone.

We do not intend any slight toward Scotch whisky. It is, at its best, admirable, and we have no quarrel at all with those who genuinely prefer it to other whiskies. But when Captain Waterhouse infers that any Scotch is better than any Canadian whisky we set him down as a fellow who trusts labels instead of his palate.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esq.

Dear Mr. Hydra:

I thought that you might like to know that I don't believe the Old Age Pension should be increased. Old age is too delightful and dangerous a state to require a pension. Old people are usually very happy, and they are also subversive and a Bad Example. Let me tell you what I know.

Last Saturday I went to a nearby school for boys to watch their annual cadet inspection. I well remember when I was a schoolboy what an agony these affairs were. For weeks beforehand we marched till our legs were stiff; a sergeant major with an immense stomach rudely urged us to suck in our non-existent stomachs; we polished our buttons till all the brass was worn off them; we polished our boots inside and out; we learned to march slowly, quickly and imperceptibly; we learned to perform complex quadrilles when other boys shouted hoarse and incomprehensible words. And when The Day came, in an agony of fear we performed these feats, believing that we had the admiration and enthralled attention of our elders. We didn't know whether they admired us or not; our collars were so tight that we were bereft of the senses of sight and hearing. But we believed that they did.

Last Saturday I found out what really went on among the onlookers. While the boys marched, yelled, stamped and drove themselves perceptibly nearer thrombosis their elders jabbered among themselves, laughed, averted their eyes from the sweating heroes and occasionally said "Aren't the little boys sweet?" Some of those boys, Mr. Hydra, were daily shavers and not in the least sweet. And who were the worst offenders in this respect? Who mumbled trivialities during the General Salute? Who turned their backs and sniggered at private jokes while the colours were being marched past? The Old, Mr. Hydra. The happy, carefree, irreverent, unpatriotic Old.

Don't raise their pensions until they smarten up, and show a suitable respect for the Young.

Yours from the philosophical eminences of Middle Life,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.

Esteemed Fribble:

I hear that you university men are in a nasty pickle. You are running out of subjects for your research students to meddle with. Well, I have one for you. Get some eager young fellow who wants a Ph.D. to find out who really reads all the cheap reprints of the classics which are offered in the cheap reprint libraries, and who reads those handsomely bound copies of the essays of Bacon and Montaigne which are offered as prizes to those who join the popular book clubs.

It is my belief that nobody reads the classics at all. You professors don't read them; you teach them. Certainly your students don't read them. Why, then, are so many copies of—say—the crusty reflections of Marcus Aurelius available? And as for Bacon and Montaigne, what is the good of offering them to people who are too lazy to choose their own books?

By the way, had you ever thought of carrying the book-of-the-month idea a step further? I mean offering, for a small fee, to read everybody's book-of-the-month for them, and send them a short leaflet with enough on it to permit them to pretend that they have read the book? There may be a fortune in this idea.

Your generous patron,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

◇ ◇ ◇

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.

Dear Pil:

I have been in Ottawa, where that august body, the Commonwealth Press Union, has been meeting. I could not give as much attention to its deliberations as I could have wished, for our national capital was shaken by the mighty question of whether or not it was decent for women to appear on the streets in shorts, and I had to lend a hand in the street-fighting. I was severely bitten in the left haunch by an enraged female of the Anti-Shorts Party, and if I had not had a large crumpled handkerchief in my pistol pocket at the time I fear that her teeth might have met in my flesh. As it was, I escaped with a minor wound, but could not attend anything describable as a sitting for a day or two.

The Anti-Shorts Faction, as you know, is a subdivision of the Canadian League of Utter Respectability, which asserts that it is impossible to respect the female body if you can see any of it. As a man who has enjoyed about two-thirds normal eyesight since his tenth year I cannot offer an expert opinion on this; to my bleared vision women in shorts fall into two clear divisions — The Charming and The Comic. In my humble way I am grateful for both. But the League has a type of eyesight which sees evils that escape me.

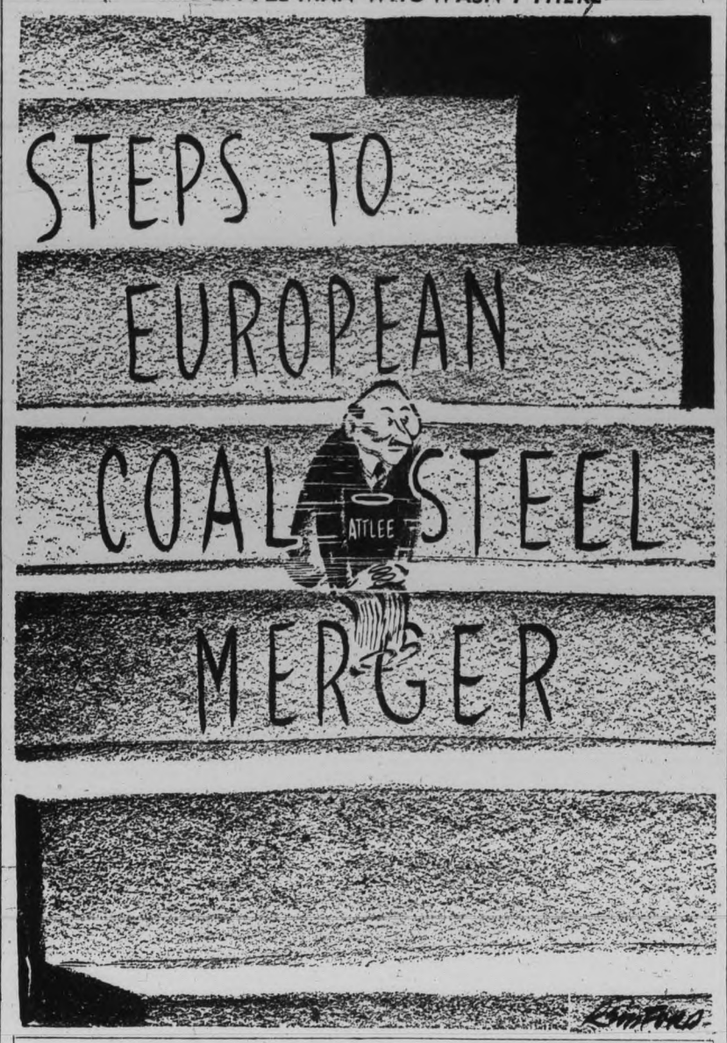
The Press Union enchanted me. I have not heard so much first-rate extemporaneous speaking in many years. And as the ear was ravished, the eye, also, was feasted on the beautifully embroidered hat worn by one of the delegates from Pakistan. Why don't Canadian men wear becoming little confections like that? There must be wonderful tailors in Pakistan. I have not seen such beautifully fitting coat-collars anywhere except on statues of Dante.

As always at meetings of the press, that old rascal John Milton was quoted several times as a defender of press freedom. As a matter of fact Milton, as a defender of press freedom, was in the same class as Marshal Stalin; he could talk and write about it most eloquently, but always with his tongue firmly tucked in his cheek. Milton was Cromwell's principal censor, and thoroughly enjoyed his job.

The meetings of the Commonwealth Press Union were held in the Chateau Laurier, a hotel which in my opinion contains the three prime necessities of any first-rate hostelry—plenty of marble, good food and unlimited hot water. It also contains at least one waiter of unsuspected genuis, for as I breakfasted one morning I watched him mending a cabinet in the dining-room with no tool save a table-knife. As I am given to this sort of cabinet-making myself I observed him with professional appreciation.

Now that the conference is over I think the press is safe for another five years. The conferences are held at five-year intervals. The digestions of the delegates will not permit of any more frequent deliberations. Having taken aboard several pounds of Baked Alaska in three days myself I am not surprised.

Yours apoplectically,
SAM.



To Whom It May Concern

This is to give notice that I will not write or answer any letters upon any subject whatever, however pressing it may be, from this day until the second day of September next. I am going to loaf and invite my soul for a couple of months.

IMPROVE SCENIC ROUTE?

Sir: I enjoyed your editorial on the pleasures of week-end driving on country byroads. This morning I learned that the Peterborough Kiwanians who had 19 clubbers from Watertown, N.Y., took them by car to Burleigh on Thursday afternoon, along the Otonabee River road (east) both ways. Visitors were delighted with the scenic route. Kiwanians were wondering if Peterborough, Lakefield and Douro Township could jointly oil this route and encourage more visitor traffic along it.

PRODIGAL FATHERS

Sir: In a broadcast over radio last night (Father's Day, Sunday) the Peterborough Salvation Army Leader introduced a modern and appropriate version of the Biblical story of the prodigal, by a story of the Prodigal father,—we should have more of such, for time and ages, demand new interpretations—while truth remains the same.

In farm life in the age bygone, we too had a prodigal father, and his son (middle aged) pays. It was in the First World War and he made money, for labour was reasonable and appreciated and expenses had not got out of bounds. Few had tractors or cars, so he saved and put in banks, lent out in mortgages, bought stocks, bonds, or lots out west (many of which were under-water frauds). The sons did the work, for they had not yet left the farms or fallen for sport; and labour—farm labour—could be had, and they and the sons or son (the father looked on or puttered about) worked from daylight till dark. But to get back to the prodigal father—he prospered from the labour of his sons, especially the elder, for the younger (being more pampered) was beginning to stray, or go to high school, college or agricultural school, or city work at good wages. But death comes to all—the elder son was left the land, some encumbered with mortgages, debts, poor machinery, poor harness, poor stock, and no or little money, the money was left to others of the family, the younger, or lost in bad investments.

But there was also the good father who thought of the elder son's comfort and considered his industry, left him with good buildings, stock, machinery and enough money to work with—which does help to account for differences in farming today.

The elder son of yesterday is the father today and at sixty or seventy still works, many alone, for the sons have joined a better living in cities for except for the specialized or pseudo, there is no money in farming, our milk, cream, egg cheques have dwindled, few can take advantage of beef prices for stock—because of feed shortages—have been sold at lower prices. To top it all, costs mount—taxes have doubled—Otonabee farmers lost their breath the other day when they opened their tax letter—three hundred—four hundred—and more dollars. How much longer will they remain mute?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever. (Dan. 12; 3.)

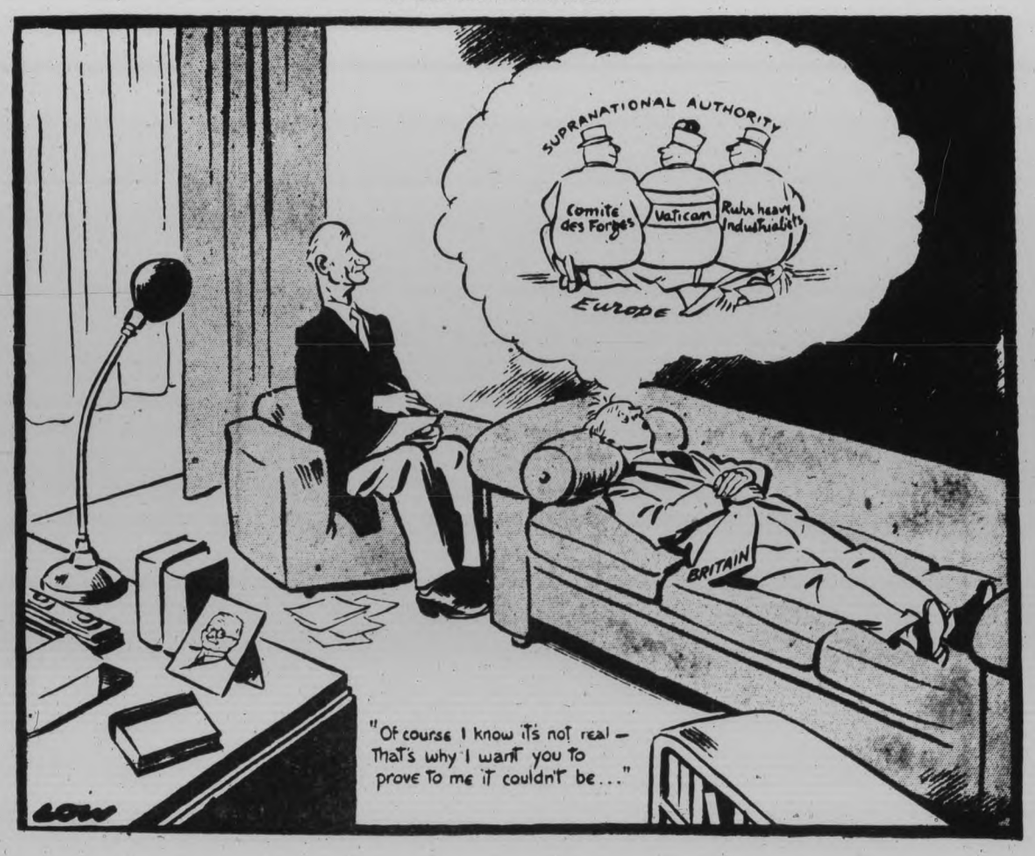
◇ ◇ ◇

Ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light. (I Pet. 2: 9.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure.

Do all things without murmurings and disputings: that ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world; holding forth the word of life. (Phil. 2: 12-16.)



Fines By Instalment?

(Brantford Expositor)

The Canadian Welfare Council has asked the Government to consider amendments to the Criminal Code so as to abolish corporal punishment and allow payment of fines on an instalment plan basis. It also requests the abolition of minimum mandatory sentences.

The precise object of the last item is obscure, lacking more explanation, but the proposal that payment of fines be permitted by instalments has a good deal of merit. Under present practice lack of such a provision is discriminatory and unfair. To illustrate: Suppose two individuals are arrested charged with identical offences and both found guilty. Suppose further that the fines imposed by the court are the same, say $100 and costs, or 30 days in jail. Now suppose that the first man is easily able to produce the money. He pays and goes on his way. But if the second man, for some good reason, is unable to raise the fine and court costs, he must go to prison. Thus though his offence was no greater, his punishment is more severe, carrying with it, moreover, a stigma that does not apply in the first-named instance. If the court were allowed a certain amount of latitude in the matter of dealing with such situations, something closer to justice could be done.

A BRITISH OPINION

JUNE ON THE FAIRWAY: Beaver Meadow, Otonabee.

Since fishing isn't any too encouraging around these parts just now, it was good to have a chat with Chris Graham on his return from a 12-day trout fishing trip down in Laurentide Park. Cyril Lech, Ivan Lillico and Arthur Walters of Montreal made up the foursome. It rained every day but two, then it snowed, but the fishing was wonderful. These home-town trouters can't say enough good things about their accommodation and service at Hell's Gate and Jacques Cartier, camps run by the Province of Quebec. They fished the shorelines of several connecting lakes and rivers in the cold and wet and were well occupied in releasing small speckles from their tackle in order to make a selective limit. Bull moose, cows and their calves made the occasional appearance and times when the sun broke through the overcast sky, fishing stopped for hour-long periods. Parmarchene Belle flies seemed to be the popular lure.

Mind-Over-Matter Sportsman

Chris looked very fit after their successful trip and is anticipating opening his own cottage at Pigeon Lake and getting along with his local fishing. In the fall, its duck shooting for him. You ask why this little story is of any special mention? It's just this. Chris has to get along on crutches, in and out of canoes, sometimes across portages, even. He does his duck shooting from a swivel chair in the blind and he is very proficient at it. "There's a lot of mental mix-up in being handicapped," says Chris Graham. And to show me that mind-over-matter worked, he shuffled across the living room and back, without his sticks. "Getting better all the time," crowed this stout-hearted sportsman.

A year ago, Peterborough and London, Ontario, were having a bit of a bidding tiff for a statue of the Widow of Windsor, Queen Victoria, which the Republic of Eire had removed to storage from the Dublin scene. Each city thought they had a better claim than the other to its erection in Canada but the moving cost was all out of line for both. The project was dropped but our former librarian F. M. DelaFosse wanted some sort of motif, preferably a fountain, to replace the defunct mid-Victorian monstrosity which was dismantled last summer in front of his doorstep. Alderman Dr. Herbert Young carried the ball from there and had his son-in-law, Stafford Collie, an art student in New York, submit some ideas.

Three sketches arrived and the city fathers approved the one of a small boy fishing to top a new streamlined fountain. Pottery maker J. K. Riedel has started work on plaster moulds from which an aluminum casting will be made in Toronto. It may be installed in six or eight weeks time. No design could be more fitting for Peterborough, heart of the fishing Kawarthas, and in time our Little Fishing Boy fountain may become as famous as the Mannekin fountain in Brussels. The motifs will differ, however.

Hardening the body for summer camping, canoe and sailing trips, is a ritual around homes these days, especially in Lakefield. Heard of three lads trying to sleep in a single hammock slung from an old apple tree; there was little repose, it was reported. In my own home, young N. slept one night on the living room floor; he and Stony the pooch kept each other reasonably warm but the performance has not been repeated.

They'll Learn In School, Now

What nincompoop shot a nesting partridge on Sherbrooke St.'s Green Hill a week ago and displayed it to several people on the way home? It is said he did not know what it was until the first party told him. Now this chap was 27 years old. An incident such as this gives conservation preachers a feeling of futility. Teachings should begin in schools. And that is just the sort of program the Department of Lands and Forests are embarking on at the moment.

It has granted the Canadian Foresty Association $4,000, a fund to be spent to train teachers of public and separate schools at lectures to be held this summer. The first group of teachers will start a course at the Ontario Forest Ranger School, Dorset, Aug. 7. Others are expected to receive training at Sudbury, North Bay and the Soo.

Peterborough's Supt. of Schools K. S. Wightman is very much interested and says if an opportunity presents itself, since teachers' summer plans may have been already made, he would be glad to recommend a representative be sent from this city.

U.S. FUNDS ACCEPTED AT THE OFFICIAL RATE. $1.00 U.S. EQUALS $1.10 CANADIAN. Such is the message on special display cards issued by the Foreign Exchange Control Board, Ottawa, in stores throughout the city. C. of C. secured 2 - 300 of them, the Businessmen's Association agreed to distribute them but they are not in too great prominence yet. A spurt to have them put up right away would be a courtesy to American visitors who are starting to arrive in some numbers.

If you hear your fishermen friends grinding about the Kawarthas being fished out, save this clipping and straighten them out. Official count of fish taken from two carp trap nets in Sturgeon Lake by the Lands and Forests boys, is as follows: Carp—524 (or 3½ tons averaging 7.6 pounds apiece), muskies—196, green and black bass—1,616, pickerel—1,828, suckers—749, catfish—6,072 and sunfish 1,509. These figures total 12,494 fish the result of 45 days of netting. Although the amount of 'lunge and pickerel is small, officials point out that the nets were set after these types had moved upstream. The data was a revelation to department personnel and to all of us.

• • • •

Upon listening to the pickerel fishing situation from several favourite district spots, power house engineer Sam Grylls of Lakefield, made the most hopeful observation. "If you work the pool from sundown until midnight, nearly every night, with streamer flies, you will finally get a fair selection. By throwing back the lightweights, you should be able to take six nice ones home." And that seems to be the situation. You've got to do selective fishing and take your time about it, right now.

Business Men's Burden

Jaycees Tourist Booth is doing quite a business at their new site on Charlotte St., nigh the CNR freight office. Staffed each day between 9 and 6 by Bill Duignan, more than 200 inquiries have been handled during the past two weeks, a third of these from local folks wanting dope on holiday accommodation. When the tourist trek starts, past performance shows inquiries are split 50-50 between American and Canadian visitors. Since they find that U.S. tourists are keen to know about shopping facilities in the city, next to resort accommodation and fishing, it would seem that city shopkeepers are benefitting from this service in great measure. Why not have a different member of the Businessmen's Association at the stand each evening to assist the hard-working Jaycees who are working for them? This idea was started in Perth at their centre three years ago with great success. Are there any plans afoot by the city to do a bit of landscaping around the booth? It would be a nice gesture.

Progress of Peterborough: XXV

Expansion Like A Booming Frontier Town Shops, Bakery, Post Office; First Piano

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

In North Monaghan, with which the new town was incorporated, the following got titles to park lots of nine acres each in 1827-28—G. Burke, C. Rubidge, A. McDonell, G. Reade, R. Birdsall (8 lots), J. Smith and Rev. Crowley. Other patents in the township were: 1826: Thos Jackson, John Hill, Barny Bletcher, Jas. Farr Jr., Peter and John Frank; 1827: Thos. Spear, John Fountain, Dennis Riorden, Thos. Precious, Robt. Edgar, Robt. Medd, Geo. Garside; 1828: Wm. Griffin, Jos Sedgebeer, King's College (360 acres), John Hall, Silas Pearson; 1829: Canada Co. (1100 acres), James Neil, John Hutchinson, Geo. Cooper, James McMullen; 1830: Thomas Willson, Archibald Fletcher, Philip Lewis. In the town of Peterborough, the first landowners were: R. Birdsall, who got patents for 18 town-lots on April 3, 1826; George Burke, Apr. 30, 1827; C. Rubidge May 30, 1827; John Smith May 31, 1827; Alex McDonell June 1, 1827; John Callaghan Oct. 4, 1827; Rev. Crowley, Nov. 15, 1828; G. Reade Dec. 19, 1828; Rev. J. Thompson Feb. 6, 1829; and Cottrell Lane May 25, 1830.

John Lane, father of Cottrell the shoemaker, had land trouble, and wrote Robinson Oct. 22, 1829: "I was never more surprised than to have the widow Gibbons come and order me out of my house this morning she said by your orders . . . Now, sir, recollect you put your foot on the spot and told me build there and that it was govt. ground and that I could not be disturbed . . . and then I was entitled to preference as to building on it and that the market ground was just at my door then the Revd. Crowley got what you called the market ground which closed me up so that I had to build an addition to make another front entrance to my place . . . and now I am ordered out of it by a woman who is a scandal and disgraces all the women in town by her conduct. . ." Lane, who had bought a lot in Smith, was further satisfied with a lot granted in Verulam township.

Wm. Oakley, the baker, was apparently unable to make the business pay, as he begged in July 1829 for a lot in Smith " . . If you dont consider my case and grant me a lot I have no resource but to leave this country as I have expended all I have by my improvement at Peterborough . . ." Seven years later he was complaining about McDonell, who was by then a member of the Legislative Assembly: "I was the first man that ever made an improvement (a business) in Peterborough. If I had to forfeit them for debt it is no crime . . . All that I can incur in respect to Mr McDonell percuting me is thus I have cleared four acres of land for him and taken out several hundred feet of lumber for him which he denied making an ample restitution for as for a vote at election time. . ." Lane also received a lot in Verulam township.

Frontier Boom

Peterborough continued to expand like a frontier boomtown John Brown of Port Hope, who took over the Scott mill in 1827 in payment of a debt, also opened a store on the corner of Simcoe and Water Streets, later occupied by Nicholls & Hall, then by Robt Patterson's boot and shoe store; John Benson managed this store for Brown. James Bethune of Cobourg, who took over Stewart's store in 1826, soon moved to a new frame building, "The Red Store", on the corner of Charlotte and Water Streets, which stood until the end of the century; his store manager, who served also as postmaster, was Thomas Valentine Tupper; Tupper a few years later started his own store on Simcoe Street just east of the creek.

On March 9, 1829, a meeting was held "presided over by Rev. Crowley, for a post office at Peterborough and another at Cavan; a subscription was taken up for a postboy to run once a week from Cobourg, and over $70 subscribed; they recommended Dr. Roddy for postmaster." Soon after James Ferguson was appointed full-time postmaster with his office in a square lean-to 10x12 ft attached to the rear of the Red Store, with door and window facing the river; later the postoffice was moved to the old log Government House.

Rubidge wrote in 1827: "A town is growing up near me, roads are improving, bridges are being built; . . . Stores, a tannery, distillery, and many other useful businesses are established or on the eve of being so at Peterborough . . . There are almost 2,000 acres cleared in Otonabee and 125 families consisting of 500 souls . . . In the town itself which less than three years ago had but one solitary house, may now be seen frame houses in every direction, and this summer 20 additional ones erected . . ." Alex Henry, a cooper, built a frame house that year on Simcoe near George Street, later converted to a hotel. James Henthorn, a Justice of the Peace, built a house on the n.e. corner of George and Hunter Streets, also later a hotel. George Buck built a frame house on the south side of Charlotte Street, opposite the 'Globe Tavern.' In 1828 John Crawford of Port Hope built a frame house north on George Street, which he drew down by oxen to the n.e. corner of George and Simcoe Streets; this latter lot had been owned by Birdsall, who sold it to an American wheelwright named John Graves for $30, payable in wagon and cartwheels; the story is that when Graves failed in his bargain, the lot was turned over to Crawford and the first lawsuit in Peterborough resulted.

Informative Reports

Colonial Under-secretary Horton in 1828 sent questionnaires to 180 heads of families around Peterborough to get information on the circumstances and prospects of these people—80 of the completed questionnaires are in the Library Collection. Two years later Horton sent out John Richards as Commissioner to inspect the district and the settlers.

Richards visited Peterborough that summer (1830) and reported: "Up the Otonabee, a fine river, which will hereafter be used by steamboats with light draft of water . . The land is generally good and favourable to settlement but out of market by reason of absentees who put forbidding prices on it . . . Peterborough . . was well selected at the head of navigation and with millpower to any extent. The soil is dry and gravelly on a terrace 20 feet above the river. Already a sawmill, flour mill and carding mill, distillery and tannery, about 60 houses—22 frame buildings were erected in the last 11 months . . ."

Robinson visited the district regularly. McDonell wrote him July 21, 1829, inviting him down in September for duck shooting and fishing, adding "It is intended to celebrate the Peterborough anniversary about the latter end of September. . ." Unfortunately no record of this event has come down to us. In the summer of 1830 he accompanied Richards, who wrote: "I was 2 or 3 days in Peterborough, during which time perhaps 30 or 40 settlers . . came in to see Mr. Robinson; and the manner in which they met him was quite affecting; it was more to bless him as a benefactor than to receive him as a visitor. . ."

Political Strife

The political strife sweeping across Canada, as reformers challenged the entrenched privilege of the Family Compact in Upper Canada and the Chateau Clique in Lower Canada, was reflected in Peterborough. Dec. 20, 1828, W. Ritchie wrote Robinson: ". . . Fothergill, Brown and others of Port Hope has got a memorial drawn out, doing all in their power to remove the Executive Council. When I heard their was one sent to Brown's shop in this place, for the purpose of getting signatures, I amediately went up to see if any of the emigrants had signed it, and I am sorry to inform you that I saw several of them add their names to it. I spoke to several and explained the nature of the Memorial to the Governor, they all tole me they had done it thro ignorance, as the paper was only partly read to them. Several went and scratched their names out, others they would not allow as great many of the emigrants are veary much in their debt. They have got papers I am informed in all parts of the district for signatures . . ." In a letter of Jan. 16, 1829, McDonell referred to this same petition: "The very busily circulated document in the back townships of which the enclosed is a part, is said not to have been written by Fothergill but by young Boswell. . ." Fothergill was the member in the Legislati e Assembly from Durham County. John Brown was the millowner-storekeeper at Peterborough. We will note other indications of political strife in the Newcastle District with the approach of the Mackenzie Rebellion in 1837.

After some early pessimism, the Stewarts were optimistic about the future by 1829. Stewart's land office was flourishing, and he was building saw and grist mills on the Otonabee opposite his land, close to the present Auburn dam. With great difficulty they brought from Britain the first piano in the region north of Rice Lake.

Mrs. Stewart wrote in her dairy this year: "Peterborough now is becoming quite a town. Many nice families are settling both in the town and the surrounding country." On December 18, 1830, Stewart wrote to Robinson: "I hope you will visit Peterborough this winter; I am sure you will be pleased with the progress since you last saw it; our society is in a rapid advance, and at the same rate in two years we will rival Cobourg . . I suppose you received the resolution of the Peterborough Society, we had our first meeting yesterday to take into consideration the circular about the trade. . ." This is the Society which was the forerunner of the present Board of Trade and the Chamber of Commerce. About this same date Thomas Stewart was appointed by the Governor as member of the Legislative Council of Upper Canada, in recognition of the importance of the new settlement which was growing and prospering so rapidly.

Early Drownings

By MRS. GERALD MARYATT

In 1848, Thomas Carr of Keene composed an Elegy on the death of a young kinsman by drowning, and had it printed in the Cobourg paper. On December 20, 1863, Thomas Carr Humphries, aged 13, was drowned while skating near Keene. This child is buried in the old Humphries' grave yard, beside his father, Robert Cooper Humphries (born in Canada West, Dec. 17, 1833; died March 14, 1863).

Three school teachers were drowned while coming down the lake from Keene on May 24, 1857. A veteran teacher, George Henthorn, was on his way home to Alnwick accompanied by John Morrow, teacher at Westwood, and John Kidd, of SS No. 5, Dummer.

Margaret's Island, at the foot of Rice Lake, recalls the drowning of John Macintosh and his daughter, Margaret, through the ice, and the outstanding tragedies of pioneer times are noted by Dr. Poole in his "Early Settlement". Thomas O'Shea was drowned while crossing from his Asphodel home, but Mrs. William Tinker of Peterborough had told how her ancestor, John Beckett of Asphodel pushed a plank ahead of him over the "ruber-ice" of early winter and thus arrived home in safety.

Manvers Phone Lines Grow From 2 To 327

By MRS. ROSS N. CARR
(Examiner Correspondent)

During the past week the Commissioners of Manvers Municipal Telephone System have issued new telephone directories, which lists some three hundred and twenty-seven subscribers.

We, of this generation take the telephone and all its advantages and accomodations very much for granted, not realizing that just forty years ago there was no such convenience in Bethany.

Up to the year 1911 there were two single wire telephone lines into Bethany. One from Mr. Stephen W. Sisson's to the Grand Trunk Station, the other from the Brick Corners through Franklin to Dr. T. G. Brereton's office. Mr. Stephen Sisson built the first line. He was an agent selling farm implements and wanted communication with the railway station; so, at his own expense he supplied the quipment and the cost of installation of a telephone in the station and his own home and had to pay the Grand Trunk Raiway for the privilege of doing it.

About this time, Mr. Naithsmith, who had a store at Lotus, built a line to that store and installed a small switch in his home. Mr. Sisson allowed farmers along the line to hook on, if done at their own expense, as it was of no profit to him.

Tenth Line Organized

In 1911 Dr. J. J. Hamilton proceeded to interest the farmers in other parts of the township of Manvers and Cavan in starting a telephone system. The tenth line of Manvers was the first to organize and that line was completed in 1912. Other lines were built as fast as plans could be made. Dr. Hamilton had a share in each line. It was not practical to have a telephone on every line, so he installed a switchboard. This was a cabinet on the wall and would accommodate six or eight lines, with as many wires leading into it and as many plugs hanging down from it. Quite a contrast to today's modern electric switchboard!

As time went on more lines kept coming in and more shaping up, so Dr. Hamilton installed a new, up to date, switchboard at his own expense. This became a very great nuisance as everybody wanted to talk to everybody else on all the lines, so that in a very short time it became almost a full time job to operate the switchboard. The first operator was Miss Ida Fallis, now Mrs. William Fair of Peterborough.

Mutual System Formed

In 1915 a meeting of all the shareholders was called and they formed a Mutual Telephone System.

This Mutual Telephone System entered into an agreement with Dr. Hamilton, whereby he was to provide the office and the switchboard, and they were to pay operators, except at night. This arrangement was maintained until the year 1921.

The increasing number of subscribers demanded a new arrangement and with this object in view, a number of petitions were circulated in the adjoining district and a public meeting was held in the Town Hall, Bethany on September 21, 1921 and "The Manvers Municipal Telephone System" was organized combining the former Mutual Telephone System and all of the independend telephone lines running out of Bethany. Three commissioners were appointed: Mr. Henry Ward, Mr. J. J. Clark and Mr. William Whiteside, with Mr. W. A. Jakeman to act as secretary-treasurer. Of these original officers all have since died. Mr. Ward served as a commissioner for twenty years and Mr. Jakeman for eighteen.

Until 1923 the switchboard remained in Dr. Hamilton's office, when it was deemed advisable that the System have its own public building. Mr. Charles Reynolds Sr. built an office according to specifications, which was rented by the System until 1931. In this year the Commissioners bought the present building, in a combined dwelling and office, from Miss Olive Irwin.

During the years there have been other Commissioners following the above mentioned orginals. Those recorded are Henry Smith, Byron Davis, Alban Sisson, Walter Neals, L. H. Staples and F. W. Reynolds. Mr. J. C. Cumiskey has held the office of secretary - treasurer since the death of Mr. Jakeman in 1939.

Today's modern switchboard offers 600 accomodation. There are two lines connected with the Bell Telephone System and the Commissioners employ four operators, Mrs. Clarke Pomeroy, Mrs. Reginald Palmer, Mrs. Effie Morton and Mr. Clarke Pomeroy, who is the night operator as well as the line repair man. Miss Betty Waddell is the relief operator.

The Commissioners include Mr. Robert Morton and Mr. Ernest Cavano, with Mr. Walter Neals as the Chairman and J. C. Cumiskey as secretary-treasurer.

50 Starlings To NY, 1890 Now Threaten Continent

By HAZEL PAULL

Peterborough has an enemy in her midst and if the citizens of the city and surrounding country don't wake up to situation soon, they will realize when it's too late, that several of the native birds have become extinct.

The enemy is the common Starling and already those who pay any attention to the bird life of the district have noticed that it's making life pretty tough for the native bluebird, tree swallow and smaller woodpecker.

And the farmers with orchards, particularly where there are cherries, are none too pleased either, because the enemy has discovered there is nowhere so pleasant to build a nest as in an orchard.

Peterborough has a problem but she is not alone. The trouble has been brewing since the 90's when starlings were introduced to this continent. Fifty were brought from England to New York and were released in Central Park, New York, in 1890. And that did it. Today the vast areas of the States and Canada are infested with them.

Flock of 4,000 and 5,000 starlings fly across Peterborough during the fall and one of their favorite roosting spots is the islands in the river near Hunter St. bridge.

By the time spring comes they have chosen all the best nesting places and the migratory birds have a hard time to find a nesting place when they return with the warmer weather.

Not only do they take the best nesting places, but starlings also eat the insects which others have relied on for food. There were enough predatory birds to keep the harmful insects in check and the increase of the starling population made the fight for food a hard struggle for the others.

Blast Them Out?

Efforts have been made in the States to curb the great increase in starlings by blasting them from their roosting places but this has not proved very effective. Because they roost in groups of thousands it was thought they could be killed fairly easily but events have shown that dynamite is not a satisfactory answer.

The late Mr. P. A. Taverner, who was at one time Dominion ornithologist, said several years ago that he believed there was no way of eradicating the starling from this continent, now it had become so well established.

William C. Mansell, another authority on starlings, points out that the present situation is just another example of what happens when man interferes with nature. When a species is introduced to a region away from its natural enemies it will, if physiologically sound, become far too common.

The common starling, the English bird brought to this continent in 1890, is the one prevalent in the Peterborough district. The starling of Western Canada and the western States is the Asiatic starling introduced even more recently.

The starling is not a member of the American Blackbird family and may be recognized by its triangular wings, which it beats rapidly in flight and by its proportioned short tail.

It is a great mimic. Some say this is attributable to the bird's great natural variety and range of call notes rather than to any direct attempt to mimic.

It was not until the beginning of the First World War that starlings were seen in Canada. It took some time for them to spread from New York and the first were seen at Niagara Falls. Those were the first recorded but now they are so common the only reaction they have for Ontarians is annoyance.

The starling has proved itself to be a hardy bird despite its comparatively recent arrival in this country. In England, where the winter climate is less severe, they thrive to no one's surprise. But the question was, how would they fare in the sub-zero weather of Canada?

They soon showed they were not affected by the weather and while many native birds migrated south, they stayed and were already in the choice spots by the time the others returned in the spring.

Just how great a menace starlings are in Canada is something which is not fully assessed at the present time. Whether they will actually gain such control as to wipe out some of the migratory birds or whether they will reach their peak as has the English swallow naturally is something which cannot be told until it happens. That is how John D. Hooper, one of Peterborough's keener bird watchers sees it.

When a species is in danger of becoming extinct man usually finds out when it is too late to do anything about it, he says.

Now is the time for action, he says, and he would like to see the federal government give careful study to the problem.

Petes Defeat Mimico, 12-8 In Clean OLA Senior Fray

Beating Mimico Mounties 12-8 here las night before about 1,400 fans, the Petes kept up with the top four clubs—all in a close scramble—in the OLA senior "A" race. It was their sixth win in eight starts, and the seventh loss in eight tries for the Mounties. The latter were short the Dixon brothers, and several players were a little late arriving.

SWELL JOB—Goalie Ralph Speck turned in another fine chore in the Petes' net here last night as they beat Mimico Mounties 12-8. Some of Speck's saves bordered on the sensational.

Play was clean and pretty even, but not too fast in spots, as the visitors played it cautiously and both sides checked fairly closely. Each drew two of the four penalties passed out, all for minor offences. The score was 3-3 in the first, 4-3 for the Petes at half time and, 6-3 for the Creighton crew going into the even fourth frame. Mimico made a real bid in the fourth to whittle down the count but the Petes fought back strongly to add to their lead.

Both Starred

Goalie Ralph Speck was in great form again to star for the Petes with a flock of great saves. Jim Kinna was another ace, leading the marksmen with five goals. Arn Dugan and Bob Thorpe each got two, with singles scored by Mick Magee, Don Ashbee and Em Creighton. Jerry Fitzgerald led in assists with three, while Bob Thorpe had a pair, and Mick Magee, Joe Nolan, Wendell Lewis, Dootch Vitarelli, Em Creighton, Jack Breakspear and Ron Horton one each. Scoop Hayes got four goals for Mimico, one each going to Knox, Kapasky, Horwood and Beatty. The latter and Rankin had two assists, with McDonald, Hewitt and McPhail helping once each.

After Dugan scored from Nolan early in the first, Knox got it back from McPhail. Kinna put the homesters up from Magee and Fitz but Kapasky evened it again alone. Horwood then put Mimico in front on a solo but Kinna tied it late in the heat from Fitzgerald. Magee scored in the second on a free bullet shot and some of the lights then went out for a few minutes. Later in the chukker, Magee drew the only penalty of the first half. A light drizzle of rain at the start eased up shortly.

Added It Up

In the third, Banks was off for slashing when Dugan counted from Thorpe, and later (with the sides even) Kinna made it 6-3 on a pass from Lewis going in fast. Thorpe hit the twine to open the fourth end, with Knox away for tripping, Creighton counted inside from Vitarelli. Thorpe added one from Creighton and then Scoop Hayes roared in for three in a row for Mimico, Rankin alding on two, and Hewitt and Beatty one each. Kinna returned from a slashing penalty to score from Fitzgerald and Ashbee tallied nicely on three-way combination with Thorpe and Jack Breakspear. Beatty got one from McDonald and, after Kinna had counted from Horton, Hayes wound it up with three seconds left on Beatty's pass.

Mimico — Goal, Taylor; defence, McDonald and Prevost; centre, McPhail; wings, Horwood and Kopasky; rover, Knox; alternates, Banks, Hewitt, Hayes, DeMarco, Rankin and Beatty.

Petes— Goal, Speck; defence, Fitzgerald and Breakspear; centre, Creighton; wings, Horton and Dugan; rover, Thorpe; alternates, Lewis, Kinna, R. Breakspear, Vitarelli, Nolan, Magee and Ashbee.

Referees—L. Vipond and J. Murphy.

Port Hope Edges Lindsay Team 3-2

LINDSAY, June 24—Port Hope Ontarios continued their winning ways in Lakeshore League by pushing a run across in the extra eighth inning to edge Lindsay Merchants 3-2.

Keven, "Doc" Mooney, the Ports' Ottawa import, scattered nine hits and left ten stranded in handing the locals their first loss at home. Doug Loucks gave up but seven hits but Lindsay's one error in the first proved costly. Al White led the winners with two hits. Junior West and Red Bryans slammed a pair each for Merchants.

Marines Beaten By Ashby's In Lasses Loop

Ashby's pounded an 11-5 Girls' Softball League triumph over Marines at the Bowl last night, having but one miscue in the snappy one-hour joust. The Outboards, who are just starting to show their true form, clicked for 11 safeties but left a lot of runners aboard, and they booted a few costly ones. D. McFadden on the Ashby slab struck out seven, while E. Whittaker for Marines had four whiffs to her credit. M. Freeman was hurt in the seventh inning on Ashby's side and was replaced by I. Downer.

G. Dracup and M. Stewart stood out defensively for the winners, while M. Behan and B. Ayotte looked good in the field for the Marines. D. Callan topped Ashby's with the wiflow, getting four singles in five appearances. M. Stewart clouted a three-bagger and two singles in five times up. For Marines, two hits each were gained by M. Behan, M. Walling and C. Rowan, one of the latter's being a triple.

Central Takes School Crown

Central defeated Queen Mary 22-4 yesterday in the Public School Softball League final for the title. In the semi-final, Central outsted Prince of Wales, while Queen Mary rubbed out the Confederation team. Central and Queen Mary had a previous tie game during the schedule.

Delahaye went the route for Central in the final, pitching heady ball, though outhit. He kept hits scattered and had good support, striking out eight and walking four. Queen Mary went better afield than the score indicates but tthree twirlers, Dunn, Cullen and Brady, could not stem the tide of hits and the 21 walks issued. Queen Mary fought hard and had men on in every base.

In the fourth a rally was nipped on a neat double-play, Patterson to Rowley to Noble. Delahaye fanned the last batter in the sixth to halt another drive and he repeated in the seventh when a thrust threatened. Dunn allowed only five hits but had a lot of walks. Singles by Delahaye and Mongraw with McIntyre's triple in the fourth put him in trouble. When Brady and Cullen took over, Dunn was brought back from left in the sixth following a seven-run splash. Dunn, Brady, Cullen and Merrett were the pick of the losers, while the whole Central squad performed like champions. Teams:

Queen Mary—Roberts, ss; Cullen, 2b; Cuffe, 3b; Dunn, p; Hillier, c; Brady, lf; Merrett, rf; Deck, cf; Stewart, 1b; McIlwain Franks.

Central—Gardner, c; Patterson, ss; Delahaye, p; McIntyre, rf; Brooks, cf; Noble, 1b; Matthews, lf; Rowley, 2b; Heffernan, Rowe, Craymer.

Toronto Staffords tackle the Petes at three this aft in Riverside, if the weather is right. A Viaduct Major League fixture and one the men o' Murphy want to win to boost 'em in the standing as they keep pace with Oshawa Merchants. The Staffs are starting to make a bid lately, too, as the race tightens up. No soft touches now in this loop, the lower clubs frequently knocking the be-what's-it out of their elevated enemies the past week or two. Some fine senior ball on tap with most contests real close, and the locals have to keep hustling Should be at full strength today, with Dadson or Edger likely doing the home hurling. The leading New Toronto team is schedule for here in a twilight tilt next Wednesday.

Secretary Frank Feaver of the OASA reminds clubs that all affiliations must be in by June 30 and no player may be signed after July 15. (No player may transfer in the local city league after the end of June.) Feaver clears up the three-foot line rule, saying that runners must stay within it when a play is being made at first, except they may run outside—in fact the are required to do so—in order to miss a fielder trying to field the ball. The umpire's call for running outside the line (aside from that one exception) is for interference, and runners may not advance. If no play is being made at first, runners may run outside the chalked line.

About Junior Lacrosse

Owen Sound, long a lacrosse stronghold, sends a junior squad into action here tonight against the OLA junior Petes. It's at 8.30 in Miller Bowl and the boys need support as they're in a hefty grouping for the first time. And making a good showing so far. Coach Lou Vitarelli's huskies have new uniforms and look smart both in a haberdashery sense and in action. Another year or two will see several of them ready to step up to senior "A" ranks, thereby cutting down on some of the imports the Petes now need. Juniors have two tilts away in a row coming up, at Toronto on June 29 and at Brampton on July 3.

* * * * * *

It looked like rain last eve, and it did drizzle for a bit, so several hundred lacrosse fans stayed away from Miller Bowl. But there must have been 1,400 or so on deck to see the Petes win their sixth senior "A" scrap in eight starts. Keeping right up among the leaders—though we can't give a standing till other results of Friday eve are received. It was 12-8 for the Creighton crowd over Mimico Mounties in a clean, close contest, though not an extra fast one. Petes earned it all the way, finishing strong enough to stave off a late desperate drive led by Scoop Hayes, who counted four goals in the fourth frame. The locals are off to St. Kitts tonight and hope to rack up another one right in the Garden City.

Two Among OLA Aces

If there were two straw hats with feathers in them for the two best players on the night's play, we'd vote for Goalie Ralph Speck and big Jim Kinna. Both turned in a whale of an effort, one defensively and the other with a five-goal attack. Bob Thorpe, Jerry Fitzgerald and Arn Dugan were others who figured in on more than one marker, and Dootch Vitarelli once more showed up dandy with his checking, as he did against Brampton. Ron Horton returned to the lineup and will be a help when he gets a few conditioning games under his belt, El Chico being a strong checker when in peak form. Yes, the senior Petes are playing first-rate lacrosse so far this season.

Ashby's rolled to an 11-5 girls' softball victory o'er the Marines at the Bowl yester e'en, whilst Westclox dominated play to beat the Electrics 8-2. Both losing teams battled hard but timely bingles beat them as the winners hustled all the way. M. Selkirk of the Clockers threw five-hit ball in their joust, while the bingles were more evenly divided in the other struggle. On Monday night, Ashby's tangle with Woollens at seven in the only scheduled contest, but there'll be an exhibition right after between the local all-stars and a combined Ashby-Westclox squad, and this one ought to be right interesting.

Big Ball On Batting Spree 30 Home Runs Hit In Night

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Hey, Mr. Spalding. You'd better make another test run of that "normal" baseball.

The 1950 "rabbit" ball rode to a flock of records last night when 30 home runs were hit. If there have been "no changes in the resiliency of the ball," as claimed, baseball is breeding a flock of muscle monsters.

July 18, 1930, 24 homers were hit during a regular eight-game program. That stood until last night.

The big blast occurred in Detroit where 11 homers were hit, accounting for all 19 runs in the Tigers' 10-9 thriller over New York Yankees. As the opener of an important four-game series for first place in the American League, this game will long be remembered by a crowd of 51,400.

When Hoots Evers homered with a man on base in the ninth inning, another record fell. It was the 11th homer of the game, topping the old high of 10.

Tie Record

Detroit hit four homers in the fourth inning to tie an American League record for one team. As the Yankees also hit one in the same frame, the American League record for two teams in an inning also was matched.

But records don't tell the story of this ball game. Trailing 6-0, the Tigers scored eight runs in the fourth. Then they saw the Yankees fight back and go out front on Tommy Henrich's pinch homer in the eighth with a man on base.

With a man on in the ninth, Evers socked a Joe Page pitch for an inside the park homer and the game was over.

The other American League clubs contributed seven more homers to the league total of 18 for the all-night program.

Big Luke Easter with two homers drove in six runs in Cleveland's 13-4 victory over Washington.

Boston Red Sox outslugged St. Louis 12-9.

Chicago also went for the long ball with Phil Masi and Dave Philley hitting homers in an 11-5 White Sox romp over the last place Philadelphia A's. The White Sox have won 10 of their last 12 starts.

Pound Pirates

Brooklyn pounded the groggy Pittsburgh Pirates for 19 hits and a 15-3 triumph that raised their National League lead over Philadelphia and St. Louis to 1½ games.

Three of the 12 homers hit in the National League last night were slugged by Dodgers—one each by Duke Snider, Billy Cox and Carl Furillo.

At Boston, the Braves scored all their runs on homers to win 4-3. Earl Torgeson's two-run drive in the ninth was the big blow.

Only two homers were hit in Philadelphia but Roy Smalley's clout with two on in the seventh boosted Chicago to a 7-4 victory.

Don Mueller and Hank Thompson blasted Howie Fox with seventh-inning homers in New York's 5-3 edge over Cincinnati.

Sullivan Hurls The Petes To 5-2 Victory

By FRED MAYBEE.

George (Red) Sullivan pitched four-hit ball last night as the intermediate Peterborough ball team took a neat 5-2 win in Colborne before a fine crowd.

It was a well played game featuring good fielding by Art Pagett's boys, particularly the infield of Conway, Pagett, Casey and Wade, and some timely stickwork. Sullivan struck out five and walked but two while Allan Hall twirled well for the homesters but his mates were unable to do much with the willow. Petes scored three in the first as Conway and Pagett singled and Wade drove them in with a hard drive and scored on Jaquith's single. This early margin proved sufficient, though Petes added another pair in the sixth on singles by Pagett, Wade and Currie, to insure victory. Jake Jaquith played a nice game in centre field and the entire team looked good in this game while for Colborne the work of Post and Allan Hall featured.

The teams:

Colborne: W. Clarey 3b, Cummings 2b, Post 1b, C. Hall ss, F. Ball rf, Kernaghan cf, W. Ball 3b, Rowsome lf, N. Black c, A. Hall p.

Peterborough: Conway 3b, Pagett 2b, Fitzgerald rf, J. Wade 1b, Currie lf, Jaquith cf, McGrath c, Casey 2b, Sullivan p.

Royals Belt Springfield

(By The Associated Press)

If the International League pennant race gets any tighter, the boys will have to start computing the standings with a slide rule. Only 3½ games separate the first six teams today.

It was knock-down-the-favorites last night as the three leaders—Springfield, Rochester and Jersey City—all were toppled. Montreal belted Springfield 12-4, Baltimore downed Rochester 4-2 and Buffalo edged Jersey City 5-4.

Toronto and Syracuse, meanwhile, split a doubleheader. Syracuse gained a 9-8 decision in the after piece after dropping a 7-3 verdict in the opener.

Montreal backed young Tommy Lasorda's nine-hit hurling with a 15-hit blast against three Springfield pitchers. Don Thompson, Rocky Bridges and Lasorda led the oMntreal batsmen with three safeties each.

Only Three Hits

Rochester, which has found the going difficult lately, got only three hits off Irv Medlinger, Baltimore southpaw who picked up his fifth victory. One of Rochester's hits was a two-run homer by Steve Bilko in ninth.

Buffalo turned on Jersey City after eight previous lacings.

The Bisons smacked three Jersey City moundsmen for 11 hits, including home runs by Hank Biasatti and Gene Markland. Ken Wood, spacing six hits, posted victory No. 2.

Ken Trinkle, an old mopper-upper, started and won for Toronto in the first game against Syracuse. He gave up eight hits in winning his fourth game.

Minor Lacrosse

Minor lacrosse players and coaches should clip out the following day and night practise schedules drawn up by Jerry Fitzgerald for next week:

Days—Monday: open workout of all ages groups from 9:30 till noon and two p.m. till 4:30; Tuesday: open practise for all from 9:30 till noon, with no afternoon drill; Wednesday: all groups at 9:30 a.m. and at two p.m.; Thursday: open for all ages at 9:30 and two; Friday: peewee practice at 9:30 a.m., tadpole drill at two.

Nights—Monday: midgets at 6:30 p.m. and juveniles at 7:30; Tuesday juniors at 7:30 p.m.; Wednesday: midgets at 6:30 and juveniles at 7:30; Thursday: bantams at six p.m.

CAN'T DECIDE

At Sandown Park, Isle of Wight Friday the photo of a tight finish in the Claremont Handicap today showed one horse's nose in front. But judge Malcolm Hancock couldn't decide whether the nose belonged to Lanarth or Caplilyo. "The photograph was too indistinct," he told reporters. So he called it a dead heat.

LIGHTS LAMP — Big Jim Kinna was the Petes' lamplighter in their 12-8 win over Mimico OLA-ers last night, turning on the juice for five goals in a nifty showing.

McCarthy Quits Red Sox, O'Neill At Helm

BOSTON, June 24 — (AP) — Jovial Steve O'Neill has formally taken over the American League's slumping pre-season favorites, Boston Red Sox.

He took command after general manager Joe Cronin announced in St. Louis that Joe McCarthy has resigned his $50,000-a-year job. McCarthy left the Red Sox Thursday in Chicago and flew back to his Buffalo home to be treated for pleurisy and influenza.

He indicated then that he intended to rejoin the club next Tuesday in Philadelphia.

But last night the 63-year-old pilot said he is through. Asked if he expects to return to baseball, McCarthy replied: "No, this is final."

The resignation of the top pilot caused as much surprise as a similar move in May, 1946, when he left the Yankees. He had led them to eight pennants and seven world titles.

He quit the Sox while they were in one of their worst slumps, 8½ games off the pace.

"I received fair treatment in Boston," McCarthy said, "but didn't accomplish what I set out to do."

The Sox have lost 11 of their last 14 games.

O'Neill piloted the club to a victory last night in his first game at the helm.

Westclox Girls Victorious Over Electrics

Westclox played heads-up softball at the Bowl last night to gain an 8-2 Girls' League victory over CGE. The latter had just one bad inning when a couple of errors, half a dozen little hits over the infield and a homer by J. Vass put the tilt on ice with seven runs. The Clockers were hustling and they gave M. Selkirk — who hurled nice five-hit ball — fine support. M. Hodgson would have shown much better with the same all-around backing. Five CGE batters went down on strikes while eight of the winners took a third strike.

B. Anderson and B. Morrow for Westclox with B. McMahon, and M. Boyce of the Electrics went best in the field during the game which lasted an hour and 10 minutes. J. Hart's triple was the only extra base blow for CGE. M. Selkirk and J. Vass each came through with three safeties for Westclox.

The teams:

Westclox: A. Anderson cf, B Morrow ss, J. Vass 3b, M. Hawthorne c, B. Anderson 2b, I. Bullock lf, J. Hardy rf, J. McIntyre 1b, M. Selkirk p.

Ada Mackenzie Gets 9th Title

TORONTO, June 24—(CP)—Ada Mackenzie of Toronto added a climactic touch Friday to one of the most unusual careers in golf.

When the Toronto veteran downed youthful Anne Sharp of Welland 3 and 2 in the final match of the 36th annual Ontario Ladies' Championship, it brought her the title for the ninth time.

She started the long parade of championships in 1922. Twice since then she was runner-up. She has won the Canadian championship and countless other minor tournaments.

Story Of Whale Eclipsed Real Message Of Jonah

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

It is unfortunate that the story of the whale has eclipsed the real story of Jonah, for this short prophecy marks the highest point in Old Testament religion, portraying the love of God for all men, and His saving grace, in a way that is unmistakable for all who read its message with thoughtful intelligence.

Whether one regards the Book of Jonah as literal history or as an allegory designed to embody its high teaching, the important thing is that its great message should not be missed. That message stands as the rebuke toward all narrow national, religious, and racial prejudice, with the rebuke of a reluctant and prejudiced prophet in the revelation of God's grace toward a repentant people. "And should not I spare Ninevah, that great city, wherein are more than six score thousand persons that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand; and also much cattle?"

The hardest lesson for some Jews of that day to learn, just as it seeems the hardest lesson for some professing Christians to learn today, was that God is the God of the whole world, of all men, and that His grace and mercy are toward all who call upon Him, and who seek to know and obey His will.

The noblest souls in Israel had learned that lesson. In the later prophecies, of the period and following the Babylonian Exile, is the clear note of world-wide religion. Emphasis is upos God's call and choice of the Jewish people, whose glory is "a light to lighten the Gentiles" (Isaiah 42: 6; Luke:32).

This noble faith and vision were in contrast to the spiritual pride of those who looked upon the Gentile world, with the attitude, "the Gentiles that know not the law are accursed," and who had little concern about sharing with others the treasure that they professed to have.

The Book of Jonah is, therefore, a great missionary document, for the very essence of missions is the belief that the grace of God is unlimited in its extent and in its operations.

The prophecy of Jonah has a distinct and very rich application to our own times. Prejudices of the sort that the writer of the Book rebuked are rife in our modern world. Those prejudices, too often, are in the minds and hearts of religious leaders, like Jonah, who was more concerned about denouncing and punishing Ninevah than about its salvation.

Such misleaders need the rebuke given to Jonah, and the discovery that "the love of God is broader than the measure of man's mind."

First Presbyterian Church Organized In Canada In 1600

Presbyterian churches from British Columbia to Newfoundland will on Sunday mark the 75th anniversary of the formation of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Prior to 75 years ago the Presbyterians were divided into four separate synods but with 1875 the four united into one Canadian church.

First Presbyterians Came in 1600

Presbyterianism was introduced in this country with the first European settlements at Tadousac in 1600 and a few years more firmly established in Acadia. The earliest Presbyterians came from the British Isles, France and Germany. The greatest influx was however after the American Revolution in 1774 with the coming of the United Empire Loyalists.

Differences arising in the church in Scotland early in 1800 were soon duplicated in this country. In 1843, the Church of Scotland split and the "Free Kirk" was distinguished from the "Auld Kirk". This seperation was enacted in Canada in 1844. In the same year the strict adherence of the church in this country to the Old Country was weakened by an act passed in St. Paul's Church in Montreal which declared the spiritual independence of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church from the Church in Scotland. The Synod in this country now had "free, final, supreme and uncontrolled power over all ministers and congregations under its care."

The need for the creation of a ministry and a training institution was soon realized by the newly formed Free Church Synod. The result of this was the establishment of Knox College in Toronto, in 1844. The Free Church joined the original United Presbyterian Church to form one ecclesiastical body in 1861. Knox College became the academic centre of this newly united church.

Four Synods

Before 1875, there were four Synods in this country. The two churches in Upped Canada were the Canada Presbyterian Church with a membership of 50,702 and the Presbyterian Church of Canada with 17,247 members. The Church of Scotland situated in the Maritimes had a membership of 4,622 and there were 18,082 members of the Free Church of the Lower Provinces.

Differences had grown less and the four Synods met together in Montreal in 1875, to discuss union. This meeting represented a total of 90,653 members and 634 ministers. The union was consumated and the Presbyterian Church in Canada came into being.

Aided by Confederation

Two factors were mainly responsible for this union. The first was the training of ministers in colleges in Canada that were relatively free from the strife and differences of the old country. Confederation in 1867 also played a major role in this union.

Knox College as well as other theological institutions were recognized as training centres for the whole church after the church union. At present, Knox College has the high honor of being one of the very few colleges in Canada which possesses full status with the "American Association of Theological Schools."

By 1925, the Presbyterian Church had a membership of 385,000. However the union of a portion of the church with the Methodist Church and Congregational Church to form the United Church of Canada reduced the number of members to 154,000. Today the Presbyterian Church has a total membership of 175,676.

Another anniversary will be observed in the Presbyterian Church this year. This will be the 300th anniversary of the present metrical psalms. These psalms were first used in Scotland on May 1, 1650. In the present hymnary, there are 71 versions from the 1650 Psalter as well as some from the older Psalter of 1564.

One of the courageous and inaspiring figures of the church was Dr. James Robertson who became a minister in 1869 and in 1881 was first superintendent of Home Missions for the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Travelling by foot and horseback throughout west, Dr. Robertson held services in saloons and any place he could get a few together before churches were built in the settlements. He was instrumental in building many of the Presbyterian churches in the western provinces.

Dr. C. L. Cowan, immediate past Moderator, stated in "The Presbyterian Record" that the church has passed through three phases. The first phase was the unorganized worshipping bodies. The erection of Presbyteries was the second phase and the union of the four Synods 1875 was the beginning of the third phase. Today the Presbyterian Church is in the fourth phase of its development which is showing a growth both in the churches at home and the missions abroad.

Wealth And Character MustBeFound

By REV. E. R. JAMES

The young man had great possessions.—St. Mark 10:22.

You are not astonished that this story is repeated by the three first evengelists. It has gripped the imagination of countless prosperous men. Watts, the great artist has pictured the face of the young man as dark and gloomy as he turned away. St. Mark gives the reason; "He has great possessions." The writer adds what the others omit. How moving to read: "Jesus, beholding him, loved him." There was something attractive in his face and character. He was devout and cultured; yet he felt that there was something wanting in his religious life. "What shall I do that I may inherent eternal life" is the over ruling thought. It is a question which has dominated many a religious man.

He is looking into the face of the Pure One, who knows what is in man. The Teacher has put his finger on the cancer. "Go, sell all that thou hast and give to the poor. And come, take up thy cross and follow me." His countenance fell at that saying and he went away sorrowing for he had great possessions. The effect upon the disciples is moving. The disciples were amazed at his words. Wealth is a relative term. What may be wealth may be poverty to the man in the next lot. Our forefathers used the word "possessed" to those who were mentally unbalanced. Are you possessed by your wealth; let this question grip your mind. The young man was a devout churchman, giving generously to every cause. "The Lord sits over against the treasury and watches how the people give." He knows our motives in giving; let this thought come to your mind when the next appeal is made in your church.

Our Lord never teaches that money is evil in itself. He warns of the peril of putting your whole trust and confidence in money. Nicodemus, the rich member of the Sanhedrim, is not commanded to sell all that he had. That was not his spiritual sin. Money did not possess him. He was an aristocrat, money meant little to him. He was proud of his blameless life and his obedience to the law of Moses. This was his spiritual sin. To him the Master said: "Except a man be born again he cannot enter into the kingdom of God."

We have to offer our best to God. All who loved the Lord Christ did so. Mary with her costly box of ointment; Zaccheus giving the half of his money to make amends for his dishonesty in the past; Nicodemus giving the Lord's body a royal funeral.

Are you possessed by your wealth? Are you saying to yourself 'my power and the might mine hand hath gotten me this wealth.' Or do you look upon your wealth as a trust thankful for the good you can do with it. Your money is a trust given you by God.

The Lord Jesus saith lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven.

VOL. C. No. 147 SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1950 PRICE FIVE CENTS

Full Program Scheduled For July 1st

Residents of Crescent St., and Burnham's Point will have ringside seats for the program of water sports followed by fireworks at Little Lake in the evening of Dominion Day.

And for the afternoon there will be the Y's Men's Club soapbox derby for youngsters down the slope of Hunter St. from Western Clock.

July 1 is the actual anniversary of the incorporation of Peterborough as a municipality in 1850. It is a local historic occasion, and the Centennial Committee decided to provide one means of impressing it on the attention of citizens, particularly the younger folks.

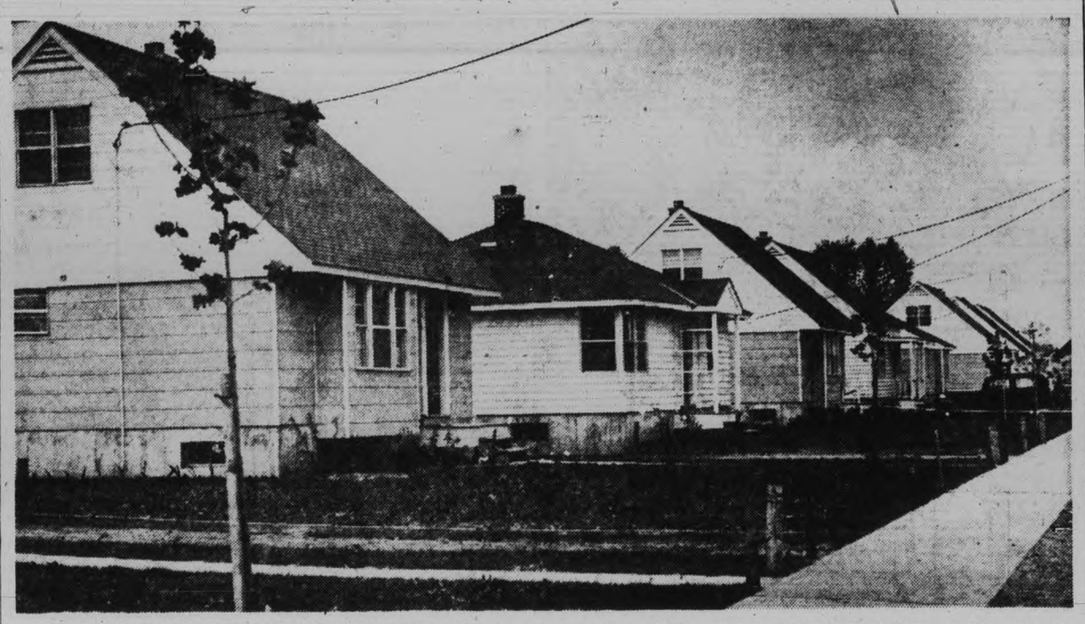
They are spending $1,500 on fireworks which will be set off from McDonald's Point. Should it be raining that Saturday night, it has been arranged with T. H. Hand Fireworks Company of Hamilton to switch the pyrotechnical program to Monday night, July 3.

W. G. Ovens Chairman

W. G. Ovens is chairman of the Centennial Committee. Mr. James Hamilton was authorized to arrange for aquatics in the early part of the evening of Dominion Day. He called in W. A. Richardson of Peterborough Canoe Co. and J. W. Madden of Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company, Herb Cardwell of Wallace Point and others.

Attractions on the lake will include aquaplaning, waterskiing, demonstration of canoe stunts, and so on. With Mr. Cardwell are Bill Taylor, Eric Dinese, Ab Bianco and others of Peterborough; Mrs. Norma Gordon of the Gordon Boat Company, Bobcaygeon, and her brothers, Gus and Ack McIntosh also of Bobcaygeon. Their specialty is aquaplaning and water-skiing.

Supply Boats



Boats are being supplied by Peterborough Canoe and outboard motors by Outboard Marine and Manufacturing.

Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, has been asked to provide a small temporary building on the Point to house the fireworks and also a fence to keep the youngsters out of the way of the fireworks crew.

Y's Men's Club assume charge of arrangements for their soapbox derby on Dominion Day afternoon. They have requested that Mr. Butcher erect fences on both sides of Hunter St. hill and also to cover the railway crossing east of Mark St. They are also asking for police assistance, and inclusion of the Derby events in Centennial Committee advertising for the holiday.

TOO DANGEROUS

The Canadian post office prohibits the use of the mails for glass bottles or glass in any form liable to break.

NEW SOUTHEND HOUSES ON O'CONNELL ST., show the result of landscaping. With a sidewalk laid on one side of the street only, building contractors have sewn grass seed and planted trees. All is ship-shape in the above photo except the addition of gravel to private driveways. Many homeowners have planted shrubs and are keeping the tender grass well soaked and each home has a young thriving maple tree on the front lawn.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

More Than 1,000 City Children Non-Swimmers

Surveys taken in all the public schools in the city have brought to light the startling fact that 1090 children in Peterborough are unable to swim. This summer the Lions Club of this city is making it possible for all these children to receive free swimming instructions. It is hoped that by the ed of the summer, if not all, at least the majority of them will be able to swim.

The swimming classes will begin at the Lions' community pool on July 3. The children will be divided into classes and each will meet three times a week. Bill Lech, the swimming instructor at the pool, says the average child learns to swim in six lessons. But more will be given, if required.

Children who have already registered for these swimming classes, are asked to go to the pool on June 30 and July 1, to get tickets, stating the classes which they will be in and the times they are to come to the pool.

All those who have not registered and wish to take advantage of these free swimming classes will be welcomed.

Let's Ponder With The Sage On How To Keep City Cool

By JIM ENGLISH

While moist and sticky citizens gulped pop by the barrel and swallowed whole ice cubes to keep cool, one elderly gentleman sat by the Otonabee and proposed ways to cool the city. He was sitting on the east bank of the river, below Hunter St. bridge, his straw hat on, tie and coat off, and a large black cigar fuming below his nose.

"Gotta beat the heat somehow," he said. "C'mon 'n sit down. Sticky, eh?"

"You know what?" he asked, looking down the river with the air of a man who has solved a problem, "I think I can beat this heat. Got is licked. Matter of fact, I got more than one idea. Don't want to tell them, though. Some so'n'so will steal 'em.

He turned a glittering eye toward us and chuckled. There was a genteel suggestion of beverage room about him. His nose, we saw, had a glow, muffled in the thick smoke from the cigar beneath it.

"If it doesn't get too hot," he said, "I'll go tell the city council tomorrow how to cool this place down. You want to hear?"

Sure, we said.

"Gonna air condition the city. Get great big hunks of ice and cut holes in the pavement and stick the hunks of ice in. Just on the sidewalks, though, not on the streets. Then I'll put iron plates over the holes. That'll keep your feet cool."

Then he looked back at the river and watched the wind ruffle it. The shade was cool and green, and the breeze off the river was just right. The old party puffed a few times on his cigar and looked back at us.

"Don't believe me, do you? That's all right. I'm used to it. Nobody wants a man with vision these days. All afraid to take a chance." He fanned himself with his hat as he spoke. "Got another idea. Want to hear it?"

We said all right, and he went on.

"This one's not as good as the other, but it oughta work. Take all this business of rainmaking that's going on these days. They fly up in a plane and throw out little bits of dry ice into a cloud. The cloud gets all cooled down and throws rain all over the country.

"You know, they got it figured right down to the last little bit of ice just how much they need to make a cloud rain. Here's how I'd work it to cool the city.

"Now, say you need a whole pound of ice to make a cloud rain. Instead of that, just take a little bit less, say three-quarters of a pound. Then you go up in a plane, throw that ice into a cloud and watch what happens."

Just then he peered slyly around to be sure that nobody heard him deliver the punch line. He leaned over and whispered, conspirator-fashion:

"You see, that three-quarters of a pound of ice'll start the cloud moiling around. You'll get a fine sort of rain that'll evaporate before it comes anywhere near the ground. And it'll make the air cooler."

He sat back triumphantly. "There! How's that?"

When we didn't answer, he looked at us closely. "Cat got your tongue?"

Then he stood up and said "Hot, aint it." He looked up at the cloudless sky and shook his head. Then he walked down the bank into the river. The last we saw was a straw hat floating downstream, and the stub of a black cigar close after it.

We didn't lift a finger to save him.

FIRST TELEVISION

The first demonstration of television was given before the Royal Institution in 1926 by J. L. Baird

3-Day Course For Supervisors Of Playgrounds

Playground supervisors will undergo a three-day course next week from Wednesday to Friday, similar to last year's course. The supervisors will meet each day at Riverside Park for instruction by recreation director Alex Sinclair, librarian William Graff, handicraft director Mrs. Margaret Freestone, a McGill University physical education student and a local playground supervisor.

Wednesday's program will include organization of the playgrounds, handicraft, story telling and games periods under Mr. Sinclair, Mrs. Freestone and Mr. Graff. Thursday morning Mr. Sinclair will instruct the students on reports and the inspection of the playground equipment, and Mrs. Freestone will conduct a third class of handicraft instruction.

While the girls are being instructed in handicraft, the boys, under Blair Thomson, will be training in the coaching methods of volleyball Thursday afternoon in the first period. Other periods in the afternoon will be song leading and basketball.

On the final morning of the school, the supervisors will receive instruction on first aid, handicraft and coaching methods. The school will close Friday afternoon after periods of instruction on handicraft, track and field, discussion of the program and group games.

The playground program outlined recently by Mr. Sinclair opens July 3, on the playgrounds and closes on September 1.

Business Group Wants To Expand

Peterborough Business Men's Association will hold a membership drive during next week. The executive of the Association hopes to raise its present membership of 150 local businesses to more than 250 of the estimated 335 in the city.

In a letter to local business concerns, J. A. Jebson, president, said that the association has felt for some time that its membership is not fully representative of the business interests of Peterborough.

Some of the activities outlined by Mr. Jebson were: the regulation of store hours; decisions on holidays; regulation of Christmas shopping hours; efforts to get suitable men to stand for city council; efforts to have a city manager appointed; co-operation with Hydro with 10 per cent cut in lights during the electricity shortage; co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce in publishing a tourist folder; sponsor a courteous clerk contest in conjunction with the Sales and Ad Club.

Approved Entertainment

LONDON—(CP)—Mothers in the St. Pancras area plan to run puppet shows and other forms of juvenile entertainment to try to keep children from going to the movies which, they say, run "too many crime films."

Suburban Pupils See What's Ahead At PCVS

Students in the Grade VIII classes of the Peterborough Suburban High School area visited the Collegiate Friday afternoon. This was the first time that the county public school students have had the opportunity to see what faces them before the collegiate term opens in the fall.

For the past five years, the Grade VIII classes of the city's public schools have visited the collegiate in June to see the opportunities and advantages of a secondary education. The city Grade VIII pupils visited the collegiate this year earlier in the week.

Upon their arrival at the collegiate in the suburban school buses, the students were welcomed in PCVS' auditorium by Principal C. S. Browne. He outlined the layout of the school, told the number of teachers, how many they would meet during their first year and briefly something of each of the courses offered, the general course, the terminal course, the industrial arts course and the home economics course.

Ninety Visitors

The 90 pupils were then divided into three groups to be shown the departments of the school, under direction of Mr. Browne, Howard Moebus, career planning department director and by B. W. Switzer, head of the industrial arts department.

They were shown the office first, with a brief explanation of the system used when students are late or absent. From the office the students were shown the library, home economics rooms, the art rooms, the science rooms, the commercial department and the industrial arts department. At each room the pupils were told briefly what was offered in particular room.

Make Application

Following the tour through the schools, the pupils were asked to fill in an application indicating which of the courses they wished to enter in the fall. Seven pupils made the decision to leave school, 20 decided to enter the industrial arts department, five the new terminal course, six the home economics course and 50 the general course.

The pupils who took the opportunity to visit the school through the career planning department of PCVS were from: Smith township, School Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 11 and 13; Otonabee township, 2, 4 5 7 11 12, 16 and 17; Cavan, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 9; North Monaghan 3; and South Monaghan 1 2, 3, 4 and 5.

Work Starts On Paving Streets In City

W. B. Bennett Paving Company of Oshawa will begin Monday morning the contract of street paving that was recently awarded them on a competitive bid by the city council.

"We are starting on Park St. north as directed by your City Engineer, Mr. A. E. Chalmers," Mr. Bennett told the Examiner today. "We intend to do the curb and gutter work first, leaving the street open to usual traffic as long as possible. By that means our operations will cause a minimum of disruption to business and the convenience of the people."

The Park St. stretch is from Park Hill Rd. to McDonnel St.

Bennett Paving is a comparatively young company with experienced and energetic management.

"We are only six years old," Mr. Bennett said, "but I have been in paving work all my life.

"We'll have our main asphalt plant on the job as soon as it is needed. It will be located in the old Webster gravel pit southeast of the city, about a mile south of No. 7 Highway.

No One Near

"We chose that place because there are no people living near it. We have dust collectors on our equipment, but no matter what you do in trying to prevent dust blowing from our machines, there is always bound to be some. So, we've got far enough out that there should not be any complaints."

Streets Listed

The other streets to be paved are: Monaghan Road from Frank to Lansdowne St.; Lock St., from Lansdowne to King George; Roger St., from in front of St. Joseph's Hospital to St. James St.; Perry and Townsend Streets from Park to Aylmer.

There are also storm drains to be put in on Monaghan Road and Lock Street.

Some of the equipment used by Warren Paving Co. here last year was moved yesterday from Peterborough. Mr. Bennett said he was not interested in the Warren mixing plant at Auburn, which was used on the local paving contract last year. It was left here during the winter presumably in hope that the company might secure the contract for the 1950 paving program.

City Engineer Chalmer's department is finishing a storm drain on Monaghan Road ahead ahead of the paving job. There are few of these preliminaries necessary, other than odd sewer connections here and there.

Can't Afford Machine Decide To Make One

Because machine manufacturers turned in estimates considered too high, the mechanical department of the CGE here decided to make a machine for itself.

The machine, an automatic gadget designed to bore magnet frames for diesel locomotives, handles work formerly done by sub-contractors, and does it more cheaply. It was designed by Bill Jackson of tool design.

Instead of carefully guiding the heavy casting through several operations, the machine's operator stands before a small switchboard panel, happily punching buttons.

The machine does a double job —boring and facing, without the casting being moved from the lathe. In production, it meets all expectations. The machine was made entirely in the Peterborough plant.

Oddfellows To Parade On Decoration Sunday

The Oddfellows will hold Decoration Day on Sunday, when some 200 members are expected to assemble at the lodge hall at 2 p.m. to take part in the parade.

Led by the Salvation Army Band, the men march to Confederation Square, where a wreath will be placed on the cenotaph in memory of those who lost their lives overseas. From there the Oddfellows will march to Little Lake Cemetery, for the memorial service which will begin at 3 p.m.

Richard Ford will be in charge of the service and the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon will be the speaker.

Industry Reports Fewer Accidents

The directors of the Millers, Feed Manufacturers and Grain Elevators Accident Prevention Association met today under the chairmanship of F. G. Ash, superintendent of the Quaker Oats Co. and included M. A. Miller, Robin Hood Flour Mills, Humberstone, George E. Pierce, Ralston Purina Co., Woodstock, J. J. Page, McCarthy Milling Co., Streetsville, C. E. Merilees, T. H. Taylor Co., Chatham, J. I. Chamberlain, Maple Leaf Milling Co., J. L. Dodington and R. G. D. Anderson, Industrial Accident Prevention Association, Toronto, and R. B. Morley, secretary-treasurer of the Association also of Toronto.

Following the meeting, an inspection of the Quaker Oats plant was made under the guidance of Mr. Ash and L. H. Ingram, a former president of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association.

Reports received at the meeting indicated there had been a decrease of 20 per cent in accidents in Class 13 under workmans' compensation in the first five months of 1950, compared with the same period in 1949. There was also a reduction in the number of fatal cases, there having been only one in 1950, compared with four in the first five months of 1949. Handling of materials stood at the top of the list with about 30 per cent of the total injuries. Falls of persons came second with 24 per cent and mechanical injuries were third with 15 per cent.

A. R. Mackenzie, Purity Flour Co., Toronto, was named chairman of the "no accident" campaign to be held in Class 13 in October.

Permit Refused Dairy Firm For Horse Barn

City Planning Board refused Silverwood's Dairy a permit for horse stables at the northwest corner of Brock and Aylmer Sts., at their meeting Thursday.

An opposing petition was received from property owners of the area and also a letter from Basil D. Hall, solicitor for the Fleming estate.

The disposing motion by James Craig and Hubert Sills, with James Dutton presiding, was: "That in view of the protest from the solicitor of Fleming estate, the largely signed petition from residents of the area, and the zoning restrictions, and bearing in mind future beautification of the Jackson Park Creek, this board does not recommend issue of a permit for establishing a stable in that location.

"We respectfully suggest to the council that the land might be purchased for municipal purposes, having in mind its possible use for offstreet parking and/or future park development."

Plan Not Approved

Plans for a residential subdivision west of Manorhill, submitted by Sackville Insurance and Realty Agency were not approved.

The motion by James Hamilton and William Tinker informed the applicants the plans could not be approved in their present form. Water and sewer service are not available, the lots are too small for septic tanks and the plan might possibly interfere with a proposed bypass highway.

Application of Conger-Lehigh to open a service station at the southwest corner of Lansdowne and Sherbourne Sts., was held in abeyance until further investigation has been made and any objections received.

J. J. Crowley, realty broker, asked permission for a client to establish a tourist residential home (with cabins) at the southwest corner of Water and Argyle Sts.

Recommendation of the board was that a permit be issued for lodging house only, and that the applicant be informed that no extension to the present premises can be allowed, "and this board is strongly opposed to any conversion of the outer buildings to tourist cabins."

The board withheld approval of the request of Aiden Moore to set up a used car lot at Monaghan Rd. and Chamberlain Sts.

SMALL CAR DAMAGE

W. C. McCreery of Gilmour St. reported to Provincial Police on Friday night that he had been sideswiped by an unidentified motorist on the Jackson Park Road. The accident was about half a mile from the outskirts of the city as Mr. McCreery was driving toward Peterborough.

Good Building Layout Essential for Home Comfort

(From House Building in Canada)

"Throughout the whole lifetime of a house built for a home the actual layout of the building affects constantly and inescapably not only the comfort and long-term satisfaction which that home will provide for the original purchaser, but also the resale value and hence the security of any loan made on the property." So says H. U. Nelson, official of the National Real Estate Board. Nowadays a good deal can be done to "lift the face" of a house that has displeasing appearance or to strengthen weak construction when remarketing becomes necessary. But the basic plan of the structure, the fundamental proportionment of interior space, the relation of the building to the site and of the rooms to each other are things that remodelling ordinarily cannot remedy.

Test Your House Plan

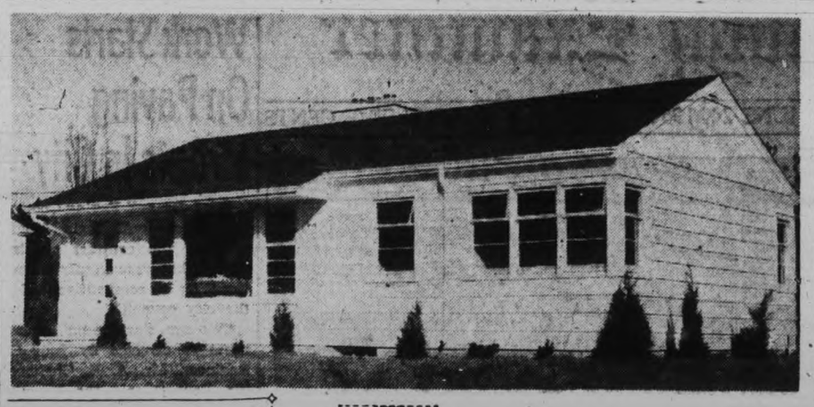
Here we point out some basic factors of layout that makes a home truly liveable over a long period of time, to test long-range livability, ask yourself these questions as to layout:

1. PROPORTIONMENT OF SPACE: Has the interior space been properly proportioned between the various rooms and is each room of a size and shape for convenient and sociable grouping of furniture? Is the room shaped to admit maximum sunlight? A living room 12x18 feet, for instance is generally preferred to one 14 x 15 feet, although the areas are approximately the same; a 11 x 12 foot bedroom is preferred to one having the same area but measuring 9 x 15 feet because of the problem of placing beds.

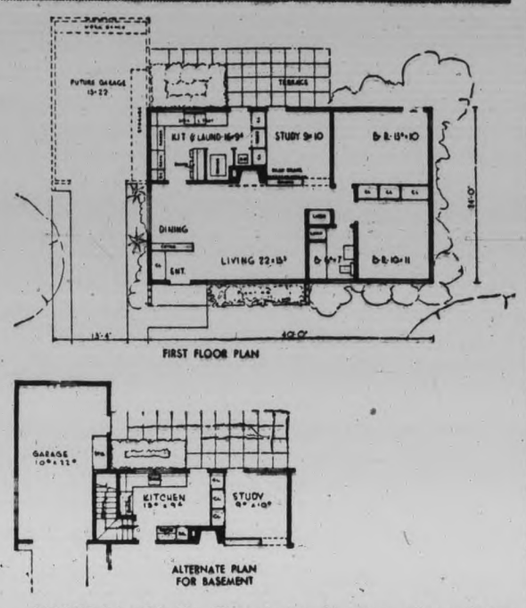
2. CIRCULATION: Is the relation of the rooms to each other convenient for the natural flow of living activities? Is the front door convenient to the kitchen? Are living room and dining room unfortunately so placed that they will become glorified hallways? (Particularly in one-bath, H-shaped houses, living rooms are very often traffic lanes.) Is access to the bedroom only through a bedroom or other principal room or is from a hallway? Is sole access to any room through a bedroom?

3. WALL SPACE: Is there plenty of wall space for furniture—in all rooms? Is there more than one location for each piece of furniture?

4. KITCHEN: Does the size and shape of the kitchen offer working convenience? (Minimum size for small home is sixty square feet—idea size for smaller houses is eighty to ninety square feet.) Has sufficient space been provided to admit all standard makes of stoves and refigerators? Are cupboards adequate? Is drainboard long enough and is sink along an exterior wall? (This will determine whether so long as the house stands, the housewife looks out of doors over her dishwashing and potato peeling or whether she looks at blank wall.)



5. BATHROOM: Are bath facilities in proportion to the size of the house, the number of bedrooms and the demands of the district? Are fixtures located properly or is the tub under the window, the toilet against the living room wall and the lavatory on a wall away from natural light? Is there a stall shower or space for installation of one? Is there adequate space for utility drawers, cabinets, or if need be, hampers?



6. DINING SPACE: Is the location and size of dining space adequate to the character of the house? In a small house does it consist of a nook in the kitchen, an alcove off the living room, or a separate dinette? In large house are there both separate dining rooms and kitchen nooks? (In a house less than 800 square feet in size, a nook in the kitchen is sometimes acceptable. In a house between 800 and 1,000 square feet in size a separate dinette or secluded alcove off the living room is preferred. In a house 1,000 square feet in size a separate dinette or dining room and kitchen nook is desirable.)

7. BEDROOMS: Are the bedrooms well separated from the other portion of the house or do any of them open directly off the living room, dining room, or kitchen? Is it necessary to walk around the bed to reach the entrance to the room, the closet, or the dresser? Can the bed be made from both sides? Do any windows open over a bed?

8. HALLS: Is too large a percentage of the total area devoted to hall space? (Three to four per cent of total is proper area for hallways; if hallways are over 5 per cent a restudy of the plans should be made.) Is the hall narrow, winding, dark? (Straight halls are preferred as is a minimum width of three and one-half feet.)

9. CLOSETS: Is the closet and storage space adequate? Is there a coat closet off the entry? If there is no entry, is there a closet in the hallway? Are closets wide and shallow so that things in them can readily be seen and reached, or are they so-called tunnel closets—narrow and deep?

HOUSE No. 59-41—This design features a large living and dining space combined with a study alcove partially separated by bookcases. For complete privacy for the study when used as a spare bedroom a ceiling hung draw drape can be closed. Notice how compact and convenient the kitchen-laundry area has been designed. The house is architect-designed, and the plans make provision for erecting it with or without a basement. Excluding garage, but with full basement, the house contains 19,056 cubic feet. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Bridgenorth School Holds Field Day

BRIDGENORTH, June 24. —(ENS).—The third annual field day of the Bridgenorth Home and School was held Friday afternoon in the school grounds with a large number of children and mothers present.

The program for the afternoon was handled by Mrs. G. Ray, Jr., convener for the sports events. The races were called by Mrs. Ray and all events were run off in good time to permit the baseball game between the mothers and the school team, the school team being the victors. Gaily decorated bicycles and doll carriages created added color, along with the flags strung across the field. All pre-school children were each presented with a little story book.

The two champions for all events with the most number of points were Kathleen Newnam and Jim Caldwell. A shield was presented to the school for future field days, and the names of the champions are to be affixed yearly.

The champions for the different groups were:

Following the races and ball game, lunch was served, prepared by Mrs. Karl Blewett, social convener, and committee. Each child received a soft drink and ice-cream with their sandwiches and cookies.

Winners for the events were:

Straight races, Junior girls, Faye Harding, Arlene Harding. Junior boys—Garry Payne, Richard Jopling. Intermediate girls — Phyllis Heard, Donna Doughty. Intermediate boys—Bob Whitehill, Don Phillips. Senior girls—Kathleen Newman, Alice McKay. Senior Boys—Jim Caldwell, Bob Nicholls.

Prize to the boy and girl with the best attendance for the year will be given out before school closes for the summer.

Find Injured Man Crawling On Highway

LITTLE CURRENT, June 24 — (CP)—How long an Espanola man lay beneath his wrecked car before being found crawling along the highway nine miles north of here is not known today but the injured man is said to be in "surprisingly good condition" considering the complete demolition of the car he was driving.

An unidentified American tourist driving to Little Current about 5 a.m. Friday spotted a man dragging himself along the highway.

Investigation disclosed a car in the ditch which had apparently turned end-over-end at least once. The tourist rushed the man to hospital here where papers disclosed his identity as Rene McGarrick, 28, of Espanola.

Suffering from back injuries and shock, McGarrick said all he could remember was "a blinding flash."

Need Three Coats of Stucco For Sound Construction

Stucco is a suitable house finish when properly mixed and applied. Good results can be achieved by running the stucco directly over a concrete surface or galvanized metal lath. It should not be applied directly to the brick. If the base is concrete, the surface must be cleaned of all loose particles.

Waterproof paper is necessary over the sheathing of a wood wall. At least three-eighth-inch furing strips should be applied one foot apart to receive heavy galvanized metal lath. These furring strips may be omitted if self-furring rib lath is used.

Three coats of stucco are required. First is the "scratch coat"—made of Portland cement, sand and dehydrated lime. This coat should be pressed firmly on to the wall to fill up the space behind the metal lath. It is important that the first layer of stucco be well scratched and kept moist for two or three days before the "base coat," made of the same composition, is applied.

After the base coat has set sufficiently, it should be moistened before the finish coat is added. A mixture of Portland cement and hydrated lime usually forms the finish coat which may be colored by the use of mortar stain.

Application of the finish coat should be carried out from top to bottom of the surface of the wall and in one general direction. A complete surface should be covered in one continuous operation.

A small gift was also presented to Mrs. Franks and a hearty vote of thanks. Mrs. Price Morris distributed fancy work to be sewn during the summer. The evening was spent playing bridge and canasta.

Hear Pianists Taught By Mrs. Elsie Flett

An outstanding showing by young piano students of Mrs. Elsie Chambers Flett, in recital Friday evening, gave evidence of careful training and of faithful practising at an early age. Friends and relatives were gathered in the Public Library auditorium to hear their work and gave it hearty applause.

A trio on one piano, Marjorie Harvey, Katharine Stuart and Nancy Wood gave an interesting rendition of "Moccasin Dance." Three duets were by Peter Goold and Verne Hope, Bob Cuff and Ruth Pitchford, Ken Cairns and Bob Cuff.

Soloists were Bonnie Elmsley, Conrad Hill, Allison Johnston, John Phillips, Karen Hooey, Verne Hope, Peter Goold, Katharine Stuart, Nancy Wood, Marjorie Harvey, Helen Scott, Muriel Butcher, Ken Cairns, Bob Cuff, Ruth Pitchford, Joanne Veenman and Jane Stuart.

Mable McLarnon, 12-year-old soprano, was the guest artist.

Flowers were presented to Mrs. Flett from the pupils.

Jewelry Show Drawing Many Buyers

By MURIEL NARROWAY

LONDON—(CP)—On a London bomb-site—where in A.D. 871 gold-beaters plied their trade—a barrow boy deals in rubies and diamonds.

He is part of an exhibition organized by British jewelry merchants to attract overseas buyers here.

Held in Cheapside, a busy commercial area; the exhibition ranges from jewel sets valued at £15,000 (46,500) to mass-produced brooches retailing for 1s. (15 cents) apiece.

Some choice pieces designed by leading jewel firms were sent to the International Trade Fair in Toronto but there is still a lot of costly stuff on display.

Many items are designed with an eye for overseas style preferences. A diamond necklace of leaf design, worked in platinum and made up of more than 200 large round diamonds and baguettes was snapped up by a United States buyer.

New Color Effect

A new color combination, introduced by the firm which designed Princess Elizabeth's engagement ring, is turquoise and amethyst. Spray brooches with gold stem and leaves supporting delicate flowers of turquoise and amethyst are matched to bracelet clips or earrings.

For those who want an expensive memento of London there are well-known figure brooches, including a model in rubies, emeralds and diamonds depicting a flower girl under a gold street lamp with diamond - studded panes.

To complement the popularity of "separates" in dress fashions the jewellers have produced a three - piece necklace which breaks into clips and bracelet.

Pearls, as always, are a frontline favorite. Latest hues of processed pearls range from grey to amber.

In original design clips delicately conceal the face of watches One shows a tiny figure on a bicycle; push it off and up pops the face of the watch.

Norwood Interest In Buffalo Rites

Miss Janet M. Giffen of Norwood was bridesmaid for her cousin, Miss Irene Ellen Laing of Buffalo, NY, when her marriage to Mr. Arthur Theodore Scharf took place last Saturday in University Methodist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Laing, the former the son of Mrs. E. J. Laing of Norwood and brother of Mrs. Wilmer H. Giffen.

The bridal gown was of Chantilly lace and marquisette with a circular train and the bodice neckline. A cap of matching lace held her veil and she carried a cascade of starlight roses and valley lilies. Miss Sally A. Obermeyer of Grand Rapids, Mich., maid of honor, and Miss Giffen were frocked in pale yellow and orchid marquisette and carried cascades of roses and sweet peas.

Groomsman was Mr. Robert W. Nuermburger and ushers Donald S. Laing, brother of the bride, and William W. Scharf, uncle of the groom.

The bride's mother received afterword at her home wearing aquamarine crepe with lace and a corsage of pinocchio roses and sweet peas, assisted by the groom's mother in navy chiffon with lace inserts and coursage of white roses and forget-me-nots.

For a motor trip to New England States the bride chose a navy gabardine suit and navy and white accessories and a gold colored topper. On return they will live at 987 west Delavan Ave. in Buffalo.

Miss Florence Scott Heads Soroptimist Club in '50-'51

Soroptimists of Peterborough are ready to start another season's activities as a service club with a full new executive duly installed. At completion of an impressive candle-light ceremony in which she was charged with the solemn duties of her office, Miss Florence Scott on Friday evening became president for the 1950-51 term.

Appointed to take her place when necessary and to give the utmost aid at all times are first and second vice-presidents, Mrs Eva Brackenridge and Miss Gene Clark. Finances of the club will be handled by Miss A. L. Thomson. Miss Elva Jackson will look after incoming and outgoing correspondence and Miss Flora Leeper is the new recording secretary. Counselling directors are Miss Alice Curtis and Miss Verna Johnston.

Installation was carried out by retiring president Mrs. May Thompson. She first lighted a candle as a symbol of Soroptimism and each officer lighted a candle from its flame pledging to uphold the ideals for which it stands.

A jewelled past-president's pin and a handsome gift were presented to Mrs. Thompson, Miss Grace Sargent and president Miss Scott doing the honors for the club.

Members motored to De Ayncourt Manor at Lakefield for the installation dinner meeting.

Business included a treasurer's report on the year's work which stated $851. had been realized from the projects and events in which they appealed to the public. Most of this sum will be used for the welfare of older women, in which they have already made great headway, and some will go to general welfare work.

A lectern is to be purchased and presented to the Civic Hospital for use in class rooms by the school of nursing staff, and this is expected to cost $150.

Acknowledgment of a cash donation sent to the Winnipeg Soroptimist Club advised that the cheque had been deposited in a trust fund and would be used to help victims of the flood when needed. A shipment of clothing which followed is for the same purpose.

A report on the garden tea held Wednesday indicated the net proceeds will likely be about $125.

Shippers Honor Robert Girven

NORWOOD, June 24 (ENS) — Robert Girven is retiring after acting for 20 years as shipper of the Norwood and District Livestock Livestock Co-operative.

In appreciation for this period of public service, the Co-operative members and friends held a dance in the town hall to honor Mr. Girven. During the evening, Roy Parker made a presentation of a cane to Mr. Girven and a bouquet of red roses to Mrs. Girven. The presentation address was given by James Beamish, president of the Co-operative.

R. M. Morrison, R. M. Croft, E. Mannerow, Joseph Aswin and George Soulsby, all of Toronto, who are on the staff of the Livestock Shipper's Co-operative, spoke and presented Mr. Girven with a pen and pencil set.

At the conclusion of the presentations, lunch was served.

M. J. Guerin Weds

Mr. Maurice J. Guerin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Guerin, 275 Lake St., was married recently to Anita Jane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald G. Brown of Ottawa. The ceremony took place in the rectory of St. Patrick's Church, Ottawa, the Rev. Thos. Cawley officiating, with Miss Marianne Soderlind and Mr. Elwood Pritchard, both of Ottawa, the attendants. The couple will live at 202 McGill St. in Peterborough.

Many friends in Ottawa feted the bride before her marriage at three miscellaneous showers, a linen shower and a cup and saucer shower. Presentation of an electric kettle was made and a dinner was given in her honor. On arrival at her new home in Peterborough a miscellaneous shower was tendered by Mrs. H. Feeley and Mrs. C. Cunningham.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Whenever your partner makes a very unusual play, stop and think for a second. Has your partner suddenly lost his mind? That, of course, is always a possibility.

If your partner looks reasonably sane, give him credit for having a reason for his play. If he's a good player, he probably has a good reason. If you can work out the meaning of the play you can co-operate better with your partner.

For example, not long ago I watched a game in which two women were partners against two men. One of the men properly but not gallantly, froze the pack fairly early. Both sides discarded cautiously for three rounds, after which one of the women melded four kings from her hand and discarded safely.

Since her side already had melded aces, this was a very unusual play. She didn't need a base of four natural cards; the four aces would have served as a base. The meld certainly didn't help her discard. If anything, it helped the opponents find safe discards.

Unfortunately, her partner didn't bother to think of the reason for this unusual play. The partner happened to have a hand that was almost set for melding out; and she persevered doggedly until she finally did meld out. In the meantime, the opponents got the pack and made several canastas, three of them natural.

What do you think was the meaning of the meld of four kings? If mad by a sensible player (and it was), it could have only one meaning: "Partner, I have deliberately weakened our power to take the discard pile. The reason is that I am ready to meld out. Help me make a canasta immediately. As soon as you do, I can meld out."

The partner could have made a canasta of kings on that same round. At the very next play, the one who had put down the kings would have melded out. Their opponents would not have won the pack and would have lost points on the hand instead of winning several thousand points.

Once you start to watch for points like this, your game will improve immensely. You will find yourself understanding why your partner makes certain plays and what type of hand he must have. That will lead you to understand what the opponents mean and what type of hands they have. It's almost as good as having X-ray eyes.

Q.—I was dealt a red three at the beginning of a hand. I put it on the table and drew a card to replace it. The replacement was a red three. I put that on the table and then wanted to draw three cards—one for each red three. The opponents said I was entitled to only one card. Who was right?

A.—Your opponents were right. Forget about the red threes for a moment. Remember that when you draw a card at the beginning of the game, you usually have eleven cards in your hand and you add one card, making twelve cards. Then you discard, leaving yourself with eleven cards once more. That is the basic principle of drawing and discarding. When you have finished with your draw and your discard, you should have only eleven cards in your hand.

Now let's get back to those red threes. When you put your first red three down, you have only ten cards in your hand. Now you get another red three and put it down—and you still have those same ten cards. This happens again, and you still have the same ten cards. That finishes the business of replacing the red threes. You now have a normal hand of eleven cards and you are entitled to your regular draw—either from the stock pile or from the discard pile.

SUNDAY EVENING BAND CONCERT

Under the Direction of W. H. Parnell

NICHOLLS OVAL

AT 8:30 P.M.

RCAF Wing 428 Chartered At First Association Ball

No. 428 Peterborough Wing of the RCAF Association was presented with a parchment charter Friday evening with high compliments to those responsible for its organizatioin from Air Vice Marshal D. M. Smith, of AFHQ at Ottawa. ExWing Commander W. Ross Thompson, who had been elected president, accepted the official document.

The presentation took place during the first grand and glorious Air Force Ball, held at the Club Aragon, and attended by 140 couples, most of the men and a number of the young women being ex-airforce persons.

AVM Smith extended wishes for every possible success from his Chief of Air Staff who was unable to be present. He said "This is the type of organization that will make us so strong there be nothing Joe Stalin can produce to phase us."

It is only by associating with those who have had similar experiences that these veterans can satisfy the longing to re-live the busy days of 1939-1945. Keenness in maintaining the comradeship that then existed was indicated by president Thompson who stated, "We hope to make this the best wing in Canada."

Mayor M. J. Swanston extended the greetings of the city and spoke feelingly of the fine job done by the Peterborough men in service, being himself ex-personnel of the RCAF and RAF.

Microphone equipment being in poor condition, most of the inspiring remarks from the platform were lost to the audience though speakers made every effort to be heard.

Also lost to straining ears was the chatter accompanying the feats of magic by Eric Scott an English chap who appeared to be a master of the sleight of hand, and he was assisted by a real live rabbit.

A skit written and produced by the actors, Russ Baer, the enquiring reporter, Doug Vaisey, the Air Force staff man intent on putting over a war bond campaign in 1943, and Jack Camboy as the veteran of a tour of operations not caring to exploit or even mention his experiences, would probably have been hugely entertaining if the dialogue had been audible.

Special guests at the ball, as well as Mayor and Mrs. Swanston, were the local heads of the Army and Navy. Lt. Col. M. E. Clarke and Mrs. Clarke, and Lieut. Commander J. B. Raine and Mrs. Raine.

CGIT Doings

MARK ST.

Closing meeting of the Mark St CGIT Group took the form of a day camp at the cottage on Lake Chemong belonging to Mr. Carlyle Ferguson. Transportation was supplied from the church at 8:30 in the morning and on arrival the girls started a hike, led by Mrs. E. Pepper. A baseball game, led by Patricia Berry and Marilyn Bentley, was followed by swimming and a hot dinner. After a rest period there was a scavenger hunt, led by Ruth Hendren and Carolee Ferguson, another swim and then supper of hot dogs For the evening program the girls were in groups and presented charades. An outdoor vesper service was led by Mrs. G. Eason The outing ended when the girls were returned to their homes about nine o'clock.

Prizes donated by city merchants who mostly have staff affiliation in the association, were won by Lt. Col. Clarke, Mr. Kenneth Hamley, Mr. J. Bean, Mrs. Ross Matthews, Mrs. Leonard Fox, Mr. Don Douglas, Miss June Macdonald and Mrs. C. Scott.

Those whose names appear on Part Two of Routine Orders as increase in strength are:: :

DOROTHY DIX

Happiest Time of Life Should Be in Every Stage

Dorothy Dix

I think we make no greater mistake than in painting youth as the supreme joytime of life. This not only makes the young feel that they must squeeze into it every possible amusement and excitement because their time of enjoyment is short, but it causes so many older people to cling piteously and hopelessly to a youth that is already gone because they feel that beyond that life is nothing but a barren waste, with no hope, no pleasure in it.

As a matter of fact, no one can say with certainty which is the happiest time of life. It shifts with the individual. There are those who have had golden youths and leaden old ages, while others have had hard and bitter youths and only found how sweet the wine of life can be as they drained the last drop in the cup.

Certainly youth has its pleasures that are all the keener because they are new and untried. The show is great because it is the first one he has ever seen. There is romance in every situation. One's feet are strong and never tire in the dance. One's appetites are avid and unsated.

Make The Most Of Youth

It is a swell party while it lasts, and the young make the most of it because they know it will soon be over and they think that the balance is cinders, ashes and dust. All of us older ones can remember when we looked with sympathy at decrepit old men and women of 30 and wondered why they wanted to live on in a world in which they could find no possible amusement or interest, and we hoped that he would die around 25 so as to be spared that tragic fate.

But, surprisingly, when we got into our thirties we discovered that we had just begun to enjoy ourselves and get a real kick out of living. We looked back upon the diversions of our adolescent days as we do upon the glee of a baby at having a rattle shaken before it and smile to think they could ever have amused us. The silly little parties. The giggling girls. The calf love. The despair when father wouldn't let us have the car. The heartbreak over trifles that didn't matter. How puerile.

At middle age we are really living. Our passions are at high tide that make the emotions of youth as water is to wine. We know the fierce joy of struggle, of attainment, of victory. Our heads are filled with ambitions and plans. Our hands full of work. Our families are close to us as they never were before, as they will never be again. Never a dull moment when you begin reaping the harvest that you have sown in labor and sweat.

Life is full and running over with pleasure when we are middleaged. What we dread are the lean fifties when, if we are women, we will have lost our looks and allure and no man will look at us save with kindness and compassion ,and when, if we are men, our doctors will tell us we are not so young as we were and we must slack down in our work and cut down our golf games and take things easy. Pretty dull and boresome prospect, that.

Have Acquired A Philosophy

Come the fifties, and we find that all the balance was just a preparation for this. It has taken us 50 years to learn how to get real enjoyment out of life and to acquire a philosophy that enables us to met whatever comes with a calm and equable mind. We have accepted our fates and no longer complain.

If we have won the prize we struggled for, well and good. If we have failed to win it, also well and good. We look at it with an uncovetous eye and reflect that the golden apple generally turns out to be brass after all. Also, in our fifties we attain the domestic millennium if we ever reach it. Our hearts are no longer torn with jealousies, for by then our mates are so firmly ours that we could not lose them if we tried, or else we are so weary of them we would be glad to see them go.

Above all, we have become connoisseurs of life and know how to savor its pleasures. Boys and girls are like starving men at a well-spread table. They wolf down every pleasure without even tasting it. All they ask for is more and more until they are glutted, and they care not whether what they devour is fine or coarse, good or bad.

But when men and women in their fifties sit down to the banquet of life they are gourmets who appreciate the rarity of every dish, the artistry of its preparation, the perfection of its service, the vintage of its wines. They roll every morsel of pleasure on their tongues and get every subtle nuance of enjoyment out of it. But even they shiver when they think of the bleakness of the age when we grow weak and feeble, and we must eat for our digestions instead of our palates, when all the toys with which we have played are broken and when the active joys of life become to us like a half-remembered dream.

But when we come to old age we find that there is no pleasanter hour in all the day than the twilight when we sit with folded hands, our tasks done, and watch the sun go down.

Why, then, since each phase of life has its own particular joy, should we so dread the passing of the years?

Baby Sitters Follow Rules

OTTAWA --(CP)— There's more to this baby-sitting business than keeping an eye on junior while his parents are away.

Ottawa's Baby-Sitting Service has answered several strange requests during the six months it has been in operation. One came from a woman wanting a sitter for her prize dogs. Other jobs have included looking after the children of hotel-guests and helping a crippled woman find an apartment.

Founder of the agency is Mrs. Margaret Ormsby, a graduate nurse who says that more than 1,000 "sittings" have been arranged since the service opened last November.

Most of Mrs. Ormsby's 150 sitters are women seeking a little extra cash to help the family along. All must be more than 30 years of age and with the best of character references.

In addition they must follow a strict set of rules. To begin with they are prohibited from asking questions about hours of returning employers, and guarantee not to touch food in homes, use the phone, entertain friends, admit strangers to the house or ask for transportation home.

All sitters agree to get to and from jobs on their own.

Fete 2 Teachers At QueenMaryTea

Tea was served in the rotunda of Queen Mary School Thursday afternoon to the teachers and those who had assisted with the children's field day and picnic. The table was attractively arranged with a Chinese petit-point cloth, the beautifully worked colors being accentuated by deep red and white peonies in a central boquet. Mrs. Clare Collins, past president of the Home and School Association, filled the tea cups.

New president Mrs. Gordon Reader called upon Mrs. Collins to make presentations to teachers Miss M. Beale and Miss L. MacIntosh, who are being transferred to other schools.

Principal Mr. O. M. Steer expressed thanks for the work done by these teachers and extended best wishes for success and happiness in the future. Gifts were then presented to them by Miss M. Stenton on behalf of the teaching staff.

Mrs. R. Standish was convener of the tea and her assistants were Mrs. R. J. Allen, Mrs. G. Huffman, Mrs. G. F. Rishor, Mrs. G. H. Spearin and Mrs. H. Wells.

Sliced Eel Cake Tops In Jutland

COPENHAGEN —(Reuters)— Housewives vistiing Copenhagen this fall for an International Housewives Congress will be able to study recipes of various "national" dishes still prepared in Danish country homes.

One of the most remarkable is eel cake. The recipe for this is:

Make sufficient dough for a normal sized rye loaf. Deeply line the bottom of the tin. Salt and prepare four large raw eels. Place them evenly in the tin. Cover with the remainder of the dough. Bake for 30 minutes, slice and serve.

Eel cake is eaten without butter but with beer and a glass of the national drink—snaps. The dish is a favorite in the north of Jutland.

Another dish is plorris, an "egg cake," eaten with little squares of bacon, seasoned with sugar and cinammon.

On the Island of Lolland, the favorite dish is a fruit soup, made with eels (according to taste) cherries, strawberries or other berries.

More conventional dishes which will be demonstrated at the congress will include curd cheese, roast perch with cabbage, buttermilk soup, the Danish tongue twister "roegroed med floede"—a sort of jelly and cream—white cabbage stuffed with bloodsausage, multi-tiered sandwiches, black soup, sweet soup and the Copenhagen "smoerrebrod", open sandwiches.

Of Interest to Women

Wedding In Flint Of Interest Here

A wedding with Peterborough interest took place in Flint, Michigan, last Saturday of Sheila Sheehan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Sheehan who formerly lived in Ashburnham. The groom was Mr. Stewart M. Ratcliff of Jasper, Tex., graduate of Wentworth Military Academy in Missouri, and Texas A and M and General Motors Institute.

Among the 300 guests assembled for the ceremony in St. John Vianney Church were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. John Hayes, and her aunt Mrs. J. D. O'Keefe from Peterborough. Others were from Detroit, Windsor, Hamilton, Ohio, Brooklyn, New Port Richey, Florida, Toledo, Buffalo and other cities.

The bride wore a satin gown and a satin bonnet, both trimmed with pearls and she carried white orchids centreing a bouquet of valley lilies and feathered carnations. Maid of honor for her sister Miss Pauline Sheeham and Miss Virginia Ratcliff, sister of the groom, wore ballerina dresses in white argandy and eyelet over aquamarine blue taffeta and sashed with taffeta. They carried Rubrum lilies and pink feathered carnations trimmed with burgundy and American beauty ribbons and streamers of ivy. Similar flowers and ribbons fashioned arrangements for their hair.

Mr. B. S. Ratcliff of Jasper, father of the bridegroom was best man and Edward Lacey and Philip Beaubein of Detroit were ushers.

For the occasion Mrs. Sheehan wore a grey sheer crepe and lace gown with lavender and grew headdress and Mrs. Ratcliff a coral lace dress with matching hat.

After a trip through the west, the couple will live in Jasper. For going-away the bride wore a lime linen dress, white pique hat and white accessories.

6—In Memoriams

CHURCH—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Oliver Church, who passed away one year ago today, June 24, 1949.
Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile,
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy to make some other bright,
If sick or suffering one she knew
Some gentle act of love she'd do,
No thought of self but of "the other."
I know He said, "well done, dear mother."
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by Oliver, Leone and Verne.

FOOTE—In loving memory of Frederick Foote, who passed away June 25, 1944.
He had a cheery smile, a pleasant way,
A helping hand to all he knew,
He was so kind, so generous and true
On earth he nobly did his best.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

JOPP—In loving memory of Edith Elizabeth Jopp, who passed away June 25, 1949.
"Just when your life was brightest,
Just when your hearts were best
You were called from this world of sorrow
To a home of eternal rest"
—Sadly missed by her husband.

STABLER—In loving memory of my dear wife, Sarah Stabler, who passed away one year ago today, June 24th, 1949.
My lips cannot tell how I miss her,
My heart cannot tell what to say.
God alone knows how I miss her
In a home that is lonesome today.
—Every remembered by your loving husband, Nathan Stabler.

STABLER—In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away one year ago today, June 24th, 1949
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and true in her heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.
Ever remembered by her daughter Gertrude and son Bernard, and grandchildren Sadie and Butch and Heather.

STABLER—In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away one year ago today, June 24th, 1949.
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear mother, how we think of you.
Friends are friends if they are true,
We lost our best friend when we lost you.
—Ever remembered by daughter Emma and son Jack.

STABLER—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. N. E. Stabler, who passed away June 24, 1949.
When the evening shades are falling,
And we sit in quiet alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing
If she only could come home.
Friends may think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the heartache
Our smiles hide all the while.
—Sadly missed by husband and daughter Mary, of Brockville.

All Canadian, kerosene operated REFRIGERATORS

No muss—no fuss—no noise

Silent at the flame in your coal oil lamp—because it is a flame in a lamp that does the work.

Lasts many years longer, because there is no moving part to wear out. Guaranteed to work with the greatest efficiency for just pennies a day.

Makes ice and ice cream, keeps frozen foods, meats, vegetables, etc.

Ideal for the farmer, lunch counter or store where electric power is not available.

Manvers Opposes Joining Durham County School Area

BETHANY, June 24—(ENS)—Ratepayers from Manvers township, school trustees and members of the council were well represented at a meeting held in Bethany Town Hall on Thursday night and by a unanimous vote turned down a proposition from the School Settlement Board to join in a Durham County High School Area.

The Advisory Board was represented by Ted Woodyard, Orono, and Inspectors A. A. Martin of Northumberland County, G. L. Duffin of Middlesex and A. Carleton of Brighton.

Mr. Woodyard, chairman of the meeting, explained the proposition from the angle of the Advisory Board set up by the Counties' Council.

Mr. G. L. Duffin, representing the Board of Education stated that High School areas were necessary in each township to keep pace with a growing demand for secondary education.

Mr. G. L. Duffin, representing the Board of Education stated that high school areas were necessary in each township to keep pace with a growing demand for secondary education. "Present day so called high school areas exist in almost all the neighboring townships and counties."

He also explained how taxes are distributed to pay for education of pupils. "Some of the chief benefits to be derived from the placing of rural schools under the administration of a Township School Area Board of Trustees are more equal school advantages for rural pupils; better and more practical courses in Grades IX and X; transportation of senior pupils to secondary schools may be more easily arranged; more equitable distribution of school costs. After the completion of the adjustment period an equal school rate would be levied over the area, thus helping school sections of low assessment, with the more highly assessed areas not suffering because the larger grants available to township school areas will reduce cost. More efficient teaching could be offered too," he said.

Difficult Question

In Manvers township a high school area seems a difficult proposition because of the scattered schools. Up to now, pupils have gone to their nearest high school of Lindsay or Peterborough and arranged their own transportation, as so far, no working plan has been offered that would not involve too great a distance for travel from certain school sections to make a school bus give good service.

J. C. Cummiskey, clerk of the township asked why the township was being railroaded into an agreement without previous public meetings being called to explain the situation. This Advisory Board was set up over four years ago and this is the first public meeting, he said. While high school areas and free transportation have been set up in surrounding district, after careful study of their individual problems, Manvers Township was told—not asked that they must join a Durham County School Area, the present high school centres being Port Hope, Bowmanville and Millbrook and the set up of the advisory board being composed of a majority of members from the south of the county, Manvers ratepayers were afraid of a situation which might force pupils to attend Port Hope High School, which was definitely not wanted, as the distance was too great from the north end of the township where the high school at Lindsay in Victoria County was the most acceptable". He saw no reason why Manvers township should not be able to "buy" their education from Victoria or Peterborough County as has been done previously.

Demand Vote

Deputy Reeve Allan Beer questioned why a legislative grant of 75 per cent is given for education purposes and yet a 50 per cent subsidy for a bulldozer and proper equipment to keep township roads open in this area had been refused. "There will never be any organized system of transportation until there are facilities for such. This is a democracy . . . promote it and demand an opportunity to vote on this school question".

Charles Reynolds suggested that Manvers township continue to pay their share per pupil to the adjoining counties of Peterborough or Victoria and that some system of transportaion could be arranged at the discretion of the local school boards. "The majority of Bethany school pupils have lately attended Peterborough Collegiate. The adjoining township of Cavan have free transportation service for their pupils and an arrangement had been made with their school bus to come into Bethany and pick up the pupils from here. . . with the Bethany pupils paying their own share of transportation. This system had worked satisfactorily during the last year. If free transportation couldn't be arranged, why not continue with the present arrangement?"

There was considerable discussion as to whether if Manvers refused to enter the proposed Durham County area, would the possibility arise of the schools in Peterborough and Lindsay becoming too crowded and admission be refused to the Manvers pupils. . . if so, what would be the answer.

Mr. Walter Rowan raised the question "Could a school section be split, some going to Victoria and others to Peterborough county if this were closer. Mr. Duffin explained that this could be arranged if really necessary, but that it made for confusion in the taxes.

Additional Facilities

Mr. Moxom, Secretary of Janetville School Board wanted to know if the county rate of taxes increased when a school board was established. The answer supplied by Mr. Duffin was "Yes and no. In comparison with ten years ago the rates would be up, but actually it was not an increase in school rates. In nearly all cases the cost has been under Township School Area organization, where increased it has been due to educational facilities being offered which had not been provided under school section administration."

The general feeling of the meeting seemed to be an opinion that if a Durham County Board was set up, Port Hope was the logical centre for the High School and this was definitely not wanted. Both Mr. Woodyard and Mr. Duffin reiterated that this was not so. Mrs. Ross Carr raised the question as to "Why, last year, when certain pupils from Bethany school, who applied for admission to Peterborough Collegiate, were told that they would have to pay tuition fees as they were not in an organized area and that Port Hope or Millbrook was their centre for the academic course; they could not refuse admission to those taking specialized courses in home economics or shopwork not offered by these schools.

Charles Chapman, Reeve of the Township supported the earlier statements of Mr. Cummiskey and Mr. Beer and asked that a definite vote be taken as to whether this township desired to enter a Durham County School Area. By an unanimous vote the proposition was turned down.

A second vote was taken as to whether Manvers township would rather amalgamate with Victoria or Peterborough counties. . . the majority voting for Victoria.

Mr. Hope Rayson suggested that before anything definite was done, the financial situation should be carefully looked into. It would also have to be seen whether Victoria county was prepared to take on any additional school sections.

Ready For Depression

HAMILTON, June 24 (CP) — If a recession or depression, ever comes to Ontario, government projects are planned and can be started immediately, Ontario Planning Minister Griesinger said Friday. The provincial cabinet minister said the plans are already prepared " and we are prepared to proceed with our program at once."

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

If Dave Whitlock hadn't fallen out of the Hollywood Stadium ring last night and if Irish Bob Murphy hadn't fallen on top of him, Murphy might not be the California light heavyweight title holder today.

As it happened, however, both battlers tumbled through the ropes in the 10th round of a scheduled 12-rounder. Whitlock, San Francisco Negro, didn't get up. Referee Abe Roth gave Murphy a 10th round technical knockout.

At Denver, Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias tries today to make golf history by becoming the first to win the women's western open championship four times.

To do it the Chicago pro must extend a three-time winning streak over Peggy Kirk, a resoolute amateur from Findlay, Ohio, who won her fine spot by outlasting Claire Doran of Cleveland for a two up edge in yesterday's semi-finals.

At New London, Conn., favored Harvard barely edged out Yale by 12 feet Friday in the 85th renewal of United States only four-mile crew race. The losers closed most of the gap in a tremendous home stretch drive, mainly the last 100 yards.

It is understood Butler, who was holding a .385 batting average for St. Thomas, was scouted in Monday night's game with the Guelph Maple Leafs. He is reported to have been offered an $8,000 contract.

Business manager of the Legion squad, Goldie Whitfield, said he had no inkling that Butler was leaving and intimated the management of the club was something more than "peeved" over the affair.

M. J. Chilton, president of the Canadian American Lacrosse Association, announced at Sarnia on Friday that a game in Chatham on Tuesday between Windsor Sterlings and Sarnia Beavers has been thrown out. Mr. Chilton said C. W. Brown, Ontario Lacrosse Association secretary-treasurer, had told him that player Stan Muchesna, of Windsor is the property of the Toronto Senior "A" club and is not eligible to play with Windsor or any other club until properly released.

Windsor won the game from Sarnia 15-10.

Experiment Works

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24 — (AP)—The successful use of hormones to make stunted youngsters grow and fill out were reported today. Some of a group of 60 boys grew as much as seven inches and put on 30 pounds by taking methyl testosterone, a male sex hormone, Dr. Gilbert Gordon and Dr. Hans Lisser of the University of California Medical School reported.

No Nearer Agreement

BUENOS AIRES, June 24 (AP) —Argentina and Britain still are far apart on meat price negotiations with only a week remaining before expiration of the first year of their five-year trade agreement. Argentina is asking Britain to pay £140 ($434) a ton and Britain proposes cutting the present £97 price to £90.

More Propaganda

BERLIN, June 24 (AP)—The East German government notified Russia, Czechoslovakia and Poland today of what it called a criminal American plot — the "bombing" of Soviet zone of Germany with crop-destroying potato bugs. American authorities dismissed its charges as "utter nonsense and unworthy of comment."

Have Utilities Policy

EDMONTON, June 24 (CP) — The Edmonton Bulletin said on Friday in a newspage story it has learned that officials of the Social Credit party have formulated a policy covering public and private ownership of utilities. The story says the policy is part of "a new manifesto now being prepared as the Social Crediters' national platform."

Outlaw Strike

MEXICO CITY, June 24 (AP) —The government Friday outlawed as "unjustified" a strike of 5,000 coal and zinc miners over wages at Neuva Rosita, Coahuila State.

Eddie Burke Makes History, Trounces Snead

COLUMBUS, O., June 24 (AP) —Just a plain country club professional, the kind that avoids the tournament grind and makes the United States Professional Golfers' Association championship an annual fling, today was golf's man of the moment.

He was the guy who murdered Sam Snead.

He is 43-year-old Eddie Burke, the youngest member of one of the game's great families.

Eddie, an ex-caddie, chipped in a 31-foot five-iron for an angle three on the 490-yard 18th hole Friday. It whipped Snead one up in the second round of the mid-century PGA classic.

Makes History

Eddie was projected into golf history with that shot at the Scioto Country Club. How far he progresses in this PGA championship, which today enters the third round of punishing 36-hole match play, doesn't especially matter.

Burke had sent the defending champion, tournament medalist and the season's top money winner of more than $21,000 dejectedly into retreat. Snead had never been so apparently downcast since taking his infamous 8 on the 72nd hole at Philadelphia to blow the 1939 U. S. open.

Eddie, an excellent golf teacher, at Woodbridge Country Club in New Haven, Conn., in the summer and as Tommy Armour's assistant at Boca Raton in Florida in the winter, was not even blinking in the limelight.

"Beating Snead?" he piped. "I wasn't thinking as much about that as winning a new Cadillac —I did both and boy do I feel good."

Would Fire Stars Making Bad Headlines

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 24 (AP) Bill Pine and Bill Thomas, the two money - making producers who are never at a standstill, were discussing the problem of film stars who get in serious trouble. They came up with this solution:

Throw the rascals out!

"Heaven knows I'm no moralist," claimed Thomas, the more effusive of the pair. "I'm a business man. And when I see business being hurt by stars who get in trouble, I think something should be done about it."

"I think when a star gets in trouble with the police and is convicted of an offense that is odious to society, he should be fired from the industry. It would serve as an example.

"Look what happened after the Fatty Arbuckle case. He was thrown out of the industry (after being tried in a rape murder case). The result may have been tough on Arbuckle, but it created a better atmosphere in Hollywood.

Bad Effect

Pine emphasized that Hollywood scandals have a definitely bad effect on movie business. "Every bad story makes the box-office drop some more," he remarked.

"We find that out in our tours through the country. Even theatre managers and owners of big chains ask us: 'Why does everyone in Hollywood smoke marijuana?'

"Their questions show you how even theatre men have taken the bad actions of a very few to be indicative of the whole of Hollywood."

MACHINE POWER — The 800,000 cords of pulpwood, floated down Quebec Province's St. Maurice River in the annual log drive, are owned by several paper-making companies. Sorting out each company's timber is similar to cutting out cattle at a roundup. Each log bears the company's mark. In addition, each company saws its logs into certain lengths. Here, powerful jets of water push the logs toward a "sorting gap" where the varying lengths are diverted into different channels where each company picks out its own.

Push 2,000 Cords a Day To Quebec Pulp Mills

Written for The Canadian Press By NOLIN TRUDEAU

CARPE ROUGE, Que., June 24 —(CP)— With the annual St. Maurice Valley log drive at its height, you can see enough pulpwood to make 8,000,000 copies of your daily newspaper go downriver here any day now.

River-drivers at Carpe Rouge, 250 miles upstream from the world's paper-making capital at Three Rivers, are pushing 2,000 cords of wood a day toward the mills of the valley. It will end up as newsprint, facial tissues, and thousands of other paper products.

Some of the logs, part of a harvest of 55,000,000, were cut last winter on the James Bay watershed, transported over the height of land by snow-truck train and dumped on the ice.

The season was a month late this year and the ice went out only a few weeks ago. When it did, hundreds of men up and down the valley went into action.

Many of them with cant-hook and pike-pole, much as did their ancestors 300 years ago when early French settlers began to drive logs into small rivers falling into the St. Lawrence near Montreal.

But today's log drivers also have bull-dozer boats, special log sluices where pulpwood can by-pass power stations, and machines that sort out logs owned by the different companies.

About 300 men, employed by the St. Maurice River Boom and Driving Company, live in four floating bunk houses and eat from floating kitchens. Each day the houseboats and kitchens are tied to motor launches and hauled downstream, following the drive.

With plenty of water, for floating, power and pulp-making, and thousands of square miles of softwood trees, Quebec's St. Maurice Valley turns out 20 per cent of the newsprint produced in Canada, whose 5,000,000 tons annually make her the world's greatest paper-making country.

Celebrate Forty Years Married

MILLBROOK, June 24 (ENS) A group of about 40 relatives and friends gathered on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Armstrong to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary.

Miss Margaret Aiken provided music and Clifford Fallis, brother of Mrs. Armstrong acted as chairman and called on Ivan Fallis who read an address.

W. E. Palmer and Austen Sutton presented Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong with an electric lamp, a large plate glass mirror and a satin cushion on behalf of the guests. The couple also received a four piece silver tea service from their children.

A lunch was served by the committee.

Among those present from a distance were friends from Port Hope, Cobourg, Peterborough, Lindsay, Garden Hill and Orono.

Radio Equipment On Ships Ordered Checked

OTTAWA, June 24—(CP)—A new study of the adequacy of radio facilities on domestic passenger ships has been ordered by transport minister Chevrier, he told the Commons Friday.

Mr. Chevrier promised that, if his experts find regulations for the carrying of qualified radio operators should be made more stringent, he will bring in legislation to that effect next year.

Following the vote on the radio issue, the House quickly gave final reading to a 63-section series of amendments to the Canada Shipping Act under study for some weeks.

A large number of the sections deal with the tightening of safety regulations on vessels engaged in international trade, in line with a convention for the safety of life at sea which Canada has signed. Passage of the bill included ratification of the treaty, which was attached to the measure.

A major clause in the new legislation is that the transport minister is empowered to refuse Canadian registry to ships not built in Canada. Earlier this week, he said it was intended to use this against the import of old vessels from the United States.

Oppose Bail For Leo Mundy

SARNIA, June 24 (CP) — Crown Attorney S. A. K. Logan Friday opposed an application for bail on behalf of Leo Mundy. 26-year-old Point Edward veteran accused of brutally attacking Charles R K. Glynn, 69-year-old locksmith, in his Front St. shop May 23.

Mundy's counsel, Ross W. Gray KC, argued that bail should be fixed on the charge of assault with intent to rob which he now faces, rather than some hypothetical charge which might develop.

Crown Attorney Logan stated that the aged man's condition is such that the charge might momentarily become one of murder.

Mr. Logan added, however, that he has received medical advice which claims Mr. Glynn has a very good chance of recovering physically. He indicated the severe skull injuries might have a lasting effect on the man's mental condition, however.

Magistrate J. C. Dunlap said he would consider the matter and give a decision today or Monday.

RED ARMY REACHES KOREAN CAPITAL

Send RCAF Overseas For Training

Primary Role To Be Defence of America, Squadrons Go In '51

OTTAWA, June 26—(CP)—Defence Minister Claxton announced today that Canada will start early in 1951 to send fighter squadrons overseas for training but said the R.C.A.F.'s "primary" fighter role will be defence of North America. A Commons defence debate that coincided with the new Korean war heard the minister say that in co-operation with American fighter squadrons operating from Alaska and Newfoundland the R.C.A.F. should be able to provide adequate defence for Canada.

The R.C.A.F., building towards a strength of 20 active and reserve squadrons, would have a fighter squadron in Britain early next year. Further squadrons would follow later in rotation, staying overseas for several months apiece, training with larger formations.

It was possible that they would eventually go to others among the 12 Atlantic Pact countries. They would consist of fully-trained air and ground crew.

It was expected that "as time goes on this will become a very important branch of our defence activity."

The army was not aiming immediately for anything more than its airborne brigade group because that was considered adequate to deal with the sort of attack that was likely for the foreseeable future.

Mr. Claxton spoke after George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Russia is unquestionably behind the new Korean aggression and said the only point that matters in considering defence estimates—the subject under discussion—is how many men Canada will have ready for immediate action and what sort of equipment they will have with which to fight.

Mr. Drew asserted that Canada's standing forces must be considered in the light of the mammoth strength of Russia.

Mr. Claxton told him that even with a record defence budget of $425,000,000 he was not "suggesting for one second that with this amount we can have nearly as great forces in being as we would liket to have."

MP Would Use A-Bomb In Korea

LONDON, June 26 (AP) — A Conservative Member of Parliament today urged Britain to seek use of the atom bomb against Communist controlled Northern Korea. This call came from Conservative Peter Geoffrey Roberts, a wartime major in the Coldstream Guards.

"In view of the very grave situation if the Korean government refuses to consider this (U.N.) resolution will the Prime Minister advise his representatives in the United Nations to ask for the use of the atomic bomb . . ."Roberts asked.

Cries from the Labor party benches, interrupted him.

Roberts managed to make clear however, that the bomb should be used "upon the capital of Northern Korea."

The Speaker ruled his question out of order, saying it was hypothetical.

B.C. Spring Floods Reported On Wane

VANCOUVER, June 26(CP)—British Columbia's spring floods today were on the wane.

The dike link guarding the Fraser Valley—reinforced to the extent of $11,000,000 since 1948—had done its job well. In the valley, and elsewhere in the river-linked province, routine dike patrols have replaced flood-fighting squads.

The Fraser was dropping and so was the Columbia.

Cost of holding back the water this year is estimated unofficially at more than $100,000.

Seattle Man Cracks World Boat Record Makes 160 MPH On His First Attempt

SEATTLE, June 26 (AP). — The speedboat Slo-Mo-Shun IV today roared 160.3235 miles an hour over the measured mile on glass-smooth Lake Washington to crack the world's hydroplane record.

Owner - pilot Stanley S. Sayres piloted the 1,500 horsepower Slo-Mo-Shun to the record on the first attempt.

The Slo-Mo-Shun cracked the old record of 141.74 miles an hour set in 1939 by Sir Malcolm Campbell on Lake Coneston, England.

Sayres also cracked two other records—the American record of 138.60 miles an hour set in Picton, by Harold Wilson in the boat Miss Canada IV, and the United States record of 137.063 miles an hour set on August 20, 1949, by Dan Arena at Gull Lake, Mich., in the boat Such Crust.

The first run was timed at 21.98 seconds, or 163.79 miles an hour. The second was 22.95 seconds—157.20 miles an hour.

The Slo-Mo-Shun is a 28-ft. boat powered by a 12-cylinder aircraft engine.

Alleged Killer Convict Fingerprints On Car Show

OTTAWA, June 26—(CP)—An R.C.M.P. official said today the name of the man charged with murder in the machine-gun slayings of two bank-robber pursuers is not Frank West but George Walker. Walker, alias West, was arrested Saturday by a rookie constable and a farm worker after he was cornered in a shack near Straffordville, some 20 miles southeast of St. Thomas.

The capture ended a four-day search for the thug who escaped with $23,500 taken from a Langton, Ont., bank.

The official said Toronto police obtained fingerprints from the getaway car and these were forwarded here for a comparison with fingerprints on file with the R.C.M.P. Identification Bureau.

A survey showed photographs of the fingerprints were identical with those taken from a previously-convicted criminal, called George Walker.

"Walker called himself a Canadian," said the official, but gave no hometown or age. He is believed to have been born in 1917."

After his arrest, the haggard suspect maintained a tight-lipped silence, refusing to tell police his hometown.

Police announced the laying of the murder charge after the staff of the looted bank at nearby Langton looked at West and several other men in a line-up. West and the others were garbed in sun helmets, dark glasses and clothing similar to that worn by the man who fled from the bank with $235,000 last Wednesday.

West was taken before a justice of the peace at the county court-house Sunday and remanded until Thursday. He showed no emotion during the brief hearing.

West's capture came when police were about to call a halt to a four-day search during which dozens of police officers and armed farmers scoured the tangled swampland of southwestern Ontario's tobacco-growing district. Airplanes, walkie talkies and a bloodhound had been used to no avail.

Then Constable Moody, 27, and Graham Hagarty, who lives near here, spotted West and shot at him as he dashed wildly in circles through a tangled glade. They saw the man dart into a deserted shack. He offered no resistance.

Five hours before West's capture funeral services were held for Arthur Lierman who, with William Goddyn, was shot down by sten-gun fire while chasing the man who robbed the Langton bank. The victims were Langton area residents.

Ships Collide Three Killed

DETROIT, June 26 (AP)—The City of Cleveland III, her rear port side splintered in a fog-shrouded crash that claimed at least three lives, straggled home Sunday night.

The white-decked excursion ship collided with a Norwegian freighter at 6:20 a.m. Sunday on Lake Huron, near Harbor Springs in Michigan's thumb district. The other ship loomed suddenly out of a "pea soup" fog about five miles off shore.

Besides the three who died in the wreckage, one man still is missing and six others reported injuries. Three are in critical condition in hospital in Harbor Springs.

All except one of the victims were with a cruising party of 70 Benton Harbor Chamber-of-Commerce members. Approximately 145 crew members also were aboard.

The dead include a former Benton Harbor mayor, Merwyn Stouch, and Alvin J. Boyd, 55, the city's police chief.

The bow of the freighter, the Ravnefjll, bit through the light superstructure of the Great Lakes queen. It crumpled a 40-foot swath 10 feet deep into the upper decks of the pleasure ship.

The passengers, many of them still asleep, were tossed from their low bunks. A few were dumped into the water as the two ships edged apart again.

4 Canadians In Seoul

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 26—(CP)—Four Canadian women are with the United Nations Korean commission in Seoul, capital of southern Korean whose outskirts are under attack by Communist North Korea.

The commission, reported Sunday from Seoul to UN headquarters here that all members are safe.

Canadian members of the UN secretariat group of 19 serving with the nine-county Korean commission include: Olive L. Armstrong, London, Ont., secretary.

FRANK WEST, left, 37, no fixed address, is shown following his capture by a posse of Ontario Provincial Police near Straffordville, Ont. Saturday after a three-day search for the killer of two men following a bank robbery in Langton last Wednesday. He has been charged with murder. (Photo Copyright by E. R. Pearson Says North Korea "Aggressor"

Weekend Invasion Unprovoked Commons Is Told

OTTAWA, June 26—(CP)—North Korea's weekend attack on South Korea was termed an act of "unprovoked aggression" by External Affairs Minister Pearson today in the Commons.

However, the Minister said it had not served to change his opinion regarding a Pacific Pact along the same lines as the Atlantic Treaty. The government has taken the stand this is not necessary now.

Mr. Pearson also told the House steps were being taken to learn what Canadians might be in Korea and what steps should be taken to protect them.

Mr. Pearson was asked at House opening by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, for any information available about the "extremely serious situation" in Korea.

Hasn't Full Report

The minister said he could not give a full report, since information was still coming in. Canada had no diplomatic representatives in Korea and was receiving advices from its representative at the United Nations, which had a commission in the strife-ridden country.

"It appears from the information available that an act of unprovoked aggression has been committed by the forces of North Korea," Mr. Pearson said, adding that Canada did not recognize that government.

Mr. Pearson said information to substantiate this belief had been received by Trygvie Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations. The result had been an extraordinary meeting of the security council Sunday, at which a resolution had been passed calling for a cessation of hostilities and for the northern forces to be withdrawn behind their own frontier.

Kingpin Bookie Fined $30,000, Jailed 2 Yrs.

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP). — Frank Erickson, kingpin of a country-wide bookmaking business, today was sentenced to two years in prison and a $30,000 fine on charges of bookmaking and conspiring to contravene New York State gambling laws.

The 54-year-old gambling mogul, who had plied his multi-million-dollar betting trade for a quarter century, without spending a day in jail, could have received up to 60 years in prison.

Erickson threw himself on the mercy of the court last Monday by pleading guilty to a 60-count charge.

Hitch-Hiker Bandit

OSHAWA, June 26—(CP)—A hitch-hiker robbed Edward Butler, 64, of Colborne, of $42 and a cigaret lighter at gun point then escaped in an accomplice's car in heavy traffic near here Sunday. Butler told police he stopped to give the hitch-hiker a ride just east of here. The man jumped in his truck, stuck a gun in his ribs and demanded his money. As soon as it was handed over, the man ran across the highway and drove off. Butler gave chase but lost the bandit in the heavy traffic.

UN Gives Orders To Red Troops Quit S. Korea

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., June 26 (CP)—United Nations diplomats today awaited with apprehension North Korea's reaction to their blunt demand that invading Communist troops withdraw from the western-recognized South Korea.

Many delegates expect that Communist north Korea will denounce the Security Council's cease-fire order as illegal—following the line previously taken by Russia that Nationalist China's presence in the council makes its action illegal.

There is strong indication that the United States is prepared to propose an economic boycott of North Korea and possibly military action to end the war.

The council, which met Sunday in an emergency session ignored by Russia, issued the orders by a 9-to-0 vote. Yugoslavia abstained, refusing to support the move because the council declined to let a North Korean representative appear before it to give his side.

Still Boycotting

The Russians are boycotting 30 U.N. groups over their refusal to expel Nationalist China and seat the Chinese Communists.

The permanent members of the Security Council with veto power are Britain, the United States, France, Russia and China. Other elected members are Egypt, Norway, India, Yugoslavia, Ecuador and Cuba.

Trygve Lie, U.N. secretary-general, told the council that the situation is "serious" and a threat to international peace.

The council action was taken under chapter 7 of the U.N. Charter. The "last-resort" section which would permit use of sanctions, blockade and even military action. The council itself has no power to enforce its orders.

The resolution called on all U.N. members to assist the U.N. in carrying out the resolution. This request hinted at a possible call for military aid to help beat back North Korean forces which were branded as invaders.

2 Oshawa Men Hurt In Blast

OSHAWA, June 26 — (CP).—Two men are in serious condition from burns suffered following an explosion in the meter room of the Ontario Shore Gas Co., here today.

They are Albert Gooding 37, Oshawa, and Guy Osgoode, St. Thomas. Both have been given blood transfusions and hospital authorities report Goodings condition as "extremely serious."

The explosion and fire which followed cut off gas to homes in Oshawa, Whitby and Bowmanville.

The men were working on a regulator when the blast occurred. Its cause has not been determined.

Situation Hopeful

MONTREAL, June 26 (CP)—Dr. J. G. Taggart, federal deputy agriculture minister, said on his return from London today that the Anglo-Canadian situation is "more hopeful." "The situation as regards trade between Canada and Britain is much more hopeful indeed than it was six months ago," said Dr. Taggart.

Invasion Leaders Demanding Surrender of Southern Army Cabinet Has Special Session

Prospects of Total Defeat Through Very Bad Morale Rather Than Beating On Field, Enemy Machine Guns Seoul's Streets in Spectacular Show

SEOUL, Korea, June 27—(Tuesday)—(AP)—Invading North Korean Communists broadcast an official demand today for surrender of the South Korean Army. The demand came as invading North Korean Communists stabbed a tank column to the outskirts of this southern republic's capital early today. The surrender demand was made over the Pyongyang radio by Gen. Cahi Ung Jun, commander of the northern forces that suddenly invaded South Korea Sunday morning. Prospects of total defeat of the southern forces through bad morale rather than by being beaten in the field were in evidence at this zero hour.

The northern mobile column that thrust perilously upon Seoul did so by piercing two full southern divisions that were engaged in a counter-attack.

It reached Seoul's outskirts with little or no resistance for the last dozen miles.

(Exact whereabouts of the northern column was not mentioned in this dispatch, filed at 2:20 a.m., Korean time.)

Last official report had the Northern tanks nine miles north of Seoul at 10 p.m. Monday and pushing ahead fast. This morning they were said to be on the outskirts.

In Conference

President Syngman Rhee and his cabinet remained in conference all night but there was no immediate response to the Northern demand for surrender.

Suggestions had been made to move the capital more than 200 miles south to Pusan.

The Southern government's reluctance to abandon Seoul was tempered by a defeatism that made complete capitulation appear as the only alternative to moving the capital.

The public's morale remained high in the face of the suprise onslaught Sunday and throughout Monday despite adverse reports from the field and a spectacular machine - gunning of Seoul's streets by the North's Russian-made Yak planes.

The morale among men in uniform was not so good, however, an unimpeachable source reported.

Except for the critical Communist push down the Uijongbu valley directly at Seoul, the Southern defence appeared to be doing well.

Argue Over Methods Used In Posse Hunt Beautiful Friendship Ends In Shooting

LANGTON, June 26—(CP)—An argument between two old friends over methods used by posses in the hunt for the Langton bandit-killer led to another shooting in this area Sunday.

John W. Fink, 71, of Houghton township suffered minor shotgun wounds. George Parker, 71, is being held in Simcoe jail. No charges have been laid yet.

Parker, a woodcutter who lives in North Walsingham, was disarmed by a Toronto newspaper reporter and turned over to provincial police.

Fink was wounded in the right arm, left leg and back. After treatment in the office of Dr. J. W. Nicholson here he was returned to his home.

Fink said he had gone to call on Parker with whom he had been friends for years and when the argument began, Parker hit him on the head with a club.

"I went at him with my bare hands and turned him over with a rolling hip-lock," said Fink, who was a wrestler in Niagara Falls in his younger days.

Parker then ordered him off the property and seized a shotgun, saying "If you don't start running I'll shoot".

Fink said he didn't run and Parker pulled the trigger.

21 Dead And 33 Missing In Flash Virginia Flood

WEST UNION, W. Va., June 26—(AP)—At least 21 persons are known to have been drowned and 33 are missing in the wake of floods that struck a six-county area of North-Central West Virginia without warning early Sunday. Authorities fear the toll may go much higher. At least 12 of 15 members of a family gathered for a birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bailey, five miles west of here, are missing.

The Bailey home was directly in the path of the flood, caused by unprecedented rain. The house was carried nearly two miles downstream.

Six members of the B. J. Cooper family are listed as dead and three members of another family were killed when their home was pounded into bits against a railroad trestle.

Berea, a little agricultural community located on a curve of the south fork of the Hughes River south of here, also was hard hit. Six persons are known dead there, including a grandmother and two of her grandchildren.

Property damage is expected to run high. In West Union, 200 homes were destroyed. City officials at Weston, 25 miles to the southeast on the West Fork River estimated the damage there at $2,000,000.

All of Weston, except sections on the hillsides was under water at one time.

At Weston, firemen had to chop a hole in the roof to evacuate Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peters and their four children, who had fled to the attic of their home. The water was still climbing and they had no other avenue of escape.

Will Overhaul Combines Act

OTTAWA, June 26 — (CP).—Justice Minisaer Garson announced in the Commons today the government's intention to appoint a committee to investigate the Combines Act with a view to making the legislation "more workable."

Mr. Garson said he will make a formal announcement on the matter when all members of the committee are appointed. The committee at present was in the process of formation.

Mr. Garson was answering John Diefenbaker (PC - Lake Centre) who asked if the Justice Minister could confirm press reports that Canada's anti-combines legislation was to be overhauled.

The minister said said the committee would not be given specific instructions and would have full power to make any recommendations it wished with respect to an overhaul of the Act.

MADE LIFE MEMBERS

ROYAL MUSKOKA HOTEL, Ont., June 26 (CP)—A Canadian and a Briton today were nominated honorary life members of the Empire Press Union. They are Senator W. Rupert Davies, chairman of the Canadian section and publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard, and Col. John J. Astor, chairman of the London Times.

Foster Parents Ordered Return Child To Mother

OTTAWA, June 26 (CP)—The long fight of an unwed mother for the return of her two-year-old son adopted by foster-parents ended in success today when the Supreme Court of Canada ordered that the child should be handed back to its mother.

Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin announced this decision, dismissing an appeal without costs launched by the foster-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Martin of Toronto, against a judgment handed down by the Ontario Appeal Court.

The Supreme Court of Canada ruled that the child should be returned to its mother, Lily Aves Düffetl, 31, formerly of Middlesex, Eng.

For nearly two years the mother has been contesting the adoption of her baby in 1948 by Mr. and Mrs. Martin. In evidence she had admitted signing papers relating to adoption.

The court's decision to return the baby to its mother bears with it deep legal significance. It may form a precedent for consideration of other cases where mothers who have given their children into adoption may later seek their return.

In two days of argument last week, B. J. MacKinnon, Toronto lawyer appearing for Miss Düffetl, held that "undue influence" was exerted when she signed the papers. He submitted also that the papers had no statutory authority and therefore came under the common law rule that the parent of a child "cannot sign any binding agreement relative to the child."

Given 5 Years In Safe-Cracking

LINDSAY, June 26 (CP) — Gaston Poulin, 25, of Montreal, alias Marcel Levine, caught by police attempting to crack a safe in the Canadian National Railways station at nearby Fenelon Falls today was sentenced to five years in penitentiary by Magistrate E. A. Gee.

Paul Lalonde, 24, of Victoriaville, arrested at the same time, was sentenced to six months definite and six months indeterminate in reformatory.

Poulin was arrested at gun point by Chief Dave Gordon and Provincial Constable Lloyd Lyle nine days after completing a three-year penitentiary sentence in Quebec.

Chiang Considering Armed Aid For Korea

TAPEI, Formosa, June 26 — (AP)—Nationalist China, driven to this island fortress by Chinese Reds, today considered offering the republic of Korea active aid in its fight against Korean Communists.

Oneof Chiang Kai-Shek's advisers suggested to him Sunday night that he make the offer. As far as is known, Chiang has not acted.

A trustworthy source said the adviser recommended that Chiang offer two fully equipped divisions, 15 to 20 planes and whatever ships could be spared, from Formosa's meagre fleet.

Meantime all Nationalist military forces were on an around-the-clock alert against a possible Chinese Red invasion of Formosa.

Ex-Convict Held In Slaying

MONTREAL, June 26—(CP)—Ex-convict Thomas Rossler, quoted by police as boasting how he eluded them for nearly a month, today was in jail here, held as a material witness in the killing of an RCMP constable in Montreal May 25.

The 45-year-old Rossler arrived here Saturday from Regina under guard of three Montreal police officers. An inquest into the murder of RCMP Constable Alexander Gamman, 58, will be held near the end of this week.

Rossler has not yet been charged.

Invasion Leaders

The main story, however, was the Uijongbu valley front, and it was grim.

Resistance Collapses

Southern resistance at Uijongbu only 12 miles away, collapsed before the Russian-backed forces hammering with tanks and artillery.

The United States embassy burned its important secret papers in a huge bonfire. Air raid sirens screeched. The city was buzzing after four northern planes strafed downtown streets.

The flying column rushed toward here from the Uijongbu valley. A southern counter-offensive there failed miserably during the day. Heavy artillery softened up the Uijongbu defenders and the tanks pushed them out of town after savage street fighting.

20,000 Dig In

Two southern divisions totalling 20,000 men dug in outside of the town of Uijongbu. But the determined onslaught of heavy tanks pushed them aside and the northern invaders, who were halted temporarily Sunday, rolled on toward the capital.

President Syngman Rhee and his cabinet were in emergency session at midnight. They were reported discussing the Ongjin peninsula front, where southern forces were reeling or knocked out.

Advices here said 30,000 southern troops along the boundary between the U.N.-sponsored republic and Russian-backed north were in dire straits.

Another segment of the southern army was in trouble at Kangmung, 15 miles due south of the 38th parallel on the east coast.

This division was being attacked from both the north and south by the Communist Northerners. An urgent call for reinforcements was received in Seoul tonight. An American military official said he was uncertain whether the reinforcements would be forthcoming.

In Seoul itself morale was high despite the strafing of several downtown streets by northern planes.

Planes For Korea

News that 10 American fighter planes awaited South Korean fliers in Japan boosted spirits all around.

Northern forces had been halted short of Uijongbu yesterday. Southern forces started a counter-offensive today. The seventh and second divisions of 10,000 men each were thrown into the fight.

From the start things went wrong. Intense artillery fire rocked the second division back on its heels. Tanks ripped into them, halting what little forward movement the southerners had been able to make.

Defence Minister Sihn Sung Mo first reported the retreat.

Deeply Concerned

In London Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons that the British Government was "deeply concerned" that a "breach of the peace" should have occurred in Korea.

Korea was a country which was the special responsibility of the United Nations and where a United Nations Commission was actually functioning, he said.

President Truman pled United States supp... Nations efforts to ... provoked aggres... South Korea.

In a statement ... said:

"Wilful disregard ... the obligation to keep the peace cannot be tolerated by nations that support the United Nations charter."

He said the United States is pleased with the speed and determination of the U.N. Security Council in ordering a withdrawal of the invading forces.

"Live In The Present" — Decoration Day Message

As a cool breeze blew off Little Lake, members of the IOOF gathered at Little Lake Cemetery on Sunday, to pay tribute to those who, before their death, were members of the Order. Led by the Salvation Army band, they had paraded down George St. to the cemetery.

Crowded cars lined the west and south shores of the lake, watching the procession file slowly past.

The decoration day service, an annual event for the Oddfellows, was held under the trees in the cemetery, overlooking the lake.

The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church, told a crowd of nearly 400 people that they must live in the present.

"The thing our loved ones would least want us to do is to be chained to the past," he said. "These stones are the voice of the past speaking to us—saying we must live in the present and that we must admit to our minds the reality (of death)."

"Present Is Ours"

"As we meet here, in our hands are flowers, in our minds are multitudes of thoughts and questions asking why. But we must remember that the present is ours to meet and to serve. Here, in this quiet cemetery, the past and the present call to us, and the future challenges us," Dr. Gordon went on.

"To every man of faith," he concluded, "The message of this place is one of life and of love. Remember the words of Jesus—I am the resurrection and the life."

Lay IOOF Wreath

Before Dr. Gordon's address, members laid a wreath on the IOOF plot in which are buried members from out of town lodges.

Dr. Gordon was introduced by R. R. Ford, who told members they had met with a common purpose—to pay tribute to our brethren who have gone to rest."

Prayers were led by W. R. Juby. Following the sermon, members divided into groups and laid flowers on the graves of former members of Peterborough lodges.

Prices Show Slump On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, June 26 (CP) — Rapid-fire selling following news of fighting in Korea sent prices downwards on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Market leaders were hardest hit by steady selling. Volume for the first three hours was 2,544,000 shares.

Brokers described the sharp break as the worst since the war years. The drop in market value over the first three hours was estimated by some observers at about $300,000,000.

Interlisted stocks such as International Paper, Hiram Walker's and Massey-Harris were hardest hit on the industrial board. Losses ranged from fractions to almost three full points.

Western oils slumped heavily. Base metals were also sharply lower and leading junior gold producers showed losses ranging up to 85 cents.

GIRLS JAILED

Two Toronto girls charged with vagrancy were today sentenced to three months in county jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp. They are Mary and Marjorie Anthony, and were arrested over the week-end in Havelock by Havelock chief constable Ray Bell.

School Teacher B. Roberts Dies

ROSENEATH, June 26 (ENS)—Burton C. Roberts, Fenella, 42-year-old school teacher, died Sunday morning from a gunshot wound. He had been in poor health and was depressed for some time, police said. He taught school at Bowmanton.

Mr. James Knox, Fenella, father-in-law of Mr. Robert and some friends from Toronto were sitting on the porch of their home when they noticed the unusually loud cawing of the crows. Out of curiosity, they took a walk to see what it was all about. Nearing the woods their dog ran out to meet them and led them to the body of Mr. Roberts.

Mrs. Roberts and other members of the family had taken flowers to Centenary Cemetery in preparation for the decoration service to be held in the afternoon.

Mr. Roberts was born in Alnwick township 44 years ago, youngest son of the late William Roberts and his wife, Melinda Harper.

Mr. Roberts was an active worker in Fenella Church and Sunday School, and a talented singer.

He leaves his wife, the former Gertrude Knox and four small daughters; also two brothers, Louis of Port Hope and Cecil of Roseneath.

The funeral will be held at the family residence Tuesday at 11 a.m.

250 Striking Workers Return To Canners

CHATHAM, June 26—(CP)—About 230 striking workers returned to the Libby McNeill and Libby cannery here today without a settlement being reached in their week-old walkout for higher wages.

Gerald Foley, International representative of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.), said the workers were returning "so that the pea crop about to be harvested would not be a total loss."

The workers originally sought a 12 cent-an-hour increase, later intimated they would accept eight cents. The company has offered three.

Mergers Worrying Newspaper Guild

WASHINGTON, June 26—(AP)—The American Newspaper Guild (C.I.O.) opens its annual convention today with its officers expressing concern over newspaper mergers that throw people out of work.

The officers said in their annual report late Sunday: "We need some more newspapers. We need some better newspapers. The International Executive Board recommends the mobilization of Guild resources toward those objectives."

The officers' report said that already this year 2,000 employees in the newspaper industry, including about 250 Guild members, have lost their jobs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Bull Receive Wedding Gifts

ROSENEATH, June 26 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bull, nee Mavis Thackeray, were guests of honor at a presentation and dance on Friday evening in the LOL hall Roseneath.

The evening was spent in dancing. Following the lunch, served at midnight, the newly wed couple were called to the platform. An address ... For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" was sung and dancing continued.

STOICS

The mythical Amazons were said to have burnt off their right breasts in order to give themselves more freedom in using weapons.

8 Cows Killed In Bad Storm

CAMPBELLFORD, June 26 — (ENS)—The severe electrical storm which struck the Campbellford area Saturday morning caused considerable damage over a wide area.

Most severe loss reported is by Harry Grills, Seymour farmer who lost eight Holstein cows when a bolt of lightning struck them as they sought shelter under a large oak tree on the farm. One other cow was injured, but is recovering.

An Ayrshire cow was hit on the farm of William Atkinson at Crow Bay. At the farm of Lindsay Anderson, lightning struck the barn, shattering an electric water heater, but no fire followed. The heater was blown apart by the bolt.

Windows were shattered in a house on Rear Street in town, but here again, there was no fire. A large number of crows, believed to be victims of the storm, were found dead on the Campbellford-Hastings road.

Query Production

Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel), Progressive Conservative foreign affairs specialist, asked if any Canadians were in Korea and, if so, what steps were being taken to safeguard them.

The minister said the government was looking into what could be done to protect any Canadian nationals in the area. As yet, it knew of none, except three on the secretariat of the U.N. in Korea and one who was married to a member of the U.N. staff.

Inquiries had been mad about these four, and the government had been informed they were in no serious danger.

Howard Green PC-Vancouver-Quadra), who has been urging a Pacific defence pact for some time, asked if the Korean outbreak had resulted in any change in the external affairs minister's views towards such a treaty.

Mr. Pearson said there was nothing in the situation to change the views he has held regarding the establishment of a Pacific pact along the same lines as the Atlantic agreement.

Beaverbrook Lashes Schuman Pool Plan

LONDON, June 26 (CP)—Lord Beaverbrook today terms the Schuman plan a new and dangerous weapon concocted by "enemies" who seek to destroy the British Commonwealth.

In a signed article, cabled from Fredericton, and published in bold type on the front page of the Daily Express, the Canadian-born newspaper publisher says the design of the European economic pooling plan is "to sever the British people from the colonial empire, the self-governing dominions and Canada."

"And its effect," the article contends, "would be the loss of the dominions and Canada to the United States economic system."

The Beaverbrook newspapers have been hostile to the Schuman plan since it first was unfolded last month, but today's article is the most vividly-worded assault.

Ont. Dairies Bought 147,200 Quarts Less

TORONTO, June 26 (CP) — Ontario dairies bought 147,200 quarts less milk in April this year than last but a milk price boost meant nearly $30,000 more profit, the Ontario Department of Agriculture reported today.

A rise in milk prices from 18.1 last year to 18.2 in 1950 meant a revenue of $6,429,600 as compared to $6,400,900 in 1949, the department report said.

Average price of all milk bought from farmers amounted to $3.82 per hundredweight.

Civil Servant Victims To Ge Rehabilitation

OTTAWA, June 26 (CP)—Federal civil servants, hit by the flood and fire disasters in Winnipeg and Rimouski, Que., will get rehabilitation as well as disaster pay.

The Civil Service Commission announced today that in addition to leave of absence with pay to cover the periods of the disasters, the government has approved plans to pay civil servants for six additional working days to cover a rehabilitation period.

The scheme applies to "employees in the Winnipeg flood area who were forced to be absent from duty because of the flood and to employees whose homes have been lost or seriously damaged through the recent fire at Rimouski."

Wreckage, Bodies Show Where Plane Crashed

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., June 26—(AP)—A grim search was under way today in the depths of Lake Michigan where it is virtually certain that the lost Northwest Airlines plane went down Friday night with 58 aboard. An airline representative left little doubt that this area was the scene of doom for the capacity-loaded ship when he identified a torn piece of blue blanket early today. The blanket was marked with the letters "NW."

Other traces of plane wreckage and pieces of human bodies were found on the lake waters Sunday night.

There was only the faintest hope that any of those aboard the airship could have lived through the worst air disaster in North American history.

Paul Benscoter, sent here by the airline to help direct the search for the big plane, examined some grim tokens of the crash—bits of bodies, the blanket fragment, a man's fur-collared jacket, other pieces of clothing, part of a suitcase.

But he said a plane log and maintenance report found in the water apparently did not belong to the Northwest plane.

Hit By Lightning

Investigators examined a theory that the plane, flying non-stop from New York to Minneapolis, might have been hit by lightning.

Reports of residents of the vicinity and the discovery of the remnants of human bodies gave some support to this explanation.

A Coast Guard patrol boat came upon the gruesome evidence last night after a long search of the Lake by fleets of planes and boats.

The Coast Guardsmen found part of a woman's skull, part of a man's back and a piece of human stomach flesh.

The discoveries were made 12 miles northwest of here and six to eight miles off shore. At that point the lake is 110 feet deep.

Cheese, Butter Drop Sharply

TORONTO, June 26 (CP) — Production of creamery butter and cheddar cheese in Ontario during May declined sharply from May last year, the Provincial Agricultural Department said today in its monthly dairy report.

Creamery butter output was 7,648,000 pounds, an 11.8 per cent decline from May, 1949, when 8,674,000 pounds were produced.

Cheese output was down to 8,461,000 pounds from 11,449,600 a 26.1 per cent decline.

Cumulative production of creamery butter for the first five months of the year was 24,920,700 pounds against 26,081,000 in the first five months of the year, while cumulative output of cheese in the same period was 15,973,000 against 17,702,600 pounds.

Average wholesale price of both products was lower than a year ago. At Toronto butter averaged 52.3 cents a pound against 58.5 a year before, while cheddar was 28 cents against 31.6 in May last year.

Case Adjourned

Charges of taking a car without the owner's consent against two youths were today further adjourned to Tuesday by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

The pair, Fred Bebee, 122 Hilliard St., and Kenneth Dawson of Toronto, pleaded not guilty to the charge. They were accused of taking a truck from the used car lot of Fred Revoy, Water St., where Bebee formerly worked.

Careless Driver Pays $15 Fine

Charged with careless driving as a result of an accident the night of May 22, Walter D. Morgan, Downie St., was today fined $15 and $9.75 costs when found guilty by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Donald Kerneghan, McCannan Ave., testified he stopped behind a north-bound bus at the corner of George and Edinburgh Sts., and was about to pull away after the bus when his car was struck by Morgan's auto.

"I was just about to start away when I saw this car, coming south on George St., veer across the road," Kerneghan said. "He hit my car on the left rear bumper."

Morgan said Kerneghan had tried to pull out and pass the bus just as the bus was pulling away.

J. C. N. Currelly, counsel for Morgan, said it was illogical Kerneghan had stopped behind the bus. He argued that the normal thing to do was to pass the bus.

Magistrate Philp agreed that it was not the usual thing, but that "most of us at one time or another have stopped when we thought there might not be sufficient clearance."

PC Allan Edmison testified Morgan was a "borderline case of being drunk" on the night of the accident.

Man Thought Drowned Turns Up In Town

TEMAGAMI, June 26—(CP)—A man whom police thought had drowned turned up in Kirkland Lake Sunday and authorities called in five boats off Lake Temagami that had been used in dragging operations in an attempt to locate his body.

Police said today details were scant but Arthur Thomas Mann, 28, of Fort William turned up in Kirkland Lake where he had hitched hiked Thursday after upsetting his canoe and walking ashore.

The upset canoe, found floating between Forestly Island and the dock here early Friday led forestry officials and police to presume Mann had drowned.

A fire-tower operator, Mann had sleeping quarters on the island a few hundred yards out in the lake.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

BEST INSULATION COSTS NO MORE

Money can't buy a better home insulation than Johns-Manville's Longfibre Super-Felt Rock Wool Batt!

This outstanding J-M Batt is strong, tough and firmly welted. Unlike loosely fabricated insulating materials, and many chunky bulk materials, it stays put and will not "settle." J-M Batts fit snugly between joists and rafters—ensure a continuous heat barrier free of voids and thin spots. They leave no "gaps" where moisture can form and dry rot set in to destroy the framework of the house.

For new construction, insist on J-M Longfibre Batts ... for existing homes J-M "Blown" Rock Wool provides the same dependable efficiency. For details, write Johns-Manville 199 Bay St. Toronto, or see your nearest J-M dealer.

Car Theft Case Against Pair; Fine Suggested

Judgment was reserved on Saturday until June 29 in the cases of William Burns, 390 Queen St., and Albert O'Dette, 352 Armstrong Dr., both charged with car theft. They appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., after being remanded last Tuesday on bail of $500. each. Both had pleaded not guilty.

Provincial Constable Howard Markle testified he followed the car, in which he later found the pair, for five miles at speeds of 80 and 85 miles an hour along highway 12 between Manchester and Sunderland.

Evidence revealed O'Dette admitted he had taken the car "just for laughs" and had intended to return it. Burns said he was picked up by O'Dette in the car at George and Simcoe Sts. and that they had driven to Lindsay, where they picked up Burns' girl friend.

D. O. Taylor of Huntington, Que., whose father owns the car, testified he had gone into the King George Hotel Monday night and had parked the car at the rear of the hotel. When he went out half an hour later, the car was gone, he said.

Suggests Fine

PC C. J. McGillen testified he and PC Dennis Traynor picked up Burns and O'Dette in Lindsay, where they were being held by provincial police. He said the pair had some discussion in the police truck as to who would "take the rap" for it.

J. C. N. Currelly, counsel for Burns, said he thought it was a case of "nothing more than joyriding. Both say the car was taken with the intention of returning it." Mr. Currelly suggested Burns be fined and that a deduction be made from his wages, leaving him "merely a pittance."

Crown counsel John Bradshaw pointed out Burns was out on suspended sentence for theft of gasoline. "I don't think he has any respect for anybody's property at all," he said.

Evidence given in Burns' trial was admitted in the case against O'Dette, with O'Dette's consent.

To Form Government

MELBOURNE, June 26 (Reuters)—J. B. McDonald, leader of the Country party in the Victoria State Parliament, today was commissioned to form a government following the resignation of Labor Premier T. Hollway. The country party, with only 13 members in a house of 65 members, will rely on Labor support to keep it in office.

ROSENEATH, June 26—(ENS)—Robert Greacen, Roseneath, has received word of the death of his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Gummow, at Red Deer, Alberta. Mrs. Gummow was born near Roseneath in 1863, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Greacen.

Her childhood and early married life were spent here. She moved to Alberta in 1898, where she lived on a farm until two years ago, when she and her youngest son moved into Red River.

Her husband predeceased her some years ago. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. Morrison and three sons, Robert, Archie and William of Red Deer, a brother, Robert Greacen of Roseneath, 11 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Bonarlaw Church Party In Rectory Grounds

BONARLAW, June 26 (ENS)—St. Mark's Church lawn social was held Friday on the rectory lawn, prettily decorated for the occasion with strings of electric lights in the grounds making a perfect setting for a garden party.

Music was provided all evening by the Stirling Community Band under the direction of Maurice Bell.

The refreshment booth, whose main attraction was ice-cream sundries and soft drinks, did a flourishing business and the fish pond, home-made candy booth, hot-dog stand, etc., were all popular.

The social was sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary but all the families of the congregation assisted with the baking. Free lunches were distributed to everyone.

Paroled Convict Held In Child's Strangling

CORUNNA, Mich., June 26 — (AP)—A paroled convict who admitted raping and strangling eight-year-old Virginia Mae Bird in her foster parents' home was held by police today.

Clifford Pulver, 32, was arrested about 12 hours after Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bird found their small adopted daughter dead on a couch Sunday morning.

"I did it, but I don't know what I did," Sheriff Charleer quoted Pulver as saying.

Pulver, brother of Bird's first wife, had come to the Bird home Saturday night, asking if he could sleep there because he had been drinking and thought his mother would be angry.

Pulver, paroled March 29 from Southern Michigan Prison, was captured at a gasoline station on the edge of this small city.

Tree Men Meet

GUELPH, June 26 — (CP) — The Men of the Trees held their summer meeting Saturday on the campus of the Ontario Agricultural College with 200 members present. The organization was formed in Toronto many years ago to promote the growth of valuable and decorative trees.

Traffic Tangles Keep Police Busy At Weekend

CAMPBELLFORD, June 26 — (ENS)—A number of minor accidents involving motor vehicles kept the police of Campbellford busy on Saturday. Most serious accident involved a 1950 model taxi driven by Floyd Drinkwalter, travelling south, and a light pick-up ice truck driven by Charlie Brown travelling west at the intersection of Wellington and Kent streets in the west end of the town.

Neither street is designated as a stop street and vehicles have often had narrow escapes at the spot. This time about $400 damage resulted when the two vehicles crashed. No charges were laid by Constable W. E. Cargin who investigated the accident.

Minor damages resulted when a light truck driven by Jack Masterson of Campbellford, travelling west on Inkerman street sideswiped an Anderson's Dairy truck which was parked while the driver was delivering milk. Chief Constable George H. Hardy, who investigated the mishap, said no charges have been laid.

Another accident resulted in minor damages when a Dept. of Transport vehicle pulling out from the curb on the west side of Front St., and a car driven by Helen Stinson of Campbellford collided. About $40 damage to the Stinson car was reported, while the truck got off rather light. Chief Constable George H. Hardy who investigated, said no charges had been laid. Vern Kellogg was the driver of the Dept. of Transport truck.

Urge Eye Bank

DIGBY, N.S., June 26—(CP)—Possibility of forming an "eye bank" in the dominion was discussed at a final session of the Canadian Opthalmological Society's three-day annual convention here Saturday. This would be to assist surgeons in transplanting corneal tissue.

Chock Full Of Canada

The Bureau of Statistics official handbook of present conditions and recent progress Canada 1950 has recently been published and is available from the King's Printer, Ottawa, for twenty-five cents. Its 288 pages contain an astonishing variety and amount of information, numerous pictures and graphs, and special articles on the political evolution, economics, culture and industry of this country. It is in handy form a digest of the large annual Canada Year Book. There is no book bargain like it.

* * *

Its usefulness as a reference work in home, office and school is unquestionable. There is another use which travelling Canadians, and those with inquiring friends and relatives overseas, will find for it. Wherever one goes outside Canada, one is bound to be asked questions about Canada. How big is it? What is the population? How many French-Canadians are there? Is it true that Canada produces 350,000,000 bushels of wheat? We hear that Canada mines much nickel; where and how much? (Answer: in 1948, 131,740 tons, ninety per cent of the world's output comes from the Sudbury area.) Travellers will save themselves a lot of guessing if they take this handbook with them: stay-at-homes with inquisitive friends would do well to order copies sent to them. What does a Canadian train look like? Send this book with its pictures. What do the Labrador iron camps, a typical new public school, the Nova Scotian countryside, look like? Consult Canada 1950.

Newfoundland Has A Thin Skin

The province of Newfoundland has still, it appears, a very thin skin. We have at hand an editorial from The Western Star of Corner Brook, in which the Newfoundland M.Ps are excoriated because they did not leap to the defence of their native island when the Minister of Finance said in the House that Newfoundland's entry into the Confederation "has imposed a considerable net burden on the Canadian budget". In the eyes of The Western Star such poltroonery is utterly inexcusable. The Newfoundland M.Ps should have given Mr. Abbott a piece of their mind. They should have told him that "the addition of strategic Newfoundland to the Canadian nation is worth more than can ever be computed in dollars and cents". And they should have told him much more, in the same strain.

Another Newfoundland paper, the St. John's Evening Telegram, is cross because the Parliamentary Press Gallery jokingly devised a new flag for the new province. The flag showed a bow tie, a baby and an outstretched hand. Says the St. John's paper: "It was a joke in extremely bad taste, and one that shouldn't be laughed off here in Newfoundland! It was an insult to this province."

Surely it is time that Newfoundland dropped this soreheaded attitude? The new province is of value to Canada, of course, but we are not going to go on our knees in gratitude for it. And Canada is most certainly of value to Newfoundland, and Confederation will enable the island to rid itself of some of the disgraceful conditions which have characterized it for so long. Newfoundland will give plenty to Canada, in time. And at this moment Newfoundland is taking plenty from Canada. It had better learn to take a joke now and again, as well.

U.S. Finds It Hard To Get Good Men

A partial consequence of the treatment accorded prominent men in public service by irresponsible legislators may be the current difficulty encountered by the Government of the United States in finding able men willing to take highly important posts in government service. The constant criticism to which Dean Acheson and his State Department, David Lilienthal and others, have been subjected in recent months has seemingly left its mark on the minds of men who are likely candidates for prominent posts, with the result that two vital chairmanships are at the moment going begging in the United States.

One post President Truman sought to fill last week was that of chairman of the North Atlantic Treaty Council in London. It was offered to Robert A. Lovett, who served for a period during the war as Under Secretary of State. Mr. Lovett, a banker, proved a most able administrator when with the State Department, and there was every reason to believe he would prove equally so in the London post. However, he said he could not accept the appointment because of his health.

It was almost six months ago that David Lilienthal resigned from the chairmanship of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, during a lull in in the bitter criticism led by Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee. President Truman has been trying since then to replace Mr. Lilienthal, without success. His latest offer was made to Robert P. Patterson, lawyer and former Secretary of War; it was the second time the proposal had been made, and for the second time it was refused.

To whatever extent the criticism of Mr. Acheson and Mr. Lilienthal is responsible for the refusal of these able men to take the chairmanships offered, it is a significant example of the manner in which the abuse of democratic privilege may harm democracy. It is not suggested that any man in public service, no matter how able, should be exempt from criticism, but there is a vast difference between valid criticism and the organized campaigns of vilification which have used Mr. Acheson and Mr. Lilienthal as targets in the past.

What Persistence Will Do

It is interesting to read that a British ballet mistress, Phyllis Bedells, has been engaged to teach at La Scala in Milan, the most famous of all Italian opera houses. Italian critics have been very hard on Italian ballet lately; they have said that, in comparison with such British dancers as Margot Fonteyn and Robert Helpmann, Italian dancers "looked like sceneshifters".

The triumph of British ballet has been a triumph for persistence and hard work. Twenty years ago, when the Sadler's Wells Ballet was making its first humble beginning, it was scorned by British critics, who talked about "Cockney ballet". Nobody but Russians, these gentlemen thought, could really dance. But now the Russian ballet takes second place to that of Britain; and Italy where ballet originated, imports an English ballet mistress!

It is staggering what can be done when people are willing to work.

Suing Crown Agencies

The Government has been giving consideration to a bill which would give private citizens the right to sue Crown agencies. A Crown agency is such an organization as the C.B.C., or the National Research Council. Until now these bodies have enjoyed a curious immunity; they were in a position in which they could, directly or inadvertently, violate the rights of many people; some of them were in business and in competition with private business; yet they could not be sued. It was a ridiculous situation and we are glad that it is being set right.

For hundreds of years "The King can do no wrong" has been a workable legal fiction. It is so no longer, for the King (by whom it meant the innumerable agencies of modern Government) has invaded all sorts of places where he never intruded before. The King must not go into business and have special rights which are not granted to ordinary people in the same business. The King must not be empowered to drive sharp bargains and push other people out of the way in business deals which are remote from anything that looks like government. In fact, a line must be drawn to show when Government agencies are acting for all the people, and when they are acting merely for some of them.

It is particularly important that this should be made clear now, for the likelihood is that the Government will expand its influence more and more in the years to come, and it must not be given special privileges in cases where it invades a competitive field.

The nickel is not wholly useless. You can buy $5.00 worth of noise by putting it in a jukebox.

A Belgian physician says he can tell the sex of a child before birth. We knew an elderly doctor who said that every baby would be a girl; if it was, he was right, and if it wasn't he never had a complaint from the parents. This is hard on the female sex, but it is true.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

A COUPLE of years before the war, when I was living in Italy, I could not help noticing the correspondence between Italian opera and the everyday life and customs of the people. The expansive gestures, the theatrical grouping on the steps outside churches and public buildings, the uninhibited display of emotion in public, are as much a part of the Italian character as of Italian opera. Italian opera is in fact, to use the well-worn phrase, a mirror of Italian life, whether the setting of the opera be laid in France, in old Japan, in Elizabethan England, or in Italy itself. To an English-speaking audience Italian opera is bound to seem somewhat unnatural, the gestures stilted, the sentiments extravagant, and only redeemed by the singing. Yet all this posturing seems quite normal to the average Italian man in the street, because he behaves in much the same way himself. Recent attempts by composers such as Benjamine Britten have focussed attention anew on the problem of opera in English. It is realized now that a slavish imitation of Italian or German models is bound to produce poor results. If opera in English is to have any vitality it must have its roots in the life of the people. This does not of course mean that the subject matter must be drawn from local sources. The scene may be laid (as in Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream") in Athens, but the treatment should not try and imitate the classical Greek authors. It has been objected that opera is foreign to the English-speaking peoples. This is at the moment true, but it was also true of Germany 180 years ago. It took time to eliminate the prejudice in Germany against opera in German, without which the extraordinary developments of the nineteenth century would have been impossible. During these formative years English music, for reasons that take too long to discuss in these columns and which have never yet been satisfactorily established, suffered from arrested development. The glorious achievement of the Tudor composers was forgotten and the myth of "the land without music" was born. Now at last the big three of music, Germany, France and Italy have been caught up, and it is only natural that composers should turn to the question of opera in English. It is important that the principles of opera should be well discussed first. This may seem a little peculiar to those who think that all the composer has to do is to secure a libretto and set to work writing the music; but it should be remembered that opera was not in the first place a spontaneous growth, it was a deliberate attempt by a group of Florentine intellectuals of the early seventeenth century to produce a "new art" based on their interpretation of the principles of ancient Greek tragedy. Thus, while most other musical forms "just growed" like Topsy, from very simple beginnings, opera started as a well-defined theory. In fact, the whole history of opera has been one of new theories consciously put into practice by reformers such as Gluck, Wagner and other lesser names. Circumstances at last seem more propitious than ever before to the foundation of English Opera on a broad popular basis. The difficulties are still enormous, and it is unlikely that opera would ever be possible in the smaller towns as it is in Italy and Germany. Nevertheless the signs are encouraging.

"I COULDN'T practice—I hadn't got a piano to play on". Piano teachers are always meeting this excuse for unprepared work. And yet quite a lot can be done without a piano at all. When Albert Schweitzer was interned during the First World War (as an Alsatian, and therefore at the time a German citizen) he asked for a table, so that he could write, and also so that he could practice the organ, using the table as a keyboard and the floor as a pedalboard! Gleseking, in a short treatise of his on playing the piano, advocates taking a short two-part invention by Bach and memorizing it before touching the keyboard. This may seem horribly involved, but when the design of the piece is exposed it can be seen how naturally one thing follows another, and a good deal of fumbling about on the keyboard is eliminated. After all, fingers are the servants of the mind, and unless the mind is crystal-clear the fingers will fumble. It is therefore logical to survey the ground thoroughly first before playing a note.

TYPICAL of Beethoven's conscientiousness as an artist is the fact that he wrote no less than four different overtures to his opera "Fidelio". The overture known as "Leonore" No. 2 was written for the first performance in 1805. Beethoven was not quite satisfied with this, so he wrote "Leonore" No. 3, retaining much of the music in No. 2 but in more condensed and dramatic form for the revival of the opera in 1806. This overture is considered by many as the greatest of operatic overtures—but Beethoven was still not satisfied. He felt that a less dramatic overture would be more fitting, and so he wrote the overture known as "Leonore" No. 1 for a performance in Prague in 1807 which never materialized. Some years later, in 1814, he had occasion to revise the whole opera. The outcome of this was that the first number after the overture began in A major. As the previous three overtures were all in the key of C Beethoven decided to write a new overture in the closely related key of E. This is known as the overture to "Fidelio". In the earlier performances the opera had been known as "Leonore", hence the name of the earlier overtures; but the name was finally changed to "Fidelio" at the 1814 revision. The only feature common to all four overtures is the introduction of the theme of Florestan's Aria "Brightly dawned my life's young morning".

CHORISTERS in the city and district may have heard of the choral competition being organized in connection with the forthcoming Canadian National Exhibition. Unfortunately details of this were only released a few days ago, and even now they are incomplete in many important respects. It is to be doubted whether there will be much response. It is difficult to get choirs together in the summer, and there is very little time allowed to prepare pieces. It is to be hoped that more notice will be given in future. If sufficient time is given it is certain that there will be many more entries.

IT'S GOING TO BE TOUGH DIGGING

The Old Vic Workshops

The great permanent British theatre companies such as the Festival Company at Stratford-on-Avon and those at Covent Garden, Sadler's Well and the Old Vic find it better to make their scenery and costumes in their own workshops. In the BBC's programme for South Africa, "Across the Line," Noreen Purdon talked with Morgan Rendell, head of the workrooms kept by the Old Vic, the famous theatrical company that maintains such a high standard of costume productions. Their workrooms are in a very old house just off Drury Lane and Mr. Rendell described the work that goes into a production from start to finish. As soon as it is planned and the designers have started work the materials are decided on and someone is sent shopping. Mr. Morgan revealed that in their workshops one employee does nothing else but shopping, hunting all and every day for materials and odds and ends to match certain colours that fit into the complicated scheme of things. If the right shades cannot really be obtained the material is sent to be dyed; if the dyers cannot oblige then the dyeing must be done in the workshop's basement. If a patterned material is wanted and is not available in a woven fabric a stencil is cut and the design is then painted on to the material.

Period costumes in the wardrobe are used as guides and members of the staff are constantly to be seen in museums, checking on costumes and historical documents to make sure that everything is accurate. There are some twenty people on the wardrobe staff and one of their most difficult tasks lies in making some costumes look ragged and dirty. An elegant costume can be made in time without undue strain but a dirty one has to go to what is called the breaking down room to be treated with paint and filth before it achieves the requisite state of disreputableness. At the other extreme lies the making of lace, nowadays so difficult to get. The Old Vic workrooms surmount the problem by using a special pigment and with it painting designs on very fine net which gives the specially delicate look of exquisitely fine lace. Expensive and elaborate hats are made in the workshops and so is jewellery. This is often made from plaster casts, with moulded leather to produce the setting; artificial jewels are stuck on and the whole thing is painted. Heavy chains are sometimes made of rubber tubing, sometimes of painted wood, whilst chain mail is knitted string which is later silvered. Fine armoured breastplates are usually made of tin carefully dented beforehand to look worn. And when clothes, hats, jewellery and accoutrements have been dealt with the staff can then turn their hand to making any false noses that are needed—these are moulded on to a mask of the actor's face—and shaping padding to be used by slim actors playing fat parts, the fantastic padding Sir Ralph Richardson used as Falstaff being an example. This unusual and bulky piece of work was done by the girl who also makes the costume jewellery.

Mr. Churchill Manages Some Fun

(Ottawa Journal)

A London despatch yesterday told of the House of Commons "quitting work in the grey light of dawn after a 16-hour session".

Another London despatch yesterday told of Mr. Churchill's car being in a collision while he was riding out to Ascot to see his horse, Colonist II, run in the Ascot Gold Cup.

How does Mr. Churchill manage it? Our own statesmen, with a lot less to do, seem to be chained to their desks. Mr. Churchill, leading the Opposition, writing a monumental book, and making speeches here there and everywhere, contrives at the same time to travel, to do a bit of painting, and to take an occasional hour at the racetrack.

And Mr. Churchill did these things when the war was at its height; had guests at Chequers and 10 Downing Street, contrived to do some reading and writing, and was not infrequently a "first-nighter" when good shows turned up in London.

Is the difference between Mr. Churchill and our own statesmen simply that Mr. Churchill knows how to rid himself of details, to organize his work so that he may have some time to think, and also for what Stevenson once called "a judicious bit of levity"?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now after the death of Moses the servant of the Lord it came to pass, that the Lord spake unto Joshua the son of Nun, Moses' minister, saying . . . There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life: as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee: I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee . . . Only be thou strong and very courageous, that thou mayest observe to do according to all the law, which Moses my servant commanded thee: turn not from it to the right hand or to the left, that thou mayest prosper withersoever thou goest.

This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth, but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is writen therein: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success. (Josh. 1: 1, 5, 7, 8.)

And I saw another mighty angel come down from heaven, clothed with a cloud: and a rainbow was upon his head, and his face was as it were the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire: and he had in his hand a little book open: and he set his right foot upon the sea, and his left foot on the earth, and cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roareth. . . .

And I went unto the angel, and said unto him, Give me the little book. And he said unto me, Take it, and eat it up; and it shall make thy bell bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth sweet as honey. And I took the little book out of the angel's hand, and ate it up, and it was in my mouth sweet as honey; and as soon as I had eaten it, my belly was bitter. And he said unto me, Thou must prophesy again before many peoples, and nations, and tongues, and kings. (Rev. 10: 1-3, 9-11.)

The Evidence Returned

(Calgary Albertan)

What would you have done if you had been Crown prosecutor in the following case?

Two men were involved in the dilemma. They were charged with stealing about $2,000 worth of clothing from an Edmonton dry-cleaning plant, and pleaded not guilty. The clothing was seized as evidence for the preliminary hearing and for the trial, if any. To proceed with the case would have meant impounding the clothing for many weeks and possibly even for months.

It didn't belong to the Edmonton cleaners. It was the property of dozens of Edmonton citizens who were clamouring to get it back. They needed it right away, as does anyone who has ever taken a suit or a dress to the cleaners.

In this case the Crown prosecutor decided to ask for dismissal of the charges so the clothing could be returned immediately to its owners.

And the two men charged with theft were set free.

"Booby-Trap" Sleeping Pills Doctors Urged

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Sleeping pills should be "booby-trapped" to prevent suicide or poisoning from taking too many of them, a committee of physicians says.

The booby trap would be adding an emetic, something that makes you vomit. The amount wouldn't affect anyone taking one or two pills.

Rigging sleeping pills this way is one recommendation of the committee on public health of the New York County Medical Society.

The committee is worried about abuses of sleeping pills, or barbiturates. They cause about 1,000 deaths a year in the United States. Others are accidental over-doses.

Common for Suicide

The taking of "large amounts of barbiturates has become one of the commonly-used forms of suicide," the committee said.

"Of particular concern to the medical profession is that last year over half of the 325 individuals admitted to (New York) city hospitals for barbiturate poisoning obtained the drugs legally—from their own doctor's prescriptions."

Unless physicians co-operate to control the abuses, government may impose restrictions on sleeping pills similar to those controlling narcotics, the committee warned.

The barbiturate drugs are useful medicines and "their value far outweighs their harmful misuse by a small number of people," the report said.

Cold War Hits Trading Hard But Not at Standstill

By MAX HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 26 (AP).—Trade between Communist-controlled eastern Europe and the Democratic west has been hit hard by the cold war but it is by no means at a standstill. Actually, a substantial volume is moving across the Iron Curtain in both directions.

Here is the box score, as compiled by United Nations economists:

1. Exports from Western Europe to Eastern Europe increased by about $200,000,000 in 1949, but they still are about two-thirds of the 1938 level.

2. Eastern Europe's exports to Western Europe stood about 40 per cent of the pre-war volume.

3. United States exports to Eastern Europe had dropped by the end of 1949 to about one-third of the 1938 level.

As far as intra-European trade is concerned, the primary problem is to restore the normal flow of goods from the Communist countries to the West. That is the main reason for the recent Moscow visit of Gunnar Myrdal, executive secretary of the Economic Commission for Europe.

UN economists acknowledge that the major factor behind the East-West trade difficulties is the cold war.

Inferior Status

Another factor advanced by U.N. economists is the feeling in many other non-industrial countries that the export of foods and raw materials is evidence of an inferior status. For this reason, all the small Communist countries are concentrating on development of heavy industries instead of agriculture, which formerly made up the bulk of Eastern European exports.

Still another factor, the UN experts say, is the 'complete absence of any common and agreed approach to the problem by Eastern and Western Europe."

The Communist countries, for instance, insist they are ready to negotiate trade agreements if the import and export quotas contained in them are made binding for both parties. On the other hand, countries that have no state trading systems are willing to commit themselves only to issuing import and export permits rather than guaranteeing quota fulfillment.

Fish May Have To Move Out As Swimmers Take Over

By BEN PHLEGAR

LONDON, June 26 (AP). — It looks like a tough summer for English shipping. Even the fish may have to move if they want peace and quiet.

Channel swimmers are about to take over in the biggest assault in history upon the 19 miles of treacherous tides that split England from France at Dover Straits.

Indications are that between early July and late September 24 or more determined men and women will plunge into the cold water at Cap Gris Nez, France.

Last year 11 swimmers made 17 attempts. Six men succeeded.

The main attack on the Channel, which has been conquered by swimmers only 33 times, will come in mid-August.

Organizing Contest

The Daily Mail is organizing a contest for 20 of the world's best professional long-distance swimmers.

Waiting on the English shore will be prizes of £1,000 ($3,100) each for the first man and woman among the 20 to negotiate the distance, plus £250 for each additional successful crossing.

Swimmers of 11 countries have filed entries for the contest. Three of them — Willy Van Rijsel of Holland and Sam Rockett and Margaret Feather of England—are practising at Folkestone on the English coast.

Individual attempts also will dot the swimming calendar.

Philip Mickman, brawny young Yorkshireman and one of the six men who made it last year, has begun training for the trip.

To Try Again

Shirley May France, the 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., school girl whose unsuccessful try last year was deluged with publicity, is going to try again. Shirley May was within six miles of England last September before her father dragged her from the water because of the cold.

Mrs. Betty Cohn, a 50-year-old Brooklyn grandmother, has added her name to the lists.

George (Scotty) Fraser, 44-year-old wounded war veteran who left his home in Dennisport, Mass., to try the Channel swim, has just arrived. The rugged little Scottish-American, a native of Glasgow, wants to show disabled veterans the restorative powers of swimming.

Senator Charges Welfare State

OTTAWA, June 26 —(CP)—The Senate heard a charge Friday that Canada is becoming a "welfare state" as it dealt with a number of committee reports, gave third readings to Bills, and then adjourned until Tuesday.

The welfare state charge came from Senator Thomas Reid (L-British Columbia) who said Canadians now are more interested in personal security than in the atomic bomb.

He was speaking on the report of the Senate's Immigration and Labor Committee which said that the government's Annuities Branch had dropped 50 per cent of its business since decreasing interest rates from 4 to 3 per cent and recommended an inquiry to determine if it could carry on on the present basis.

The Senate endorsed the report and that of the Finance Committee and the Committee on Tourist Traffic. Third and final reading was given a Bill amending the Judges Act. The Bill provides for an increase of $2 a day in judges' travelling expenses up to $12 a day for city and $8 a day for non-city expenses.

Third reading also was given a Bill amending the statute law. It makes all Crown corporations eligible to sue or be sued without the King's permission in the form of a fiat. But the fiat will still be necessary before suit can be launched against the government itself.

London Taxi Drivers Returning To Work

LONDON, June 26 (AP) — All of London's 6,200 taxicabs are back on the streets today after a three-week strike of drivers.

The union voted to accept as commission 37½ per cent of the fares shown on meters. They had demanded 40 per cent, compared with 33 1-3 per cent before the strike.

Rain Spoils Parade

QUEBEC, June 26 (CP) — It was a sad St. John Baptiste Day for Quebecers Saturday. The St. Jean Baptiste parade—big event of the day—was rained out and and some 25,000 drenched spectators returned home after tractors pulled empty floats through Grand Allee and a few bands provided the public with some appearance of a parade.

U.K. Newsprint Up

LONDON, June 26—(Reuters)—Cost of newsprint in Britain will be raised to £35 12s 6d. ($110.35) a ton, effective July 3, the Board of Trade announced today. This represents an increase of £2 3s 9d. over the present price. All paper and paper board except newsprint, mechanical printing paper and kraft liner board will be freed from price control the same date, the Board of Trade said.

Gentlemen,

No doubt your men here have advised you of our purchase of a second fleet of (42) new 1950 Ford sedans for operation in our business in Toronto this year.

We have decided to continue using your company's cars because of the very exceptional service we have had with our present fleet.

I feel sure your Company's executive officers would be flattered indeed if they rode with one of our drivers for a week's operations and heard the very pleasing comments of our patrons, some of them having their first Ford Ride.

We are also very pleased to see that the foresight we showed in being the first big company in Toronto to use Ford products in taxicab operation, is now being followed by many other operators here.

I wish to congratulate your Company for building so splendid and efficient a car for the successful operations of our rugged business. Use of Ford products has meant big savings to us.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Edger Hurls Petes to Win Over Toronto Staffs 5 to 2

Bill Edger came up with a neat six-hit hurling effort to pitch the Petes to a 5-2 Viaduct League victory over Toronto Staffords here Saturday. A small crowd saw a tidy tilt, with Edger in charge all the way as he set down eight of the enemy on strikes and walked but one in nine frames. His support was good as the Petes bunched blows to earn the duke.

Jack Rossen toiled seven stanzas on the Toronto slab, giving up but eight hits in a fair showing, whiffing two and issuing a pair of free tickets. He had excellent backing with features being catches in deep centre and right by Bill Haddleton and Billy Heyes, as well as a double-play on odd baserunning by a local. Danny Brown looked good at short again for the homesters.

Paul Gets Two

Paul Estlick led the Petes at bat with two for three to drive in two runs. Freddy Garvey banged out two hits in four tries, and Bill Edger had one in two attempts. Johnny Stoneburgh topped Staffs with two in four, and Mickey McLoughlin, as a pinch-hitter, singled in his one plate appearance. He replaced Rossen at bat, and Walt Severnuk pitched the last inning for the visitors, who were a little late arriving.

Burrows scored in the first on a single, steal and hit by Stoneburgh. Their other was in the fifth on an error and hits by Ford and Rossen. The Petes got two in the fifth on an error, an out and long singles by Estlick and Lowrey. In the sixth, two counted, Brown walking, pilfering two bases and racing in on a squeeze play, Menzies' bunt catching them flat and gaining him a hit, Al moving up on an out and home on Estlick's single. One more tallied in the seventh when Edger walked, went ahead on an out, third on an infield hit by Garvey and home on a fly.

Crescent Trip Excelsiors 10-8 For First Loss

By The Canadian Press

Owen Sound's fast-moving Crescents handed Brampton Excelsiors their first loss and moved into first place in the Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior series all in one move Saturday.

In another Saturday game, played at St. Catharines, sharp sniping enabled St. Catharines Athletics to down Peterborough Petes 20-14 to extend their winning streak to seven in eight starts.

Crescents defeated the Excelsiors 10-8 in a sparkling game before 2,000 fans. The big break came in the second period when Brampton's game Shepherd got a major penalty, and Crescents slammed in three goals, two by Rusty Slater. That broke a 2-2 tie, and the Crescents were never headed.

Slater led the winners with three goals, and Arn Smith had a pair. Ferri and Graham each notched two for the losers.

Junior OLA-ers Win 14-8 In Loop Game

Lou Vitarelli's colorful junior lacrosse stalwarts again treated fans to a great display Saturday night at Miller Bowl as they defeated Owen Sound 14-8 in a clean, fast struggle that had spectators in a dither of excitement from start to finish.

Action galore featured and out of the fray emerged the strong form of Rock Batley as the game's individual star with six goals. goals. Only in the third, when the visitors gave him special attention was Batley held scoreless but so were they and, meanwhile, Heffernan potted two and Robinson one to take a commanding lead, after holding a 7-4 margin at half time. Gary Robinson with three and an assist was second in scoring as Heffernan, Killingbeck, Russelle, O'Reilly, Morrissey, Vincent and Shearer each had points. Hickson and

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Girls' and men's softball coming up the next few nights. Ashby's and Woollens have a lasses' fixture at seven tonight in the Bowl, followed by an exhibition betwixt the local all-stars—getting ready early for sports centennial week in August—and a combined squad from Ashby's and Westclox damsels. Men's melees on the morrow are: UEW vs. Mutuals, and Orphans vs. East City. A neat twin bill, with that first one expected to be a real battle. Mutuals are out in front with nine wins and one loss, as UEW has six and four, the East Citizens crowding 'em with five and five.

* * * * * *

No senior ball game here Wednesday, the men o' Murphy having a busy time of it the last half of the week. They're in Toronto on Thursday and play Oshawa twice Saturday, the afternoon tussle being here and the evening one in the Motor City. It's a crowded schedule and the Petes have a few postponements to pick up. They hope to have reinforcements by the end of the week with Bill Dadson ready to twirl again, Danny Brown out regularly with 'em, and a couple of college imports due to arrive if there's no last-minute slip. One is a southpaw flinger and the other can go either on the infield or in the garden.

They Looked Impressive

Petes looked good in their 5-2 win o'er Staffords here Saturday. Bill Edger pitched fine ball and his support was okay. Staffs weren't bad, either, but a few bunched blows, one costly error and a lapse on that smart Brown-Menzies squeeze play in the sixth, swung the balance. We kicked away one run, likely, by trying to stretch it, but that's baseball. The Murphyites generally are dishing up smart, hustling ball and that makes for a winner. Errors are part of the game and happen to any club which tries for everything. Yes, they're in the thick of the fight and intend to stay there.

* * * * * *

Lacrosse fans saw some promising material on Lou Vitarelli's local junior OLA team Saturday night here. The home crew took a comfortable 14-8 verdict o'er the Owen Sounders, and looked okay in the process. Hickson and Nicholls both went fine in goal, though of course not at the same time, since the OLA frowns on such antics. Rocky Batley was hotter than the hinges of Satan's portal to notch six goals, and others on the outfit stood out in a neat number. No need to worry about future senior performers with the large and productive minor OLA setup here. The PMLA is beginning to show results.

Resting In Third Slot

Three hard games in four days—against stiff opposition in each case—proved too much for the Petes' senior lacrossers on Saturday eve in St. Catharines. The A's racked up a 20-14 win in a lively fray. The Saints aren't too husky this year but they are fast, have plenty of OLA savvy and a classy net-guardian. The tired Creighton crew were beaten on the faceoff draw a lot and didn't have their old drive on rebounds, corner balls, and so forth. Dootch Vitarelli, Don Ashbee and Arn Dugan appeared to be the exceptions as they figured prominently in the local scoring, while D'Amico and Leo Teatero were hot for St. Kitts. The Petes are at Owen Sound on Tuesday and back here Friday.

No minor ball here Saturday, owing to the heavy a.m. rain. Al Watkins is checking today on the diamond in Morrow Park and, if it's ready, southend juves will play East City there tomorrow at 6.30 p.m., with East City midgets meeting northenders down there the next evening. Schedules will be out any day in all sections. Tip Tops of Toronto, world's senior softball champs, will bring a full team here July 8 with an extra battery for the Mutuals, giving Johnny Russelle his choice of pitcher and catcher, the proceeds going to aid the PMBA-ers. That'll be a tip top attraction indeed.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Rich Ferguson, of Toronto, made good Saturday his announced intention of breaking the Canadian Junior record for the mile but he had no monopoly on record-breaking performances at the Quebec Provincial Track and Field championships at Montreal.

In all, three Canadian marks were bettered in junior and [illegible] held by Don McEwen, of Ottawa.

Jack Clark, of Montreal, set a record in the junior 12-pound shot put with a heave of 53 feet seven inches, against the old mark of 47 feet, 9¼ inches.

Jack Carroll, of Montreal, cracked the third junior Canadian record by winning the 440-yard run in 49.5 seconds. The old mark was 50.6.

At Toronto Sunday, Ontario's National Soccer League Selects upset the touring Jonkoping eleven from Sweden 3-1 Sunday before 5,500 fans. Alf Davis, of Toronto, centre forward, led the victors' attack with two second-half goals. The other Ontario counter wos booted by Jackie Butler, of Hamilton, on a penalty kick.

Jonkoping's lone goal was scored by B. Carlsson, outside right.

Ontario outplayed the Swedes except for the first minutes of the second half.

Diamond Gauthier, long-driving professional from Montreal Municipal Golf Club, fired a record-smashing 65 at the Lachine Golf and Country Club at Montreal Saturday as he copped the $1,000 second annual Irving open tournament. Par is 37-35—72 and the old course record was 68.

At Rio De Janeiro, England defeated Chile 2-0 Sunday in second-round play of the world soccer championships. Spain [illegible] the United States 3-1 and [illegible]

At Paris, Baron Guy De Rothschild's Vieux Manior pounded home two lengths ahead of a packed field Sunday to win the $60,000 Grand Prix de Paris, France's richest and most fashionable horse race. Vieux Manior's stable mate, Alizier, came in second. Count Edward de Cazes' Lacaduv ran third. The Rothschild entry paid 12 to 1.

Gene Sarazen made it a golfing double 18 years ago today by winning the United States Open shortly after his triumph in the British Open. The stocky American pro fired a four-under-par final round of 66 for a 72-hole total of 286. It was Gene's second U.S. Open title, having won it 10 years previously.

Orono Beaten By UEW In Soccer Go

Orono soccer eleven lost in Peterborough Saturday evening, UE winning 5-1 with Attard and Featherstone outstanding. This game was to replace the Belleville Army game that was cancelled. Rev. J. Cresswell, Orono, at centre-forward was spectacular in every play along with J. Lowrey, left half for Orono.

The visitors opened up with steady combination that resulted in Rev. Cresswell, Lewis and Flittnoff testing the UE custodian with deadly shots. After 10 minutes of play an individual effort by Featherstone terminated in a low-rising shot finding the rigging to open the scoring. Thereafter both custodians were kept busy saving their charge through the very accurate shooting of the forwards, although Strong's rocket drive that hit the cross-bar deserved a better result.

On resuming, UE altered their style of play to a quick-passing combination game that found Orono in a quandary. Eventually, UE gathered momentum to see Attard register the second goal that was followed by the same player with a clever shot. Willis, late of Lindsay, placed a shot that drifted in below the crass-bar for the fourth counter, while his team mate Latham got the final tally. Towards the finish, Rev. Cresswell gathered the ball into the centre of the field, dribbled past three men to go right into the goal to send a low grounder into the net.

Orono—W. Guerin, goal; D. Mercer and J. Fulton, full backs; L. Truman, F. Nicholson and R. Lowrey, half-backs; A. O'Halloran, C. Flitnoff, Rev. J. Cresswell, B. Lewis and J. Lowrey, forwards.

UE—J. Hutchinson, goal; S. McGann and S. Murduff, full backs; H. Steel, S. Willis and H. Latham, half-backs; R. Strong, A. Boyd, F. Attard, E. Duffus and A. Featherstone, forwards. Subs., E. Downer and J. Craig.

Referee, J. Adams.

A Drawn Game

Petes and O'Hallorans played a league game Saturday afternoon with both splitting the points with a 4-all count in King Edward Park, before a meagre attendance.

In the early stages it was evident that Petes would dominate the play with their steady system of attack. They introduced Bob Delahaye, local schoolboy, at centre-forward, and he made a good impression. At the interval the count was 2-all. In the second half both teams registered two more to make it 4-all.

O'Hallorans—R. Smith, goal; D. Byers and F. Marion, full backs; A. E. Smith, D. Buchan and D. Gray, half-backs; A. O'Halloran, H. Foster, G. Foster, M. Pollock and G. Downer, forwards.

Petes—E. Woodcock, goal; K. Downer and A. Downer, full backs; A. Downer, W. Cribbis and D. Downer, half-backs; N. Downer, H. Payne, R. Delahaye, J. Steel and E. Lane, forwards.

Referee, J. Adams.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

We have another heavy week coming up at the bowling club. Besides the regular games Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, there are the usual Wednesday night and Friday night tournaments. And to wind up this week and at the same time begins another month we have the Dominion Day (Saturday) open mixed doubles tournament for the Ovaltine Trophy—not too late to make an entry.

And speaking about tournaments—here's a tip—you bowlers who intend playing in the Lift Lock doubles on July 12 and have not as yet made your entry, step lively. The outside support is coming in good. From this date the committee is taking entries as they come. 'Nuff said.

The winning skips of the Family Hour tournament Saturday night were V. Hill, S. McCauley and D. Anderson.

Just imagine—in the spring a young man's fancy, but a young woman's fancier.

St. Kitts Down Petes 20-14 In Senior Lacrosse Tussle

By DON GRANT.

St. Catharines Athletics were far from the perfect hosts Saturday night as they jumped on the weary Peterborough Petes 20-14. Except for brief moments in the first, third and fourth periods, the effect of three games in four days against the toughest senior "A" squads was evident. The locals tried to match the fast-breaking play of Joe Cheever's Ahtletics but the strain began to show. They were outguessed on 60 percent of the draws and failed to have the zip to grab the loose balls and rebounds.

The Athletics jumped to an early 2-0 lead but the locals drove back to tie the score. St. Kitts then took command of the play, backed by spectacular stops by Bill Whitaker in the nets. Before the first period ended they had rapped in five goals to Peterborough's one. They continued to climb in the second with two goals before the Petes retaliated with two. The teams finished the snap-bang period with the Athletics up to 11 and Peterborough to six.

Added It Up

The Petes were disheartened at the first of the third when in 32 seconds off two draws St. Kitts had two goals. They added two others before the Petes caught their balance. When they did, they really started to roll. St. Kitts failed to see the ball for five minutes while the locals rapped in five to make the score 16-11 and put themselves within range of the Athletics.

St. Catharines at three-quarter time rallied for 10 minutes with Whitaker again starring to run their score up to 20. The Petes tried to overcome the nine-goal lead but only managed to obtain one-third of it.

Dootch Vitarelli, Arn Dugan and Don Ashbee were hotter than firecrackers on May 24. Vitarelli whipped in four goals and assisted on three others and Dugan had two goals with five assists. Don Ashbee was Johnny on the spot for five goals and an assist. Tony D'Amico led the St. Kitt's squad with three while Teatero, Oneschuk, Bird, Black, Frick, McMahon and Smith each had two. Teatero was also in on three others.

Peterborough—Goal, Speck; defence, Vitarelli, Fitzgerald; centre, Thorpe; wings, Dugan, Ashbee; rover, E. Creighton; alternates, Nolan, Curtin, Buchanan, Breakspeare, Kinna, Magee, Lewis, Horton.

St. Catharines—Goal, Whitaker; defence, Bird, Madsen; centre, Smith; wings, Teatero, McNulty; rover, McMahon; alternates, Oneschuk, Frick, Ohearn, D'Amico, Croft, Whipper Bradshaw.

Officials—Max Peart of Port Colbourne, Milt Burrows of Brampton.

Invincible Noor Defeats Citation Again

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26 — (CP)—Noor, the invincible Irisher, is the new "wonder horse" of thoroughbred racing.

The five-year-old son of Nasrullah dispelled any doubt as to his greatness Saturday at Golden Gate fields when he outran Citation for the fourth time in a row.

This one was the most convincing because, for the first time, he conceded weight, instead of accepting it, from the kingpin of the Calumet Farm. Noor carried 127 pounds to 126 for Citation and won going away by three lengths in the 1¼ mile $50,000 added Golden Gate Handicap. He set a world record of 1:58 1-5, lopping 1 3-5 seconds off the old time.

Two worlds' records within seven racing days give Noor undisputed membership in the equine hall of fame. Both times Noor hung decisions on Citation and both times Citation himself bettered the former world record.

On June 17, the horse from the Emerald Isle set a world record 1:46 4-5 for 1⅛ miles on the same track. He beat Citation by a neck.

The late Charles S. Howard of San Francisco bought Noor and his brother, Nathoo, for a reported $200,000. Nathoo hasn't run in the United States and is stabled at Hollywood Park, where Noor will race next.

When Noor made his initial appearance at Tanforan last fall he repeatedly lugged out. It was because he was accustomed to running clockwise as in England and many other countries. He had to learn to lean differently in the turns.

Tigers, Yanks Split 2 Games Cleveland Bows to Senators

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Homers are the thing in the major baseball leagues these days.

The poor pitchers have been pounded unmercifully since last week.

With little more than one-third of the season gone, the two majors have hit 888 homers—449 in the National and 439 in the American.

A three-run homer by Hoot Evers in the last of the eighth inning gave Detroit Tigers a 6-3 second-game victory and a split of their Sunday American League doubleheader with the Yankees. Homers by Joe DiMaggio and Hank Bauer helped the Yankees win the opener 8-2. Bauer had a five-for-five game and knocked in four runs in that game. Evers' blast came after the Yankees had pulled even in their half of the eighth on a two-run homer by pinch hitter Tommy Henrich.

The split left the league-leading Tigers still three games in front of the Yankees.

Split Games

The climbing Cleveland Indians were stopped by Washington 5-3 after winning the opener of a doubleheader 7-6 for their fifth straight. Four homers, capped by Al Rosen's grand-slammer in the eighth, won the first game. A homer and a single by Irv Noren furnished three Washington runs in the second to help Sandalio Consuegra, the unbeaten Cuban rookie, to register his third victory.

Boston Red Sox swept a pair from St. Louis 11-5 and 8-2, to give them four straight over the Browns. Walter Dropo, with two singles, a triple and a homer, was the batting star.

Philadelphia fielder Paul Lehner tied an American League record of 11 putouts as the Athletics defeated Chicago White Sox 13-4 in the second game of a doubleheader. The Sox won the opener 7-6. Lehner joined Happy Felsch, Johnny Mostil and Harry Rice as co-holders of the record. Earl Clark, of the 1929 Braves, set the major league putout mark of 12.

A three-run homer by Gus Zernial helped the White Sox to their 11th victory in 13 games in the opener. The A's scored six runs in the first inning and four in the second to make Bob Hooper's seventh victory an easy one.

Closing In

In the National League, Philadelphia Phils rose within a half-game of the leading Dodgers by dividing a twin bill with Chicago while the Pirates were thrashing Brooklyn 16-11. The Phils won the second game 2-1 after the Cubs had won the opener 11-8.

Vern Bickford, Boston right-hander, blanked St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 and Cincinnati Reds swept a twin bill from the Giants 6-3 and 6-4.

Richie Ashburn's single with the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the ninth enabled Philadelphia to win the second game from the Cubs. Hank Sauer slammed two doubles and two home runs to drive in four runs for the Cubs in the opener.

Ralph Kiner crashed a pair of three-run homers, a triple, double and single, and drove in eight runs to feature Pittsburgh's 20-hit attack against seven Brooklyn hurlers.

Bills In Verse Latest Thing At Cincinnati

By HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI, O., June 26 (AP)—If you've neglected to pay a bill, don't be surprised if your next notice reads like this:

"You're overdue on your account.

"Enclosed please find correct amount.

"Before you've got the money spent,

"Send same to us to pay our rent."

Or it may say:

"We wish you'd send
"The dough that's due
"Cause after all
"We eat too."

The idea of sending our rhyming reminders started with Al Barker and William Shane of a Cincinnati greeting card company. Now it's spreading to other firms.

It was Shane who fathered the idea as a result of some difficulty in collecting overdue accounts.

Idea Extended

Since that start, the idea has been extended. Now if an order comes in and the buyer has neglected to provide the necessary credit rating information he's likely to get this reminder:

"Appreciate your order?

"Gosh, you said it!

"We'll ship it, but listen,

"How's your credit?"

And if Barker and Shane haven't received an order for some time from regular customer they send him this:

"Our stock's near exhausted
"But order some.
"We'll send the boxes,
"The verse is yet to come."

They've even figured out a "painless" way of rejecting verses sent in for greeting cards. It goes like this:

"With deep regert
"We return your verses,
"Remember, please,
"No tears or curses."

Guns Go Off By Mistake

TILLSONURG, June 26 (CP)—Two rifles were discharged accidentally Saturday night while being unloaded by Provincial Police after the arrest of Frank West in the Langton bank robbery and double slaying.

Robert Porter, 11, received superficial wounds on face and neck from pieces of pavement which flew into the air when one constable's rifle discharged. The second bullet buried itself in a flower bed in front of the town hall.

Constables called off the hunt after West's arrest were unloading their rifles in the market square and a crowd had gathered to watch.

15 WEEKLY PRIZES

RULES — READ CAREFULLY

The "Radio Ad-O-Gram" Page will appear in The Peterborough Examiner every Monday. In the spaces, in the heading of this page there appear phrases and slogans which have been taken from the advertisements appearing on this page.

TO QUALIFY FOR PRIZES

The reader must find among the advertisements appearing on this page, the ones from which the phrases and slogans have been taken. In making up solution, first write down the number as it appears in the heading. Then opposite the number, write the name and address of the Advertiser from whose advertisement it has been taken, listing them in order of number. To make your solution eligible for entry, attach to it a receipt or label showing that goods or service have been purchased from any one of the Advertisers on this page.

AWARDING OF PRIZES

From all correct and eligible solutions received during the week, 15 will be drawn and the prizes awarded to each respectively in the order in which they are drawn, 1st, $5.00—2nd, $3.00—3rd, $1.00—4th, $1.00, the next 10 will receive a Capitol Theatre ticket.

MEYERS STUDIOS are awarding a special weekly Prize. This is an 8 x 10 Black and White Portrait, nicely mounted in a folder. This Award will be made to the person whose reply is judged the neatest.

Mention the "Radio Ad-O-Gram" advertiser on whom you wish your prize order. Address replies to the "Radio Ad-O-Gram" editor and make sure they reach The Peterborough Examiner by Friday.

Awards will be made in the form of merchandise orders, redeemable at any Advertiser on this page. State on your solution, at which of these "Radio Ad-O-Gram" establishments you wish to redeem your prize order.

RADIO Every Monday the Radio Ad-O-Grams will be announced over CHEX and attention directed to the page in that day's Peterborough Examiner.

Toronto Youth Drowned In Kennahi Lake

With four companions only a short distance away Douglas Rose, 18, Toronto, drowned early Sunday morning when his canoe overturned in Kennabi Lake, 15 miles northeast of Haliburton.

The drowning ended an early-morning expendition along the shoreline by a party of five Toronto scouts looking for another campsite on the Dudley township lake.

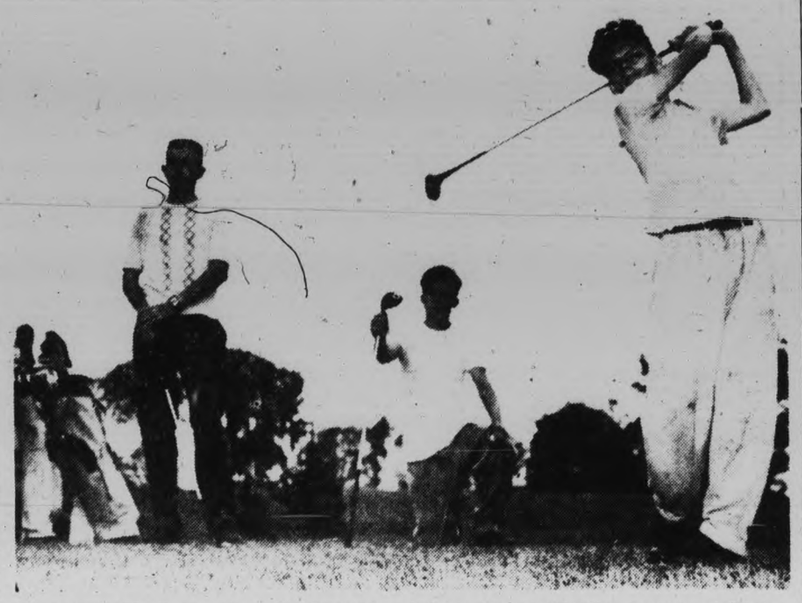
Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan of Lindsay said there will be no inquest.

One strange feature of the fatality was that Rose was considered a fair swimmer. But he sank from view without uttering a call for aid and with no apparent struggle.

The five youths set off in three canoes — Group Leaders Owen Cliff and Jack King in one canoe; two other scouts, Ross Partridge and Alex Reid in the second; and Rose alone in the third.

No Outcry Given

They paddled about half a mile north of their present Boy Scout camp when they saw what appeared to be a desirable stretch of snoreline for their new campsite. The two group leaders scrambled ashore from the first canoe and the second one was being beached when some of the party heard an unexpected sound that caused them to glance behind.



Rose's canoe was overturned about 30 feet from shore and he had disappeared from view. They immediately began diving to try and locate him but the water there is about 35 feet and they were unsuccessful.

Dragging operations began and the body was recovered about an hour later.

Coroner Dr. E. W. Warren of Haliburton pronounced Rose dead. Provincial Constables A. R. Edwards and Gordon Langton of Minden investigated.

LOSE TO COBOURG LIONS

Eight members of the Peterborough Lions Club were beaten Sunday in Cobourg in a golf match with members of the Cobourg Lions Club. Lin Morrison and Jack Duncan of Peterborough, Jack Buchanan and George Pickering both of Cobourg, were outstanding. The return match will be on July 9. Peterborough golfers were Harold Freeman, Jim McCullough, Lin Morrison, Jack Freeman, Ed. Pritchard, Bert Mortlock, Norman Wilkes and Jack Duncan.

Permitted Drunkenness

Charged with permitting drunkenness in his room at 158 Charlotte St., David Forbes today pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and $2.50 by Magistrate W. R. Philp. His room was declared a public place.

Two men charged with being found in Forbes' room, Willard Ward, 158 Charlotte St., and Edward Crowe, 431 Bethune St., had charges dismissed.

Raw Reception For Cruiser At Campbellford; Amends

When skipper-owner C. M. Hammond of cruiser Al Joe II, first to visit the Trent Waterways this season pulled out from George St. Wharf bound down-stream to Campbellford, on Saturday morning, he and his party were reluctant to leave, he stated. Many city people had fallen over backwards to make their two-day tie-up pleasant. Peterborough people wanted to show visitors all the graciousness possible. And they succeeded. It was otherwise at Campbellford.

The Indianapolis party arrived at Campbellford on Saturday afternoon after a pleasant cruise down the Otonabee, along Rice Lake, and through the Trent as far as Campbellford, where they tied up in the canal at the west end of the business section. The visitors wanted a meal and they tried various establishments, some were not suitable, others served no meals on Saturday, and they even received false information about one excellent place being unable to handle them.

After buying steaks from a butcher, the Hamomnd party cooked dinner in their own well-equipped galley. They went to bed thinking this was an odd situation in a friendly country that advertised for American dollars in exchange for courtesy and service.

Between 5 and 6 p.m. Sunday morning, their sleep was rudely shattered by a man who came to the wharf and pounded on their cruiser demanding admittance as a representative of the law. The town policeman, Constable Geo. H. Hardy, was summoned. He came and took the reveller away to a bed where he could sleep.

The visitors were naturally alarmed at these boorish antics, and did not hesitate in saying so. Some public-minded citizens, chiefly Councillor Carl J. Maier, salved the situation and arranged a dinner for the Hammond party at the best eating spot in town.

They left Campbellford early today after enjoying a quiet night's sleep. "They felt better about our town when they pulled out," said Councillor Maier.

The man creating the disturbance was Jack Dunlay 25, a town truck driver. Constable Hardy said he was still investigating the incident and that charges will be laid.

Waving Knife Man In Grey Accosts Child

BETHANY, June 26 (ENS)—Brandishing a knife and wearing prison-type clothes and no shoes a mysterious man tried to accost her Saturday night, 14-year-old Marie Neals of the Bethany district told provincial police.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Korah Neals, she said she saw the man near her farm home, two miles north of this hamlet. She claimed he disappeared into the woods when her brothers and sisters arrived.

The man was said to be wearing grey clothes — possibly prison garb and no shoes. He had closely cropped hair and a heavy beard. In his hand he held a knife.

His conversation was brief. He asked her if she was alone. She said "no," and just then others of the family arrived attracted by the sound of voices.

Provincial police searched the district but found nobody answering to this description.

New Car Won By Baby

The luckiest boy in Peterborough today is 17-months-old Richard Alan (Ricky) Fanning. Ricky is too young to realize his good fortune but it's the No. 1 topic of conversation in the city.

Ricky is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fanning, Jr., 554 Reid St. But the winning ticket—made out in his name—was actually purchased by his grandfather, W. E. Fanning, Sr.

Mr. Fanning, Sr., is a Kinsmen and had been helping with the two-day carnival. However he left the grounds Saturday night before the winning ticket was drawn and the family did not know of their good luck until late Sunday morning.

2-Day Carnival

The draw was the climax of the carnival held Friday and Saturday by the Kinsmen to raise funds for their children's work.

Friday night was not so good as there was a heavy rain but the club more than recouped by a big turnout Saturday. Bingo, and games of chance proved popular with the large crowd.

"I'd say the carnival was a financial success," said Harley Weir, Kinsmen president. "It certainly was on a par with other years and would have been even better had it not been for the rain Friday."

Parties Agree Shorter Week With Same Pay

The strike of some 170 production workers at the Peterborough Lock Co. plant is over. An agreement reached Saturday with the company gives them a reduction of two and a half hours a week with the same pay previously received for 45 hours.

Agreement was also reached on seniority and time study clauses. There will be no retroactive pay.

Minor wrinkles in the new contract—to run for a year with no "wage opener" — are still being smoothed out. The negotiating committee of Local 527, United Electrical Workers, and company officials are due to meet again later today.

When the company turned down union demands the workers called a strike May 4. They have remained out since.

There is still no definite date when all 170 production workers will be back at their benches, but production will resume as soon as possible.

Joint Statement

Following is the text of a joint statement issued today:

"An agreement was reached between the company and the union on Saturday . . . which included:

1. A 42½-hour week without loss in take-home pay to the employees.

2. Contract to run for one year from date of signing, with no wage opening clause on either side.

3. The items of seniority and time study were mutually agreed upon.

"The new agreement, we feel, will provide a mutually satisfactory basis for good employer-employee relations. Apart from the above changes the provisions of the 1948-49 contract continue for one year."

Chicago Executive

The break in the deadlock between the two parties came after the arrival in Peterborough last Wednesday of R. Hosken Damon, chairman of Bowser Incorporated, Chicago, the parent plant of Peterborough Lock Co.

Negotiations were resumed with Mr. Damon sitting in and an agreement was finally hammered out. Hints that the strike was just about over came early Saturday.

Today some 15 employees are back in the plant "getting things cleaned up and work organized." A company official stated today that the company had been "pretty hard hit and we've lost quite a bit of business."

From the same source it was learned that because of this loss of business full scale production cannot be resumed immediately. Departments of the plant will probably open with small staffs and increase toward their normal size as business picks up.

At no time during the strike was there any violence. Pickets were placed in front of the plant which was locked. The only ones to cross the picket line were maintenance main checking daily in compliance with fire marshal's regulations.

Company officials and the office staff moved to a suite in the Empress hotel and business was carried on from there.

"We're glad the strike is over and we can get back to production," said Robert Maybee, vice president and general manager. Similar sentiments were expressed by the strikers.

NAMED DIRECTOR

E. H. Howson, president of Peterborough Lock Company announced today that John R. Jobe, sales manager, had been appointed to the board of directors of the company.

CLOSE SATURDAY

All Peterborough stores and factories will celebrate Dominion Day Saturday, July 1. The stores will be open all day this Wednesday.

Doctor In Korea

COBOURG, June 26 (ENS)—Dr. and Mrs. C. W. MacCharles of Cobourg are believed to be near the hostilities in Korea, the doctor and his wife being in residence at Seoul.

Dr. MacCharles is on leave of absence from his duties here as senior medical officer of the Counties Health Unit, having been lent to the United Nations health bureau.

Hubcap Telltale; Other Smashes Over Weekend

A hubcap found near an accident on Aylmer St., and a description of an auto, led police Saturday night to a driver who may be charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

Joseph Hill, 230½ Charlotte St., is believed to have been the driver of a car that was in collision with one driven by James Gosselin, 61 Crescent St. Police were called to Aylmer St., near Hunter St., Saturday night, and found a hubcap under Mr. Gosselin's car.

With a description of the missing car, they went in search of it and located one they believed to be it shortly after Mr. Hill parked his car in his garage.

A hubcap was missing from one wheel, and there were several dents in one fender, which police said corresponded with those on Gosselin's auto.

Mr. Hill was taken to police headquarters, where he suggested the car might have been taken from him and used while he had left it parked.

Another Hit-and-Run

Fourth hit-and-run accident in the past week was reported to police Saturday night by G. R. Johnston, 153 Hart Ave. He told police he had left his car parked on the west side of Burnham St., and returned to find the left rear fender nearly torn off.

It is believed police have the license number of the car which struck Johnston's auto.

Minor damage was done to two cars on Saturday when they collided near Charlotte and Water streets. Harry Bower, 465 McDonnel St., was driving north on Water St., and has just passed Charlotte, when his car was in collision with one driven by Vernal Earnshaw of Apsley.

Earnshaw said he had been trying to park, but had not been able to, and was pulling away from the curb when the two cars met.

Cars driven by John A. Boyd of Toronto, and Wilfred Davies, 666 Romaine St., collided Saturday night at Charlotte and Aylmer streets. Mr. Davies, who was driving west on Charlotte, was trying to make a left turn on to Aylmer St. when the cars collided. Damage was not heavy.

Snaps Pole

On Sunday, the steering gear of an auto driven by James Jordan, RR 4, went wrong as he drove west on Barnardo Ave., and the car struck a telephone pole, snapping it off at the base.

Mr. Jordan told police he had hit a series of bumps and felt his car becoming difficult to steer. When he hit the final hole in the road, a tie-rod broke, and his car went out of control, striking the post.

The radiator of his car was pushed back, and the right front fender was caved in.

ATTEND AIR SHOW

Jack Moore, vice-president, Region VI Junior Chamber of Commerce, and F. W. (Bill) Edworthy, Peterborough Jaycee president, attended an executive meeting at Kingston Saturday, June 24. While in Kingston they were guests of the Kingston Flying Club at an air show. Mrs. Edworthy accompanied the Peterborough delegates to the Jaycee functions.

Crowd at CGE Picnic Enjoys Thrills of Daredevil Act Adults and Children's Races

More than 2,000 hillside spectators rose to their feet in thrilled amazement as Daredevil Johnny performed his slide for life and provided a spectacular climax for the outdoor stage show at the C.G.E. picnic at Nicholls Oval Saturday Night. Nineteen-year-old John Oldroyd stole the show by climbing up a rope anchored at a 45 degree angle to the ground and a 65-foot pole and then sliding backwards into the arms of three men at a rate of 35 miles an hour, with only the use of a long pole for balance. According to his father and trainer, Johnny is the only white man who can perform this daring feat without the use of his hands.

The remaining ten acts in the show were packed with thrills and entertainment, and as a whole, provided some of the best vaudeville entertainment ever seen in this city. The Nicklings, a team on horizontal bars; the Rutleys, hand balancers; Flash, the dancing stallion and a tight-rope walker provided the thrills while the music, singing and dancing of the Metro Maids, the Sophisticates Tom Hamilton, the Scottish comedian and the boy from Lakefield were good entertainment. Buddy Arden with his puppet shoe, "Stars on Strings," was another outstanding entertainer.

An excellent public address and lighting system allowed the hot and weary picnickers to relax on the hillside and enjoy the evening's entertainment after a strenuous afternoon's sports program.

The picnic, under the joint auspices of the CGE Social and Athletic Club and Canteen Fund, began at 1:30 p.m. and half an hour later, a large crowd had gathered to watch the softball game between Oshawa Pedlars and the Peterborough Works All-Stars.

Visitors Victorious

The Oshawa pitcher, Bagnell, proved too much for the local team and the visitors walked away with a 10-0 win. Guilfoyle, Birch and Gordon were on the mount for Peterborough with Burns as catcher. Bagnell pitched to Barker for three innings and was then replaced by Cooper. Playing almost errorless ball, the visiting team proved their right to the Intermediate "A" Ontario championship which they hold.

After the ball game, races were held for children and adults. One of the most entertaining races for the spectators was the mixed pie race. The ladies had to run to their male partners with half a lemon meringue pie, and feed it to them without the men using their hands. When the pie had been eaten, the men ran back to the starting point. Most of the men ended up with white meringue beards and a fast disappearing appetite for lemon pie.

During the afternoon and evening, draws were held and the following were prize winners: employees' wives draw, vacuum cleaner with attachments, Mrs Foster, Driscoll Terrace, employees' draw, combination radio and record player, J. L. Scott, 299 Townsend St.; fathers' draw, O. Price and E. LaPlante, mothers' draw, Mrs. H. G. Todd and Mrs. L Herman.

Name Westerner YM Secretary For Boys' Work

William McFarlane, boys' work secretary at the Saskatoon YMCA, has accepted the position of boys' work secretary at the local YMCA, A. L. Elliott, KC, president of the YMCA, announced today. He will succeed Donald Duncan who resigned a week ago to accept an appointment to the London YMCA staff.

Mr. McFarlane has been boys' work secretary at the Saskatoon YMCA since 1945. From 1939 until 1945 he was a member of the Winnipeg YMCA staff, first as a swimming instructor and camp director for six years then as assistant boys' work secretary. Prior to his work in Winnipeg Mr. McFarlane spent a year at the Calgary YMCA.

Mr. McFarlane received his secondary school education at Calgary and is a graduate of the University of Manitoba. He is married and has one child.

To London

His predecessor Donald Duncan began his duties as boys' work secretary when Maxwell Singleton left to accept a position on the staff of the St. Catharines YMCA.

In addition to his secretarial work Mr. Duncan has organized the Y's Men's Club's boys camp yearly as well as serving as camp director in 1948 and 1949.

Since his appointment to the local staff Mr. Duncan has been studying extramurally and at summer school at the University of Western Ontario. He finishes his course this summer.

Orange Lodges Plan To Walk In Lindsay

LINDSAY, June 26 — The "Glorious Twelfth" will be celebrated in Lindsay this year, commemorating the 200th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. It is expected that two special trains, one from Haliburton and one from Cobourg, will come into Lindsay on that day.

W. Bro. Robert Magahay will be chairman for the afternoon program, and included among the special speakers will be Bro. Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Premier of Ontario, R. W. Bro. C. W. Hodgson, M. P., Warden Worsley, Victoria County, Mayor Chas. Lamb, of Lindsay, and Bro. Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, of Omemee.

Complete Extermination of Mosquitos

"The better to bite you." Yes, the mosquitoes are bigger and healthier this year reports Dr. R. A. Kelly, medical officer of health. And the worst is still to come with the peak of their feasting expected in the middle of July.

Unfortunately neither man nor beast can completely wipe out these annoying pests that are capable of raising havoc with human tempers. In fact they completely take the joy out of living during the summer months.

Modern science has been successful in discovering two ways in which the helpless human can wage battle with these insect cannibals. The first way which is in the form of a repellent, can be purchased at any drugstore. This repellent is rubbed on the skin and contains an odour which is supposed to be abnoxious to their sensitive little smelling apparatus. If this does not do the trick and a mosquito is successful in making his attack there is really nothing more to do except exert a little self-discipline and refrain from scratching.

DDT has been found to be deadly in the mosquito world and already citizens have been buying out the stores' supply of spray guns. However, mosquito extermination is too big a job for individuals and the city has had to step in to the battle.

The services of the Habegail Fogging Co. have been procured to spray the major breeding areas in the district in the gulley behind the Normal School and the pond in Jackson's Park. This spray contains methoxoxhlor, chordone, lindone and other chemicals. Complete extermination is only a hopeless dream, but it has been found that this spray will lessen their numbers sufficiently to make human existence in the city bearable. The first spray offensive was launched on June 16 and it is hoped that it will prove effective for six weeks. A second attack is expected to take place at the end of this period. Whether a third spraying will be necessary will depend a good deal on weather conditions.

Unfortunately each one of these spraying operations, cost the city approximately $500. Now where does the city get this money? Why from the taxpayers of course. Consequently the citizen is faced with the demand, "pay or be bitten."

No Youngsters Entered In Golf Tourney

COLUMBUS, O., June 26 —(AP)—The $40,000 Professional Golfers' Association tournament is making a farce of the old axiom that youth must be served.

There are no youngsters (in the 20-year-old classifications) left in the meet today. Usually the six-day tortuous grind sends the older pros to the verandah.

This 1950 meet on the 7,032-yard Scioto Country Club course has become, generally, a race of dark horses—older ones.

Into the 36-hole semi-finals go such aged - in the - wood contestants as Henry Picard, responding like an old fire horse; Henry Williams, Jr., of Secane, Pa.; Chandler Harper, of Portsmouth, Va., and rainbow-hued Jimmy Demaret.

Demaret, 40, should be ranked heads above the company he is keeping in the semi-finals. He contends that he is only 38, if that makes much difference, but the record book says he should be 40.

In the past, this tournament has been Demaret's jinx. Twice he has reached the semi-finals only to be beaten each time by Ben Hogan, who went on to win.

The youngest in the 36 holes of match play today is Williams, 33. He hasn't been projected as far into the limelight before and is rather blinded by it all. He was a quarter-finalist in 1949.

Then comes Harper at 36. He is recognized as a tough competitor. But he has never advanced beyond the second round in three previous PGA attempts.

Royals Capture Twin Bill; In First Place

(By The Associated Press)

The sun is shining and hearts are young and gay once again in Montreal for the Royals are back in first place in the tight International League pennant race.

Black indeed was the picture May 26, for on that date the Royals yielded first place to Rochester Red Wings and started a slide that tumbled them all the way down to fifth place.

They began their stirring comeback June 18 when they buried Syracuse Chiefs 17-5 to halt a nine-game losing streak. Since the Royals have won nine of 10 starts.

A crowd of 15,106 turned out in Montreal Sunday and the Royals took both ends of a double-header from Springfield Cubs 4-3 and 7-2, to wrest the league lead from the Cubs.

Catcher Toby Atwel was the hero in the opener. Atwell cracked his third home run of the season with one out in the last of the ninth to break a 3-3 tie.

Makes First Start

Ronnie Lee, young southpaw relief specialist, made his first start of the season in the seven-inning nightcap and came up with a neat six-hitter to post his seventh victory against three losses. The Royals clubbed Bob Spicer and Gene Costello for 10 hits, including Don Thompson's sixth home run of the season.

The defeats dumped the Cubs into a third-place tie with Jersey City Giants, with Rochester Red Wings remaining in second place half-a-game off the pace.

Rochester split a doubleheader with Baltimore Orioles and the Giants divided a pair with the last-place Buffalo Bisons.

The Wings trounced the Orioles 11-6 in the first game but lost the second 5-2.

Gets Two Homers

Righthander Johnny Yuhas gained his eighth victory and his first since June 4 in the first game. Yuhas helped his own cause by banging a pair of home runs. The Wings iced the decision with a 10-run blast in the fourth.

Rookie third baseman Russ Kerns won the second game for the Orioles with a three-run homer in the sixth inning, his eighth of the season.

Righthander Aaron Silverman blanked the Giants on six hits in the opener at Jersey City. The Bisons collected only five blows but two were homers by Walt Novick and Gene Markland.

The Giants slammed four home runs to nail down the nightcap. Rookie Marv Blaylock socked two homers and Nap Reyes and Chet Laabs one each. Hank Biasatti poled one for the Bisons.

Toronto's seven place Maple Leafs took both ends of a twin bill from Syracuse Chiefs 6-2 and 4-0. The Leafs wiped out a 2-0 deficit with three runs in the eighth inning and sealed the verdict in the ninth when Andy Skurski belted a three-run homer.

Jocko Thompson blanked the Chiefs on five hits in the finale. Johnny Mayo homered with one on in the first to give Thompson an early working margin.

Youth Badly Bitten

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—A 16-year-old youth was severely bitten while swimming off Rockaway Park Sunday and a hospital doctor diagnosed his wounds as "possible shark bites." The youth, Joseph Falango, was reported in fair condition. There have been shark scares at nearby beaches but no previously-reported attacks.

Hastings Defeated

HASTINGS, June 26—(ENS)—Barney McColl was the big gun in the Wooler attack, as Wooler handed Hastings Legion an 18-7 shellacking at Trenton Park in a regular TVL fixture.

For five and a half innings it was a well-played game, with Legion leading 3-2, but in the bottom half of the inning, Wooler suddenly opened up, and by the time the last man was out, seven runs had crossed the plate. McColl accounted for four of them with his first of three home runs.

In the bottom half of the seventh, Richardson replaced West on the mound, but a tendency to wildness and loose support kept him in trouble and another homer by McColl blasted him from the mound, to be replaced by Scott, who finished the game.

McColl went the route for Wooler and was "never in serious trouble.

Lineups:

Hastings—Fife c, Morrow cf, Scott 3b, p, Beavis ss, Thompson 1b, West p, Richardson rf, p, Scriver 1b, Thomas 2b, Phillips lf.

Wooler—Austin 1b, Ford 3b, Leavitt 3b, McColl p, Stacey c, Richardson ss, Putman rf, McMaster 2b, Dorland cf, Brown ss, Adams lf, Scott 2b.

TORONTO, June 26 (CP) — Richard MacDonald of Edmonton co-ordinator of cultural activities for the Alberta government, has been appointed first secretary-treasurer of the Dominion Drama Festival, it was announced Saturday at an executive meeting

Members from Edmonton, Sarnia, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Peterborough, and London, Ont., attended the meeting.

Also announced Saturday was establishment of a festival-sponsored drama magazine, to be known as Theatre Canada. Editor will be Father Emil Legault, founder of the Montreal drama group Les Compagnons.

Associate director of Theatre Canada is Herbert Whittaker, Toronto critic. Editorial committee members include Robertson Davies, Peterborough, playwright and journalist.

The executive announced that next year's festival will be held in London, Ont., May 7-12.

Cricketers Get Fourth Win Over Dentonia

By C. H. IRESON.

Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club won its fourth straight council match, defeating Dentonia 120 to 71 in Toronto on Saturday. Previously they won from Toronto 92 to 18, Parkdale 38 for five to 33, and Toronto A 199 for four to 128.

P-W batted first with A. Pope's 52 and F. Booth's 24 for 76 out of 1h3, the total was taken to 120. Pope's great innings included eight fours. R. Titshall had 14 and G. Wright 10. The only really successful Toronto bowler was E. Boyden, who took nine wickets for 42 runs, George Mann having one for 35. Pope and Booth scored 77 for the fourth wicket, taking the score from 18 to 95.

The Dentonia batting was a bit more even. W. Gallagher was top scorer with 15, and the score was 48 for three wickets. G. Mann got 12 and W. Rbysta 10, with later players doing little.

Bowling was opened by Pope and Boom, but after the latter had bowled four overs for 20 runs and one wicket, he was relieved by B. Roberts. The innings soon closed at 71. Pope had three wickets for 18 and B. Roberts five for 25, an encouraging showing for a bowler who had little success this season. The results:

Peterborough-Whitaker — Batting: W. G. Wright 10, B. Roberts 4, E. Cotton 3, F. Booth 24, A. Pope 52, T. Scott 1, R. Rollwagen 5, R. Titshall 14, Titshall 0, W. Freeman 0, T. Fraser 0; extras 7, total 120.

Bowling: G. Mann 1 wicket for 35 runs, E. Boyden 9 for 42, D. Gallagher 0 for 39, W. McGregor 0 for 7.

Fall of wickets: 1 for 14, 2 for 17, 3 for 18, 4 for 95, 5 for 101, 6 for 102, 7 for 108, 8 for 120, 9 for 120, 10 for 120.

Dentonia — Battery: D. Gallagher 15, F. Haourt 5, D. Royston 10, G. Mann 12, J. Gale 1, R. Lean 7, E. Boyden 2 not out, D. Clopsham 9, W. McGregor 0, D. Downs 2, extras 8; total, 71.

Bowling: A. Pope 3 wickets for 18 runs, F. Book 1 for 20, B. Roberts 5 for 25.

Fall of wickets: 1 for 12, 2 for 35, 3 for 48, 5 for 52, 6 for 56, 7 for 57, 8 for 67, 9 for 71.

On Saturday, July 1, the locals, playing as Peterborough County, will play Carleton County at the Oval in the first round for the Ontario County cricket championship and the R. C. Matthews Trophy. The Carleton team is drawn from clubs in the Ottawa Valley Cricket Council.

Credit Men See Business At A High Level

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, Ltd., has the following to say in its current analysis of business conditions:

"The majority of factors on which continued prosperity is based appear to be reasonably favorable and from all indications general conditions in Canada during 1950 should be maintained at a high level.

"We still have problems to solve, the most serious being that of exports and the solution is largely based on an increase in imports from countries, mainly the United Kingdom, where there is a potential market for our raw materials, especially farm products.

"It must not be overlooked that manufacturing is playing an increasingly important part in our economy. It is essential that we export manufactured goods and also maintain a high internal market. We cannot afford to have imports, from lower-standard-of-living countries especially, affect our manufacturers too adversely."

Booklet Award

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association has issued a booklet entitled "For Immediate Release" whose purpose is to bring about better understanding between industrialists and the press, and accordingly, between industrialists and the public. It includes contributions from a number of editors across the country.

The annual Pilington Glass scholarship in architecture, open to all graduating Canadian Architectural students, has been awarded to Irying Crossman of the University of Toronto. The scholarship is worth $1,500 plus full travelling expenses to and from Britain. A. C. Erickson of McGill University won a second prize of $100, and A. W. Trimble, of the University of Manitoba, a third prize of $50.

What Income Will You Need When You Retire?

When the time comes to retire you will still need an income . . . but how much will you need? If you have to reduce your standard of living too steeply, your declining years are unlikely to be years of comfort.

The wise thing is to review your probable needs while it is still possible to make provision. Life insurance can be arranged to provide as much guaranteed monthly income as you consider necessary.

Individual needs differ — some men must provide their entire retirement income from their private savings — others need only to supplement existing retirement benefits. Manufacturers Life representatives are trained to help you plan the income required in your particular case.

50 Years Ago U.S. Army Doctors Solved Secret Of Yellow Fever

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Fifty years ago today, Maj. Walter Reed of the United States Army Medical Corps arrived in Havana, Cuba.

He had come to find out what caused yellow fever which had killed more Americans in the Spanish-American War than were slain by Spanish bullets.

"Yellow Jack" the soldiers called it.

In the United States in previous years, yellow fever had struck with epidemic frightfulness in many cities, killing thousands.

Victims would fall suddenly, wracked with pain. Later their eyes and faces would turn yellow and their stomachs retch forth the dread "black vomit."

No one knew the cause of the sickness, but many believed it was some mysterious "poison" in the air. Men fired cannon or burned tar pots to try to dispel it.

Mocquito Blamed

Reed and his associates demonstrated that the disease was transmitted by a mosquito.

Years after Reed's death in 1902, Scientists discovered that the actual cause was a virus. This and other finds have resulted in development of a protective vaccine.

But the work of Reed and his associates made it possible to control yellow fever by ridding stricken areas of the mosquito.

Reed and three associates were on the "Yellow Fever Board" — Doctors Jesse Lazear, James Carroll and Aristides Agramonte.

Dr. Carroll was the first hero of the research. He contracted an almost-fatal case of fever after twice allowing himself to be bitten by mosquitos which had fed on yellow fever victims. Dr Lazear also got sick—and died.

Reed made a brilliant deduction based on notes left behind by Dr. Lazear.

The deduction was that a mosquito can become infected only if it bites a yellow fever victim during the first three days of his illness, and that it requires at least 12 days for the disease to develop in the insect's body.

GRATEFUL FOR HELP WITH CONSTIPATION

"My husband spent much money seeking cures for constipation. Not until he began eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN for breakfast did his trouble disappear!" So writes Mrs. Fernand Boudreault, 11 rue Hôtel de Ville, L'Abord-à-Plouffe, Conté Laval, P.Q.

One of many unsolicited letters. If you suffer from constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet, do this: Eat an ounce of toasty KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN daily, drink plenty of water. If not completely satisfied with results after 10 days, send empty box to Kellogg's, London, Ont. Get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Better living in city and country because Modern Machinery increases farm production and buying power

Everybody benefits when farmers are prosperous. Take the past five years. Farm buying power was approximately 95% higher in 1945-49 than in 1935-39, increasing farm demand for hundreds of products. Farm buying broadened the foundation for the all-round expansion of Canadian business, with the result that more Canadians were employed at higher wages and salaries than ever before.

Farmers, in turn, benefited from a keen demand for their products in all Canadian towns and cities, plus a steady export market . . . completing a true prosperity cycle.

The total effect was greatly amplified by more efficient farm production. In the past five years, Canadian farmers replaced 1,000,000 horses with new tractors and power-farming equipment. By so doing, they not only withstood the loss of thousands of farm workers who moved to town and city jobs, but raised their 1945-49 production nearly 25% above the 1935-39 level.

With the latest model Massey-Harris super-combine, one man can cut and thresh more wheat in a day than 9 or 10 men were able to do in two days, with horse-drawn equipment. Since 1847, Massey-Harris has been a leader in engineering better and better machines for more efficient farm production.

Decide CBC Needs Money But Fail to Devise Plan

OTTAWA, June 26 —(CP)— The Commons committee on radio broadcasting today recognized the need of the CBC for additional revenues, but decided not to recommend any method of obtaining more money.

In a 3,000-word report tabled in the Commons the committee said the method "is a matter of principle upon which the Royal Commission on National Development in Arts, Letters and Sciences will undoubtedly make a recommendation."

The commission is expected to make a report to the government this fall.

Assure Independence

"Your committee believes that whatever method may be adopted to put sufficient funds into the hands of the corporation it should be one under which the independence of the corporation is assured," said the report, tabled by Ralph Maybank (L-Winnipeg South Centre), chairman of the committee.

In supplementary estimates tabled Friday there was an amount of $650,000 to provide working capital and to partially finance CBC deficits pending a decision on the corporation's future requirements.

During the Royal Commission and committee hearings CBC officials, pointed to a deficit of about $240,000 for 1949-50 and an estimated deficit of $900,000 for 1950-51, said that they would have sufficient revenues if the present licence fee of $2.50 a year on radio receiving sets were doubled.

Up To Parliament

However, they did not recommend an increase. A. D. Dunton, CBC chairman, said it was up to parliament to decide how the corporation should be financed.

The committee expressed views on a number of other matters.

In its opinion the CBC should:

1. Provide CBC network service as soon as possible for areas not receiving such services.

2. Keep the Canadian people better informed about the activities of the CBC.

3. Exert constant effort to improve further the balance in the presentation of different viewpoints on the air.

4. Extend the development of service in Newfoundland.

5. Consider extension of its international short-wave service.

Would Cut Collecting

The committee also suggested the transport department consider ways of reducing the cost of collecting licence fees—now between 12 and 13 per cent.

On television, the committee said the establishment of production centres in Montreal and Toronto should be a "good beginning for a Canadian national television system." The centres, due to begin operations in September, 1951, will be able to supply recorded television programs to stations in other parts of the country."

The Committee did not make recommendations on principles for television extension because the Royal Commission has such principles under consideration.

Need Adequate System

"It does see the need for the establishment of some proper and adequate system of financing Canadian television development in the general national interest."

The report said the committee "was not impressed" with the evidence of Joel Aldred of Toronto, former CBC announcer, who appeared at his own request to elaborate on his charges that there was wastage in CBC Toronto studios.

In referring to the CBC's financial plight, the committee said it had no fault to find with the corporation's expenditures up to date or with those estimated for the future.

There could be only one of two solutions to the financial problem. Services rendered could be cut to reduce costs, or some way could be found of increasing revenues.

Consequences Disastrous

The CBC could live within its means, but the consequences of doing this would be "disastrous." Network service to some parts of the country would have to be dropped and the quality of others lowered; some CBC departments would have to be abolished and the staff would have to be reduced.

"Your committee believes that such reduction of services is unthinkable," said the report. "It would so heavily reduce the value of the system that it would be against the national interest."

The committee said that besides continuing existing services and coverage, the CBC should extend coverage to such places as the Prince George, Prince Rupert, Kootenay and Arrow Lakes districts of British Columbia; the Rainy River, Thunder Bay and Algoma districts of Ontario; the Temiscamingue, Gaspe and eastern Saguenay regions of Quebec; parts of the Restigouche and Northumberland districts of New Brunswick; parts of Nova Scotia, including Cape Breton Island, and parts of Newfoundland.

Causes of Deafness Told in Free Book Available to Public

Have Big Shock Ready For Eels

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP) —The United States Government has a big shock in store for the lamprey eels which are playing havoc with trout stocks in the Great Lakes—it plans to electrocute them.

It was disclosed during the weekend by Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman that the Cook Research Laboratory of Chicago has cooked up the electrical gadget to do away with the lamprey menace.

The device is to be put to the test on Carp Lake River in Michigan about Oct. 15, with the expectation that the shock treatment will be fully developed by next year.

Acording to Chapman's announcement, the lampreys will be lured by bright underwater lights and then will be shocked to death by sound waves produced by sonic generators tuned to their heartbeat.

He reported that trout and other game fish will not be drawn into the lethal trap because they are not bright-light addicts.

Reports U.S. Atomic Bomb Can Blow Up Only Small Hill

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)— An American atom bomb could blow up only a small hill, and much less move a mountain as the Russians have claimed they can do.

It would require hundreds or even thousands of A-bombs to move even part of one mountain. Last year the Russians claimed atomic explosives were changing the course of rivers and moving mountains.

The estimate of what an atom bomb can really do is given by Dr. Frederick Reines, a staff member of the Los Alamos, New Mexico, scientific laboratory, where the making of the bomb is directed. He writes in the June issue of the bulletin of the atomic scientists.

"Though the mass of earth which the atom bomb is capable of moving is large in terms of freight carboads," he says, "It is small compared with a mountain.

Not Much Effect

"For example, a hill about a quarter-mile high and a quarter-mile across could probably be blown apart, but one significantly larger would not be so destroyed.

"On this scale, it would take a huge number of bombs, perhaps hundreds or even thousands to move any appreciable fraction of a mountain.

"By the same token, although an atomic bomb could be useful in breaking up a few small icebergs, it does not look promising as a tool for causing any important rearrangements of the Arctic ice. As for melting the polar ice cap, if all the energy released by one bomb were so employed, it would melt much less ice than it could pulverize —i.e., it could melt a sphere approximately 200 feet in diameter."

Dr. Reines thinks it might be possible to divert a river's course. This would be done by blasting a large volume of solid rock, probably by detonating the bomb deep in the rock. The radio activity from the explosion would soon be diluted by the running water, he says.

Suspend Agreement

LONDON, June 26—(Reuters) —The Daily Express reported today that the Canadian government has suspended an agreement with the United States which prevented Canada from sending atomic explosives to Britain.

Barbara Ann Gets Kiss On Newfoundland Birthday

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 26 (CP)—A kiss from Premier Joseph Smallwood, screeching jet planes, and Barbara Ann Scott featured Newfoundland's 453rd birthday celebrations Saturday.

Newfoundland did things on the large scale to point up the fact that it was Britain's oldest colony and Canada's youngest province. There were high-ranking government representatives present from every province.

The United States, which has three bases in Newfoundland, sent a fleet of jet planes to zoom and cavort over the capital. Cloudy weather cleared up just in time to let the flyers do their stuff.

Barbara Ann Scott, Canada's ballerina of the blades, was the chief personage in laying the cornerstone of St. John's new hockey stadium. Mr. Smallwood, Newfoundland's irrepresible premier, took the opportunity to buss her on the cheek—as "a present from all the people of Newfoundland."

Andrew Carnell, former mayor for 25 years of St. John's, also kissed "darling" Barbara Ann, who was presented with a fur coat. She promised to come back here to skate when the stadium is built.

A scheduled march past of military, naval and air force units had to be cancelled because of rain and presentation of the King's colors took place in the drill hall of Buckmaster Field. Later a crowd of some 5,000 braved biting winds to see Barbara Ann lay the cornerstone Mayor Harry Mews introduced her.

Cut Cablegram Rates To 15 Cents A Word

OTTAWA, June 26 (CP)—The full rates on radiograms and cablegrams from Canada to the United Kingdom will be reduced to a flat 15 cents a word effective July 1, a transport department official said Saturday.

This will replace the existing differential system under which such messages cost 18 cents a word when originating in Eastern Canada and 20 cents a word on messages originating in the prairie provinces and British Columbia.

(When the new rate structure was announced Friday The Canadian Press erroneously reported that the existing differential was 27 cents and 30 cents a word, respectively, for the prairies and British Columbia.)

The new rates, bringing general reductions to all overseas points, arise from an agreement reached last year at an international telegraph conference in Paris.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: (Vitamin data as requested by Mrs. M. C. continued from last week.)

VITAMIN B: This group has many divisions which are known as water-soluble vitamins.

1.—Thiamine: Anti-neuritic factor, and essential for maintenance of good appetite, gratro-intestinal tone, and normal digestion. It is necessary for growth, fertility and lactation, and is needed for normal functioning of nervous tissue.

Symptoms which show deficiency of this factor are shortness of breath, high blood pressure, loss of vitality, loss of muscle tone, convulsions, heart lesions.

Good Dietary Sources of Thiamine

Wheat germ, whole wheat cereal, whole wheat bread, whole grain cornmeal, soy flour, dried peas, oatmeal, all cuts of pork, fresh heart, kidney, lima or dry beans.

2.—Riboflavin (another one of the B vitamins): This is believed to be especially important to healthy eye tissue.

Symptoms which show a deficiency in riboflavin are cataracts, dim vision, scaly skin, lesions of the lips and mouth corners, rough nose skin, loss of good hand grasp, anemia, retarded growth.

Good Dietary Sources of Riboflavin

Almonds, fresh heart, fresh liver (extremely high), liver sausage and liver spreads, milk (whole dry milk, evaporated milk and whole milk, wheat germ, turnip greens, cheese, whole fresh eggs, soy flour, kale, salmon (canned and fresh).

Nicotinic Acid or Niacin: This vitamin factor is not destroyed in ordinary cooking processes, and is absolutely essential for good digestion, and is sometimes referred to as the pellagra-preventive.

Deficiency signs of nicotinic acid are skin lesions which darken and scar, loss of appetite, nausea and vomiting and abdominal pain and diarrhea, excessive saliva, ulcers, headaches, dizziness, insomnia, depression and loss of memory.

Good Dietary Sources of Nicotinic Acid

Brown rice, whole wheat, wheat flour, whole wheat bread, whole wheat cereal, wheat germ, veal, turkey, fresh tongue, canned cardines and tuna fish, peanuts and peanut butter (extremely high), fresh liver, fresh heart, chicken, almonds.

(See More Data on Vitamin B next week.)

She tours the country in a truck crammed with all the effects of a portable ballet company —costumes, lighting equipment, curtains and backdrops.

Members of her 40-member company include her daughter Fiona, 13.

Once teacher to members of the Royal Family, she hopes to make her next tour in British suburbs and then, perhaps, take her company to Canada.

Franklin-Martin Rites Solemnized

The marriage was solemnized Saturday afternoon at the United Church Parsonage, Port Hope of Constance June, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Martin, Port Hope and William John Franklin, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Franklin, Port Hope, formerly of Roseneath.

The bride wore a navy sheer afternoon dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. She was attended by Miss Barbara Lomas, Ottawa.

Mr. Roy Sherry, Port Hope, attended the groom.

A reception was held at "Idalia" where guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a wing blue crepe dress with white picture hat, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing blue-grey crepe with white accessories and talisman roses.

During the reception Mrs. Borden McCullough, Toronto, an aunt of the bride sang, "O Promise Me" and "Because". The groom's grandmother, Mrs. E. Crowe, Roseneath, was piano accompanist.

Following a honeymoon in Ottawa and other eastern points the couple will live in Port Hope.

Evelyn Fern Toms Is Wed In Ceremony In Havelock

HAVELOCK, June 26 (ENS) — At the parsonage of the Havelock United Church, the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh officiated at a quiet wedding ceremony on Saturday, when Evelyn Ferne Toms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Toms became the bride of J. Burrell Keating, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keating, all of Belmont Township.

The bride wore a gown of pink sheer with flared skirt, short sleeves, lace yoke, white accessories, and corsage of white carnations.

Miss Mabel Toms of Peterborough, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a gown of navy georgette, designed on similar lines as that worn by the bride, with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mr. Garnet Keating was best man for his brother.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Toms received in a gown of royal blue crepe with white accessories. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a gown of navy blue flowered sheer with white accessories. Both wore corsages of American Beauty roses.

Later the bride and groom left on a trip to Kingston, Ottawa and other points, the bride travelling in a gown of pale blue silk and a winter white shortie coat.

They will live in Belmont Township.

Student Wives Captured Oxford, Now Return to US

By VINCENT BUIST

OXFORD, England —(CP)— Most of the American college wives, who first shattered, then captured Oxford, are returning to the United States.

Their going ends one of the brightest episodes in the sphere of Anglo-American amity. The new batch of Rhodes scholars from across the Atlantic will be young bachelors, knowing little which plagued their married predecessors in this overcrowded university town.

The end of Oxford's academic year marked the end of the post-war concession which granted American ex-servicemen with Rhodes scholarships the right to bring their wives and families along with them.

Oxford and the girls first met in the fall of 1947, when the university itself was in the act of recovering something of its pre-war poise.

Watch With Sympathy

The town watched with sympathy their early struggles with the complexities of British ration books—and offers of help rolled in.

Little help was needed, however; the American brides and their husbands threw themselves into Oxford life with the zeal of exuberant freshmen.

The brides arrived forearmed with a basic knowledge of English habits given them by former Rhodes scholars in the United States.

Advice had ranged from practical hints on winter underwear to initiation into the tea-drinking rites [illegible] afternoon parties.

Accommodation was a problem. Some couples started in one room. This meant the wives were forced out when the husbands wanted peace to work. They went to lectures themselves, dickered with local tradesmen, and had friendly tussles with Oxford wives on the best way to bring up babies.

Bathtub Hung on Nail

Others went outside the town of Oxford and found cottages where the bathtub hung on a nail outside the door while the beams were ancient and black and the hearth big enought to sit in.

Many of the wives of the American Rhodes scholars were not content to do the shopping and type their husbands' essays.

Mrs. Dorothy McNiece of Tucson, Ariz., has taught British school children in an Oxford infants school for a year and a half. She began it to help the family budget, but likes the work and regards herself lucky to have had this opportunity in Britain.

Mrs. Margot Jacobsen of St. Paul, Minn., has a second lead in the Rodgers-Hammerstein Musical "Carousel," which recently opened in London.

Another aspirant for London stage honors is Mrs. George Barber Munroe of Waco, Tex., who has reached the final audition of the London Old Vic Company out of 1,500 entrants. If she succeeds in winning one of the coveted vacancies in this company, she plans to stay on in London for another two years with them.

Likes Musical Life

Mrs. Gretchen Sprague of Lincoln, Neb., one of the few American brides remaining on at Oxford for another year with her husband, has become absorbed in the musical life of the university. While her husband reads history and philosophy, she devotes her time to a 'cello with the Oxford Orchestral Society.

It seemed to some of the married Rhodes scholars that they were missing something unique in Oxford life by living in an apartment away from college.

But it was an American bachelor student who rebutted this viewpoint.

"All my life I shall probably be harking back to the years I spent at Oxford, but whatever it means to my wife will be secondhand. You are lucky to be going through this together. You are sharing the most important years."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"My husband, who has uncanny luck in picking wild cards," complains a New York City reader, "generally waits until our opponents are on the board. Then he freezes the pack.

"Often when it is fat, he makes a haul. This may be fine when our count is 50, but for 90 or 120 this procedure causes me great hardship. He absolutely refuses to meld until he is able to take the pack. In the meantime my hand has been broken up. Sometimes our opponents make a canasta and go out before we meld.

"I claim this is a partnership game and that he must meld to help his partner even if it depletes his hand. Who is right?"

In general, the lady is right. It is pleasant to take the discard pile when you meld, but you can't always have things your way. In the long run it is a losing gamble to refuse to meld from your hand.

Mind you, there is no great virtue in depleting your hand to make the initial meld. When you need only 50 points, it is pointless to use more than three or four cards for the first meld. Even when you need 90 points, you should avoid using up more than five or six cards.

But there is also no great virtue in freezing the pack when the opponents have made the first meld. It's a good idea to do so if they have depleted their hands, but not if they still have an ample supply of cards.

You cannot make a plan in advance and follow that plan no matter what cards you happen to get. Your plans must depend on your cards and what the opponents are able to do. The mechanical player is bound to lose to the player who can alter his tactics to fit the circumstances.

Q—Before drawing a card, I laid down four kings and a joker as my initial meld of 90 points. I then put down a six and a deuce to take th discard pile, which was headed by a six. The opponents raised quite a howl about this. Were they justified?

A—Yes; they had a right to howl. If you want to take the discard pile for your initial meld, you must have two natural cards that match the previous discard. You are not allowed to put down a sufficient meld and then—on the same turn—take the pile with one matching card and one wild card. You are allowed to take the pile with one matching card and one wild card only if the initial meld has been made at a previous turn to play.

Q—I have several melds on the table, but no canasta. I have only one card in my hand. I now draw a card that I can add to a meld. Can I add that card and knock—instead of discarding? Some people knock and some people say "Pass." Is this permitted?

A—No. You cannot knock and you cannot say "Pass." You must discard at each and every turn. (The only exception to this rule is that you need not discard when you meld out.) In the situation described, therefore, you are not allowed to meld the card you draw. It is sad of course, but that's why it's such an unwise move to get down to only one card when you have no canasta.

Irene Elliott Is The Bride Of S. L. Morgan At St. Paul's

In a setting of pink, and white peonies at the altar of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Saturday, Irene Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Elliott, 743 Curtis Road, became the bride of Mr. Samuel Leonard Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seymour Morgan of Port Hope.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd performed the ceremony and Mr. Christopher Gledhill, organist, played wedding music. Before the bride entered the church, Mrs. Al. Spencley sang "Where'er you walk" and during signing of the register she sang Grieg's "I love thee."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a handsome gown and train of white French lace, made over satin. Her veil of silk illusion was gathered to form a cap and the cascade bouquet she carried was of deep red roses.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Nan Elliott and Miss Ann Munro was bridesmaid. Junior bridesmaid was eight-year-old Helen Murray of Glasgow, Scotland, here on a holiday visit, and the little flower girl was Dawn Armstrong.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore bouffant frocks of pink and blue French tulle with tops of matching French lace and they had floral sprays of the same shades in their hair. The junior bridesmaid's hand-made frock of daffodil yellow taffeta was embroidered with sprays of flowers and she wore a crown of tiny yellow flowers. Frilled from waistline to hem, was the flower girl's dainty frock of the same daffodil yellow taffeta and she had a matching halo hat. Each of the attendants carried a nosegay of roses and sweet peas.

Groomsman for his brother was Mr. Stewart Morgan of Port Hope. The ushers were Roland Burley and Jack Morrow.

Reception of the guests took place in the Orange Hall, Brock St. The bride's mother, assisting the wedding party, was gowned in pale blue nylon and wore navy and white accessories and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore navy chiffon with matching accessories and had red roses at her shoulder.

For wear as the couple motor to United States on their honeymoon, the bride chose a two-piece dress of powder blue pique and white accessories and her corsage when going away was of gardenias. On return they will live in Peterborough.

How to reduce tooth decay at no cost!

Nearly three years ago the Dental School at Northwestern University launched one of the most extensive, costly and practical experiments in dental history. The results indicate this:

tooth decay can be reduced 50 to 60 percent by the simple process of brushing or rinsing the teeth right after eating.

So says Charles W. Freeman, D.D.S. Dean of N. U's dental school.

Read this absorbing report. It tells how you can reduce your dental bills without any outlay—except some effort. It's one of 43 articles of lasting interest, condensed from leading magazines, current books, in the July Reader's Digest. Get your copy today.

DOROTHY DIX

Marrying For Meal Tickets Does Not Bring Happiness

DEAR MISS DIX: Almost a year ago I left my first husband after having been married to him for three years. I came to a little Western town to visit my sister. Here I met a man who fell for me at once and I married him, because I didn't want to live with relatives and I was too lazy to get out and get a job and make my own living. I knew I didn't love him but he thought I did, and still does, and he is crazy about me. I have only been married a few months and I am sick and tired of it. We live in a dingy little apartment. Nothing to do, nowhere to go, no amusements. If we could move to a larger town, it would not be so bad. If a better man should happen my way I would quit my husband in a minute, but a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush and I am not giving up one man until I have another in view.

Dorothy Dix

What shall I do? Shall I strike out for myself, for I tell myself that since this man fell so easily there must be plenty of others who would do the same, or shall I rot in this place, pretending to be in love with my husband?

ELEANOR

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWERS: I really think that the kindest thing you could do to your husband would be to leave him at once, for you will do it sooner or later, anyway, as soon as some man comes along who can jingle a little more money before you or take you to some gayer place to live.

Husband to be Pitied

It seems a pity for a fine, honest man like your husband to have to spend his life toiling for a wife who merely regards him as a meal ticket and who does not repay his labor and his sacrifices by even so much as a thought of gratitude or appreciation. Any man is lucky to be rid of that kind of wife, and the quicker she is on her way the better for him.

But let me tell you, Eleanor, that you will never find any happiness in marriage as long as you make it a racket, and regard a husband as merely a slave to work and support you in order that you may be fed and clothed and have nothing to do but amuse yourself. You get out of marriage just exactly what you put into it. If you put love and a sense of duty and a desire to make your husband happy and to make your marriage a success into it, you will get happiness and contentment out of it. But if you go into it just for the ease and money you can wring out of it, you will get nothing but disappointment and disillusion.

For marriage is a sacrament. It isn't a graft.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 15 with a sister age 9. My mother is a widow and has supported us for eight years. She is in her early thirties, and now she has fallen in love with a man and wants to marry him. He is a fine man with a good job, very even-tempered and pleasant, but they will not marry because I object. The man says that he will not marry my mother unless I will cooperate to make our home a happy one and will promise to treat him as if he was a real father. I am very jealous of my mother's affection for him. Will you please tell me if I should promise to try to like this man? I will follow your advice.

DOROTHY

ANSWER: Well, if you follow my advice, Dorothy, you will withdraw your objections to your mother's marrying this kind, good man, and you will conquer your jealousy and treat him with the respect you would show your own father.

Consider in the first place that you have no real cause for jealousy, because the love that your mother will give to her husband is entirely different from that which she gives to her children. The two emotions do not conflict in any way and nothing is sillier than to compare them.

If you love your mother her happiness must be your dearest concern, and you must know that she will be far better off in every way with a good husband who will stand btween her and the world and take care of her than she will be struggling along alone, trying to support two children. Your mother is in her early thirties. She is still a young woman with doubtless a long time to live, and you must realize that the years will be lonely and desolate to her if she has no companion after you and your sister leave her to go about the business of life for yourselves.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We have two friends who were married several years ago. The wife cares nothing for her husband. She cheapens herself in flirtations and is unfaithful to him. The husband worships his wife and does not suspect her. He is the type of man who might really become desperate. What can be done about this mess? Shall we tell the husband?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Never interfere between a man and his wife unless you want to get into trouble yourself. Telling the husband that his wife doesn't love him and has affairs with other men won't make her fond of him or true to him. It will serve no good purpose.

Recipes for Choice Cookies But Cooks Must Be Careful

By MARY MOORE

If you are in a cookie baking mood I have some top notch ideas for you today.

You smart bakers will recognize the Lemon Crumbles as fare for the fussy and fastidious food fanciers that often cross your thresholds. (I nearly finished that by saying "that frolic over your front 'ferandah'"—but thought I had better stop before I was hit by a rotten egg.).

I think I had better quiet down and get back to my baking.

Lemon Crumbles

One-quarter teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¾ cup sifted flour, ¾ cup shortening, 1¾ cups soda cracker crumbs—about 20 crackers, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup dessicated cocoanut. Sift flour and measure it, then sift it with the baking powder and salt. Cut in the shortening with pastry blender until mixture is crumbly. Add remaining ingredients. Mix very well. Spread half of the mix in buttered 8-inch square pan. Spread filling over it (see filling below). Sprinkle top with remaining part of crumb mix. Pat down. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes or until golden brown.

Filling (for Lemon Crumbles): One cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 well-beaten egg, 1 cup water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Mix sugar, flour, salt. Add egg and water. Mix well. Cook over boiling water, stirring, until thick. Remove from heat and stir in lemon juice and rind and mix very well.

Cut cookies into squares with sharp knife when baked.

(One of my friendly critics tells me I do not give you enough recipes for fancy foods—that I am too practical. Well, this next little offering will help her with her entertaining and give her reputation for having "cookie know-how.")

Cocoanut Dream Slices

One cup very soft butter, 1 whole egg, about 2¼ cups sifted bread flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 1 cup sugar, about 3 cups dessicated cocoanut, large whole pecans for decorating tops of cookies. Cream the butter very well, and add the sugar while beating. Add the egg and beat, then add the cocoanut and beat. Then add the flour and soda. Knead until dough holds together. Separate into about 6 portions and roll these into oblong rolls about 1 inch in diameter, and roll these logs in more cocoanut. Wrap them up in wax paper carefully to keep them round. Chill in refrigerator.

With your sharpest knife cut into ½-inch slices. Brush top of each slice with 1 egg yolk mixed with 1 tablespoon milk. Place a whole pecan on each. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. on greased cookie sheet for about 30 minutes or until golden.

For an added attraction these may be brushed with warm corn syrup after baking, and allowed to stand until this glaze sets before storing. This recipe makes about 70. Your guests will want this recipe.

Soft Ginger-Nut Cookies

Three - quarters cup brown (light) sugar, ½ cup molasses, ¾ cup melted shortening or margarine, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon ginger, 2 teaspoons vinegar, 1 beaten egg, 2 teaspoons soda, 1 cup sour cream or buttermilk, 1 cup black walnuts is perfect (but may be left out or substituted with English walnuts or pecans or hickory nuts).

Mix above ingredients in order given and add 3 cups flour or just enough more to make them roll out about ¼ inch thick. When rolled out sprinkle dough with sugar and cut out in any desired shape. A raisin in centre of each cookie adds to appearance. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr., watching them closely, as if these are too close to bottom of oven, they will burn if left in oven one or two minutes too long. If desired you may leave off the raisins and frost the cookies with plain frosting when cold—this is especially popular with children.

One-Burner Dinner
Stuffed Celery and Radish Roses
Tomato Juice
Cold Sliced Cottage Roll
Boiled Buttered New Potatoes
Quick-cooked Cabbage (see notes)
Crushed Strawberries on Ice Cream
Coffee

Directions

Puffy Omelette with Crabmeat: (Clip this for it is good for one quick hot dish for a summer dinner. Melt 3 tablespoons butter and add 3 tablespoons flour and ¾ teaspoon salt and shake of pepper and tabasco. When smooth add 1½ cups whole milk and stir until sauce boils. Add 1 small can crabmeat or shrimp shredded. Take out 1 cup and to it add 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 3 egg yolks, and mix. Fold in 3 stiffly beaten whites. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in omelette pan and when fairly hot add omelette and cook slowly until puffed and cooked through. At the last increase heat for a minute, then fold over and serve on hot platter surrounded with remaining hot sauce and finely chopped parsley.

Strawberry a la Mode is a meal in itself for people who are reducing, so reducers take warning. It may not be a new idea but it is new to me. Make large tea biscuits using a little more sugar in them than usual (or use the packaged tea biscuit mix). Split these and on bottom half put slice of ice cream and a few crushed berries, top these with top of biscuit, and cover with halved and sweetened strawberries. When this was served to me last Sunday it broke down all my reducing resolutions.

The Quick-cooked cabbage I have described before but here it is again: shred cabbage on medium-sized shredder. Put in top of double boiler with ¾ cup boiling hot milk add 2 tablespoons butter. Cook over bottom of double boiler in which potatoes are cooking until cabbage is just barely tender. Add pepper and salt to taste. If desired, milk on cabbage may be thickened with 1 tablespoon flour mixed to a paste with 2 tablespoons cold milk.

What's Right?

You have gotten a group of persons together for an evening who prove to have little in common, and the conversation is dull and the evening dragging.

WRONG: Try to fill in the silent moments yourself and hope that they will all decide to go home early.

RIGHT: Suggest playing a card game, or dancing if it is a young crowd—anything to give the bored guests something to do.

✧ ✧ ✧

You decide to buy a dress or piece of furniture a clerk had shown you sometime previous.

WRONG: Let anyone wait on you who is handy.

RIGHT: Seek out the clerk who waited on you originally.

Kinsey Outlines More Data On Sex Behaviour

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26 — (AP)—The failure of some women to respond fully to sex contact probably has an important bearing on female sterility, says Dr. Alfred Kinsey, author of the famed report on male sex behavior.

The records of 600 women who want babies but cannot become pregnant yield evidence of their unconscious lack of acceptance of sex in one way or another, Dr. Kinsey told the American Society for the Study of Sterility during the weekend.

Mass of Data

These records are a part of the massive amount of data being gathered by the University of Indiana Zoologist for a report on sex behavior in women.

In about 35 per cent of the sex contacts of these childless women there never is a climatic moment (orgasm), Dr. Kinsey said.

By contrast, women in the relatively-fertile low-income group of Americans experience this climax 85 to 95 per cent of the time.

Ten per cent of all American women go through life without experiencing this sensation, the scientist added. The climax figures in only about 65 per cent of the cases involving women of the college class. It occurs "very infrequently" in 30 per cent, more often in another 30 per cent, and nearly always in the other 30 per cent. This last 30 per cent represents a response about equal to males. A few women have responses which repeat themselves in rapid succession.

Stewart Paterson Dies Masonic Life Member

Stewart Paterson, 87, of Toronto, a life member of Peterborough Masonic Lodge, died on Friday at the home of his daughters, Mrs. H. R. H. Williams (Evelyn) and Mrs. Harold Gray (Ruby) at 61 Grenview Blvd., Toronto.

Born in Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Paterson, Mr. Paterson went to live in Toronto 60 years ago. He was an electrician and plumber, but had retired some years before his death.

In addition to his two daughters, he leaves three sisters, Miss Robina Paterson and Mrs. James H. Connal, 270 Brock St. and Mrs. Margaret Flora Hutty, Toronto.

A funeral service was held in Toronto and burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough, on Tuesday at 1 p.m. There will be a masonic graveside service.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JAMES B. GILLESPIE

Mrs. Margaret Jane Gillespie, 138 Hunter St. E., widow of the late James B. Gillespie, died today at her home. She was a lifelong resident of Peterborough, for many years an active worker in the affairs of St. Andrew's United Church, where she was a member of the WA and WMS.

Before her marriage she was Margaret Jane Craig, daughter of the late John Craig and Jane Brown. She leaves a daughter, Miss Jean T. Gillespie at home, two sons, Bruce B. Gillespie of Peterborough and James Bertram of Detroit, and a brother A. Bert Craig of Peterborough.

A funeral service will be held at her home on Wednesday at 2 p.m., the Rev. M. J. Aiken officiating and burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

MOSE JOHN CUMMINGS

A farmer all his life, Mose John Cummings, of Young's Point, died in hospital in Peterborough Saturday after a short illness in his 80th year. He was the husband of Lona Edwards.

Born in Bobcaygeon, the son of the late Jacob Cummings and Phoebe Freeburn, he moved to Young's Point 20 years ago. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church, Young's Point.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Elmer Johnston (Pearl), of Peterborough, four sons, Henry and Earl of Young's Point, Cameron of Peterborough and Albert of Bethany, and one sister, Mrs. George Cummings, of Burleigh Falls.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. today at the Hendren Funeral Home, Lakefield, Canon F. J. Fife, of St. John's Church, Young's Point, officiating. Burial will be in Little's Cemetery, Lakefield.

Pallbearers will be Cyril Lawson, Jerome Young, Robert Davis, Thomas Hatton and Albert Rawe.

RoundTableDiscussion On Commercial Plans

Mayor Swanston has invited the members of the town planning committee to a discussion with the board of works tonight of those neighborhood classification problems, the proposed Ferguson cleaners shop on Hunter St. east and the Imperial Oil plans for the northeast corner of Water and Park Hill Road.

Both these questions have been mulled over so often and much that the only new phase can be on the brackets of decision.

Briefly each case revolves into local opposition to evidence of business expansion with certain intrusion on long-established property rights and values. That is the view of the opponents. The meeting is at 8.30 p.m., after an hour or more of the board of works session.

Funeral At Millbrook For Thomas Cowling

ROSENEATH, June 26 (ENS) —A number of nephews and nieces of the late Thomas Cowling attended his funeral at the McPherson Funeral Home, Millbrook, on Friday.

Mr. Cowling was born near Fenella in 1860, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Cowling, Fenella, and was the last surviving member of the family.

He was twice married. His first wife was Lucy Dowler, of Roseneath and his second wife was Catherine Fallis. Burial was in the Union cemetery, Vasey.

Among those from Roseneath attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Dowler, Mrs. James Linton, Mrs. George Mouncey, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Down and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cowling.

Says Town Planning Needs More Stress

HAMILTON, June 26 (CP)— Most municipalities in Ontario have not dealt with town planning in any comprehensive sense the Southern Ontario Citizens' Planning Conference was told Saturday.

Peter Oberlander, professor of planning at the University of British Columbia, said many Ontario centres are totally unprepared for the post-war boom and the growth that accompanied it. Their planning experience still is limited.

There is a great need for continuity in planning, which could be ensured by establishment of a permanent planning staff in municipalities, he said.

The conference resolutions committee recommended that the Ontario planning and development department be asked to undertake a demonstration project in regional planning. Suggested location for the project was the Niagara peninsula.

Mrs. J. Garside Funeral

The Rev. E. J. Whan of the Park St. Baptist church officiated at the funeral service Saturday for Mrs. James Garside at the Comstock Funeral Home. A lifelong resident of Peterborough Mrs. Garside died Thursday after a lingering illness at her residence. She was 91. Pallbearers were: George Batley, Clarence Corbett, Cleo Dayman, Joseph Halcrow, Byer Smith and Eugene Young. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery. Mr. Harry Welford was honorary bearer.

Opinions Vary On Stage, Screen Acting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 26 (AP) —What's the difference between acting on the stage and acting in the movies?

Give up? Then let's get some answers from Hollywood personalities who have done both. I took the AP Hollywood forum around to the film sets and inquired which is the harder or more satisfying medium. Here are the results:

Clifton Webb—"I'll never go back to the stage. Hollywood is much more pleasant. Work on the stage is arduous. If you're successful, the play goes on indefinitely. Doing a play for two or three years is the hardest physical work an actor can do.

Gene Tierney—"It is harder to be good on the screen because the camera gets closer to the actor."

Teresa Wright—"I think a film actor feels a certain lack of creativeness. You begin to feel like a cog in a machine that is turning out a product.

David Wayne—"In a way it's easier to act on the stage, because the audience gives the actor immediate gratification."

Des Joachim, De Swis hin Dey Zhwa-Shan! It's All The Same To R. Dobbin And Co.

May be Gordon Matthews and Ross Dobbin know where they are going Wednesday, but it would be interesting to hear them telling about it, particularly in the pronunciation of the name.

They have been invited by the Hydro-Electric Commission to look in on the opening of the new generatin gplant at Des Joachim on the Ottawa River. This unit is being opened at last, assuring ample power supply when the nights come earlier in the fall after daylight saving is hoisted for another year.

If the Hydro and engineering people had simply clipped that name to Day-jo, or something easy like that in the general cause of abbreviation!

But they didn't, they have been struggling with French syllables and soft consonants ever since the contract for the power dam was let, and what they appear to have agreed on sounds like "De Swishin". It presents the attraction of general recognition without hesitation as to how close it sounds to Des Joachim.

At any rate, there is this advantage about it, the Hydro and electrical engineer men know what they mean, and they have become intelligible to the local Utilities Commission up and down the province. But, the nearer they get to the locality and geography of the place Wednesday, the farther they'll find themselves astray in orthoepy.

The only people who know the place De Swishim are the Saunder Hydro folks and maybe CGE and utilities executives.

The English pronounciation of the old saint's name was St. Jo-ack-im, and that's a long sound from De Swishum, which is funnier to most people every time they hear it. But, now that the power plant is finished and turning out electricity it will gradually recede from the Hydro' attention.

All they have to do is say: Dey Zhwa-sha(n), and not too much of the day, and only the nasal "a" at the end with a hint of the "n" quality.

Instead of saying something simple like that, the engineers and Hydro people have to go off on a helpless tangent and finally by common consent arrive at De Swishin. That's as far as Fred Hills has got, to say nothing of George Macdonald and Gordon Matthews. It is understood that two of them are taking off to Dey Zhwa-shan (Joachim) Wednesday, but they are not too assertive and confident in mentioning their destination.

If you ask around the office about this outing Wednesday, you find them all keeping out of the clutches of Des Joachim. They have all been Swishimized just as with the Hydro crowd from Bob Saunders down.

HARVEY ESCAPES

The Peterborough Summer Theatre's first company of actors and actresses pulled into town over the week-end, in time for the opening performance of the company's second season in Peterborough, this evening at the Collegiate Auditorium. The players were all smiles as they took in the sights of the city. Many had played here last season, and that "sure is good to be back" feeling couldn't be mistaken. Suddenly, without warning, the joys of returning vanished from the face of William Needles, the star of "Harvey," the Summer Theatre's first production. What could it be! This was certainly not like Mr. Needles, who plays the genial Elwood P. Dowd, the devoted companion to Harvey, the six foot, one and a half inch rabbit about whom the play was written. Something had gone amiss and all turned their questioning eyes on Mr. Needles.

"Where is Harvey" he asked, his voice plaintive, trembling whisper. "He's gone, Harvey's gone!" Mr. Needles wailed these final words and burst into hysterical sobs as Catherine Proctor, who stars opposite him on the stage as his harrassed sister, tries her best to offer comfort. The other members of the company stared at one and other, helplesssly numbed with the realization that Harvey's disappearance might mean the end of their careers. Where on this earth could they find another six foot, one and a half inch rabbit. How could the curtain rise, this very evening, without Harvey on the stage! It was the most shocking piece of news they had ever heard. Actors and actresses are known to be brave, and to always live up to their slogan, "the show must go on", but what actor or actress had ever experienced this! So, with heads downcast, and swollen eyes, the little group bore its broken-hearted star through the streets of Peterborough, hopelessly searching for his beloved friend.

The Peterborough police and SPCA were immediately notified by Michael Sadlier, the Summer Theatre's producer, who declared this afternoon that the company is offering a generous reward to whoever can give any information that might lead to the discovery of the bunny's whereabouts. The citizens of Peterborough are asked to get behind their police force in the search for Elwood's six-foot pal whose disappearance already has the entire nation aroused. Ottawa has already notified local officials that troops are on their way to aid in the search. Harvey must be found before the curtain rises tonight at the Collegiate auditorium. Harvey wil be found. He is everybody's friend, and we are sure he won't disappoint us, but will be on the stage with Mr. Needles this evening.

Franco Believes Next Move Should Come From Democracies

By LOUIS NEVIN

MADRID, June 26 —(AP)— Spain has flirted mildly with democracy since VE-Day, but Generalissimo Franco believes the next move now should come from the western allies.

Qualified diplomatic observers in Madrid say Franco feels he has made enough concession to public opinion in western countries.

Conditions have changed considerably in Spain since VE-Day, but there is still a long way to go.

When Germany was defeated, Franco's followers claimed their country was an "organic democracy." However, it bore little resemblance to the democracy of the west.

Capitalism was denounced as exploitation; freedom of the press was disavowed; freedom of religion applied only to Roman Catholics; freedom of speech did not extend to criticism of the regime; free elections belonged to Spain's "decadent" era before the "glorious crusade."

After Germany's defeat there were ominous growls from the allied camp.

Handwriting on Wall

The handwriting on the wall had been seen even before VE-Day. On May 5, 1945, just two days before the signature of Germany's surrender, Franco announced a "Bill of Rights" for his people.

Freedom of association, religion, speech and many other things were promised. Laws were drawn up and sent to the legislature to put the bill into effect. The laws were never passed.

Four months after VE-Day, the Fascist salute was abolished as the obligatory form of salute.

Make Beginning

Finally, in November 1948, municipal elections were held in which all "heads of families" participated, and five months later provincial elections took place. The elections in both instances were not direct. The electorate chose men who in turn voted for others who finally elected the actual members.

Since the announcement of the "Bill of Rights" there has been no evidence of persecution of Protestants as part of a government campaign. Sporadic instances have become fewer.

Still ahead of the regime, however, are such difficult lumps to swallow as really-free, unhedged elections with opposition candidates permitted, full freedom of the press, complete implementation of the Bill of Rights and a general amnesty for those imprisoned for Republican or Civil War activities.

SALVATORE GIULIANO, the slippery bandit king who has evaded small armies of police, is to be brought to trial at Viterbo, Italy — in his absence. From his hideout in the hills, Giuliano has sent a defence petition to the court, claiming that the machine gun which killed 12 people and injured 33 at a village near Palermo, Sicily on May Day, 1947, was turned by accident upon the crowd and that the killings were an accident. The Giuliano gangsters on trial number only 27 in person. Others, including the leader are being tried in absentia. Photo shows some of the 27 defendants in chains, but clearly cheerful, on their way to the dock for one of the sessions of the trial.

W. A. Goodfellow Doesn't Approve Pension Plan

KINGSTON, June 26 —(CP)— The impracticability of contributory scheme of old age pensions was underlined Friday night by William A. Goodfellow, Ontario Minister of Public Welfare and Acting Minister of Health. Speaking to the annual meeting of the Frontenac-Addington Progressive Conservative Association, he said a contributory scheme would be unwieldy to administer and that many would be unable to contribute to such a scheme.

Pointing out that a contributory scheme would take from 20 to 25 years to become operative, he stated that a non-contributory plan is the only alternative.

Discussing the operation of his department, he said that "the tendency during the past few years has been toward public welfare." He recommended that private welfare organizations be encouraged to a greater extent since, he believes, "we are moving in the wrong direction."

Lie Says He's Member Of Socialist Party

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 26 —(AP)— Trygve Lie, United States secretary-general, said Friday night he has always been a member of the Norwegian Labor Party "which is a Socialist, not a Communist party."

He added that he does not and cannot take part in partisan politics, national or international.

Lie issued a special statement after he had been asked by a Chicago Tribune correspondent if he now is or ever has been a Communist.

Orchestra Minus Conductor Pleases Symphony Lovers

DETROIT, June 26—(AP)—Detroit's only civic symphonic music these days comes from a remarkable group of do-withouts. The Little Symphony has no conductor, no sponsor, no regular concert schedule. Its members number only 30—less than one third of a regular large symphony orchestra. They rehearse on their own time and give concerts in between musical odd-jobs.

But the Little Symphony has managed to fill a big gap in Detroit's music picture. Struggling all the way, it presented four sell-out concerts during the fall, and one this spring. All drew the critics' highest praises.

The story of the Little Symphony is the story of a city that wanted music and some musicians who wanted to play it. It started last Spring with the breakup of the oft-struggling Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Then several members of the orchestra started thinking seriously of a plan they had often considered—formation of a small, conductor-less orchestra to play chamber and "little symphony" music.

Select 30 Men

They selected 30 men — a good-sized string section, two each of the woodwind and brass instruments, and tympani.

A few public-spirited Detroiters made donations of several hundred dollars each.

There were many difficulties. It was hard to find rehearsal time or a night when everyone was available to give a concert. The musicians were making their living playing for theatres, for a light opera series, for night club engagements.

Cash reserves ran low again. The Little Symphony sent out an appeal to concert-goers.

"Big symphonies have big expenses; little symphonies have small expenses," the letter read. Small contributions came in totalling $8,000.

Fall Plans

Now the group has plans for the Fall — tentative because it still isn't known whether the Detroit Symphony can be revived then. They call for 12 bi-weekly concerts.

If the orchestra's organization seems informal, it is so by choice. Without a director, members find, individual musicians have a better opportunity to make their ideas known.

For certain complicated scores they do use a conductor. Valter Poole, former assistant conductor of the Detroit Symphony, sometimes fills this role.

Selwyn WI Discusses Bettering Farm Life

SELWYN, June 26 —(ENS)— Selwyn Women's Institute met on recently. Mrs. George Geisel reported on the District Annual held in Havelock at which eight members of Selwyn WI attended. The roll call was "What are the qualifications of a good farmer's wife," and everyone had a suggestion for betterment of the community.

Mrs. Chalmer Sweeting, convener for Agriculture, had charge of the program. She dealt with ways of making farm life better, and more attractive to young folk. She was assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Sweeting and Mrs. George Geisel. Mrs. Sweeting conducted a "Flower" contest.

A social half-hour was enjoyed, lunch being served by Mrs. W. Nicholls, Miss Sheila Wilson, Mrs. K. Sweeting and Mrs. M. Crapp.

Suggests Acceptance

HALIFAX, June 26—(CP)—Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, said here Sunday night the seven provinces protesting freight rate increases should abide by the decisions of the board of transport commissioners. "We need an attitude of mind to accept the rulings of constituted authorities," he said.

Tax Appeal Law

TRUMAN SENDS PLANES TO AID KOREA

Order U.S. Planes To Bomb All Korean Towns Taken By Invading Troops

Report Communists Driven Back 20 Miles From Capital of South Korea; American Embassy Staff Still In Seoul

TOKYO, June 28—(Wednesday)—(AP)—United States planes and warships were dispatched today to the aid of South Korea. President Truman, issued the orders in Washington, said Communism has shown it now will use arms instead of subversion to conquer independent countries. He declared the U.S. assistance is in line with United Nations action. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters here reported American fighters have already shot down four Communist-manned North Korean planes.

The first task of the U.S. planes was said to be to bomb all towns captured by North Korean troops. The South Koreans were reported by some sources to have hurled back the Communist invaders to a point 20 miles from Seoul, the capital.

Early today a Seoul broadcast quoted President Syngman Rhee as announcing that "General Church" has been named to command a "joint defence operation" and that Gen. MacArthur has promised the South Koreans bombers and anti-tank guns.

The Gen. Church referred to was apparently Brig.-Gen. John H. Church, listed at occupation headquarters as commander of the Ryukyus (Okinawa) military government.

There was no immediate confirmation at headquarters of such an appointment. The Seoul broadcast was heard by two different agencies in Tokyo and was in line with the trend of the Korean crisis.

Haven't Left

MacArthur's summary of the fast-breaking Korean situation said that, contrary to previous reports, the American embassy and military advisory staffs had not left Seoul. It said the South Korean government also appeared not to have left and, "tanks reported in the suburbs of Seoul appeared to have been isolated forays."

The South Korean ground forces, after having been rocked back on their heels, also appeared to have made a marked improvement.

Korean sources said the defenders in a furious counterattack had recaptured strategic Uijongbu, 12 miles north of Seoul. This was

Ex-Premier Struggling Form Cabinet

PARIS, June 27 (AP)—Ex-premier Henri Queuille struggled today to get the French Socialist Party into a new cabinet. War in East Asia added urgency to his efforts.

Queuille expected to report on his progress to President Vincent Auriol later today after interviewing leaders of his own Radical Socialist Party, former Premier Georges Bidault's Mouvement Republicain Populaire and the Socialists.

Queuille insisted that he must have the Socialists to share the responsibilities of power if he resumes premiership. His earlier cabinet lasted 13 months.

In Every Cabinet

The Socialist, third strongest party in the national assembly, were members of every cabinet after the liberation until last February.

They walked out of the Bidault government then when other parties refused to grant wage raises to low income workers. But they continued to support the MRP premier in parliament Last Saturday they withdrew their support, because Bidault opposed wage increases for government workers. The cabinet was forced to quit.

The Socialists have doubts about the west European coal-steel plan of Bidault's Foreign Minister Robert Schuman. The British Labor government's aloof attitude has been the chief cause of this feeling.

Fasts 53 Days Gets Engaged

LILLE, France, June 27 (Reuters) — Fakir Burmah, 40-year-old son of an Indian father and English mother, Monday set a world fasting record of 53 days, one hour and announced his engagement.

Burmah, who had been fasting in a glass coffin with two pythons and scores of vipers since May 4, left his coffin but did not eat anything immediately.

He expressed his pride at beating by one hour the record recently established by his German rival, Willy (Hero) Schmitz.

More than 2,000 spectators cheered Burmah when he announced his engagement to his 30-year-old French secretary Suzanne Pottier.

All the vipers died one after the other during the 53 days, and one python is in bad shape, but Burmah said he'll put it right by secret methods.

Ontario Crops Worth Billion Now–Kennedy

Ontario farm crops should have a total value of a billion dollars this year, Agriculture Minister Kennedy said Monday. Crop prospects generally are good.

Mr Kennedy said he was looking for good prices; he could see no likelihood of their being down from last year.

There was less canned and frozen goods in stock than at other times. This meant a good market for garden and fruit crops, the minister said.

Tobacco was doing nicely, the agriculture minister said. Acreage had been somewnat reduced because of stocks the tobacco companies had in hand.

Have Secret Luncheon

LAKE SUCCESS, June 27 —(AP)—Russian and United States delegates to the United Nations Security Council met at a secret luncheon today just before the council convened to consider action to stop the Korean conflict.

Negro Mother Has Quints, One Baby Dies

NEW ORLEANS, June 27 (AP) —A 28-year-old negro mother gave birth to quintuplets today—three boys and two girls—and one of the boys died shortly after birth.

Dr. Alvin Wexler, one of the attending physicians, said that he "wouldn't be too optimistic" about the survival of the other children.

Hospital records identified the mother as Alberta Allen of Whitecastle, La., about 80 miles north of New Orleans. The records made no mention of the father.

The quints were born at Charity Hospital between 8:15 a.m., CDT, and 9 a.m. at intervals of about 10 minutes.

The babies ranged in weight from 1¼ to 1½ pounds each.

They were three months premature. When the mother entered hospital yesterday her pregnancy was diagnosed as triplets.

The mother has three other children, between three and five years old.

Howe Planning New UK Deals

OTTAWA, June 27 (CP) — Trade Minister Howe disclosed in the Commons Monday night he expects to be able to announce new trading deals with Britain before the end of this week, including a contract for the sale of 300,000 tons of iron ore this year and 350,000 tons next year. This would come from Belle Isle, the tiny ore-producing island just off Newfoundland's northern northern coast.

Indications also were "hopeful" that a revived British market would be found for Canadian apples.

Mr. Howe said he also is sure that the trade discussions, currently under way, will open up the British West Indies market to Canadian goods "to a very considerable extent."

2 Ships Collide At New York

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—The Danish ship Columbia and the American export liner Excalibur collided in upper New York Bay today and the Excalibur appeared to be settling, police headquarters and the Moran Towing Company reported.

Six tugboats were dispatched to the scene by the Moran Towing Company.

The Columbia was coming into New York and the Excalibur was outbound at the time. The Excalibur sailed from Jersey City a short time before with 414 passengers for a Mediterranean cruise.

Anti-Red Strong Man Heads Iranian Cabinet

TEHRAN, Iran, June 27 (AP) —Iran got a new cabinet oday, headed by an anti-Communist strong-man and made up mostly of newcomers to top government rank.

Only two of the ministers chosen by Premier-designate Lt.-Gen. Ali Ra Mara, chief of the general staff, have held high ministerial rank before.

Western diplomats in Cairo said the Communist invasion of South Korea apparently had speeded the cabinet change in Iran. The three-month-old government of Premier Ali Mansoor had been accused of inaction and indecision.

Have 4-Man Commission To Overhaul Combines Act

OTTAWA, June 27 (CP) — A four-man commission has been set up to overhaul Canada's combines legislation, Justice Minister Garson announced in the Commons today.

The commission is headed by Mr. Justice J. H. MacQuarrie of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, Dr. W. A. Mackintosh of Queen's University, Kingston; Prof. Maurice Lamontagne of Laval University, Quebec, and Dean George Curtis of the University of British Columbia law school, Vancouver.

The Justice Minister said the commission's terms of reference would include making recommendations for amendments to the Combines Investigation Act to make it "a more effective instrument for encouraging and safeguarding our free society."

Mr. Garson said the four appointees would study the Combines Act and other related Canadian legislation, as well as legislation and procedures of other countries.

"To avoid any possible misunderstanding," he added, "I desire to emphasize that no suggestions of amendments are being made to the committee for its consideration."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, suggested the terms be broadened to include "ascertaining what steps should be taken to deal with any member of the government who breaks the law of this parliament."

President Says Reds Have Taken Off Gloves, Choose Force

WASHINGTON, June 27 — (AP) — President Truman today ordered United States planes and warships to the aid of South Korean forces. He laid down a policy of standing firm against Communist aggression in the far Pacific.

As a part of the broader policy, Truman directed that the U.S. Seventh Fleet be prepared to intervene to prevent any Communist attack on Formosa, the island refuge of the Chinese Nationalist government.

At the same time, he asked that Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Chinese Nationalists, cease attacks on the mainland as a contribution toward the pacification of the whole area.

He also announced he is stepping up aid to the Philippines and Indo-China.

Ready For New Tactics

Truman announced his actions in a statement which declared:

"The attack upon Korea makes it plain beyond all doubt that Communism has passed beyond the use of subversion to conquer independent nations and will now use armed invasion and war."

It was learned that Truman's decisions were reached at a high policy meeting at the White House Monday night.

Before announcing them in a statement today, he called both Democratic and Republican Congressional leaders to the White House to review them and explain the background.

The United States actions were taken under the United Nations resolution which condemned the Communist invasion of Korea and asked all members of the U.N. to lend their support to carrying out the U.N. declaration for a halt to the fighting.

The big question is what will be Russia's reaction.

The hope of American officials is that the Soviets will refrain from any direct aid to the North Korean forces and permit the fighting there to be ended.

Countering Method

Even before Truman's announcement that he was sending air cover to the South Koreans, there had been reports from informed Tokyo sources that American bombers would hit towns held by the Communists south of the 38th parallel—the dividing line between South and North Korea.

In their invasion, the Communists have used small amphibious forces to land troops behind the lines of the South Koreans This is one tactic which superior American forces could quickly stop.

(Seoul broadcasts said an American General would take command of the "joint defence operation." The President's statement made no reference to this.)

Along with the speedup in arms aid to the Philippines and Indo-China, Truman announced that an American military mission will be sent to the forces of France and the associated states in Indo-China to provide close working relations.

Pickering Chief Dies Driving Fire Truck

PICKERING, June 27 (CP)—Answering a call to a fire at nearby Whitevale, Fire Chief Charles Law, 47, of Pickering, died of a heart attack here while driving the fire truck through the main street.

The truck struck a guard rail.

After calling the coroner, firemen assisted the Brougham fire department in controlling a blaze which destroyed a three-storey chicken house, and 2,500 fowl at the farm of Cal Connelly at Whitevale. Damage was estimated at $9,000.

Pickering is 25 miles east of Toronto.

Vote of Confidence

LONDON, June 27 — (CP). — The Labor Government tonight won a vote of confidence on its handling of the Schuman coal-steel merger proposals. The government got 309 votes, the Opposition 289.

THREE SOUTH KOREAN riflemen man a position in the rugged hills as they watch movement of Communist troops in the area beneath them. North Korean Communist troops, officially estimated at 50,000 have invaded the American-sponsored South Korean republic. Early reports said the surprise onslaught by the Russian-trained North Koreans was supported by tanks and heavy artillery and they made big gains.

Germans Told Korean War "A Trial Case"

BERLIN, June 27 (AP)—East-Germany's Communist Press, confident of an early Red victory in the Korean war, warned today that it is "a trial case for Germany." Soviet-controlled German newspapers began a concerted editorial acmpaign to:

1. Destroy the faith of anti-Communists in their military protection by the United States.

2. Hold U.S. leaders up to repudiation as war-crazed plotters, who have bungled so badly that even tiny North Korea has been able to "shatter an American invasion."

3. Intimidate the German masses into casting their lot with the Soviet Union's "World Peace Camp," which is claimed to be militarily invincible.

"The events in Korea are a warning for West Germany, for all Germany," the chief organ of the Socialist Unity (Communist) party, Neues Deutschland, said today.

Trial Case

"Korea is a trial case for the planned American attack on the (East) German Democratic Republic.

"What conclusions must every German draw from these events? These: to cast off the American provocateurs who attempt to dynamite world peace, and line up with the overwhelmingly powerful victory of the peace front over the American war incendiarists."

Communist dailies, which buried Korean war news on inside pages Monday, gave it front-page display today.

The apparently imminent success of the Russian-trained North Korean army and the dwindling prospects of effective American intervention were believed responsible for the change.

Many Communist editors jubilantly drew a parallel between the future of Korea and Germany, with the Korean Reds now about to realize their goal of "restoration of national unity."

Don't Want Reds Have Passports

OTTAWA, June 27 — (CP).— The Commons External Affairs Committee today called for immediate re-examination of the policy of allowing Communists to hold Canadian passports.

This was the climax to committee discussions of the visit that took Tim Buck, Labor-Progressive Leader behind the iron curtain with a Canadian passport in his pocket.

The committee, in its final report to the House, also recommended:

1—That "increasing attention be given the Asiatic zone" by the External Affairs Department.

2—That immediate steps be taken to accelerate the activities of the Joint (Canadian-American) International Commission with reference "to the acute flood dangers which are ever present in the areas served by certain international rivers."

U.S.-Manned Fighters Down Four North Korean Planes

TOKYO, June 27—(AP)—American-manned fighters today shot down four North Korean planes attempting to disrupt the evacution of Americans from South Korea, it was learned tonight. There was no official announcement of the action from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters here. Reports gathered by correspondents at Ita Uki air base in southern Japan, terminus of the Air Lift bore out the figures.

MacArthur's headquarters announced earlier that one American fighter had shot down a Russian-built North Korean plane attempting to interfere with the air lift at Kimpo Field, outside of Seoul.

AP corespondent O. H. P. King who flew to Japan from Seoul during the day, reported two North Korean planes were downed by South Korean piloted Mustang fighters at Kimpo.

That would make a total of six North Korean planes lost in combat during the day.

Some Ita Uki reports placed the number shot down by South Korean and American pilots during the evacuation at eight planes

Persuaded To Leave

American Ambassador John J. Muccio was reported at the last minute to have been persuaded to abandon his intention of remaining in Korea.

The South Korean F-51 Mustangs engaged the Russian-made Yak fighters in two separate dogfights. One North Korean pilot crashed with his ship and was killed.

The other bailed out. Eyewitnesses said he was shot to death as he reached for a pistol strapped to his leg.

One Korean News Agency dispatch to Japan said the South Koreans now had air supremacy. It added that some of the new planes were being used against North Korean armor in the northeast battle front.

Support Aid Plan

LONDON, June 27 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee announced in the House of Commons tonight that the British representative would support a resolution calling for aid to Southern Korea, to be introduced in the UN Security Conucil by the United States.

Attlee said he understood the United States resolution would recommend that members of the United Nations furnish such assistance to the Republic of Korea as may be necessary to repel armed attack.

Lindsay Mayor's Son Remanded To July 5

LINDSAY, June 27.—Douglas Lamb, 26, son of Mayor Charles Lamb, was remanded Monday on breaking and entering charges in connection with two break-ins, in one of which the loot was 24 cents.

He has been on bail since he surrendered last Friday, and was remanded to July 5 without election.

He was driven to the police station by his father last Friday night to give himself up. He was implicated by Walter Hontoon, 18, and Floyd Bryans, 17, charged with a break-in at the warehouse and office of the Lindsay Flour and Feed Co., which yielded 24 cents, and at Gordon Byrnell's grocery.

In a statement Hontoon was reported to have said "Lamb told me he would kill me if I said anything."

Second Search For Gun, Money

STRAFFORDVILLE, June 27 (CP)—A second search is under way—this time for weapons and money—in the swamps and bushland of this area, while the man charged with the murder Wednesday of Arthur Lierman and William Goddyn has been identified in RCMP files at Ottawa as George Walker, 37.

Inspector Frank Kelly, who headed the posses of police and armed civilians in the 72-hour hunt that led to the arrest of the murder suspect, is again in charge.

The veteran officer has established headquarters here and is directing 100 policemen over the area where the fleeing bandit killer either cashed or discarded his guns and loot. Civilians may again be called on to aid.

Police are not yet sure whether the murder weapon was a submachine gun or a heavy calibre automatic pistol. Less than $8,000 is unrecovered of the $23,000 stolen from the Langton bank.

Australia Decides to Send Heavy Bombers to Malaya

CANBERRA, June 27 (Reuters) Prime Minister Robert Menzies announced today that after a discussion of the Korea situation, the Australian war cabinet has decided to send a squadron of heavy bombers to Malaya.

Menzies said the decision was made after discussions with the British government. He said it was clear that the invasion of South Korea represented Communist expansion and that the attack was Communist-inspired and directed.

Certain Danger

"There are other points of possible attack on or off the coast of China. There is the Communist-led campaign in Indo-China."

"As to Malaya, Australia has some capacity to help and in its own interests as well as those of the entire British Commonwealth, a duty to give whatever aid we can.

"Preservation of British authority in Malaya is vital to Australa's securty. We cannot regard the task in that country as solely one for the United Kingdom."

Children Die As Flames Sweep Cabin

Three Others Escape After Boy Drops Match In Kerosene

KIRKLAND LAKE, June 27 —(CP)—Two children were burned to death in their log farm home at nearby Charlton when a match was dropped into a pool of kerosene after it spilled from a lamp. The dead are Stanley Aldred, three, and his sister, Diane, five, children of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Aldred.

Another child, Delbert, 13, who was left in charge of his eight brothers, and sisters while his parents attended a theatre at Englehart, 10 miles from Charlton, said he was attempting to light the lamp when the match fell and ignited the fuel.

Flames immediately spread to the ceiling and efforts of neighbors to battle the blaze were hopeless.

Elaine, eight, is credited with carrying her eight-months-old sister, Linda, to safety as flames neared her crib.

Senator Stalls On New Treaty

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) —Chairman Tom Connally (Dem. Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said today he has reservations about supporting a proposed treaty with Canada for increased diversion of Niagara River water to provide more power.

Connally, after presiding briefly at the opening of a hearing on the treaty, was asked by reporters if he will support its ratification by the Senate.

"I don't know," he replied, "I'm going to look into it. It doesn't smell good to me."

Earlier, during questioning of a state department witness, the Texan interrupted to say:

"We are getting along pretty well with the way water is presently being diverted from the river. What's the hurry about changing?"

Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) also indicated he has doubts about supporting the treaty. A two-thirds vote by the Senate is necessary to ratify it.

Wiley said he fears that ratification, and subsequent construction of new power plants, might be a "fatal stab in the back" to the proposed St. Lawrence seaway which he advocates.

3 Counterfeiters Given 22 Years

TORONTO, June 27 — (CP)— Three men, linked by police with an international counterfeit ring, today were sentenced to a total of 22 years in prison.

Douglas Gordon 39, Charles Cipolla 27, and William Ignat 33, pleaded guilty last week to having $23,000 in bogus $10 Canadian bills in their possession.

Gordon was sentenced to 10 years, Cipolla to seven years, and Ignat to five years.

The counterfeit bills, which began appearing in Vancouver last summer and since have spread across Canada, are believed by police to have been printed by a counterfeit gang in Buffalo. US secret service men claim to have broken up the gang after several arrests in the last two weeks.

28 Killed In Crash Of Australian Plane

PERTH, Australia, June 27 (AP)—Twenty-eight persons including two infants died Monday night in the crash of an Australian National Airways Skymaster 50 miles from Perth. It was west Australia's worst air disaster.

The sole survivor—Edgar W. Forward, 67-year-old Australian engineer—was found dazed and badly burned an hour after the crash. The wreckage of the plane still blazed three hours after it plunged into dense bush country.

Have Decided To Abandon Loran Chain

Poor Radio Conditions, Tremendous Expense Bring Gov't Order

OTTAWA, June 27—(CP)—Canada and the United States have decided to abandon peacetime operation of a chain of "loran" (long range radio navigation) stations in the Far North, Defence Minister Claxton announced Monday in the Commons.

The minister said establishment of the chain had been begun after the Second World War but it had been found that poor radio conditions in the Arctic lessened the value of the system to such an extent that the tremendous expense was not justified in peacetime.

Mr. Claxton indicated the idea of operating the chain—largely paid for by the United States—had not been given up completely and that it might yet be used in the event of war.

Joint Statement

He was replying to a question asked by H. W. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay East) concerning press reports that the stations—said to cost around $5,000,000—were being abandoned.

The minister said the decision not to operate them in peacetime had been reached only recently and that a joint statement to this effect was being prepared by the two governments.

He said the undertaking had been started as an experiment after the Second World War, with the United States paying a large percentage of the total cost.

Loran stations had been operated successfully in southern areas for navigation of ships and aircraft, Mr. Claxton said, but there had been no way of telling if they would work in the north.

Mr. Claxton said the cost to Canada had been nothing like the reported $50,000,000 total, though it was not possible to segregate just how much Canada had expended.

Reason the scheme was unsuccessful, the minister said, was that conditions in the Arctic make radio communications exceedingly difficult. It was probably the most difficult area in the world.

Mr. Claxton said much of the transportation for the loran chain was done by air lift. That was because at the time it was started, there was some urgency about it. Two of the locations would have been supplied by ship, but that would have resulted in a year's delay.

SIGNS FOR CANADA—John W. Holmes, Canada's acting permanent representatives to the United Nations, affixes his signature on behalf of Canada to the Final Act of Technical Assistance Conference at Lake Success. Canada has pledged $850,000 for the program, designed to help backward areas of the world gain economic stability by advanced methods of agriculture and industrial development.

Active Year For Rotarians $6,000 to Special Welfare

One of the most successful years of the Peterborough Rotary Club, the oldest service club in the city, was reviewed Monday by retiring president I. H. Keefer, at the club's weekly meeting in the Empress Hotel.

More than $6,000 was donated by the club throughout the year to the local and distant hospitals disaster areas and to camps, besides continued support of the regular service club work. Mr. Keefer told the club that $2,000 went to the Peterborough Civic Hospital, $2,000 to the Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, $1,000 to the Winnipeg and Rimouski disaster areas and $1,000 to the boys' camp on Clear Lake, operated in conjunction with the Y's Men's Club.

Besides these projects the club entertained the elderly and shutins, sent Christmas gifts to needy families and many food parcels to Rotarians in distress in Europe. In addition the members contributed $850 to the Rotary Foundation Fellowship Fund in honor of the founder, Paul Harris.

At Easter the Rotary Club conducted an Easter seal campaign to raise funds for work with crippled children. Through the campaign treasurer, James Thompson, and a committee under Jack Dewart, the club was able to raise $5,000 of which $2,500 will be contributed to the work of the Ontario Crippled Children Society and $2,500 to the work on local cases.

Crippled Children

Forty-five cases were investigated throughout the year by the crippled children's committee under K. S. Wightman. Mr. Keefer read the report from Mr. Wightman in which he stated that some of the 45 were continuing cases from the previous year. A large number, he added, were new cases and a few were children too young for present action but their names were on record for future investigation.

Mr. Wightman reported that the type of cases assisted varied widely. The majority are the after-results of polio. Other children are treated for bowed legs, club feet, cleft palate, and burns. The expenditures included the hospital fees at both the Sick Children's Hospital and the Civic Hospital, payment for braces and appliances payment in some cases for transportataion, and assistance in buying shoes for orthopaedic cases. The total cost to the club of 39 individual cases was $2,540.62.

Mr. Keefer paid special tribute to the doctors and specialists who donated their time, skill and advice in the treatment of the cases.

Other reports were given by secretary Peter LaBranche and treasurer Jack McColl.

Past President Frank Patterson expressed the thanks of the club to Mr. Keefer for his outstanding term and presented him with the diamond Rotary pin emblematic of past presidency. Upon accepting the president's gavel from Mr. Keefer, Hugh Waddell, the 1950-51 president, presented Mr. Keefer with a volume of "My Road to Rotary," the autobiography of Paul Harris. The fly leaf of the book contained a cancelled cheque of the late Mr. Harris as a souvenir.

Increased Activity Cuts 86,100 Off Jobless List

OTTAWA, June 27—(CP)—Increased activity in the agriculture, construction and transportation industries lopped 86,100 jobless off Canadian unemployed lists during the four weeks ended June 15. In a periodic report of Canada's employment situation, the Labor Department reported Monday that at June 15 the number of job seekers registered with National Employment Service offices across the country was 220,400 compared with 306,500 at May 18.

Although the June 15 figure was 74,000 above the 146,400 reported out of work on the corresponding date of 1949, the Department said some farmers, particularly in Quebec, Ontario and the Prairies, were having difficulty obtaining experienced farm workers.

Some who had been available earlier for farm work now were engaged in manufacturing industries where the number employed continued to increase.

Jobless Picture

This was the unemployment picture in the six labor regions across Canada at June 15, with May 18 figures in brackets:

Newfoundland, 19,400 (21,600); Maritimes, 27,700 (40,900); Quebec, 68,100 (103,600); Ontario, 49,300 (63,800); Prairies, 30,800 (44,400); Pacific, 25,100 (32,200.)

The increased United States demand for pulp and paper products was holding employment in that industry to a high level with more workers being hired to process the logs now coming down the rivers in the spring drive. Employment in British Columbia and Maritimes sawmills was increasing.

Automobile plants, primary iron and steel plants and those producing electrical equipment were all operating close to capacity.

Construction and agriculture were largely responsible for reducing the jobless from 63,800 to 49,300 in Ontario. The automobile industry was operating close to capacity, with feeder plants at full production. Radio manufacturing plants were busy making television receivers. Most heavy manufacturing industries maintained high-level production, though part-time work continued in a few light industries such as textiles and leather goods.

Fined For Taking Employer's Truck

Found guilty of taking a truck without the owner's consent, Fred Bebee, 122 Hilliard St., was today fined $50 and $8.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C.

Kenneth Dawson of Toronto, facing a similar charge concerning the same truck, had his case dismissed.

Fred Revoy, owner of a used car lot, told the court Bebee worked for him at one time, and that on June 9 he had asked to borrow the truck to go home for supper. When Bebee did not return that night, Revoy said he was not particularly worried.

Revoy testified he didn't see the truck again until the following Monday, when it was found on Sherbrooke St. not far from his car lot. The truck was not damaged.

Bebee testified he and Dawson had gone to Toronto, intending to return that night, but that a fuse blew and the lights would not operate.

Evidence revealed Dawson did not know the truck had been taken without consent. Revoy said he allowed Bebee to take the truck home for supper, but no farther.

5 Canadian Women Evacuated From Korea

TORONTO, June 27 (CP) — Five Canadian women connected with the United Church mission at Seoul, Korea, have been evacuated by ship, it was reported here today.

The Rev. D. H. Gallagher, executive director of the overseas mission branch of the United Church of Canada, said he received a cable from Rev. E. J. O. Fraser, secretary of the mission at Seoul.

"Five women evacuated Monday by ship," the message read. "I shall leave when possible. City quiet to noon."

The United Church mission is the only one in the area staffed by Canadians.

Dr. Gallagher said it is presumed the women were evacuated to Japan. The five are: Mrs Fraser; Dr. Florence Murray, Halifax; Ada Sandell, Magog, Que.; Beulah Bournes, Somerset, Man.; and Anette Rose, Rubania, N.S.

Careless Driving Fine $5 And $6.75 Costs

Facing a charge of careless driving, Laverne Lane, R.R. 4, Lakefield, was today fined $5 and $6.75 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C. Lane pleaded not guilty.

The charge arose from an accident at the Lindsay turn on Highway 7, in which Lane's car and a panel truck driven by Alphonse Levasseur of Peterborough were slightly damaged.

Prices Reel Backward On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, June 27 — (CP).— A sudden wave of selling sent prices reeling backwards from early gains as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

The market opened in a continuation of yesterday's sharp break, began a strong recovery movement within 30 minutes and showed signs of wiping out a good share of Monday's losses.

Selling sudenly hit the market at one o'clock following President Truman's Washington announcement of aid to Asia and a sharp crack in New York.

The sudden decline followed heavy waves of selling Monday in what traders termed the sharpest market break since 1929.

Within a few minutes after the sudden break this afternoon, the losses ranged up to $4 in a handful of key stocks that are also listed in New York.

Most of the selling centred in industrials. Stocks like International Paper, Abitibi Paper, CPR, Bell Telephone, and Hiram Walker's were among the issues dipping from morning gains.

Base metals also sagged rapidly and golds were quietly easier. Western oils showed the best advances in the early dealings, but these were being wiped out quickly as the session progressed.

Volume for the first three hours was 2,719,000 shares.

Like Sunday Sports

PORT STANLEY, June 27 (CP) —In a light vote, residents of this Lake Erie summer resort village approved Sunday sports by a majority of more than two to one. The count was 237 to 110.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, June 27 (CP) — Coarse grain prices took the downward path today in early dealings on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Traders said the easiness could be ascribed, in part at least, to a recession on United States markets. After an initial flurry of activity, trading turned dull although some commercial demand resulted from the drop in prices.

Prices:

Oats: July ⅝ lower 1.08½A; Oct. 1⅜ lower 85⅞A; Dec. ½ lower 81½.

Barley: July 1¼ lower 1.46½; Oct. 1¾ lower 1.22½A; Dec. 1⅛ lower 1.17½.

Find Exports to U.S. Reach All-Time High During May

OTTAWA, June 27 (CP)—The flow of Canadian-made goods into the United States reached an all-time high during May to boost the Dominion's exports to $287,000,000—the highest monthly total in six months.

More than half the month's total was made up of exports across the border, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday. The record shipments of $175,290,000 worth of goods more than offset lower sales to the United Kingdom, the Union of South Africa and most European countries.

The over-all May export figures of $287,000,000 compared with $265,500,000 in exports the previous month and $272,900,000 in the corresponding month last year.

The month's gains, however, failed to offset earlier losses this year. In the first five months this year exports totalled $1,141,402,000 compared with $1,169,532,000 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Seven of the nine main commodity groups played a part in boosting May shipments to the United States 45 per cent above the $121,199,000 sold across the border in May, 1949. In the first five months of 1950 exports to the U. S. climbed 26 per cent to $727,090,000 from $577,044,000.

The biggest gain was recorded in the wood and paper group which soared to $83,425,000—a gain of $26,894,000 from the May, 1949, figure of $56,531,000. Agriculture and vegetable products to $20,824,000 from $12,073,000; animals and animal products to $19,847,000 from $13,322,000; nonmetallic minerals to $5,917,000 from $3,209,000; and chemicals to $5,376,000 from $3,904,000.

House Quickly Passes Defence Budget

OTTAWA, June 27 — (CP). — The Commons Monday quickly passed a $425,000,000 defence budget on the heels of official statements that the outbreak of a Communist-inspired war in Korea has created a "very grave" military situation.

Adoption capped a brisk three-hour debate in which Opposition members expressed concern over the Korean development. Defence Minister Claxton said situation may force him to ask Parliament for greater outlays and External Affairs Minister Pearson termed it an act of "unprovoked aggression."

Mr. Claxton made these announcements:

1—If the Korean picture continues to "look serious," the Navy may delay sending a six-ship squadron into European waters for exercises in August with the Royal Navy.

2—The RCAF will start early in 1951 to send fighter squadrons to Britain and possibly later to Europe for training. They will go overseas on a rotation basis, each for a few months.

Blames Soviet

George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, suggested that Soviet aid and direction was behind the Korean aggression.

Solon Low, Social Credit Leader, asked Mr. Claxton to say how much money he needs for adequate defence of Canada and pledged his party to support the minister.

Mr. Claxton said that if another $200,000,000 were available a large part of it would go into equipment and the acceleration of aircraft production and shipbuilding. But the present budget, a record one, was what the government felt represented a fair contribution by Canada to Atlantic-Pact security.

Defence estimates adopted, the Chamber turned to Trade Department appropriations. Trade Minister Howe reported that subsidies paid to help the steel industry convert to peacetime operation will end this year.

partly confirmed by two Korean newspaper men in direct telephone conversations with Tokyo.

The two—Bill Shinn, Associated Press Korean reporter, and Sol Kook Wan, managing editor of the Korean Pacific Press, said the entire South Korean cabinet—presumably including President Syngman Rhee—had evacuated the city despite continued contrary government claims.

(Reuters News Agency meanwhile reported that President Rhee told his minister in Tokyo in a radio-telephone conversation that the South Korean government still was in Seoul and his troops had pushed the invaders back 12 miles from the city.)

Shinn and Sol Kook Wan said one North Korean fighter plane was shot down by United States-made fighters during a bombing raid on Seoul during the afternoon.

Three newly-acquired American Mustang fighters challenged the raiders—eight in number.

This is the third North Korean fighter claimed by Korean pilots of the Mustangs which Gen. Douglas MacArthur turned over to the South Korean Government on orders from Washington.

The Korean newspaper man talked from the Chosen Hotel in the centre of Seoul.

Battle Line

They said the battle line this afternoon stretched from Munsan about 25 miles north-west of Seoul, to Tong Du Chan, about 25 miles due north, to Pochan on the east.

If this line is correct it would confirm previous South Korean claims that Uijongbu, important valley town 12 miles north of Seoul, had been recaptured.

South Korean forces under a new general began their second counter-attack this morning against Uijongbu, a key point along the route followed by the tank-led North Korean forces driving on Seoul.

The reporters said the entire South Korean Cabinet left Seoul between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. They were reported to have passed through Suwon, 20 miles south of Seoul, and headed for Kejon (Taejon) 90 miles southward.

The reporters said the Cabinet members had left despite assurances that they would remain until the end.

There was no sign of Communist North Korean ground troops about the city, the reporters said.

Lose No Time

(Ten American fighter planes furnished the South Koreans by Gen MacArthur apparently lost no time getting into the war. There were reports that their South Korean pilots, in addition to challenging the Russian-built North Korean planes in the air, had strafed and bombed Communist ground forces.

O. H. P. King, Associated Press correspondent, who arrived in Japan late today from Seoul said he tried unsuccessfully until 11:30 a.m. to reach President Rhee the 75-year-old former exile to the United States, by telephone. King's calls were placed to the president's residence, a large house normally staffed with many servants and secretaries.

Forced To Withdraw

King reported by telephone from Ita Uki airbase on Kyushu Island, Southern Japan, that until just before noon today the North Korean forces never had been reported closer than nine miles to Seoul. He said the Korean defence ministry claimed the nearest penetration to that time was 12 miles northward in the vicinity of Uijongbu.

MacArthur's headquarters reported officially this morning that tank elements had entered the suburbs of Seoul. The Korean mission in Tokyo had placed the northerners three miles from the city.

Military circles in Tokyo, trying to sift vague and conflicting information, said it appeared that advance North Korean units had reached close to the capital. Apparently they had over-extended their lines and were forced to withdraw or had been pushed back by defenders of the city.

Arrested Again Just Served 3 Years In Pen

COBOURG, June 27 (ENS) — Released from Kingston penitentiary this month after serving a three year term, Joe Firth, London, Ont., was arrested in the early hours of Monday. He pleaded guilty in Cobourg police court later to breaking and entering Gifford's and Wakely's service stations.

Constable Lloyd Coughlin of Port Hope police, told the court he noticed a stranger near Gifford's service station at 3 a.m. After he had questioned him he let him go.

Shortly afterwards, while checking the doors, he found that Gifford's service station had been broken into. He got Constable Woods and they found the stranger near a hotel. Noticing that his hand was cut, they immediately connected his condition with the fact that the window in Gifford's garage had been broken. They found him in possession of a few dollars in silver and he gave his name as Joe Firth.

After locking him up they checked other garages and found that Wakely's service station, just outside the town limits, had been broken into. Provincial Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg and Chief W. Graham of Port Hope joined in the investigation. It was learned that the accused had taken the silver and a flashlight from Wakely's garage and that he had only got out of Kingston penitentiary this month after a three years' term.

Want More Facts Before Leaving Counties Council

CAMPBELLFORD, June 27 — (ENS)—Before deciding whether to break away from the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham to become an independent municipality, the town council will endeavor to obtain more information about the advantages and disadvantages.

At the suggestion of Councillor W. A. Kingston, supported by Deputy Reeve Mason, the council will set up a special committee to interview the Department of Municipal Affairs and the Department of Education and an invitation was extended to members of Seymour council to attend the interviews.

These arrangements were made at a special meeting of the council Monday, when a report from N. Alex MacColl, the town solicitor, was considered.

Mr. MacColl said the provincial government was opposed to separated towns. At present there were only about five separated towns in the province, them being Riverside, St. Mary's, Trenton and Smiths Falls. The chief reason given was that the towns were not able to pay for the upkeep of county roads in the towns.

When upkeep of county roads was discussed it was said that the town of Trenton pays for the upkeep of the Wooler road leading into Trenton. This was in order that they receive a grant to help pay for the upkeep of their own streets in the town.

Mr. MacColl had been in contact with the Deputy Minister of Education, and had been informed that the question of withdrawal and the creation of their own school area should go before a vote of the people.

It was suggested that the council contact some of the other seperated towns in the province. These would be the people who would know the advantages or disadvantages.

November Convention

TORONTO, June 27 (CP) — The Ontario Liberal Association has set Nov. 9 and 10 as dates for a provincial convention to pick a new Ontario Liberal leader to succeed Farquhar Oliver, who has resigned. William A. Bennett was elected chairman of the general convention committee.

7 Of Cabinet Resign

TOKYO, June 27 (AP)—Seven Japanese cabinet ministers resigned today in a move that has no connection with the outbreak of war in Korea. Premier Shigeru Yoshida, who will not resign, will attempt to form a new cabinet.

"NERVES" She Called It

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves", she thought—but it was her kidneys—the filters of her blood—that needed attention. She used Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, backache, headache, lack of energy disappeared. Dodd's Kidney Pills contain essential oils and medicinal ingredients that act directly upon the kidneys—and help restore their normal action. 144

Murrays Leave Keene Pastorate

KEENE, June 27—The Rev. and Mrs. George Murray of Keene United Church, who left today for their new charge at Newburgh, were presented with farewell gifts from the congregations of Zion, Bethel and Keene.

At Zion, the congregation met at the home of Mrs. Jackson for a social evening, when Mrs. Murray was presented with an appliqued rose pattern quilt, the work of the Woman's Association, and Mr. Murray, with a gold mounted, engraved pen and pencil set.

At Keene, the congregations of Keene and Bethel held a social evening on Friday. Miss Jean Armstrong read an address to Mr. and Mrs. Murray and Jean. A necklace and earrings and a radio were presented to Jean from the choir, Sunday School and congregation and Mr. and Mrs. Murray received a desk and chair and coffee table from the congregation. The WMS gave Mrs. Murray a pen and pencil set and Mr. Murray received Winston Churchill's book "The Grand Alliance" from the YPU. Refreshments were served.

Construction Costs

HAMILTON —(CP)— The increased cost of housing was shown up strongly in the recent sale of the Farrar home. Built in 1890 for $6,000 on an $1,100 lot, the 16-room house brought a price believed to be more than $30,000. tee, with J. D. McNish as vice-chairman.

Stole Small Sums For Gas Station

COBOURG, June 27 (ENS) — Lloyd Guthrie, 20, of Millbrook, Monday pleaded guilty to theft of money under $25, during May and June, the property of David Fallis, Millbrook service station operator. After he had made restitution, Guthrie was remanded out of custody by Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

Fallis told the court he had been missing small amounts of money from his cash register for some time. Two nights, Fallis and Constable Fitzpatrick waited in the garage, over which Guthrie lives, but nothing happened. However, Constable Scott caught the accused in the garage last week, entrance having been gained by means of a key which Guthrie had in his possession.

Provincial Constable H. Wooldridge of Cobourg, who investigated the thefts, said Guthrie told him he was glad he had been caught before it got more serious. Guthrie told the court he earned $45 a week and that it had not been necessary for him to take the money from the service station till.

Elmer Kidd of Toronto, former Cobourg resident, was fined $25 and costs on each charge when he pleaded guilty to dangerous driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident. Kidd had struck a hydro pole in Cobourg Saturday night and ended up in the ditch out Ontario St.

Harold ackson, r., Cobourg, found guilty of causing a disturbance, was remanded out of custody to Sept. 11 and ordered to report periodically to the chief of police. The magistrate also put him on the interdicted list as liquor was found responsible for most of his trouble.

Not Unanimous

CAMPBELLFORD, June 27 — (ENS)—The petition asking town council for permission to close off the business section of Front St. July 13, 14 and 15 was not endorsed unanimously by the merchants, as reported previously.

Retain Affiliation

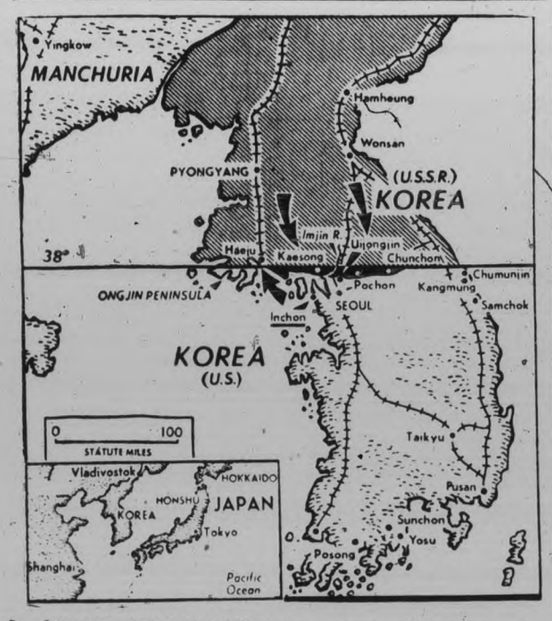
LONDON, June 27 (Reuters) — The National Union of Journalists announced Monday that its members had decided to remain affiliated to the Trades Union Congress. About half of the union's 10,000 members voted, 3,037 in favor of affiliation and 2,034 against.

Hammond Cruisers In Crowd For 6 Steaks

CAMPBELLFORD, June 27 — (ENS) — The C. M. Hammond cruising party in Campbellford over the week-end were reported as having a poor eating-time. According to the manager of one restaurant, the Hammonds came into the store at 9.35 p.m. on Saturday, at which time all available seats were occupied, and twelve people were standing in the lobby waiting for seats and asked if they could get six steak meals.

The manager informed them that he was sorry he could not accommodate them, as there were no seats, and as a rule on hot Saturday nights in the summer it was possible to serve only short-order lunches and ice-cream, due to the heavy volume of trade with a limited seating capacity. The manager informed them that if they had come in an hour sooner, when there was room to accommodate them they could have been given good service. It was suggested by the manager that they try other restaurants nearby. He even named a few, but the reply was that they were all full. All restaurants in town serve meals on Saturdays and welcome patrons when they are able to accommodate them, during business hours.

Hopeless Character



GRIMSBY, Lincolnshire, England, June 27 (Reuters)—Herbert Howlett was released from prison last week after serving only half of a five-year sentence, because he had become blind. Less than 48 hours after his release he suddenly regained his sight. But today he was back in prison again facing charges of stealing a bicycle.

Seems Undignified

EDINBURGH, June 27 (Reuters)—Novelist Eric Linklater has asked that his signature be erased from the covenant seeking separate Scottish parliament because he says that to beg American money for a Scottish cause seems undignified. A covenant delegation now is touring Canada and the United States.

16 Die In Crash

ROME, June 27 (AP)—Sixteen persons were killed yesterday in a crash of a bus and a truck on the Island of Sardinia.

BLACK AREA ON MAP shows depth of the first penetration below the 38th parallel by Communist North Korean forces early in surprise drive which began Sunday. South Korean towns of Kaesong, Chunchon, and Uijongjin, were in path of drive and Pochon, only 25 miles north of Seoul, capital of the U.S. sponsored South Korean republic, was reported taken by tanks and infantry. The Ongjin Peninsula was abandoned to the invaders. Americans in South Korea were being concentrated at Inchon (underlined) for evacuation. On the east coast, South Korean guard vessels were reported to have sunk a Russian ship off Chumunjin. Inset lower left gives the location of Korea in relation to Japan and Shanghai.

"Unprovoked Aggression"

Until more information is available a proper assessment of the situation in Korea cannot be made. Nor can the forces at play behind the overt fighting be determined. Obviously the Red hand of Russia is manipulating the North Korean puppet, but it is too early to say whether the aggression is a deliberate Russian move to test the reactions of the U.S.A., a calculated risk of wider warfare. Certainly more is involved than the 600-mile long, 100-mile wide, divided peninsula of Korea. If it is a side-show, its light spills around the world, both East and West.

* * *

The outburst of fighting in Korea was not unexpected. Only last autumn the General Assembly of UN resolved to continue the Korean Commission, despite the fact that in the three years of its existence, it had not achieved the major objective which the Assembly had set it, and by then, could not: to bring about the unification of Korea. The life of the Commission was prolonged because it was felt to be a stabilizing influence on the opposing factions, and so that, in the event of an armed outbreak, it could keep the United Nations fully informed. (The U.N. has had military observers in Korea for several years.) There have been border incidents between North and South since 1946. They were not lessened by the establishment of the Republic of Korea as an independent state in 1948. North Korea was set up by Russia with a Communist Government, but only South Korea has been recognized by U.N. and most countries. Now open warfare has broken out.

* * *

Although Canada resigned from the Korean Commission in December, 1948, (to make the Commission smaller), its interest in the problem of Korean independence is not lessened. It is concerned as a member of U.N.; it has a special concern in the re-establishment of peace and security in the North Pacific area. Whether Canada likes it or not, it is a North Pacific as well as a North Atlantic power. Our minister of External Affairs said in Parliament yesterday that the week-end attack on South Korea was an act of "unprovoked aggression". What is Canada going to do, what is the U.S.A. going to do; what is U.N. going to do about it?

An Age Of Intense Curiosity

This is an age when everybody wants to know as much as possible about everyone else's affairs; it is also an age which affords unusual chances to gratify that wish. People of any importance or notoriety are exposed to considerable publicity, and very often they seek it for themselves. We are thinking as we write of the memoirs of the Duke of Windsor, which have been causing so much discussion lately. The Duke was not impelled to write those memoirs by necessity, nor can he have felt that he had any remarkable contribution to make to the history of the abdication crisis which marked the summit of his career as a public figure. He wrote, we can only assume, in order to gain publicity for his own particular point of view.

His memoirs are being widely read. And why not? He was a well-loved prince and the principal figure in a great romance, if we may be permitted to use that word loosely. The Duke knew very well that whatever he chose to write (or whatever he chose to have written for him, for we doubt if he wrote the memoirs himself) would be gobbled up eagerly. And he has taken his opportunity to give unfavourable portraits of the late Archbishop of Canterbury, and the late Earl Baldwin. No doubt, in his eyes, they behaved badly, but his opinion is perhaps the least objective that could be found. And his strictures upon them have not served to increase his own stature. Neither, it may be said, have earlier articles written for American magazines by his Duchess, in which she reveals the housekeeping secrets of the Windsor household, and the personal tastes and economies of her husband.

Another book of gossip about royalty which is attracting attention at present is that written by Marion Crawford, formerly governess to the royal princesses. This appears to be a book of pure gush, but it relates what the princesses eat, what they call their friends and other intimate details of their lives. It is rather astonishing that anyone with enough taste to be a governess to royalty should have written such a book.

The public for such material, however, is numbered in millions. We have, we believe, as much regard for the British throne and as firm a wish to see it preserved as any newspaper anywhere. But in this sort of cheap pamphleteering and oversweet revelation we see signs of the breaking-up of the monarchy. Royal personages have shown virtually every fault in the past, but never before have they dropped to posturing for publicity.

For Travellers In Ontario

Guide books to Ontario are a rarity. Indeed, we cannot recall ever seeing a good one until Ontario In Your Car turned up in the mail a few days ago. It is the work of John and Marjorie Mackenzie, and it is published by Clarke, Irwin, which makes it a completely Ontario production. It is concise, well-illustrated and honest. This latter quality may not endear it to all keepers of hotels and restaurants, but it will give it great value in the hands of tourists. For the Mackenzies mention hotels, restaurants and tourist resorts by name, and they do not name any which they cannot recommend. The omissions, therefore, are as eloquent as the inclusions. The standard which the Mackenzies have set is that of average tourists, who want good accommodation and meals, and who are ready to pay a fair, but not exorbitant price. No doubt such a useful book will run through a number of editions and revisions. Hotels and restaurants which are not mentioned may possibly be included in later issues if they can meet the standards which the book sets.

This is a book which we are going to put in the glovebox of our car, for that is where it belongs. It is a real traveller's companion, and we expect that it will become popular with our twenty million tourists from the U.S.A., as well as with native Ontarians. Better books may come after it, but none better has appeared hitherto.

Peterborough Swamps

People touring country roads south of Peterborough must be cheered, if they are at all conservation-conscious, by the numerous swamps and marshes to be seen; in Cavan, Asphodel and Otonabee, for instance. These preservatives of surface water and of the sub-surface watertable are assuming an importance denied them in earlier years when a swamp was considered useless if not loathsome. The draining of a swamp may now be considered a crime against the people of the province. The excellent comprehensive Report of the Ontario Legislature from the Select Committee on Conservation presented earlier this year lays special emphasis on the value of swamps, farm ponds, and small dams, in the preventing of soil erosion, the conservation of water, (particularly of the spring run-off) the enrichment of the soil, and the sustenance of our flora and fauna. We note with regret that the swamp land on the east side of Highway 28 just before it enters Bewdley is being drained and the scrub cleared, so that tourist cabins may be set on the land. On the face of it, such a clearance seems to be valuable; fifty years hence the loss of the marsh may be considered a great waste.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An English authoress now visiting the U.S.A. says she is "trying to understand American women." Hoping, doubtless, to make her fortune by explaining them to American men.

British bureaucrats, we read, have decided to take no notice of jokes made at their expense. Strange that they should miss a chance to set up a sub-department of Witty Rebuttals and Apt Rejoinders, with soft jobs for twenty or thirty head of bureaucrats.

A new $75,000 refrigerated penguin house in the Bronx zoo was opened last week, and a little garden party held to mark the occasion. The penguins were not invited. Probably in their natural "dress suits" they were too butlerish to mingle with guests.

The New York Times has been running 'fillers' in odd column spaces which read: "Do not flush toilets merely to dispose of facial tissues, cigarette ashes and the like. Unnecessary flushing wastes more water than any other home consumption". Perhaps the trouble with water-short New York is that there are too many pent-houses and not enough out-houses.

An Artist's Notebook

By JOHN SKEAPING

THERE is one thing the Mexican Indian will not do for money, and that is to pose as a model. A few of the less superstitious will allow you to photograph them for a small payment and the promise of a copy of the picture—but, pose for drawing, definitely no.

Recently my Mexican host and I set out to find someone we could possibly bribe to sit for us. We wanted the impossible: a woman who would pose in the nude. There was only one hope—a vague one. We were told of three young ladies by the names of Rosa, Marai, and Angelia, who were to be found at a certain address any night after nine o'clock.

We went there one night; the door was opened by a formidable-looking old woman, half Indian, half negress. We were shown through a muddy yard, where pigs and hens were foraging about, into a shack furnished with a few old broken-down chairs. There was a juke-box screaming out some quite unrecognizable tune. The electric light had failed, as it often does here at night, and the place was illuminated by three candles stuck in beer bottles.

◇ ◇ ◇

WE ordered drinks and sat down for a chat with our hosteses. As it is quite a normal thing for the local boys to call at such house for a drink or to pass the time of day with the staff, our apparent aimlessness aroused no curiosity. When we finally came to the point, the ladies' reaction was violent in the extreme. We were nearly lynched by Rosa, Maria and Angelia, while the old woman roared at the top of her voice: "What kind of girls do you think we have here?" We beat a hasty retreat, and decided that nudes were definitely out of the question.

The next day I went to a village called El Tule, where the biggest and oldest tree in the world stands in a churchyard. It is always surrounded by a small gathering of children and young girls waiting to catch tourists and sell them odd-looking fruits and a local brand of cold pancake called a tortilla. I thought I might get somewhere with them since they were used to the sight of strange-looking foreigners.

It took the best part of half an hour to explain to them what drawing was. Then one small girl ran off to ask her mother and came back shouting: "Mother says not to do it, girls. He will take us away and boil us down into oil." There followed an interview with the child's parents, who finally agreed to my coming to their hovel and doing my drawing there.

◇ ◇ ◇

AT a glance one can see that these Mexican Indians are among the most poverty-stricken human beings anywhere in the world, but it is only when one has lived with them that one realizes the extent of their poverty. They possess only the one article of clothing, which they wear until it drops off them. They have no footwear problems for they go barefoot and think nothing of walking fifty miles in one day just to earn a peso (a little less than a shilling). And they will do this, old and young, carrying a load that would be too heavy for the average European even to lift.

◇ ◇ ◇

I BECAME very friendly with the family in El Tule, visiting them often, nursing the babies, eating their strange concoctions of boiled ground maize, roasted crushed cocoa beans and cinnamon boiled up in ditch water.

The family consists of a mother and father and six surviving children out of ten (the rate of child mortality here is one in three, nearly all the deaths being due to intestinal infections of one kind or another). Their house is a simple enclosure made of unfired bricks, roofed over with bamboo and reeds. It has no window and only an opening for a door; the furniture consists of baulks of timber which serve for both chairs and table; the beds are reed mats stretched on the earth floor, and there are no bed-covers of any kind.

On the day of the annual Fiesta this poor family invited me to celebrate with them. All the children were wearing new clothes made from materials that I had bought them in Oaxaca, the State capital. In the middle of the hut was a borrowed table with a clean tablecloth and a pot containing real and artificial flowers: the artificial ones were necessary to show that the flowers had been bought for me and not merely collected from the hedges.

◇ ◇ ◇

FOOD was brought and I was invited to sit down and eat. Before long I realized that the meal was for me alone. My friends had killed one of their four chickens and cooked it in a fiery red sauce that burnt my mouth. There was also sweetened marrow, and two bottles, one of lemonade and the other of some kind of fizzy drink.

As I ate—with my fingers, for there was no knife or fork — it was hard for me to tell whether my streaming tears were the result of emotion or the intense heat of the pepper and chillis. The family sat round and watched me. The mother produced one of her breasts through a hole in her dress and fed the baby, while the eldest daughter busily deloused her little sister's hair. One of the little boys drew stags on the wall to entertain me, and another child danced. It was an unforgettably moving experience.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN my search for a model I recently made a trip to the isthmus of Tehuantepec, where the women are rightly renowned for their beauty. But I was no more successful there than elsewhere in finding anyone to pose for me, though I combed all the villages for miles around.

I spent some days in a charming fishing village by the side of a four-mile stretch of sand with a background of palm trees. There were pelicans there, and egrets, and all manner of beautiful birds. I camped with the fisher folk, sleeping in a hammock slung under a straw-thatched roof right on the seashore.

I bathed all day in the warm sea, which once each day would suddenly become infested with myriads of tiny jellyfish that sting. Meanwhile, the fishermen would be catching some kind of gigantic fish weighing about 300 lb. These they would bring into shallow water, hook them up by the gills in some peculiar way so that they would swallow air and become inflated like balloons, then make them fast to a post on the shore and keep them thus until the market was favourable. One man told me that they had once kept a fish anchored in this manner for seventeen days.

SUCH strange and primitive methods extend to every sphere of Mexican Indian life—a life that has changed little since the heyday of the Aztec civilization. The local folk art has those qualities of strength and simplicity one associates with all primitive art. Sculpture is the most popular form, a variety of materials being used, from clay to bread, and even sugar. The figures bear a striking resemblance to palaeolithic sculpture; others recall early Etruscan art.

This primitive folk art is innocent of any aesthetic intention. If the Mexican Indian thinks at all when he is producing his sculpture, it is in terms of traditional rights and superstitions, fetishes which fulfil some primitive need or belief. He believes strongly that his work is somehow necessary to life; he is also conscious of the inherent qualities of his medium. This makes the work a great pleasure to him, but he is incapable of explaining it in the way of the self-consciously intellectual artist of Europe.

Letters To The Editors

KINSMEN'S LATE CARNIVAL

Sir: Would it be possible another year for the Kinsmen to state in their advertisement at what time their Carnival begins? As there were to be pony rides for the children we concluded it would be soon after supper or even in the afternoon. We went down with all our children on Friday—everything was dead. Again on Saturday; waiting till seven p.m. this time—a few feeble signs of life. The children are disappointed, and we are disgruntled. And why the clowns on the newspaper advertisement? Are they disguised as booth-holders on the night itself?

FOOTSORE-BUT-IN-POCKET.

THE CHILDREN'S POET

Sir: In the midst of our festivities this year, it might not be amiss to recall another centenary, that of the "Hoosier Poet", James Whitcomb Riley. He will be remembered especially for his affection for children and his intelligent appreciation of their joys and dreams. He put into practice the axiom 'Magna reverentia debetur parvulis" –Great reverence is due to children. Of him could be said what he wrote of Longfellow:

"Awake, he loved their voices and wove them into his rhyme,
And the music of their laughter was with him all the time".

Not children alone but those who, though their hairs be white with age, still retain the heart of a child enjoy his poems; for they carry them back to the days when the circus was to them a dream of grandeur, when

"The rattle and the rhyme of the tenor-drummer's time Filled all the hungry hearts of us with melody sublime".

Society owes Whitcomb Riley a debt of gratitude for his delineation of the virtues of the domestic hearth. In this age of divorce and marital infidelity, his sketches of the ideal home life are indeed refreshing. These two little etchings, the first a verse from the poem "A Child's Mother" and the second "That Old Sweetheart of Mine" will reveal something of this phase of the author's works.

"She loves me when she cuts and sews
My little cloak and Sunday clothes,
And when my Pa comes home to tea
She loves him most as much as me"

Then again:

"As one who cons at evening o'er an album all alone
And muses on the faces of the friends that he has known,
So I turn the leaves of fancy, till in shadowy design
I find the smiling features of an old sweetheart of mine.

'Tis a fragrant retrospection, for the loving thoughts that start
Into being are like perfumes from the blossoms of the heart;
And to dream the old dream over is a luxury divine,
When my truant fancy wanders with that old sweetheart of mine.

Though I hear beneath my study, like a flickering of wings,
The voices of my children, and the mother as she sings,
I feel no twinge of conscience to deny me any theme,
When care has cast her anchor in the harbor of a dream.

But, ah: my dream is broken by a step upon the stair,
And the door is softly opened, and my wife is standing there;
Yet with eagerness and rapture all my visions I resign,
To meet the living presence of that old sweetheart of mine.

I do not claim that this is great poetry, but it breathes an atmosphere of sweetness and purity and rings true to our best instincts. It will live in the hearts of the people when many great poems will be but gathering dust on library shelves.

ANON.

DUTY ON STRAWBERRIES

Sir: Your correspondent "City Housewife" asks why the duty has been raised on strawberries. It is for the same reason it was raised on imported shirts and for the same reason that we all pay increased prices because of the duty on most everything we want to buy —cars, tractors, electric equipment, farm machinery etc. It is taken for granted that the Canadian manufacturer must be protected by tariffs but let an agricultural product get any protection and listen to the howls. No one is self-sufficient. When our machinery wears out it has to be replaced as has everything else necessary to life and if we attempted to "sit tight and wait for prices to drop" we would be sitting a long time.

If the government reimposed the ban on the export of cattle to the States it would create a surplus and lower prices. If they would also ban all exporting, it would create surpluses of other things too with the same result.

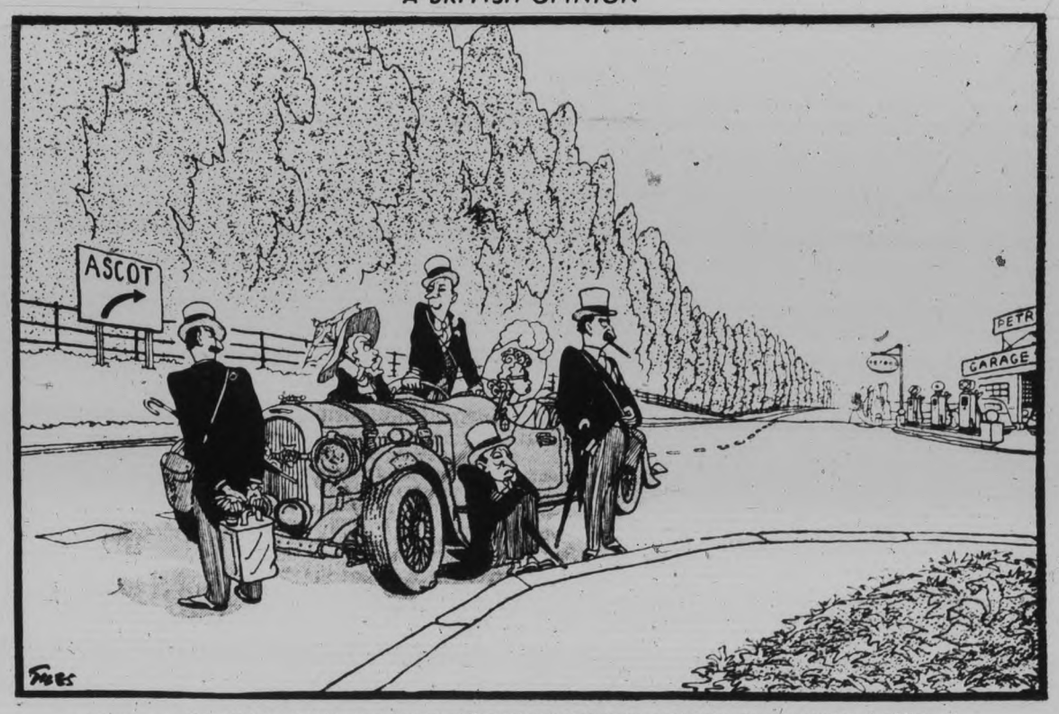
Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

When the Most High divided to the nations their inheritance, when he separated the sons of Adam, he set the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Israel. For the Lord's portion is his people; Jacob is the lot of his inheritance. He found him in a desert land, and in the waste howling wilderness; he led him about, he instructed him, he kept him as the apple of his eye.

As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings: so the Lord alone did lead him, and there was no strange god with him. (Deut. 32: 8-12.)



◇ ◇ ◇

For since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him . . . But now, O Lord, thou art our father; we are the clay, and thou our potter; and we all are the work of thy hand. (Isa. 64: 4, 8.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Sing unto God, sing praises to his name: extol him that rideth upon the heavens by his name JAH, and rejoice before him. A father of the fatherless, and a judge of the widows, is God in his holy habitation. (Ps. 68: 4, 5.)

Market Break No Reason To Panic

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor

The stock market break Monday doesn't mean that anything is worth less than it was worth last week.

It still is a matter of figuring out the value of each individual issue in relation to its dividends and its prospects. And the prospects of any well-managed institution with a stake in the country are good.

They are especially good, in a grim sort of way, because there is a cold war which is not likely to be forgotten in the last of the present Korean development.

The whole western world is in the early part of a battle for survival and it dare not deal in such things as recessions and depressions.

War Possible

Monday's stock market drop was interpreted in two ways—both with considerable truth in them. One was that the market has been going up for so long—about a year—that any upsetting development was likely to put it on the skids. The other was that the market realized that war some day is possible and that, in its event, such things as profits are likely to go by the board.

Well, from anything we can observe, a third world war is not likely tomorrow, or the next day, or for a little while, and in the meantime it is possible to go by traditional values.

Korea simply points up that one of three things will happen:

There will be a war, probably at a later date; or, through some process not discernible, the Russian dictatorship will become less aggressive, possibly through a dilution as Communism spreads through, say, China; or, the Russian dictatorship will collapse from internal differences.

Changes Picture

This writer had subscribed to the view that the last will happen, but the Korean development seems to have put off the day.

Simply, the Communist peoples have the western peoples "over a barrel" in Korea; especially they have the United States "over a barrel" because the western peoples are leaving the initiative to the United States.

All this means simply that the world can hardly settle down to peace in present times; but, in the meantime, to come back to the stock market, if you have an issue that is sound by ordinary standards, don't get panicky. Lots of people hope you will so that they can buy it in cheaply.

Garbo Return In Movies Will Be Delayed

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, June 27 (AP) —Fans of Greta Garbo will have a longer wait for her film return.

The deal for her to make a picture in Europe under the producership of Walter Wanger and Eugene Frenketew are completely off, inside sources report.. The difficulties of filming in a foreign land caused the abandonment.

Wanger, it is reported, was unwilling to gamble the actress' career in a film which could not be made under the most ideal of circumstances. Garbo, who has not made a film since "Two-Faced Woman" nearly a decade ago, is still anxious for a movie return.

Some Roles

Paul Douglas was asked if he had any regrets over not doing the film version of his stage role in "Born Yesterday." His frank answer: "None." However, he wishes his friend Brod Crawford well in the role and hopes the picture will be good.

Richard Basehart has the most confining role of the year in "14 Hours." He plays the potential suicide who stands on a high-up ledge and threatens to jump off. He has to do all his emoting in the space of about one square foot.

Irrigation Plan Aids B.C. Vets

KELOWNA, BC —(CP)—The final length of pipe has been laid in one of the biggest sprinkler irrigation projects in Canada.

Rich but arid land—1,200 acres—at Westbank will be brought into production, possibly by next year.

The pipe line is 24 inches in diameter at the intake, and gradually narrows down to four inches for each individual parcel of land. Both irrigation and domestic water will be supplied. A 75-foot high storage dam has been constructed on Bear Lake, more than a mile away.

The land will be settled by war veterans and the farms will be 12 to 14 acres in size. There will also be "small holdings" on the lakefront for part-time farmers who have other jobs. Work is being done by Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act engineers.

This is one of the first dry-land reclamation schemes to be developed as a sprinkler project from the outset.

Montreal's Smoke

MONTREAL —(CP)— City authorities have renewed the contract of F. A. Combe as consulting engineer for smoke prevention. With the city for the last two years, Mr. Combe was instrumental in the drawing up of the new anti-smoke bylaw which goes into effect in July.

GENERATING STATION

On this date Ontario Hydro will put into operation the largest of three new generating stations being officially opened this month by Prime Minister Leslie M. Frost. Des Joachims Generating Station, on the Ottawa River near Pembroke, will deliver the first instalment of 480,000 horsepower to Southern Ontario.

This is the second largest generating station ever built by Hydro, ranking second to the Queenston-Chippawa plant on the Niagara River, and is one of the large hydro-electric developments in the world.

Des Joachims, Tunnel and Pine Portage are the 1950 portion of the far-reaching expansion program undertaken by your Hydro to ultimately supply all Ontario with over 1,600,000 additional horsepower. Of their total capacity, 216,500 horsepower is available immediately to speed Ontario's industrial development, to lighten work on the farm, and to meet the increased demand for electricity from hundreds of new homes and businesses throughout Ontario. Full output (616,500 horsepower) will be reached by the end of 1950 or early in 1951.

The Commission wishes to express its appreciation to the men of labour throughout the province, our suppliers, and the Municipal Systems and consumers, who have contributed to speeding these power developments to completion, and to Hydro personnel, who have brought our plans to fruition ahead of schedule in the face of shortages in manpower and materials.

Hockey Hall of Fame Adds Nine More Names to Roster

KINGSTON, Ont., June 27 (CP)—Hockey's Hall of Fame, inscribed with the names of 27 immortals of Canada's national winter sport—players and builders—made room for another nine today including Montreal's battle-scarred Edouard Charles (Newsy) Lalonde and Vancouver's Frank Patrick. Four of the nine honored today are dead.

New members are: Lalonde,

NAMED TO HALL OF FAME—Silas (Si) Griffis, one of the super-stars of the early 1900's, has been named to the International Hockey Hall of Fame. He started out as a forward with Kenora Thistles of the National Hockey Association when that club won the Stanley Cup in 1906-07.

Patrick, Mike Grant, Silas (Si) Griffis, Joe Malone, all living; and Allan (Scotty) Davidson, Charles Graham Drinkwater, George Richardson and Harry J. Trihey, now dead.

Lalonde is one of the most colorful personalities admitted to the Hall since it was instituted seven years ago. The one-time printer's devil, now 62 and living in Montreal, had few peers in the game.

Newsy gained his fame when professional hockey was in the teething stage. He played with Cornwall in the old Federal League; Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. in the International; Berlin (Kitchener) in the Trolley; Renfrew in the National Hockey Association; Montreal Canadiens of the NHA and its successor, the National Hockey League, and Saskatoon in the Western Canada League and Pacific Coast League.

Gets Most Goals

Syd Howe, former Detroit Red Wings centre and left-winger, is credited in modern records with the most goals scored in a single game—Lalonde scored nine goals while playing with Renfrew Millionaires against Cobalt.

Two of his team-mates were Frank (Cyclone) Taylor and Lester Patrick, already in the Hall of Fame.

Frank Patrick, younger brother of Lester, is known best for his contribution to big-league hockey in the form of rule changes. He was instigator of forward passing, unlimited substitution, numbering of players, artificial ice and the present NHL playoff system.

He had the distinction in the Pacific Coast League of holding down the job of league president, club president, manager, coach and star player—on the defence—at the same time.

Joe Malone played his early hockey with Waterloo in the Trolley League and later with Quebec Bulldogs in the NHA and NHL and with Montreal Canadiens and Hamilton Tigers. On Jan. 31, 1920, he scored seven goals for Quebec against Toronto St. Pats.

Malone captained the Stanley Cup champion Bulldogs of 1911-12 and 1912-13.

Killed In War

Allan (Scotty) Davidson, a native of Kingston, was captain of Toronto which won the NHA championship and Stanley Cup in 1913-14. He was killed in action in France in the first world war.

Drinkwater and grant were amateurs, playing all of their hockey with Quebec clubsc. They formed the regular defence of the Montreal Victorias Stanley Cup-winning team of 1899, contested for by amateur teams at the time. Drinkwater was on the Victorias club which won the cup in 1894-95, 1896-97, 1897-98, and 1898-99.

Griffis was a forward with Kenora Thistles when that club won the Stanley Cup in 1907. Later he went to British Columbia and was an outstanding defenceman for a decade with Vancouver Millionaires. He was captain of Millionaires' Stanley Cup winners of 1915.

Richardson and Trihey played amateur hockey in Eastern Canada. Richardson starred with Queen's University and Kingston Frontenacs while Trihey's career was spent with Montreal Shamrocks from 1897 to 1903.

ANOTHER HALL OF FAMER — Frank Patrick, younger brother of the famous Lester, is one of nine former National Hockey League stars who have been named to the International Hall of Fame. Four of the nine men are dead. He introduced the present NHL play-off system.

Five Qualify To Enter Golf Ontario Champs

Frank Bulger, 18, from the Cobourg Golf and Country Club, shot a 79 to cop the lowest score of the Ontario Junior Championship qualifying round at Peterborough Golf and Country Club, Monday. Bulger shot the only birdie in the tournament on the most difficult hole of the course, the seventh.

Five of the 13 entrants qualified to enter the 1950 Ontario Junior Championship golf tournament, sponsored by the Ontario Golf Association to be held at the Scarboro Golf and Country Club, June 30.

In class A—16, 17 and 18 years, Frank Bulger, Cobourg, shooting 79, Bill Bowen, Cobourg, with 81 and Don Joss, Belleville, with 84, qualified. In class B—14 and 15 years, Ron Montgomery, Orillia, with 90, qualified. In class C—13 years and under, Fred Slessor with 91, qualified.

Good weather and the excellent condition of the course resulted in better scores than those of the qualifying round last year, according to Gord Harrison, club professional.

The remainder of the entrants and their scores were: Class A, John Mahoney, Orillia, 99; Ronald Leahy, Orillia, 91; B. Antonia, Peterborough, 85; T. Blaiklock, Peterborough, 93; T. Cranfield, Peterborough, 96; Class B, Ken Armstrong, Peterborough, 118; Class C, G. Montgomery, Orillia, 112; B. Bell, Peterborough, 124.

Qualifying rounds were also held Sunday at the Essex Golf and Country Club, Windsor; Sunningdale Golf Club, London; Burlington Golf and Country Club; Brockville Golf and Country Club and Summit Golf and Country Club, Toronto.

Canoe Co. Victors

Canoe Co. defeated Woollens yesterday at Brinton Field in a lively fastball fixture, with Quigley of the winners hurling good ball and fanning a dozen. Doris also ptiched well till the fifth, and his support was not too strong, Conklin finishing up. Henry had five for six at bat and Caccavella five in six tries for Canoe Co., as A. Nokes led Woollens with four in five attempts.

Hastings Gets Win

HASTINGS, June 27—(ENS)—Hastings Legion had their revenge on Wooler in Hastings Park, trouncing them to the tune of 14-4.

Wooler was without their ace hurler, McColl, and although McMasters, in his first go on the mound, turned in a good performance, his support was spotty.

Crowley was on the mound for Legion and was at his best, allowing but five hits, and setting down 10 on strikeouts.

Fife was top batter with three for six, while Scott, behind the plate for this game, was next with two for five, one of them a scorching triple.

Richards was best at bat for Wooler, with two long hits. Good fielding by Stevens held him to doubles. A long running catch by Wilson was a feature of the game.

Lineups:

Wooler—Austin, 1b; Leavitt, 3b; Richards, ss; Brown, 2b; Putman, c; McMasters, p; Haggerty, cf; Adams, cf; Fox, lf; Darland, rf.

Hastings—Fife, 1b; Morrow, 3b; Wilson, cf; Scott, c; Richardson, rf; Beavis, ss; Crowley, p; Scriver, 2b; Stevens, lf.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

As the pace warms up in the Viaduct Major League, the senior "A" baseballic Petes are girding their loins—or something—and preparing for the second-half schedule drive. Prexy Hugh McLean and other Toronto loop officials are viewing with alarm the import business, as little of it is done in Toronto ball, but they're not pointing the finger at Peterborough so much as at Oshawa. A special bus must work out of the Motor City to border points, bringing in a new batch of college ballsters and returning an old bunch each trip, the latter wearing a tag "Not good enough." They've tried out a dozen or more, but now have a pretty solid squad.

* * * * * *

The Viaduct League president was telling us not long ago that another year would see the circuit put in a rule limiting imports to maybe two a team. We suggested three, but no more than three. The COBL used to follow the Intercounty League system of lowering the bars and letting teams strengthen up to provide faster ball. Toronto doesn't need to import as it is a huge city compared to Peterborough and Oshawa. Anyway, we have no imports this year so far, but expect two this week-end. With, of course, Danny Brown, Joe Lowry and Pat Wilson from last season.

* * * * * *

A Jack Added To Deck

Jack Baumgardner of Chicago, a college player, is due in a day or two. He is a southpaw twirler and can be used as a good hitting outfielder, according to reports. He is to bring along an infielder with him, so both should be ready for play by the end of the week in Petes' livery. Danny Brown finishes school ere the week-end and will be here full-time from Buffalo, playing for the Petes and coaching minor ballsters through the day. Lefty Bill Dadson's sore arm is okay again and, if a pulled leg muscles responds, he'll be ready to go within a couple of days. Rest of the outfit is ready now and the team should do fine henceforth.

* * * * * *

No senior ball game Wednesday, and Ed Murphy doesn't expect to play here Saturday, July 1st. Looks like just two tilts this week, one on Thursday in Toronto and the other in Oshawa on Saturday, the Motor Citizens claiming the holiday afternoon attraction this year. It leaves several postponed home games for the Petes but they're hoping to pick them up at nights as soon as floodlights are installed at Riverside. That should be within two weeks, if all goes well. Defective poles beat the club so far, as the arcs should have been working by now, ordinarily. As was the case last season, the Petes are playing good ball but running into some tough breaks financially. But the picture ought to be better in the near future.

Femmes In Fine Form

Two tidy tussles in the Bowl last e'en by the feminine softballers. Ashby's took a 6-5 verdict o'er Woollens in a fine loop fixture, edging through by the skin of their molars as the Woollens drove for three runs in the ninth. J. Walling's homer—her second of the night—made it closerthanthis. An exhibition followed betwixt the all-star squad and a bolstered Ashby team, the all-stars winning out 7-3. They looked plenty strong, and will be stronger still when sports centennial week rolls around. Girls' games on the morrow: Ashby's vs. Marines, and Westclox vs. CGE. Friday has CGE vs. Ashby's, and Westclox vs. Marines.

* * * * * *

Senior "A' lacrossers meet the league leaders twice this week, heading for Owen Sound tonight and having the Sounders here on Friday. Two stiff tests for the third-place Petes, and the one here will be a special dish for the gutted-stick followers of the city and district. Yes, they come in from all over the area to see these senior scraps in Miller Bowl. We hear Russ Buchanan will be heading home to Vancouver after a short sojourn with the Petes, but big Jim Kinna is staying on. Junior Petes are at Toronto on Thursday and not at home again in a game till July 7. They drill tonight at 7.30. PMLA-ers of all ages workout tomorrow at 9.30 a.m. and at two p.m.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Donald Campbell of England said Monday he may give up all attempts for the present to set a world speedboat record.

The reason? The 160.3235-mile an hour mark set earlier in the day by Stanley S. Sayres in his boat "Slo-Mo-Shun IV" over Lake Washington, Seattle.

"If this is official then our job is defeated for the time being," Campbell said. "This speed is out of the range of our present boat and is five miles per hour faster than the speed at which the Bluebird is known to stay on the water."

Bluebird is the name of Campbell's boat, the same one used by his father, the late Sir Malcolm Campbell, who set the former mark of 141.74 in 1939.

The news of Sayres' mark came as Campbell prepared to make his first trial runs Wednesday over Lake Coniston.

Carl Galbraith, speedy halfback from North Carolina State University, has been signed by Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four.

Galbraith is the ninth import signed by Hamilton. Club officials said another unnamed U. S. player is expected to come to terms later this week.

Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver, shot a three-under-par 69 Monday to turn in the best qualifying round in the Pacific Northwest Golf Association tourney.

Doug. Bajus, another Vancouver shotsmith, toured the Vancouver Capilano course in 72 for the next-best effort in the first day of the meet. Harry Givan of Spokane had a 73.

The top 32 men and women qualify for match play, starting Wednesday.

About 50 boys from across Ontario showed their stuff in Galt before the watchful eyes of two New York Giant scouts Monday at the opening sessions of a four-day baseball school conducted by the Terriers of the Intercounty League. The two most promising boys will get an expense-paid trip to New York for a tryout in professional ball.

Carl Voss of Minneapolis, who resigned as president of the United States Hockey League two weeks ago, was signed Monday as coach and general manager of the St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League.

A three-horse spill badly injured two jockeys and shook up a third in the fifth at Cincinnati's River Downs Monday.

Johnny O'Brien, 31, up on Seneca's Pesty, suffered a broken collar bone. Joseph (Jimmy) Whalen, 24, received arm and head injuries when El Vite went down. The horses were not hurt.

Woollens Lose To Ashby's In Close Fray

Ashby's squeezed out a 6-5 girls' softball league victory over the Woollens last evening in the Bowl, though the losers almost snatched the decision in the ninth when they scored three runs. Their own errors proved costly but it was a fine one-hour fixture with both side showing lots of hustle. The winners took advantage of all the breaks to earn the narrow margin, though they were outhit 10 to 7 in an interesting joust.

Five of the Woollens went down on strikes before M. Stewart, while L. Derry fanned nine with her seven-hit effort. M. Freeman, M. Stewart, D. Dunk and J. Walling were best in the field for both sides, and B. Callan had an unassisted double-play. M. Stewart got three hits to lead the victors at bat, as J. Walling of Woollens smashed out two homers, one in the ninth.

The teams:

Kesselring Maintains His Lead In Matches

TORONTO, June 27 — (CP) — Youthful Gerry Kesselring, of Kitchener, Monday carded a 36-hole total of 140 over Thornhill Golf Club to maintain his lead in matches to determine Ontario's Willingdon Cup golf team.

Nick Weslock, of Windsor, remained in second spot, turning in a two-round total of 142.

Monday's competition was the second of three tests to determine the four players who will represent the province in the annual Interprovincial Amateur Team match, to be played at Saskatoon in August.

All-Stars Take A 7-3 Win Over Ashby's

The All-Stars turned back a bolstered Ashby's team 7-3 in a neat exhibition girls' softball game at the Bowl last night. They proved strong all through and Ashby's didn't threaten till the ninth when they began to reach M. Selkirk, who replaced M. Hodgson in the 6th. The latter hurled one-hit ball and fanned six in a nifty six-inning showing. D. McFadden gave way in the sixth on the other mound to M. Downer, both being hit pretty hard. The fielding was even.

M. Hodgson and I. Bullock starred defensively for the winners, with B. Callan and J. McIntyre the pick for the losers. Three hits each for All-Stars were gained by I. Bullock, and B. Morrow. M. Stewart got two of the six hits bingled by the other side, one of them a triple. They made it a fight in the late innings against extra strong opposition.

Royals Crush Orioles 14-3, Connors Stars

By The Associated Press.

New York Yankees, who've been having first base difficulties, might do well to look north—Montreal, to be precise—and take another peek at Kevin Connors, the Roy's colorful first sacker.

It had been rumored last week that George Weiss, general manager of the Yanks, was dickering for Connors to fill the world series champions' gaping first base cavity.

But, it appeared, Branch Rickey president of Brooklyn Dodgers and an old trader himself, had too high a price tag on the laquacious Irishman.

Connors, a seasoned minor league performer, once was Yankee property. He was drafted by the Yanks' chain and sent to Norfolk in 1942. After a stint in the armed services, Montreal claimed him on waivers from Newark, a former New York farm club, in 1946.

Connors then made stops at Newport News and Mobile, finally landing with the Dodgers last spring. He was given a brief trial, then shipped back to Montreal, where he enjoyed his best year, hitting 20 homers and driving home 108 runs.

Active Again

This season Connors' bat has been active. He's hitting .342 with 54 runs batted in. In 59 games, the Brooklyn-born lefthander has clubbed 75 hits, including 16 doubles, four triples and five home runs.

The 29-year-old stringbean (he stands six foot five) cracked two triples and a single Monday night to help Montreal whip Baltimore 14-3. It was the 10th victory in 11 games for the Royals, who hold a half-game edge on second-place Rochester.

Rochester kept pace with an 8-7 victory over Stan Hack's slumping Springfield Cubs. Larry Ciaffon's eight-inning home run cracked a 7-7 tie and gave Jack Fasholz' his second victory.

Other league action saw Toronto, behind Max Peterson's six-hit hurling, down Jersey City 2-1 and Buffalo whip Syracuse 12-3, with Fred Hancock rapping two home runs for the winners.

Kell's Batting No Fluke Aids Tigers to 6-4 Win

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

"The test of a true batting champion is whether he can repeat."

Wise old Connie Mack first made that remark many years ago. It still is true today.

Since 1900 there have been 44 different major league batting champions. Only eight won the title two or more consecutive seasons although nine others returned to the top after a lapse of a year or more.

Great sluggers like Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Terry, Tris Speaker, Joe Medwick and Goose Goslin couldn't repeat as batting kings. Even Stan Musial with three titles and Harry Heilmann with four couldn't put two crowns back to back.

This brings us to George Kell, who won the American League batting championship by 2/10,000ths of a point over Ted Williams last fall.

For some reason Kell's victory over Williams was greeted with applause usually reserved for "cheese champions."

In the balloting for distinction as the league's most valuable player, Kell was given little consideration.

Not Discouraged

Did all that discourage the American League standout third sacker? Well, the top figure in the majors today is .372, compiled by George Kell of the Tigers. He has the most hits, the most doubles.

It is by no means certain that Kell will win the championship again this year. There is no doubt, however, that thus far he's been the most valuable player in his league. More than any other player, he has been most responsible for the Tigers' lofty perch.

Kell had a hand in Detroit's uphill 6-4 victory over Chicago White Sox in yesterday's only big league encounter. George got two singles and a walk in four times at bat. He was the only Tiger to score against Billy Pierce until Detroit blasted over the four-run winning rally in the eighth. Kell had a hand in that, too.

The victory increased the Tigers' first-place lead over the idle New York Yankees to 3½ games.

CONTRACT TO FIGHT

Middleweight champion Jake Lamotta and Tiberio Mitri of Italy signed official contracts Monday for their 15-round title clash in Madison Square Garden July 12.

Tigers Dump Mimico In Very Rough Game

HAMILTON, June 27—(CP)—Hamilton's rampaging Tigers returned to their 1949 championship form Monday night when they defeated Mimico Mountaineers 10-7 in a rough, hard-hitting Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game.

Tigers swept into a 4-0 lead in the first quarter, and were leading 6-3 at the half. Mounties came back strongly to open the second half and scored four quick goals without reply.

But from then on, it was all Hamilton, captain Blain McDoanld leading the way. McDonald scored three goals in the game, while Stu Scott netted a pair. Doug McPhail and Ken Dixon paced the Mimico attack.

Joe Page Ready For More Action

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP) — Joe Page flexed his famous salary wing today and said he's ready to start putting out those fires again for the Yankees.

"I told Case (manager Casey Stengel) last night that I'm ready to go," the New York relief ace said.

The 32-year-old bullpen wizard hero of the Yankees sweep to the world series championships last year, said his left shoulder now seems free of the miseries that have plagued him for almost a month.

Page, who appeared in 60 games last year, winning 13 and losing eight, has a 3-5 mark so far this season.

His recent ineffectiveness has caused skipper Stengel some alarm.

"I think I'll be all right from here on in and there'll be nothing for skip to worry about," Page said. "I've got my stuff and confidence back.

Girls' Softball League Has Gift For Sponsor

HARWOOD, June 27—(ENS)—Hamilton township girls' softball league presented Earl T. Shearer, girls' softball sponsor, with a watch and silver cigarette lighter last week after the game in Memorial Park.

The presentation was made in the Community Hall, where a short program was held in Mr. Shearer's honor.

Name Colville Ranger Coach

NEW YORK, June 27—(CP)—Neil Colville, whose stickhandling wizardry dazzled New York hockey fans for 11 years, is the new coach of the team he starred for—New York Rangers.

The Ranger coaching berth has been open since May when Lynn Patrick unexepectedly resigned to join his famous father, Lester, in operating Victoria Cougars of the Pacific Coast League.

Colville, at 35 the youngest coach in the National Hockey League, is succeeding Lynn Patrick for the second time. He began his bench career with New Haven Ramblers of the American Hockey League in December, 1948, when Patrick moved up to the Ranger post.

Colville, now spending the summer in his native Edmonton, joined the Rangers in 1936 and was a regular through 1948 except for a three-year period during the war when he served with the RCAF.

Two Darkhorses Meet Today In PGA Tourney

COLUMBUS, O., June 27 (AP)—The great Walter Hagen, holding court in the Scioto Country Club locker room, shook his head.

"Never, no never," expounded the magnificent one before a group of friends, "have a couple of guys bolted out of nowhere to be playing for such a big one."

The "Haig," still beloved and vividly remembered as golf's most grandiose performer, was referring to Chandler Harper and Hank Williams, Jr.

They meet today in the 36-hole finale of one of the game's most cherished titles—the National PGA, with a $3,500 first prize.

Rank Darkhorses

Not since the tournament was inaugurated in 1916 have such rank darkhorses showed up for the showdown.

The 36-year-old Harper, a pro at a public fee course at Portsmouth, Vt., has made stabs at the tournament circuit—the most serious being in the 1950 Tucson Open. He won that one, including one round of 63 carved with a total of 20 putts, an established PGA all-time record on the greens.

That has been the most notable victory in the career of the fellow who has picked up winnings of about $3,600 in nine meets this season.

But that's big dough to Williams. Yank is a 33-year-old pro from Secane, Pa.

He's a good-natured guy who dropped in weight from 180 pounds to 173 while in the process of a tremendous rally Monday to oust 42-year-old Henry Picard 1-up in 38 holes. The temperature was 98, and Williams was hotter.

WIN MATCH

By The Canadian Press.

Two members of Canada's Davis Cup Team—Lorne Main of Vancouver and Henri Rochon of Montreal—raced through without the loss of a set in the opening day Monday of the United States southern tennis championship at Louisville.

Main, who swats the ball two-handed on both sides, put out Louisville's James Betcher, 6-0, 6-0. Rochon had a tougher time, but knocked out Joe Davis of Nashville, Tenn., 6-3, 6-3.

JOE DiMAGGIO, New York Yankee outfielder, became one of the few men in baseball to hit the lifetime record of 2,000 hits. Here Joe demonstrates his affection for the ball he hit for the mark at Cleveland.

Makes, Rides Bikes 5½ Inches High

KIDDERMINSTER, Worcestershire, England—(CP)—After a long day working on ordinary bicycles, Alfred Tabb settles down to his nightly hobby—making miniature ones.

His models aren't much bigger than roller skates. He believes they are the world's smallest. The largest of the seven he has completed in 12 years is 12 inches long and 5½ inches high.

Alfred rides his own midget bikes at charity shows. He invites members of the audience to try it, but they usually fall off.

J. J. Batten Funeral

Funeral service for the late Jacob James Batten, 79, of 492 Aylmer St., was held on Monday at the Kaye Funeral Home. Major Cyril Everitt of the Salvation Army officiated and pallbearers were Henry, Lionel and Albert Batten, Ralph Little, Frank Earle and Howard Darling. Burial was at Ray's Cemetery, Lakefield.

Westclox Winners

Westclox men fastballers won a 12-9 fixture last night at Quaker field over the Quakers, getting two runs in the first, three each in the third, fourth and seventh, with another counting in the ninth. Quakers shoved over five in the third, three in the sixth and one in the eighth. Hefferan hit four singles as Wyatt got two doubles and a single for the Clockers, Connelly belting a homer for Quakers.

Westclox: Miller, c; Heffernan, 1b; Wyatt, ss; Parsons, lf; Watson, 3b; White, cf; McDonald, rf; Guerin, 2b, p; Shearer, p, 2b.

Quakers: Connelly, 1b; Lomax, c; Land, 3b; Nolan, ss; McDonald, rf; Hughey, lf; Weaver, 2b; Montgomery, cf; Isaacs, p.

Umpires—Robeson and White.

FINE MOSAIC

Petra dura is the name given to the finest kind of Florentine mosaic work, formed with inlaid materials of the hardest kind.

Kawartha Tennis

Cobourg is leading the Kawartha Tennis League with 18 points out of 28 in four tournaments this season. Quaker "B" has 15 of 35 for five tourneys, followed by Quaker "A" with 13 of 28 for four competitions. In three tourneys, Kawartha has 14 out of 21 points, and Lindsay has just three points of 14 out of two playing days.

Cobourg and Kawartha play home and home games postponed on July 11 at Cobourg and here on July 13. Port Hope hasn't played as yet, games postponed July 21 at Kawartha and June 25 at Quaker "A". Lindsay was a late entry, and played June 21 against Quaker "B". Three teams from Kawartha and one from Quaker are expected to play in Oshawa on July 1 in Central Ontario men's doubles.

Old Hobby

RUSSELL, Man. — (CP) — Some local residents are making a hobby of collecting fossils, which have been discovered in some quantity in the area. A fossilized clam was recently found on the banks of the Assiniboine and has been sent to the University of Manitoba for identification.

Y's Men All Set For Saturday Soap Box Derby

Although it will not be the Indianapolis Speedway, the enthusiasm and excitement will be just as great Saturday as the soap boxes roll down Hunter St. hill. The occasion will be the annual Y's Men's Club soap box derby, held in conjunction this year with the Peterborough centennial celebrations.

Steve Csumrik, chairman of the club's committee, said today that Tuesday night will be the deadline for entries for the two classes. Last year the derby was operated according to age but this year is according to the type of car, depending upon the wheels. There will be events for cars with ball bearing wheels and for plain or wagon wheels.

Prizes this year will be cash for the winners of the first class, $25 for first, $20 for second and $15 for third. The second class winners will be awarded regulation derby wheels valued at $16.50 a set for first, second and third place cars. The club, by giving the wheels as prizes, hopes to build a larger first class for next year's derby.

Entries should be made to Jim Clark or Steve Csumrik at the YMCA. The club hopes to have more than 20 boxes rolling in the events Saturday.

FERNIE, BC —(CP)— The price of honesty has been established at $2, less express charges. A waitress and cashier who took charge of a handbag containing $700 left in a restaurant received a $2 reward from the owner. Express charges totalled 56 cents —leaving $1.44 to be split two ways.

Ornamental Swimming Club Plans Show

History will be made July 20 in Canadian synchronized swimming by the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club. The local group of swimmers will undertake to perform one of the largest ornamental swimming shows "In a Chinese Aqua Garden," with the Peterborough Citizens' Band supplying the accompaniment.

The show will not only make history because of its magnitude, according to coach Mrs. Pansy Forbes, but because it will be the first time that a band has accompanied the routines of an ornamental swimming club in Canada.

The performance will take place at the Lion's Club pool July 20, in conjunction with the Lions' Club.

The club's show is one of many summer appearances this year. It will perform at the Smiths Falls Old Home Week July 8 as the main attraction. The next appearance will be at the Quebec open championships at Chalet Cochant in the Laurentians on August 12.

While some of the club members are taking part in the fifth National Outdoor championships at the Chicago World Fair August 18-20, others will be performing at an invitation display in Apsley.

MURDER SUSPECT—Frank West, alias George Walker, 37, no fixed address, is shown in this official police photo following his arrest on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Art Lierman and William Goddyn following the Langton, Ont., bank robbery last Wednesday. West, or Walker as RCMP records list him, was captured Saturday near Straffordville, Ont., by a posse of provincial police and civilians. He was taken to Simcoe for questioning and charged with murder Sunday.

Daley Says Act Model For Study

TORONTO, June 27 (CP)—Labor Minister Daley of Ontario said Monday night that Ontario's Workmen's Compensation Act is a model which representatives of industry, labor and government from Australia, Europe and a dozen American states have come here to study.

Speaking in the 'Provincial Affairs" series of free-time political broadcasts over the CBC's Ontario network, he said the present government broadened the Act to include an additional 100,000 workers. It increased widows' pensions and allowances for children.

He said it also made compensation for silicosis available after two years' employment instead of five. It extended compensation coverage to nurses and all others hospital employees in Ontario in the event that they contract tuberculosis.

Druggists Play Important Role

BIGWIN INN, June 27 (CP)—Druggists were told Monday that they can be partners of the busy physician, especially in providing him with reliable information about new types of medication.

The druggist's knowledge of the latest developments in medicine is far more important today than the manual dexterity that served him so well in former years when the mixing of preparations was his main function. W. Boyd O'Connor, United States president of Ayerst McKenna and Harrison, Ltd., told the Ontario Retail Druggists Association convention.

Mr. O'Connor, a native of Ontario and a 1928 graduate of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, addressed 600 persons at the opening session of the association's 32nd annual convention, J. B. Sutherland, Timmins retail druggist, is convention chairman.

Fear Racehorses Eaten In Famine

CAPETOWN — (CP). — Owners of a number of valuable racehorses reported missing fear that the animals have been slaughtered for meat.

During the city's recent meat famine, horse-meat was sold as dog food, but many people liked it and ate it.

One owner, Les Taylor, claimed to have "proof" that his gymkhana pony Sonny had been slaughtered. Paul Defiant, a former top-division racehorse, is feared by his owner H. F. Taylor, to have suffered the same fate.

Mrs. A. Chown Dies

TORONTO, June 27 (CP) — Mrs. Albert P. Chown, native of Ottawa who moved here from Kingston 16 years ago, died Sunday. While in Kingston she was recording secretary for the Kingston Orphans' Home. Mrs. R. J. Edmunds of Ottawa is a daughter. During the First World War, her late husband was director of medical service supplies for the Canadian Army, stationed in London, and Mrs. Chown and her daughters did volunteer war work in London.

Two missing horses, Karoo Dawn and Scarlet, were found on a farm where it was believed they were headed for the dining-table.

Pakistan Wants More Engineers

OTTAWA, June 27 (CP)—The government of Pakistan is looking for Canadian engineering instructors with a yen for travelling.

In column-long want ads in Ottawa newspapers, the Pakistan high commissioner to Canada today invited applications from Canadians for seven vacancies on the staff of the Punjab College of Engineering and Technology at Lahore.

The vacancies include the post of principal of the college at a salary of $930 a month.

Edmonton Punter Has Unique Record

EDMONTON — (CP) — North America's oldest trade union recently honored Canada's oldest active union printer. He is William J. Power, a member of the Edmonton Bulletin staff since 1906.

Mr. Power received his 60-year button from the International Typographical Union. He is the only 60-year member in the country still actively engaged in his trade.

Now nearing his 81st birthday, Mr. Power started in the printing trade in 1884 with the Larne Reporter in Larne, County Antrim, Ireland. The next year he went to Ottawa and worked in job shops before moving to the old Ottawa Sun.

An outstanding athlete in his younger years, Mr. Power was a member of the Ottawa Capitals when they won the world's lacrosse title and with Ottawa Rough Riders when they won the national gridiron championship in the 1890s.

The special music was a male quartet comprising G. Might, D. McKnight, H. Ouellette and M McDowell.

Norway Returns $87,500 Deposit

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP) — The Norwegian Government on Monday gave back an $87,500 deposit to 550 American and Canadian college students, but said the United States Coast Guard was not justified in halting sailing on the ship Svalbard.

The students, stranded here since last Thursday, are due to sail today on the American-owned transport General Ballow made available to them by President Truman.

The Coast Guard called the Svalbard a fire hazard and would not let it clear port with the 550 students, members of the National Student Association.

They had chartered the ship for a trip abroad.

CAS Safest Way For Child Adoption

TORONTO, June 27 (CP) — Couples who have adopted children through any branch of the Children's Aid Society need have no fear that a child's own parent may take back the child, Frederick G. Gardiner, president of the York County Children's Aid Society, said Monday night.

He commented on a Supreme Court of Canada ruling which returned a two-year-old boy to his unwed mother after he had been adopted in 1948 by a Toronto couple. Mr. Gardiner said that adoption was not made through the Children's Aid Society but was "a private arrangement between the mother and the foster parents—a method not encouraged by any society."

Adoption through a Children's Aid Society required that neither party to the adoption know the whereabouts of the other, he added.

Italians Yielded To Allied Bluff

LONDON — (CP) — A bold policy of bluff against an enemy grossly misinformed about the strength and capabilities of the Allied Forces in the Mediterranean, influenced the final capitulation of Italy in the second world war.

This disclosure is made by Field Marshal Viscount Alexander in his official report as former commander-in-chief of the Allied armies in Italy. The dispatch, submitted to the Secretary of State for War in 1947, has just been published in a supplement to the London Gazette.

The "bluff" which ultimately led to the Italian surrender, was successfully staged at the critical time when the Allied forces stood poised for the hazardous invasion of the mainland in the fall of 1943.

Makes Offer

Through an emissary—General Castellano—who presented himself to the British Embassy in Madrid, Marshal Badoglio, the Italian supreme commander, stated that when the Allies invaded Italy, the Italian government was prepared to order immediate cessation of hostilities and to join them forthwith in a fight against Germany.

Viscount Alexander, now Governor-General of Canada, says that if the Italian High Command had been appraised of the fact that the utmost the Allies could do was to land three divisions no farther north than Salerno, capitulation would doubtless have been been postponed.

"Lacking proper appreciation of the difficulties of amphibious warfare and grossly misinformed by their intelligence service of the strength and capabilities of the Allied forces in the Mediterranean theatre, the Commando Supremo assumed that we were able to put on shore a force of such size that, with the assistance of the Italian troops in the country, the Germans would either be destroyed or put to rout."

Balked At Terms

When Castellano was presented with provisional armistice terms, he balked. He held out for more definite information about the Allies' invasion plans. His request was peremptorily rejected.

Castellano was merely informed that if the Italian government accepted the Allied terms, cessation of hostilities would take effect from a date and hour to be announced later. This would be five or six days before the main Allied landings, which would be in considerable strength. Details of the provisional armistice were also given.

"There was a considerable element of bluff in our attitude," the British Commander says, "but it seemed likely the bluff would be successful."

Feared Germans

Viscount Alexander was convinced the Italian government was obsessed by a fear the Germans would be able, when the armistice was announced, to seize control of the whole country in spite of any resistance their troops might offer. One threat was the use of gas against Italian cities. Furthermore, German troops continued to pour in.

Again Castellano pleaded for assurance the invasion would be made in sufficient force. He urged that the landing be made north of Rome and in strength of not less than 15 divisions.

"To show our hand was obviously impossible," Viscount Alexander says. "The bluff had to be played out to the end for we too were deeply concerned by the German reinforcements. But unless we could do something to counteract this fear of the Germans all might be lost."

Italy Surrenders

Slight modifications were made in the terms and Castellano was then told plainly they must be accepted or rejected by September 2. Whatever the decision, the Allies would proceed with plans to carry the war to the Italian mainland.

"I have wondered since," the commander wrote, "whether we should have been able to make good those bold words if the Italian decision had been negative."

But the bluff was not called. Before the fixed deadline, the King of Italy and Badoglio agreed to the Allied terms. After signing the agreement of unconditional surrender the two were whisked away in a warship to Brindisi. They left no orders behind for the defence of Rome. All was confusion. No real resistance was offered to the Germans and as a consequence the Allies derived little positive benefit from the armistice.

This was no surprise to the Allied commander.

"We had not expected much from the Italians," he said. "Twenty-one years of Fascist corruption and inefficiency had quenched any spark of patriotic feeling in a not naturally warlike people."

But the Italian mainland campaign was just beginning. Thirteen hours before the surrender terms were signed 600 guns thundered in Messina Straits as the Sixth Army, including the Canadians, launched the first invasion of the European continent.

GIVE CONSIDERATION

He promised western members that the government will give consideration to alleged losses suffered by western wheat producers through the five-year wheat pool when the pool is settled. Likely in October.

In the defence debate, Mr. Claxton said he believed Canada's defence forces are adequate to deal with any air-borne invasion. If there was an attack on this country, it would come by air. No land attack was anticipated.

Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) said Canada could not "afford to take chances" and asked if the country was in a position to put fighter squadrons into action in the northwest on short notice. Mr. Claxton did not reply.

Miss Smith will have a staff of leaders to help her in Bible study, handicraft and game periods.

The first week the school will be held in St. Andrew's Sunday school rooms and grounds and the second week, at St. Thomas'. Classes will be held from 9 to 11.30 a.m.

Oil Search Goes To Peace River

VANCOUVER — (CP) — The first major geological search for oil and gas in British Columbia is under way.

Geologists from some of the continent's major oil companies are exploring large areas in the northern part of the province. The search may result in discovery of oil in the millions of acres of land now under application or permit in B.C.

Clearing weather in the Peace River area has brought crews from McColl-Frontenac, Stanolind and other companies into the field.

The scientists are studying surface geology which will indicate where drilling crews will later start sub-soil probing. The only major drilling in the province at present is in the Lone Mountain area, near the Alberta boundary. It is being conducted by Phillips Petroleum.

Application for three locations of 10,000 acres each, in the Peace River district, has been made by Austin Taylor, president of Bralco Ltd. of Vancouver.

These sites border on areas under permit to Shell, Union of California, British American and Sun Oil Companies.

Millbrook Students Take Trip To Niagara

MILLBROOK, June 27 (ENS) —About 30 students of Millbrook Continuation School chartered a bus for a trip to Niagara Falls as the final activity of the school year on Thursday. The upper school examinations had been written the day before.

The trip, which had been planned and supervised by Marilyn Palmer and Paul Sanders, social conveners, started at 5 a.m. and the young people were home again by 3 o'clock the next morning. They were accompanied by James A. Powell of the high school staff.

MAKE JAM THE MODERN SHORT-BOIL WAY
SAVE TIME, WORK, MONEY
Compare These Two Methods —

WITH CERTO

1. Mrs. A. makes jam the short-boil way with CERTO. She has 2 pounds of fruit prepared, ready to start at 9 o'clock.
2. The dotted line shows level of the prepared fruit in Mrs. A's saucepan.
3. Mrs. A. adds 3 pounds of sugar. A pound of jam made with CERTO contains no more sugar than a pound made the old long-boil way.
4. Mrs. A. brings the mixture to a full rolling boil; boils hard ONE MINUTE only; removes from stove and adds ½ bottle (4 ozs.) Certo. CERTO is the natural jellying substance in fruit in concentrated form.
5. Mrs. A. is able to pour and paraffin about 5 pounds (10 glasses) of jam from her 2 pounds of fruit. She gets sure results because she follows the CERTO recipe EXACTLY.
6. Mrs. A's 10 glasses of jam were made in just 15 minutes.

THE OLD WAY

1. Mrs. B. makes jam the old-fashioned long-boil way. She, too, is ready to start her jam making at 9 o'clock.
2. Mrs. B. starts off with the same amount of prepared fruit in her saucepan.
3. Mrs. B. uses the old "pound of sugar per pound of fruit" standard recipe. So she adds 2 pounds of sugar.
4. Mrs. B. boils the mixture about 30 minutes before the jam thickens to the desired consistency. This evaporates about ⅓ the weight of the fruit, darkens the color and carries off much of the natural fresh-fruit flavor in steam.
5. Mrs. B. pours and paraffins about 3 pounds (6 glasses) of jam from the same amount of fruit. Until it is finished she cannot tell for sure how well her jam will turn out.
6. Mrs. B. took 45 minutes to make her 6 glasses of jam.

Free Recipe Book

Certo gave Mrs. A. sure results... much more jam... saved time, work and money.

Under the label of every bottle of CERTO is a book of 78 tested recipes for jams and jellies. Different fruits need different handling, so CERTO gives you a separate recipe for each fruit. Be sure to follow the simple directions EXACTLY.

Fire Committee Makes Plans For Sub-Station

Plans and estimate of cost of a sub-fire station south of Lansdowne St. will be prepared by the fire and light committee of the council.

Subsequently, the council wishes to tack on community centre facilities for library, well baby clinic and so on, they may do so, but at least the committee will have carried out its duties.

Ald. T. D. Miller presided with Ald. J. E. Gillespie and Ald. J. A. Dewart present.

The chairman recalled that the committee had set out early in January to get the cost of building information, but the council had enlarged the idea in discussion until the prospective cost mounted to around $90,000.

Tax Rate Barrier

"What is our responsibility in this matter?" was the question Monday by Ald. Dewart which was really a definite implication that fire and light committee had no concern with clinics and libraries.

It was recalled that a deterrent about the time of budgeting was the prospect of incurring half-a-mill expenditure at a time, looking into next year, when sentiment generally is strongly opposed to exceeding the 50-mill mark.

"The only reason we have not pushed ahead with this," said Ald. Miller, "is the possible effect on the tax rate."

For an eight-hour shift of three men, nine are required, approximately at a minimum of $2,500 a year salary.

The Labor Council will be informed that this question is still in hand, and Chief Smith and Ald. Miller were asked to obtain building and financing details.

Campbellford Shifts Dominion Day Holiday

CAMPBELLFORD, June 27—(ENS)—Stores in Campbellford will stay open on Saturday, July 1, but will remain closed on Monday, July 3, when Dominion Day will be celebrated.

A petition, contrary to this proposal, was presented to council, but this was not properly drawn up, not properly signed, and did not carry the required number of names to be a legal petition. Merchants favor closing on Monday, so council declared that day a holiday.

This means that on the strength of a resolution by council, banks will be closed on three successive days, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Bank manager cannot close their branches on the strength of a proclamation by the mayor, but can close if it is a resolution in council.

2 Lindsay Men Charged As Rustlers

LINDSAY, June 27—(ENS)—Charged with theft of a heifer, two Lindsay men were remanded without plea Monday. According to police, the heifer, valued at $125, was slaughtered in the field of the owner, Vincent Murphy, Ops Township, drawn and trucked away on Saturday.

The theft was reported to the detachment office on Sunday morning and arrests followed early Sunday evening. Cpl. Milton and Constable Warner carried on the investigation.

Six-Foot Invisible Rabbit "Harvey" Opens Play Season

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

The Peterborough Summer Theatre got away to a flying start on its second season with a first-rate performance of Mary Chase's comedy "Harvey." It was perhaps unfortunate that the Peterborough audience had to welcome the company in the PCVS auditorium, for the Summer Theatre is strongly associated in the mind of the public with the far more suitable theatre in Queen Mary School. However, the Summer Theatre will be in its accustomed home next week.

The popularity of the Summer Theatre was shown by the reception which the audience gave to each of last year's players as they stepped upon the stage. Frank Perry, Gerry Sarricini, William Needles and Catherine Proctor each was greeted with a burst of applause, inspired by recollections of many admirable performances last year.

By this time the theme of "Harvey" is familiar to great numbers of people. The play is about Elwood P. Dowd, a genial, gentle, slightly confused gentleman who believes that he is accompanied wherever he goes by a white rabbit six feet tall which talks, foretells the future, and shares all his pleasures. This embarrasses his family to such a degree that his sister seeks to have him restrained in a home for mental patients. In the end, however, she becomes a partaker of his easy-going philosophy, and more than half believes in Harvey herself.

Firm Impression

The play is very ably constructed and gives most of the actors a chance to make a firm impression. Two rather ungrateful roles, however, were capably played by Betty Lee and Walley Duffield. Marion Jones and Cal Whitehead contributed pleasantly to the play in small comedy parts, and Barbara Hamilton was helpful as the niece of the bemused Dowd. William Hutt played with a nicely restrained sense of fun as a psychiatrist, though we suggest that a man of fifty or so need not walk in quite such a decrepit manner. Gerry Sarricini, who has improved greatly since last year, was very funny as a male nurse, without ever stepping out of the bounds of his part of seeking a cheap laugh. And as the inevitable romantic couple Barbara Allen and Frank Perry were excellent; we shall hope to see them in more interesting roles as the season goes on.

Actors of Distinction

The chief honours of the evening were divided between Catherine Proctor as Elwood Dowd's embarrassed sister, and William Needles as Dowd himself. Miss Proctor brought many years of experience to her performance, and it was a pleasure to watch the sureness of her touch, the subtlety of her timing and the touch of elegance which she brought to a part in itself not so elegant. This was comedy playing of rare quality.

In the opinion of the present writer, William Needles is one of the best actors in Canada today. To an astonishing versatility and technical command he adds charm of personality and keen intelligence. People who have seen both Frank Fay and Joe E. Brown in the part of Dowd have declared that Needles gives a warmth to the part which they lacked. We cannot judge of this. But certainly anyone who fails to see him in "Harvey" is missing a comic creation of rare distinction.

The play continues at PCVS until the end of the week.

Declares Report Kills Building Of Subdivisions

"If that clause goes into effect there won't be any more housing subdivisions," said Ald. Adam Sands as the board of works on Monday night began the reading of recommendations from a special committee of city hall department heads.

The text of that clause is "The planning board should be requested to withhold approval of a plan of subdivision until the owner has signed an agreement with the corporation and deposited with the corporation such monies as are required to pay in cash for all such local improvements as are required by the corporation."

City Clerk Outram said that in some residential developments the value of "raw land" had been immediately improved as soon as the city undertook to lay out streets, put in sewers, sidewalks and other advantages.

Values Increase

Value of that property immediately jumped from $3 or $4 a foot frontage to $10 or $12. And it was value created by the municipality with benefit to the owner.

The expansion that has enlarged the housing accommodation of the city on all its borders has been materially promoted by the municipality and the taxpayers in assuming costs of improvements. Work was done by the City Engineer's Department, roads and sidewalks laid, curb and gutter in some instances, the necessary facilities for residents. The council borrowed the money at the bank and finally issued debentures to cover the loans.

The proposals before the board of works Monday night suggest a departure from that procedure.

For instance, Cobourg Lumber Company bought some weeks ago the Cecil Hayes property west of High St. Their subdivision plan has been before the Ontario Department of Planning for approval.

Principal Approved

The board of works discussion approved in principle the recommendations before them, but left the details of agreement for a new subdivision to another meeting of the board.

Clause two of the memorandum would require for the opening of any street a certified petition under the Local Improvement Act for such works as sewer, grading and making a street, storm drains, boulevards, etc. And that Act transfers the cost of the work to the financing method of the frontage charge, thereby removing cost from the rest of the taxpayers.

It was said that in many instances purchasers of houses in new subdivisions did not discover until they secured possession that they had to pay not only the city tax but also the frontage charge for the works done on their streets.

Oppose Cash Payment

Ald. Sands said: "I agree that a new subdivision should pay for the services that are laid down, but if there has to be a cash payment in advance for those services, there won't be any subdivisions built."

He mentioned the possibility of a subdivision owner having to pay the city $50,000 or $60,000 before getting council's approval of the subdivision plan. That restriction, he said, would be prohibitive.

Ald Hugh Waddell said he agreed with the principle of the new financing method, "but I think we should discuss the details with people experienced in property subdivision."

Ald. J. A. Dewart said the council did not have a form of agreement at present. His motion, seconded by Ald. E. C. Braund was to the effect that an agreement form be drawn up. If Cobourg Lumber Co. is the first applicant, it should be submitted to them for consideration, and also to the board of works. That tentative arrangement was acceptable to the board and unanimously recommended to the council.

It was said that York and Etobicoke townships, near Toronto, had directed subdivisions without debenture cost to the municipalities.

"Let's write them and find out where they got the money," said Ald. Braund.

Ald. Sands said a 750-lot subdivision was being opened in North York, and that the owners had guaranteed that over a period of years they would take care of the cost of services as local improvements.

Skipper Impressed

"Often occasions present themselves when mere words are inadequate to express one's feelings. Our recent trip to Peterborough certainly comes under this category."

So said Charles M. Hammond, skipper of the Aljoe II from Harbor Springs, Michigan, which docked in Peterborough Thursday and Friday, in a letter of thanks to James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

"In all my travels and cruising, never have I experienced such marvellous hospitality and friendliness as the folks extended in your fine city. It seemed our every want was anticipated and fulfilled before we even thought of it. We shall never forget you."

Two Break-ins At Lakefield Outboards Stolen

LAKEFIELD, June 27—(ENS)—Two outboard motors, total value of about $300, were stolen from a showroom last night in one of two Lakefield break-ins.

In the second entry, at the lumber firm of N. A. Moore, Water St., a large safe was broken into but the thieves apparently found nothing of value. A checkup at noon today by the proprietor failed to show anything missing.

The motors—one a 1.3 Evinrude and the other a 3.3 Evinrude—were taken from the showroom in the dark hours of late Monday night or early today. They were the property of Lakefield Motors, Strickland and Queen Sts.

To gain entry the thieves approached from the rear of the building, climbed through a rear window, and smashed a door that divides the garage at the rear from the showroom in front. They then left through another window.

The thefts were discovered by William Blewett, mechanic, and Douglas Hunter, service station attendant, when they arrived for work early today.

Entry to the lumber firm was through a back door. A screen was removed and then the thieves entered the office. They were foiled when, after cracking open the safe, they found no cash.

Minor Accidents Cuts And Bumps

Three people were injured Monday, none seriously, in city accidents involving three cars, a motorcycle, a bicycle and the bright sun.

Kenneth Johnson, 1201 Kenneth Ave., was injured when the sun blinded him as he drove up Sherbroke St. hill, and he lost control of his car, going into the south ditch. His lip and nose were cut, and he received a large bump on his forehead.

Gerald Munroe, RR 2, Peterborough, was injured on the head, arms and legs when the motorcycle he and James Munroe, 287 Park St., were riding was in collision with a car driven by Gordon T. Bickell, 473 Mark St.

Bickell was driving east on Hunter St., and was making a left turn on Mark, when the car and the motorcycle met. James Munroe had a bruised left leg. Gerald Munroe was taken to hospital, but released.

Jim Cooper, 171 Clifton St., suffered a cut right shoulder when his bicycle collided with the opened left door of a car owned by John C. Simpson, 50 William St. Simpson, who had been driving south on Rogers St., had stopped, and opened his left door when the accident happened.

In a Sunday accident, cars driven by John Baldock, 107 Aylmer St., and Jack Sadler, 258 Rogers St., collided at Stewart and Townsend streets. Sadler was driving south on Stewart St. and Baldock was driving east on Townsend St. Damage was not extensive

Plan to Build Gas Station Water St.-Park Hill Rd. Rejected by Board of Works

Imperial Oil Company's plan for a service station at Water St. and Park Hill Road was rejected Monday night after a conference of board of works and city planning committee. All the members were present. A bylaw of the council passed 20 years ago excluded service stations from the block bounded by Water St., Park Hill Road and Dennistoun Ave. The company had obtained an option to buy the corner property from Mrs. Walter Ferguson, whose opportunity and wish to accept a favorable offer by the company was recently emphasized to the council by her solicitor, V. J. McElderry, K.C.

The corner strip along Park Hill Road easterly from George St. was zoned as neighborhood commercial, and planning committee had approved the company's application. A county petition from residents, and objection at that time, several months ago, by Mr. H. G. Mason, owner of the house and lot immediately to the north of the Ferguson property, had the effect of rescinding official approval.

In renewing their application for a building permit recently, Imperial Oil Company reported that Mr. Mason had agreed to revised offer for part of his lot.

"We had decided that we would stick to the bylaw as it stands," said Ald. Adam Sands in a review of the discussions and consideration in the last few months.

And the bylaw prohibits the erection of a service station from that sector of Water St.-Park Hill Road intersection.

Could Amend Bylaw

"What we can do now is to ask the Ontario Municipal Board for permission to amend the bylaw or we may disregard the petition from the company," said Ald. Sands. "We have called in the city planning committee for their advice, having regard to what that area is likely to be in the next ten or fifteen years."

The planning committee, of which James Dutton is chairman, retired for half an hour, returned with their recommendation, and the board accepted it toward the end of their long session which was adjourned shortly before midnight.

It is understood that the company still has a right to refer this question to the Ontario Municipal Board, reviewing the course of negotiations, the business premises at the three other corners, and the appeal of the owner of the corner property for permission to sell to the company.

Swimmers Cut Feet On Glass Thrown In Water

Cut feet are beginning to plague the lifeguards at Inverlea and Riverside beaches. During the past weeks the guards have been busy attending to cuts, some severe and others minor, due to broken pop and other types of bottles in the water.

Several accidents over the week-end have prompted recreation director Alex Sinclair, to make an appeal to people to stop throwing bottles into the swimming areas. He said today that the people of Peterborough are noted for their good sportsmanship. They should know, therefore, that they should refrain from disposing of bottles in this manner. He suggested using the trash cans at both parks.

Mr. Sinclair illustrated his appeal with an accident which happened Sunday at Riverside Park. A young swimmer dived into the water and then stood on bottom. His foot met a broken bottle with the result three cuts had to be treated at the clinic.

If people continue to throw bottles into the water, action of an unpleasant nature will be taken, said Mr. Sinclair.

Outsiders Plead Not Guilty Complain Court Unready

An indignant Toronto man appeared in court today, charged with fishing from an unanchored boat with artificial bait. He was prepared to go ahead with his case today and could not understand why the crown's witnesses were not present.

Gordon Barnsdale of Toronto told the court he didn't think he could come down again, and he certainly didn't want to plead guilty.

Magistrate W. R. Philp told Barnsdale that it was the unusual case where an accused came to court for the first time prepared to go ahead with his case. "You are perhaps one out of fifty," commented His Worship.

William Norman, also of Toronto, and facing the same charge, said "I'm in the same boat, or I was in the same boat. We were fishing together."

Both cases were adjourned to July 3.

T. J. Carley, K.C., counsel for Robert McLeod of Toronto, who was charged with speeding in Lakefield, suggested that when the summons is sent to an accused person, there should be a section telling the person that if he intends to plead anything but guilty, the charge will be adjourned to a later date when all witnesses can be in court.

McLeod, who pleaded not guilty to the speeding charge, said he too was prepared to go ahead with his case. However, Chief Constable Garnet Samis of Lakefield was not in court, and the case was adjourned to the afternoon.

Try To Develop New Type Of Tobacco Crop

JOHANNESBURG — (CP) — To meet the crisis of over-production now threatening the Union's tobacco growers, intensive efforts are under way at Rustenburg in the Transvaal, South Africa's main tobacco area, to breed new types of tobacco plant, the leaf of which can be exported.

Numerous new strains of Orinoco tobacco, the type in world demand, have been imported from American, Rhodesia and elsewhere for breeding, crossing and testing in the Transvaal. If the breeders at the Rustenburg research station succeed, the shadow of a glut in flue-cured Virginia, the highest-priced kind of tobacco, might be dispersed, for the surplus would then become exportable.

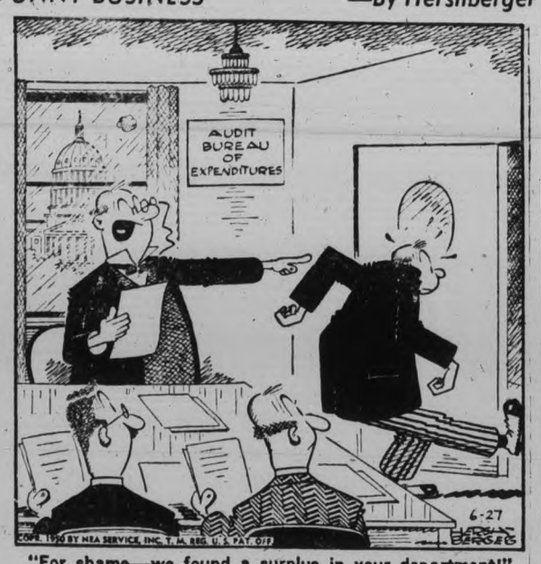
The big stumbling block to export is the conservative taste of overseas smokers who are not accustomed to the aroma of South African tobacco.

The experimenters are having difficulties.

The climate and most of the soil used for tobacco in the Transvaal differ widely from those of Virginia and Rhodesia, where orinoco types are grown—and soil affects flavor.

Moreover, orinoco yields much less leaf per acre, is difficult to grow, difficult to cure after harvesting and is highly susceptible to white rust, a disease of little importance in Virginia or Rhodesia.

Open New Post Office At Jack Lake Store



APSLEY, June 27—(ENS)—Summer residents at Jack Lake are now geting a daily mail service, with the opening of a post office at Fields store at Jack Lake. The mail is drawn by Mrs. Fields.

A rural mail route from Apsley around Chandos Lake via East Road and Clysdale will be started as soon as the subscribers' mail boxes are in place. John Scott, a veteran of the Second World War will be mail carrier.

DARTFORD, June 27—(ENS)—The WMS met on Wednsday at the home of Mrs. Charles Honey. Mrs. Alex Lockhart was in charge of the devotions and the scripture was read by Mrs. John Coggins.

It was planned that the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Milford McVety, when the grandmothers will be guests. Program conveners will be Mrs. Alex Lockhart, Mrs. Wilfred Syks and Miss Verna McDonald.

Mrs. Earl Nelson took charge of the following program: A solo by Clarice Atkinson, a piano solo by Ida Honey, a duet by Ida and Clarice Honey and readings by Miss Verna McDonald and Mrs. Arthur Ward. Lunch was served.

Refuse Judith Coplon Chance Of New Trial

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Judith Coplon Monday was refused a new trial on charges that she removed United States government documents from the Justice Department, where she used to work.

The 29-year-old girl argued unsuccessfully that "newly-discovered evidence" indicated the government had concealed wire-tapping activity at the trial. She is under a sentence of 40 months to 10 years.

Mission Band Children Hold Saturday Meeting

DARTFORD, June 27—(ENS)—The Mission Band met on Saturday at SS No. 10. The president, Reta Yule and leader, Eileen McCracken, were in charge.

It was decided to hold the July meeting at SS No. 5 with Marilyn Honey, Bill Honey and David Ward as program conveners.

Marjorie Honey read the scriptures and Eileen McCracken read the second chapter of the study book, "The Flying Umbrella".

A piano solo was played by Marjorie Honey and Arthur Ireland gave a reading. Games followed.

APSLEY, June 27—(ENS)—When Mrs. W. Lean of Apsley heard that Mrs. Everett Vilneff of Marmora was the proud possessor of a quilt which is 90 years old, she started thinking about her own treasured quilt, which was made by her great grandmother 100 years ago.

The 100-year-old quilt is in an orange lily pattern and despite its long life, is still a bright color. The orange has survived the test of time better than the green and the whole cover is an exquisite example of quilting in very short stitches.

Jewish People Remember Wartime Aid, Smuggle Friend Out

MONTREAL —(CP)— Stanislaw Kuznicki, a Pole who was injured and lost his farm for hiding nine Jews and a partisan raiding force from the Germans during the war, has arrived here to begin a new life.

Mr. Kuznicki found a job on a nursery farm and lives here with his wife and three daughters. Roman Catholics, they were brought to Canada from a displaced persons camp in Germany after being smuggled out of Poland by the Zionist underground.

The Kuznicki's sheltered their Jewish friends when they came to them from a forced labor camp. The nine escaped men were hidden in a crude dugout under the Kuznicki's house for three years until the war ended.

At the same time, the local partisans used the Kuznicki farm as their base for operations against the German occupation forces.

Germans Suspicious

The Germans were suspicious and raided the farm several times. They failed to find anything, even after beating Kuznicki to make him talk. Each time they stripped the farm of its livestock and valuables.

After the war, Polish terrorists in the area said they would kill everyone who had helped the Jews. In a raid on the village, Kuznicki was shot in the leg while he and his family were fleeing to a nearby ghetto.

The family was brought to Canada under the auspices of the Canadian Jewish Congress after officials learned of their plight.

Now they are confident they can establish themselves in their new home. "All we want is peaceful living. We are willing to work hard and wish only to be left in peace to live our own lives," says Mr. Kuznicki.

Better Steel At Less Cost

SHEFFIELD, England—(CP)—The British steel industry has developed a new process for making stainless steel of higher quality at lower cost.

It involves blowing pure oxygen into an electric melting furnace to raise the heat above 2,000 degrees Centrigrade.

This not only shortens the melting time for a four-ton charge from six to 4½ hours and saves electric power, but it also reduces the carbon content of the steel to .03 per cent and makes it possible to re-melt stainless steel scrap in ordinary arc furnaces.

Until now, this scrap has been usable only on a small scale in high-frequency furnaces. Valuable alloys locked in the scrap were largely wasted.

No Reserve Here!

HAMILTON, June 27 (CP) — Shortly after Controller Ellen Fairclough told board of control Monday that a large number of panhandlers are in the city, one of them entered the board room, walked over to Mayor Lloyd Jackson and said: "How about 50 cents so I can get a shave?"

The answer was "no."

A FEW CHARRED WALLS, piles of bricks and wrecks of four automobiles and a truck are the grim reminders of a gasoline explosion in Sutton, Que., that killed two men and injured three others recently. George Morrison, director of fire services, points to the spot where members of the volunteer brigade found the two bodies. The blast occurred while the owner of the garage worked on the gas tank of the truck in the foreground.

Donate Painting Value $6,200

LONDON—(CP)— Outstanding picture of this year's Royal Academy exhibition, "The Resurrection," by the versatile Stanley Spencer, has been bought for the nation under the terms of the Chantrey Bequest.

The painting, 22 feet long and seven feet high, has been publicly valued at £2,000 ((($6,200) but neither Academy officials nor Spencer would disclose the selling price. It will be transferred to the State Gallery at the close of the present exhibition in August.

The Spencer Panel, given a mixed reception by the art critics, is the second work to be purchased under a new selection arrangement instituted by the Chantrey Bequest committee last fall. The other was a portrait of Matthew Smith, by Augustus John.

1,000 At Funeral

LANGTON, Ont., June 27 (CP) —More than 1,000 district residents gathered at Sacred Heart Church Monday for the funeral of William Goddyn, 24-year-old father of three, who was killed last Wednesday with Arthur Lierman by a bandit fleeing the Imperial Bank holdup here. Mr. Lierman was buried Saturday.

Venezuela Sale

OTTAWA, June 27 (CP) — Trade Minister Howe said Monday night in the Commons that Canada has sold some butter to Venezuela and hopes to sell more to that country. He was replying to Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel).

Hit By Motorcycle

ORILLIA, June 27 (CP) — William Sheridan, about 70, was fatally injured Monday when struck by a motorcycle. He died a short time later in a hospital in which his wife is a patient. Police said the motorcycle was driven by Roy Lowe of Orillia.

NINE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED Nations Security Council raise their hands in favor of the United States-sponsored resolution calling for a cease fire order in Korea at the council's special Korean crisis session at Lake Success, N.Y., recently. Starting in foreground (clockwise around table) are China's Tingfu F. Tsiang, Cuba's Carlos Blanco, Ecuador's Jose Correa, Egypt's Fawzi Bey, France's Jean Chauvel, Secretary-General Trygve Lie, India's B. N. Britain's Sir Terence Shone, Ernest Gross of the United States, Yugoslavia's Djuro Ninicic, and at the extreme end of table, facing camera (hand to chin) is the Korean republic's ambassador to Washington, John Chang.

Crystal Beach Vote

CRYSTAL BEACH, June 27—(CP)—Crystal Beach Monday voted in favor of Sunday sports and games, regulated by municipal bylaw. The vote was 278 to 150. Operators of the 60-year-old amusement park in this community near the Fort Erie end of the Peace Bridge to Buffalo announced that their amusement devices and rides will be in operation next Sunday.

EXPORT NECESSITY

Tea accounts for more than 60 per cent of Ceylon's exports.

Less Variation In N.Z. Incomes

WELLINGTON, N.Z.—(CP)—New Zealand has long claimed to be a country without millionaires or beggars. Statistics show that New Zealand incomes are becoming even more uniform and that the range is probably smaller than in any other country in the world.

Latest income tax statistics show that there are now only 20 people in the Dominion with incomes in excess of $31,000.

Eight year ago the largest income group was still that earning below $925 a year. Today, however, this group has shrunk and the largest group is in the range from $925 to $1225. With the comparatively low New Zealand cost of living this represents quite a reasonable standard.

Australian Housing Bad Marriages Suffer

By LOUIS L. LECK.

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP).—Greatest social problem in Australia today is the housing shortage.

In 1947, there was a deficiency of 197,000 homes. At the end of last year, the deficiency had grown to an estimated 212,000. In New South Wales — largest state in the Commonwealth—the shortage increased from 79,000 in 1947 to 90,000 at the end of 1949, although 60,392 new homes were built during the period.

Equally disturbing is the increased cost of building. A house here that cost £1,000 ($2,400), plus £250 for land, in September 1939, now costs £2,500 to £2,750 plus £500 for land.

The figures cover the average suburban home in Sydney or Melbourne consisting of two bedrooms, a living-room, dining-room, kitchen, bathroom, laundry and sunporch or verandah. It is constructed on a lot of about 50 feet by 150 feet and connected to gas, water and electricity.

The shortage—due to a shortage of materials and skilled workmen — is blamed for some alarming social tendencies.

Immorality Increases

Most newly-weds have to live with in-laws for at least several months after marriage. Psychologists and divorce courts say this is responsible for many divorces. Many marriages are being postponed and social workers say this increases immorality.

The life of old houses has been prolonged because no authority wants to demolish any dwelling-place, however decrepit it is. In Sydney alone, there are an estimated 40,000 houses which health authorities say are unfit for habitation. Many families are living in makeshift dwellings — tents, shacks and trailers.

To cope with the problem, the government is encouraging immigrants with building experience, and restricting construction to home - building and essential work. In Sydney, for example, no new office buildings have been built since before the war, and there is an acute shortage of office accommodation.

State and Federal governments have sent missions abroad to examine pre-fabricated houses, which will be imported duty-free and, in some cases, under government subsidy. Prices are high, however, and experts view the pre-fabs as little more than a stop-gap program.

DOROTHY DIX

Jealousy Wrong Tactics For Man Madly In Love

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man 36 years old. Two years ago my wife and one child were killed in an accident. I swore I would never marry again, but now I have met a woman I'm crazy in love with. She is my age, highly educated, good-looking, fine business woman, most interesting talker, never a dull moment when she is around. She was unhappily married and is separated but not divorced. Says the reason she doesn't get a divorce is that she is afraid if she had one she would be foolish enough in some mad moment to get married again. I wildly jealous of everybody who comes near this woman. I am on her trail nearly all the time. I want to know what she is doing every minute of the day and night. She says she cares for me, but if she does why won't she get a divorce and marry me?—E. M.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: The answer to your riddle is plain enough. Your insane jealousy is your undoing. No woman who still retained her reasoning faculties, no matter how much in love she was, would be mad enough to marry a man who grew green-eyed every time she spoke to another man even when he knew it was a matter of business, who demanded that she produce an alibi for every minute of her time and who followed her and snooped on her everywhere she went.

Makes Marriage Bad Risk

Any woman with a grain of sense in her head would know that no marriage could be happy that was built on suspicion, and that no husband could be so little desirable as one who even before marriage showed how monopolistic and tyrannical he would be if a woman was once in his power. She would know that marriage would be a hell on earth with a man who believed the worst of her and who did not give her credit for any sense of honor or loyalty or decency.

You probably try to persuade her that marriage will kill jealousy and that although now you don't consired her trustworthy you will have perfect faith in her as soon as the marriage ceremony is said over you. Forget it. You will be even more jealous after marriage than you are now, because then you will think she belongs to you and has no right to any personal liberty whatever.

If you really love this woman, don't marry her until you have conquered the demon within you. Try to see that the very essence of happiness in marriage is faith.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have a daughter aged 17. Just a high school kid. A man 28 years old is paying attention to her. He is a fine man in every respect, but I feel she is too young to have regular company. What would you do about it?

AN ANXIOUS MOTHER

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: Just let it rock along without making any issue of it, except that the girl cannot go out or have dates during school nights.

Nearly all young girls are so flattered by the attentions of grownup men that they imagine themselves in love with them. This is likely to happen to your daughter. If it does, don't make the mistake of violently opposing the man. Nothing precipitates a marriage like opposition. Just stall for time. Make them wait until the girl is at least 20.

Seventeen is too young for any girl to marry. At that age her tastes are unformed and she has no idea of what kind of man she will want for a husband three years later. And she has had no playtime of life, and to miss that does something terrible to a woman. It upsets her life. She is always crazy for the fun she has missed, hungry for the romance she never had, craving the admiration of men. Nearly all the women who, at middle age, get themselves into scandals married in their teens.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband has always eaten just what he liked regardless of whether it was good for him or not. Now he is ill and the doctors have put him on a diet which cuts out all of the rich food that he loves and substitutes the things he hates, and he refuses to follow it. I try so hard to prepare food for him in tempting ways, but it makes him cross even to see them. We are so happy that I wonder whether I am making a mistake in trying to make him follow his diet, but my conscience bothers me every time I put a nice rich pie on the table. What is your advice?

DEVOTED WIFE

ANSWER: You can make the baby eat its loathesome spinach, but you can't force it down the throat of a grown man. So if your husband won't follow the diet the doctor prescribed, there is nothing you can do about it. Certainly you can't nag him into doing it and you only make yourself unpopular by trying to force it on him.

I once knew a wife who got her husband to listen to his doctor by telling him that if he was determined to kill himself, to please go on and do it while she was young and good-looking and could marry well. That made him sit up and take notice.

SHOPPING IN POLAND—This sidewalk market scene in Lemberg, Poland, is typical of many cities now behind the Iron Curtain. Lemburg, once a fairly prosperous city, was absorbed by Russia during the war. Most Lemberg Poles were evacuated westward to Polish territory and replaced by Russians. Almost all merchandise is sold through Soviet state stores, at high prices, and these open air peasant markets, selling mostly second-hand clothing and household goods are the only markets where supply and demand control prices.

Use Brilliants In Hair Latest Style

ROME— (AP)— Almost anything can get in a lady's hair these day—and be ultra fashionable.

The International College of Hairdressers proved it at their annual convention here. Using 20 models, they put on a demonstration of evening hair styles, utilizing everything from dye to daisies.

About the only things that weren't popular were long hair—and dark brunettes.

The hairdressers from seven countries seemed unanimous on the short hair style—with ears right out in the open—and on their preference for blonde, red-haired and silver-gray models.

The pastel tints used "took" better on these. Few of the coiffeur artists seemed content to just leave things their original color.

Some of the artists used long enough hair to build individual architectural masterpieces with flying buttress effect and minarets and even a ship under sail. But most of the models appeared smoothed down enough to manage walking and a few pirouettes without undue peril of collapse.

Almost everything that came to hand went into the masterpieces. There was hair with egret feathers; hair with lace; hair with orchids. Artificial butterflies were used, and feathers, and metallic leaves.

Strings of pearls were worked in some creations. So were chains of daisies. One thing they had in common in almost every evening style the hair was either dressed with jewels or sparkling with tiny brilliants.

Spinster Classed Married at 45

VIENNA—(Reuters)—Austrian spinsters no longer will have to pay a "bachelor's tax" after the age of 45.

This is one of a series of amendments to the tax laws recently passed by the Austrian parliament. In Austria, all unmarried people are classed in number 1 tax group which pays at a higher rate than tax group 2, which applies to married people.

Hitherton, a spinster has been put into group 2 in reaching the age of 50—which meant that she then paid tax at the lower "married rate."

The age now has been lowered to 45 on the grounds that, as there are too many women in Austria, it is not their fault if they fail to marry and they should not be penalized for it.

Men go on paying the "bachelor's tax" until they marry—or die.

New Fur Fashions Feature Capelets

NEW YORK—(CP)—Furs being shown for cool summer days or evenings put much emphasis on the little jacket or capelet.

From extremely brief, little below the armpit, to 26-inch length, it may flare jauntily or fall straight. Cape-like jackets are caught at the sides to form sleeves. The newest have accents of velvet or braid on collar, cuffs or pockets.

One novel design is a cardigan of white Russian broadtail with knitted banding, lined with black chiffon.

A short-sleeved bolero of black Russian broadtail has a collar of white ermine, tied with a black velvet cord.

Favored summer furs include broadtail in navy, white and black, Persian lamb, caracul and mink.

'Welcome Service' Boon for Visitors

LONDON—(CP)—Mrs. Victor Raikes, wife of the Conservative member of parliament for Gardston, Liverpool, will be a boon to tourists visiting this country.

She is starting a "welcome" service to arrange anything from laundry to baby-minding and sock-darning at 6 d. (about 8 cents) a darn. She guarantees reliability of all her baby-sitters and male escorts.

Mrs. Raikes will also undertake to have children taken to the zoo while their parents fulfil other commitments.

Ultimate sacrifice in the cause of dollar earnings: She promises to hand over at the regulation price any bottle of Scotch whisky she manages to obtain.

Harwood News

Several car loads of pupils from Harwood school and also from Gore's Landing, attended the movie "Cinderella" in Cobourg on Saturday afternoon.

The service in Bethesda United Church next Sunday will be at 11 a.m. and at St. John's Church at 3 p.m.

The next meeting of the Harwood branch of the Women's Institute will be on July 6 at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lawton.

Miss Lettice E. Drope has returned home from Woodville, after completing one year's teaching in the junior high school there. She will leave on Wednesday morning for California, motoring with her cousin, Mrs James Drope, and two children, Cynthia and Heather of Halifax. They expect to be away two months. They will visit their aunt, Mrs. C. C. House in Glendale and return by the Pacific coast, British Columbia, Saskatchewan, where they will visit relatives.

Mrs William Drope of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, arrived in Toronto on Saturday morning on a three week's visit with relatives there, and will also visit relatives in Northumberland.

Jean Taylor Wed Here

A wedding of local interest was solemnized recently in Park St. Baptist Church by the Rev. E. J. Whan of Viola Jean Taylor of Marmora and Walter Edward Brightman of Dundas. The bride is a 1949 graduate of Peterborough Civic Hospital School of Nursing.

The groom came to Canada from England in 1948, and was employed by Wonder Bakeries in Peterborough prior to entering McMaster University as a student in Theology, preparing for the Baptist ministry. Both are members of the Park St. Baptist Church and the BYPU.

A reception was held in the Sunday school hall following the service.

The honeymoon was spent touring eastern Ontario, including Niagara Falls.

They will reside in Dundas.

Friendly Group Meets

Mrs. F. Raines, Boswell Ave., entertained the Friendly Group of St. Paul's Ladies' Aid Society for the meeting when Miss Mary Goss, superintendent of the local branch VON was guest speaker. Mrs. A. R. Bennett sang a lovely solo accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. L. McNeill. Mrs. McNeill also played two instrumental numbers.

Mrs. T. G. Tully conducted the meeting and the guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. G. A. McIntyre. Miss O. Stenton was in charge of the devotional period.

Attendance was good, there being 24 present, including visitors. Treasurer's report was read by Mrs. W. McBride and Contribution Basket by Mrs. J. E. Hill. Mrs. J. A. Smith acted as secretary for the meeting, and Mrs. Raines played for the hymn. A vote of thanks was extended to the guest artists, Mrs. Raines and Miss Stenton by Mrs. Tully.

A pleasant social hour followed, with refreshments served by the social committee.

Chas. E. Allen's Piano Pupils Heard in Recital

Piano pupils of Charles E. Allen presented a recital Monday evening in the George Street United Church, where bouquets of peonies, lupins and roses were the setting for good musical entertainment.

Taking part were: Ronald Payson, Berry Black, Ruth Astell, Gail Astell, David Andrus, Jo-Anne Whitton, Betty Jane Goldie, Carol McKee, Kathryn McKee, Jane Bamforth, Beverley Millen, Mary Hucks, Bob Whitton, Denton Gilmour, Bill Whitton, Allan Wood, Walter Dainard, Margaret Dainard, Susan Simmers, Ruth Hendren, Caryll Lang, Marybeth Darling, Mary Wood, Barbara Ephgrave, Donna Munroe, Eleanor McGee, Beverley Taylor, Mary McBride.

The program was brought to a close with a piano trio by Jo-Anne, Bill and Bob Whitton.

Refreshments were served afterward.

Confederation Piano Classes Display Work

Confederation School piano classes, taught by Mrs. Charles Renaud, on Monday evening gave an interesting display of the year's work. They showed the parents and friends gathered samples of note reading exercises in rhythm, and entertained with solos, duets and trios.

Taking part were Marilyn Monk, Victor Roberts, Merla McIntosh, Sharon Porter, Penny Sparks, Margaret Monk, Karen Wood, Beverly Hall, Shirley Shouldice, Marjorie Buchanan, Morris Hill, Maureen Howard, Brent Warren, Pepeita Arnott, Allan Moffat, Betty Lou Marsden, Anna May Godfrey, John Parry, Arthur McLaren, Jane Kitchen, Leslie Payne, Norma Brent, Verna Dainard.

Senior private pupils assisting on the program were Lenore and Margaret Westwood, Gail and Sandra Wood, Mary Hunter and Shirley Pritchard.

A gift from all the classes was presented to Mrs. Renaud by Betty Lou Marsden.

Wed at Millbrook

The marriage took place at the home of Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Millbrook, on Saturday of her sister, Florence P. Stewart, of Brantford, night superintendent of the General Hospital, daughter of Mrs. M. J. Stewart and the late Mr. Stewart of Millbrook, and Mr. Delaven Messecar of Brantford. The Rev. T. G. Husser officiated, and baskets of peonies in various shades formed a setting for the ceremony.

The bride wore a navy flowered ensemble with small flower-trimmed navy hat and a corsage of pink roses. Her attendant was her sister, Mrs. Thomas Hendry of Peterborough, who wore navy sheer, with large flower-trimmed black hat and a corsage of roses.

Mr. Thomas Hendry was groomsman.

After a honeymoon in Muskoka, Mr. and Mrs. Messecar will live in Brantford.

BRITAIN'S UNIVERSITIES

There are 13 self-governing, degree-giving universities in England and Wales.

Barbara Lowe Weds Allen S. Parkes

In a double ring wedding ceremony Saturday in St. George's Anglican Church, nuptial vows were pledged by Barbara Anne, youngest daughter of Mr. S. L. Lowe, and Allen Samuel Parkes, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Parkes, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. E. C. Moore performed the ceremony and Mrs. Thomas Garland played the wedding music. Pink carnations and ferns decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was in a gown of white slipper satin made with net yoke and inserts of lace in the skirt and finished with covered buttons down the back and long sleeves with points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of embroidered silk illusion was caught to a close fitting bonnet of net trimmed with tiny seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Phyllis Vyse was bridesmaid and wore a gown of ice blue satin and matching mittens and a sweetheart bonnet of blue net. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groomsman was Mr. Gerald Hopkins.

The reception was at the home of the groom's parents where Mrs. Parkes received in a dress of rusty rose lace over taffeta, navy hat and accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Assisting her was the bride's sister, Mrs. George Field, whose dress was of pink sharkskin, her accessories white and her corsage of white roses.

When leaving later for Toronto the bride was wearing a dress of white organdy over pink silk, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Parkes will live at 497 Cross St.

Nelson - McGee Rites Held In Bride's Home

The marriage took place quietly Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGee, Ida when the Rev. E. F. Linstead of Springville, united their daughter Doreen June and Neil Ivan Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Nelson, Fraserville.

The bride wore a street length dress of powder blue with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Shirley McGee who wore a rose eyelet dress with white accessories and corsage of blue carnations.

Mr. Jack Nelson, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

The wedding march was played by Miss Margaret Earle, and during the signing of the register a piano solo was played by Miss Catherine Earle.

The bride's mother received in a dress of flowered grey faille with a corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a dress of navy silk with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Friends of the bride who served the refreshments were Madiline Thompson, Gloria Nelson, Mary Guthrie, and Muriel McGee.

The couple left for a motor trip to the Thousand Islands and points east. For travelling the bride chose a flowered jersey dress, a blue shortie coat and white accessories. They will live in Port Hope.

What's Right?

A woman friend offers to stop at your home to take you to a meeting or party.

WRONG: Wait until the car stops out front to do the last-minute things before you leave, such as closing windows or putting on your hat.

RIGHT: Be ready and waiting so that you can walk right out to the car as soon as it pulls up in front of your house.

CANADA PRODUCES SEED POTATOES FOR ALL THE WORLD

As the world's chief source of supply for seed potatoes, Canada ships millions of quality certified seed potatoes each year to replenish the world crops of one of mankind's most essential foods.

Why Seagram's sells Canada first

This advertisement is an adaptation of one of a series created by The House of Seagram to tell the peoples of other lands about Canada and her various products. For the past two years this campaign has been appearing in newspapers and magazines printed in many languages and circulated throughout the world.

Our prosperity is based on our ability to sell our products to other countries. Every Canadian has a personal stake in foreign trade, for one out of every three dollars of Canada's national income results from our trade abroad. The more that the peoples of other countries know of the quality, variety and prestige of our products, the more likely they are to buy from us.

✧ ✧ ✧

We feel that the horizon of industry does not terminate at the boundary line of its plants; it has a broader horizon, a farther view—this view embraces the entire Dominion. That is why The House of Seagram believes that it is in the interest of every Canadian manufacturer to help the sale of all Canadian products in foreign markets. It is in this spirit that these advertisements are being published throughout the world.

6—In Memoriams

MACE—In loving memory of Hannah Victoria who passed away June 27, 1949.
I do not forget her, I loved her too dearly.
For her memory to fade from my life like a dream.
My lips need not speak when my heart mourns sincerely
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.
—Never forgotten by her husband.

NUGENT—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Sarah Nugent, who passed away six years ago today.
When days are dark and friends are few.
Dear mother how we think of you.
Friends are friends if they are true
We lost our best friend when we lost you.
—Ever remembered by daughter Gertrude and son Harry.

Warden's Dinner At Sturgeon

Guest speaker at Wednesday night's annual warden's dinner will be G. H. U. Bailey, assistant chief of the reforestation division, Department of Lands and Forests.

Mr. Bailey will likely speak on his own specialty. He is a B.Sc. and a forestry graduate. During the Second World War he rose to the rank of squadron leader in the RCAF, and served in Great Britain, India and Ceylon.

Warden and Mrs. Norman Wilson have extended invitations to the usual large number of people interested in municipal politics.

This year it was decided to have the annual dinner in good weather and so at the County Council's June session a special committee decided on Gilmar Lodge, Sturgeon Lake, Wednesday night.

Last year when William Darling of Dummer was warden the banquet was in Warsaw.

Because of previous commitments, neither the Hon. Harold R. Scott or G. K. Fraser, MP, will be able to attend.

Absolve Driver Of Carelessness

A charge of careless driving against Leonard Vass of Montreal, was dismissed today by Magistrate W. R. Philp. His Worship ruled Vass gave a "reasonable" explanation for the accident which occurred on Highway 7 five miles east of Peterborough.

Provincial Constable James G. Healey testified he found Vass's car in a ditch by the highway, and that there were tire marks along the north shoulder of the road for about 100 feet.

Constable Healey said Vass's car had apparently rolled as the roof had been damaged.

Vass said he had been driving towards Peterborough and had reached the brow of a hill when he saw two transports abreast on the road. He had to go onto the shoulder of the road to avoid striking them, and could not keep the car upright.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

NO PAY FOR DOMINION DAY

Because Dominion Day—one of the statutory holidays—this year falls on a Saturday most workers in Peterborough's larger industries will not be paid for it. Quaker Oats employees, and some employees at Canada Packers, customarily work a four-hour day Saturday and they will consequently get a bonus. But the others are out of luck. They benefit when the statutory holiday falls any day Monday to Friday. In short if they don't customarily work Saturday they do not bonus this Dominion Day.

REVIVED HIS ASSOCIATES

For Monday night's shirt sleeve meeting of the board of works, Ald. E. C. Braund provided grateful refreshment in two pitchers of iced orange juice. With that revival the board continued in session until 11.45 p.m.

ADVERTISE FOR ASSESSOR

Board of works decided, Monday night to advertise for an experienced assessor to succeed Norman Wilkes, assessment commissioner, who is going to Hamilton as chief of the assessing department of the city at the end of July.

PATRICIA ROC, beauteous British film actress, and Paul Dupuis, a French-Canadian artist from Montreal, who made good in British films, will be the co-stars in a forthcoming film by Quebec Productions. Particularly noteworthy is the fact that the film will be completely bi-lingual in every respect, the same cast being used both for the English and the French version. Balance of the cast will be made up mostly of Canadian actors who possess both tongues. Filming starts immediately at the St. Hyacinth studios of Quebec Productions.

TV Will Increase Film Output Many Theatres May Be Closed

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)— What's going to happen to the movie business when television sets are as common as radios are now?

Prominent figures in the film industry see it this way:

Production will go up tremendously — to feed video. Many movie theatres will close. You'll see a first-rate picture in your parlor via telephone line, paying for it on your monthtly bill or by separate billing.

But many theatres will thrive, too. People still want to go out, to share the laughs and tears of a film with a crowd around them. Deluxe theatres will entice your patronage with top-quality films. Theatre-screen television might follow the feature with the main event at a boxing arena, or concert auditorium.

One production executive figures 6,000 to 7,000 of the nation's approximately 18,000 movie houses will close in the next few years.

Refuse Comment

Some movie leaders refuse to comment at all on the television-versus-theatres outlook. But the whole discussion, now Hollywood's hottest, got fresh impetus from Spyros P. Skouras, president of 20th Century-Fox.

His firm, he said, will not supply movies for telephone television shows. He told the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers at its Chicago convention that phonevision would endanger church attendance, participation in civic affairs, newspapers, magazines, restaurants, and "every store around the community movie theatre."

Phonevision

Phonevision is the proposed system whereby a gadget is installed in your television set. It scrambles the picture unless you pick up your telephone and ask to be connected to that show. Then it gives a clear picture. A charge, probably about $1 per program, would be made.

The question is whether people will pay for a televised movie on one channel when several other channels offer shows free? As TV's audiences grow, sponsors will pay more to provide better free programs.

Advertisers now budget a maximum of $30,000 to $40,000 for a one-hour television show. A half-hour dramatic television film can be bought for around $8,500, including network charges. A major-studio "A" feature film costs $1,000,000—up.

No major studio yet, has taken the leap into television films, but independent producer Stanley Kramer thinks that within five years 80 per cent of Hollywood film output will be for television. The other 20 per cent —for theatre exhibition—would be released perhaps six months later for television.

Tremendous Upsurge

Kramer, producer of "Champion" and "Home of the Brave," says television will mean a tremendous upsurge in film production. He believed four-fifths of television programming will be on film intead of "live."

Sid Rogell, RKO executive producer, expects 6,000 to 7,000 theatres to close gradually. Most will be small, outlying houses including former warehouses and storerooms converted to picture-houses during the war.

The closing, he says, will be because of "television and other inroads on the box-office dollar, including night baseball and football, bowling—and even canasta."

Approve Admittance

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) —A bill to permit entrance into the United States of about 760 Japanese wives and children of United States armed forces personnel was approved by the Senate judiciary committee Monday.

Manager Held For Theft

NICE, France, June 27 (Reuters) — Police Monday charged Robert Gouin, manager of the Provencal Hotel at Juan Les Pins, with stealing a $56,000 necklace belonging to Mrs. Frank Jay Gould, wife of the 80-year-old American millionaire who owns the Provencal Hotel.

Fire Destroys Summer Home Third Loss in 20 Years

The second fire within a week on the shore of Mississauga (Gull) Lake destroyed the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rushworth during the electric storm Friday night and the early hours of Saturday morning. This was their third loss through fire at the lake within the past 20 years and Mr. Rushworth lost his sight when burnt in a factory explosion in Toronto.

Between four and five a.m. Saturday, the Rushworths were startled by a flash of lightning which struck a tree some 35 feet in front of their home. They settled down again, no other damage apparently having resulted from the lightning, when Mr. Ruthworth, who is blind, thought he could smell smoke.

Getting up to find the cause of the smell, Mr. Rushworth discovered the fire when it was already beyond control.

Mrs. Ruthworth Sr., who is aged about 90, was the only person staying with Mr. and Mrs. Rushworth. The three managed to get out of the building with a few personal belongings, before it was completely destroyed. They went into the driving rain.

The first disastrous fire for the Rushworths 20 years ago resulted in a loss of a new lodge which has just been opened as a resort. The second was about nine years ago when one of their cottages burned during an electric storm.

The Rushworths spent last winter at a hotel in Bobcaygeon and had recently returned to their summer home on Mississauga Lake.

Czechs Withdraw

PRAGUE, June 27 (AP) Czechoslovakia has withdrawn from the inter-parliamentary union, contending it is a tool of the "Anglo-American Imperialistic policy." The union, with headquarters in Geneva, is made up of delegates from the members of parliament of about 30 countries.

First Pulp Cargo

PHILADELPHIA, June 27 (AP) —The Swedish freighter Sonata docked Monday with the first cargo of wood pulp to reach Philadelphia from Russia. Usual foreign sources for wood pulp are Canada, Sweden and Norway.

Gunfire Heard

HONG KONG, June 27, (AP)— Intermittent gunfire was heard today from the vicinity of Lintin Island, five miles west of Hong Kong, and may mean Chinese Nationalists and Communists are again fighting for the island. It was last in the hands of Nationalists.

No Invasion Boats

TAIPEI, Formosa, June 27— —(AP)—Nationalist Chinese air and sea patrols have failed to find any large concentration of Chinese Communist invasion craft, official quarters said today. Meantime, Nationalist military forces remained on the alert for any attempt of Chinese Reds to storm this island bastion off the China mainland.

School Geography of 1850 Much Like 1950 Text Book

Geography, as well as the three R's, was included in the curriculum of the schools of the united provinces of Upper and Lower Canada in 1850. Yes, geography texts not unlike those of to-day, were poured over by students 100 years ago. History it is true, has changed the outlines of the maps and progress and development have brought different nations to the fore, but the makeup of these texts with their maps, pictures and terse columns of information are similar to geography texts published in 1950.

A geography text owned by Mrs. Percy Barnard, 193 Westbott St., titled "System of Geography for the Use of Schools" by Sidney E. Morse was published in New York in 1850.

William Madill of Cavan appears to have been the first owner of the text. The earliest of his many signatures throughout the book is dated Oct. 2, 1853. After his education was completed, Mary Jane Madill began gleaning information from its pages in 1885.

As well as being a source of information, this particular text seems to have done duty as a scribbler, judging from the number of sums, pictures and designs ornamenting its cover and pages. Perhaps its owners just didn't find the subject very interesting.

Plenty For Trade

A quick glance through its pages brings to light many interesting facts when compared with conditions today. One hundred years ago, according to scholar Morse, the commerce in British America consisted chiefly in the exchange of flour, beef and pork of Upper Canada and furs, lumber ashes and fish of other provinces for British manufacturers and West Indies produce.

Mr. Morse considered the French Canadians a contented, gay, harmless people, easy and courteous, but few of them were able to read and write.

In 1950, the five most powerful states in Europe were Russia, Great Britain, France, Austria and Prussia. The three most enlightened nations, the British, French and Germans. The British Empire excelled all empires in commerce and finance. The annual interest on the national debt in England was six times as much as the whole annual expenditure of the United States government.

Good Word For Scots

Canadians of Scottish descent will be pleased to note that the Lowlanders were considered a remarkably moral, orderly, well-educated and enterprising people. However, Mr. Morse considered the Highlanders brave, hardy, rude mountaineers. The Irish he described as a brave, cheerful, witty, warm-hearted and hospitable race who were extremely generous to their aged and unfortunate relatives.

Russia in 1850 was ruled by an absolute despot, Emperor of all Russians and King of Poland. The mass of the people were serfs or slaves, bought and sold with the land they cultivated by the nobles. Agriculture, manufacturing and education were in a backward state compared with the other countries in Europe. Nevertheless at this time, Russia had the largest and most formidable land army in the world.

The gay, courteous and gallant French were surpassed by none in natural philosophy, belles-lettres and military skill.

Such was the geography taught to the students attending schools in this district 100 years ago. In the preface to the geography text, it is stated that the first geography ever printed in America was prepared by the author's father, the Rev. Dr. Morse, in 1784.

Crowds In Street At Attlee Residence

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Worried Britons crowded around Prime Minister Attlee's official residence today while the cabinet considered the Korean crisis.

Between 200 and 300 persons stood silently along the sidewalks outside 10 Downing Street where a full dress cabinet meeting was on.

A foreign office spokesman said Britain has received no direct request from Korea for aid.

Tannery Worker Acquitted On Murder Count

MAIDSTONE, Kent., Eng., June 27— (Reuters)— George Gordon 35-year-old tannery worker Monday was acquitted of murdering his foster-daughter, Pamela Poirier, 3, whose mother, when last heard from, lived in Vancouver.

However, Gordon was convicted on a lesser count and sentenced to 10 months in prison. He was accused in this case of trying to prevent an inquest on the child by burying her body in a wood.

The child was first reported missing April 16. Eight days later, after a widespread search by police and soldiers, her body was found buried in a wood a mile from where she lived.

The Gordon family had plans to adopt Pamela and her sister, Jean 5.

No News For 14 Months

The mother was last heard of 14 months ago. But a letter sent to her last-known address in Vancouver was never answered.

When Gordon reported Pamela missing he said she had left their house near Canterbury in her night dress.

Later he told police he had found the child dead in her room and had buried the body.

Told Pamela died from suffocation, he said: "I did not intentionally or wilfully suffocate that child."

He suggested she might have died when he and his wife carried her downstairs wrapped her in a blanket and put her near the fire because she was unwell.

COUNCIL HEAD—Dr. Edward Warner, of the United States, was re-elected for a three-year term as president of the council of the International Civil Aviation Organization at Montreal. President of the 20-nation council from 1947 to 1950, he was responsible for preliminary work to establish ICAO as the control and standards body for post-war civil aviation.

Lumber Dealers Plan Confer On Emergency

TORONTO, June 27 (CP)—The Ontario Lumber Dealers Association decided Monday to confer with other interested organizations to seek united action in relieving the present scarcity and high price of lumber.

In a statement following an emergency meeting, the association said it saw no immediate possibility of lumber becoming cheaper or more plentiful.

Demand both in Canada and the United States was excessive and was heightened by rebuilding problems caused by fires in Quebec and floods in Manitoba.

The association, seeking joint action with the Canadian Construction Association and the National Homebuilders Association, said large house-building projects are being jeopardized by the situation.

Nine Baby Rabbits Reared In Back Garden Try Making Friends With Puss—It Won't Work

MARMORA, June 27—(ENS)—The adventures of nine young rabbits which James A. Rice found in his back garden recently have been a subject of lively interest in Marmora lately.

About two weeks ago, Mr. Rice was using a scythe in his back garden, in the village, to cut suckers from a plum tree. As he started to rake up his cuttings, he noticed what at first appeared to be a rat's nest.

Moving aside some fur, he saw nine little rabbits in a hole in the ground which was lined with their mother's fur.

The discoverer's next thought was that they might be a prey for cats, so he conceived of a novel way of meeting the situation. His friend, Percy Eamer, who lives about a mile south of the village, has a cat with kittens and Mr. Rice thought the cat might not be adverse to becoming a foster-parent. So the young rabbits travelled south only to find that puss was unwilling.

Mr. Eamer tried to feed them with the use of a doll's milk bottle but this was not satisfactory, so back they went to their nest again.

No sooner were they back than Ma Rabbit appeared on the scene She kept a little distance away and waited until dusk before rejoining them.

The next day she decided to move them. The fact that she was hopping around the garden the next day indicated they were not at too great a distance from the garden but just where Mr. Rice has not been able to ascertain.
